WOULD SEND WAR WIDOWS TO CANADA

Englishman Makes Plea for Those Who Lose Husbands in the War—More Men in Canada—Winter Points to Preponderance of Male Population as Argument

An eloquent appeal to the women of Canada o help some of their less fortunate sisters at the present time of trouble and anxiety, has come in the form of a letter from Mr. Thos E. Sedgwick, of Poplar East, England. In England at the present time, he points out, there are 1,264,000 widows and this number is being added daily by the fighting in France. Conditions are bad in England at the best of times for the widow, with children and the writer suggests, that, in this time of need, a number of these unfortunate women could be sent to Canada.

"Although the funds in the Old Country will doubtless be used as far as possible to enable such women and their children to eke out an existence here," says Mr. Sedgwick, "by far the most humane, and the only final form of relief, would be to enable suitable widows with one or two children to get to Canada where employment at good wages and lives of peace and prosperity await them, and where the male population is about 200,000 in excess of the female population at the present time.

Although, the writer points out, many of the women who come to Canada are not an unqualified success as domestics, yet he says that the women of the artisan class would be well qualified to do the work of the house, and their children, if they were allowed to remain with them, would act as an anchor to the mother.

Those women with more than two children need not be accepted; good physique and abstinence from alcohol might be insisted on, and an age limit could be fixed, the writer points out.

"Surely," he writes "Canad requires truly domestic help, and is willing to give real help to those who suffer most in time of war."

That some such action could be taken as regards the women of Belgium, who have been made widows by their husbands' gallant defence of their country, is also suggested.

"Canada and other parts of the Empire owe a debt of gratitude to the Belgians as the first defenders of the Empire. The Belgian widows, deprived of their husbands in the indirect defence of Canada, have therefore a pressing claim on our national sympathy."

Canadian Firms to Manufacture Shells

Welland has Prospects of Much Work this Coming Winter

WELLAND, Sept. 30—The Electric Steel and Metals Company of this town has just received a contract from the British War Office through the Department of Militia and Defence for making shrapnel shells. No information as to the size of the contract is given, but it is understood that it is such as will give steady employment to two hundred men until the end of April.

The Canada Forge Company and the Canadian Billings and Spencer Limited, two other Welland companies, have also received orders from the War Office for parts of 15 and 18 pound shells. This means that these two plants also will be kept busy throughout the winter.

The award of these contracts in Canada is the result of the findings of a commission appointed by Hon. Sam Hughes to inquire into the possibility of shell-making in Canada. The members of this commission were Col. Bertram, Montreal; Mr. Thomas Cantley, of the Nova Scotia Iron and Steel Works; Mr. George Watts, of the Canada Foundry Company, Toronto; Col. Lafferty, Superintendent of the Dominion Arsenal at Quebec; Mr. E. Carnegie, of Welland; Col. Benson, Director-General of Ordnance, and Col. Harston, Chief Inspector of Ammunition. This commission went over the ground thoroughly, inquiring into the facilities of various Canadian firms to turn out shells, and on the receipt of the report the War Office did not delay long in placing orders with the Welland firms.

MAINE NO LONGER A TEMPERANCE STATE

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 30.—After over 50 years of prohibition this city can not only claim to being the most drunken city in "dry" Maine, but according to the last annual police report, its arrests for drunkenness are treble of what they are in Milwaukee, the "city made famous" by its beer In 1912 the figures showed that one in every 18 citizens had been apprehended for drunkenness. In 1913 one in every 12 was arrested for drunkenness, but this year the figures declare that one in every nine was arrested. Of course in very many cases the same people were apprehended on many different occasions. In the very "wet" Milwaukee the arrests for drunkenness totaled one in every 142 of the population.

Col. Sam Hughes Goes to England

But Simply an Adviser, Not in Command

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—The Hon. Sam Hughes will go to England shortly, and in his absence the Department of Militia and Defence will be under the charge of the Prime Minister.

Col. Hughes, it is stated authoritatively will not go as commandant of the Canadian troops nor will he go to the front, but simply to England in an advisory capacity while the Canadian division is in training. The date of Col. Hughes' departure has not been fixed.

QUEEN'S CLASSES OPEN

Attendance is but Slightly Affected By the War

KINGSTON, Oct. 1.—Special—G. Y. Chown, Registrar of Queen's University, stated to-day that he did not believe the attendance at the university this fall would be injured to any great extent by the war conditions. This morning the classes at the university were commenced. This is the seventy-fourth session of Queen's.

E. T. Sterne, B. S. C., has been appointed lecturer in industrial chemistry to take the place of Prof. L. F. Guttman, who has gone to the front with the 14th volunteers as captain.

FRANCE STIRRED TO DEPTHS WITH GRATITUDE TO BRITAIN

England a Land of Perfect Peace to One Who Has Just Come from Battle Zone—French Will Fight to Last

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The Daily Chronicle prints the following written by a correspondent who has just returned from France:

"It is difficult for people in England to realize the conditions in northern France at the present time. Although the papers are full of accounts of the desolation and destruction caused by the German invasion, it is only by actual experience that the full realization of horror comes. To return to England after visiting the French war zone is to come back to a land of perfect peace, where everything is normal, and where it is not easy to believe one is no near to the cannonading on the Aisne.

Gratitude to Great Britain

"The feeling in France is one of deepest anxiety. The nation realizes that the question of its life or death is in the balance, and that the present moment is perhaps the most critical in the war so far. There is also a feeling, which is universal throughout all classes, a feeling of deepest gratitude to England for the help which has been given and will be given. The French now feel no doubts as to the final result of the war. They know that whatever may be the terms of peace, when it comes, their nation is saved and that this result is largely due to England's help.

Secure France as Nation

"The French as a nation are more emotional than we, and are more exalted or depressed by ups and downs; but the determination is universal to carry this war through to the very end, to suffer and to continue to suffer sooner than accept peace which would not absolutely insure France for all time against future invasion."

GERMAN CENTRE RESISTANCE POINT

East and West Wings are Turned Back, While the Allied Forces are Bringing Every Effort to Bear With a View to Breaking the Line's Backbone

(Canadian Press Specials Exclusively to the Intelligencer)

TO DRIVE GERMANS OUT OF FRANCE

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The belief is general here that a great break in the battle of the Aisne is at hand and that the result will be a retreat which, when concluded, will have taken the Germans entirely out of France. Meanwhile the Germans are increasing their efforts to take Antwerp, apparently in order to have an outlet for operating their Zeppelins and aeroplanes. An Antwerp despatch says the Germans have again bombarded Alost and set the town on fire.

It is officially announced from Petrogral that Galicia is now completely freed of Austrians.

PROMISES TO REMOVE MENACE

ROME, Oct. 1.—The Austrian Government has replied to the Italian protest against the placing of floating mines in the Adriatic Sea. Austria deplores the sinking of Italian vessels and promises to take measures to remove the menace to shipping and fully indemnify the families of the victims.

It is reported that Italy demands an indemnity from Austria of $1,000,000.

ANTWERP FORTS SUFFERED BUT LITTLE

LONDON, Oct. 1.—A communication issued at Antwerp, according to a despatch to Reuter's says, "The German artillery during Wednesday continued to bombard our first line of forts on the south. Our works suffered little and we are still in a condition to make effective resistance."

GERMAN CASUALTIES SHOWING UP LARGE

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—The thirty-eighth German casualty list made public today, contains about 8,000 names. It includes three Major-Generals, one killed and two wounded—Major-General Schernbening killed, while Major-General Henigst slightly, and Major-General Oskar Reuter dangerously wounded.

JAPANESE PEPPERED BY GERMAN WARSHIPS

PEKIN, Oct. 1.—A German report from Tsing-Tau says Japanese losses were 1,700 killed and 800 wounded as a result of fire from German warships, coupled with the fire of machine guns on land. The German losses are described as small.

MAKING SLOW PROGRESS

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The following official communication was given out this afternoon:—

There has been no modification of the general situation. We have, nevertheless, made progress on our left to the north of the Somme and on our right in the southern Woevre district.

MINE SWEEPER GOES TO BOTTOM

TOKIO, Oct. 1.—A Japanese mine sweeper off Kiao Chow has been blown up and sunk, with three killed and thirteen wounded. Another Japanese mine sweeper was damaged and one man killed and six injured.

CAREFUL, CAUTIOUS AND CANNY.

In Canada it was all right for manufacturers to pause when the tumult and confusion of war shook the ground beneath their feet and unsteadied them. But it is not all right for Canadian manufacturers to go into temporary or permanent hiding at this time of national necessity and opportunity. On the contrary it is time for a broad forward movement.

The man who shrinks from battle, even though the forces opposed may appear overwhelming, takes away from the strength of his comrades. If he deserts, dire punishment is meted out to him. Winning or losing, battle-time calls for men who will fight until overthrown or slain. The careful, cautious and canny man—manufacturer, wholesaler or retailer—never rises to be a great merchant.

When the war is over, the honored and rewarded men among soldiers and merchants will be those who never faltered, who kept their face to the foe, and who fought dauntlessly to the very end.

The valiant-hearted business men of Canada — retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers — are advertising NOW.

HUDSON BAY ROUTE SAFE FOR NAVIGATION

No Accidents This Year Though Steamers Have Made Frequent Trips

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—Members of the Government are delighted with the success of navigation in the Hudson's Bay route this season. Last year with no aids to navigation there were several minor accidents which gave the Liberal press the text for persistent criticism of the rout. This year lighthouses were established along the straits and the channel at Port Nelson marked. With these few aids to navigation this year steamers have plied back and forth to Port Nelson with equipment and supplies, so far without a solitary accident.

The Government has three steamers on the route and two chartered steamers, all of which have made two and in some cases three trips from Halifax to Port Nelson. Some of the round trips have been made in record time, largely due to the facilities the Government now has at Port Nelson for unloading. There are three good lighters at the new Hudson's Bay terminal used for unloading. In addition there are three tugs, four gasoline launches, a steam wheel tug for river work and the big suction dredge at Port Nelson, all engaged in the work on the new terminals.

KAISER IS ANGRY AT TOMMY ATKINS

LONDON, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—The Times to-day says that it is able to give, from a thoroughly trustworthy source, the text of an order issued by Emperor William to his army on Aug. 19. It follows:—

"It is my royal and imperial command that you concentrate your energies for the immediate present upon one single purpose, and that is, that you address all your skill and all the valor of my soldiers, to exterminate first the treacherous British, and walk over General French's contemptible little army."

ELIZABETH GROVE FOUND NOT GUILTY

(Canadian Press Despatch)

REGINA, Sask., Oct. 1.—Elizabeth Gore, has been found not guilty of the murder of her husband, Thomas Gore, a wealthy farmer of Tregarva, who died on January 8th, showing symptoms resembling poisoning.

BIG COAL DEPOSITS FOUND IN B. C.

Groundhog District Said to be Productive of Good Quality of Anthracite

Great anthracite coal deposits have been discovered in the territory through which the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway runs in British Columbia. Mr. D. A. Thomas, the Welsh coal magnate, is credited with the intention of making an early start on mining operations in the Groundhog district, which is estimated to contain 1,141,444,000 tons of coal. Plans are prepared for a short line of railway from the coal fields to Nasoga Bay, fifty miles north of Prince Rupert. The product in the Groundhog district is said to be the only hard, smokeless steam anthracite coal in the world, outside of Wales, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The opening of the Panama Canal will enable naval and other vessels using hard coal to come through the canal with small amount of fuel in their bunkers, and replenish their supplies at Prince Rupert or Nasoga Bay with coal from British Columbia.

God Save the King Sung in New York

English Reservists Aboard the Maurentia Paid Compliment by Spectators

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The Danish steamer United States, reached New York to-day from Christiansand with 1,043 passengers. The only other trans-Atlantic liner expected here today was the steamer Napoli from Palermo, due late this afternoon. The Cunarder Mauretania sailed for Liverpool at one o'clock this morning. The New York and Adriatic were due to leave at noon for the same port. Among them, 1,143 persons had booked passage. Many English reservists were on board and before the ships sailed a tribute was paid to them by passengers and persons ashore who sang "God Save the King."

FLAT CAR COLLIDES WITH STREET CAR

(Canadian Press Despatch)

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 1.—Some boys playing on a flat car, released the brakes and the car ran away and collided with a street car. Mr. and Mrs. James Green, passengers on the trolley, are in a critical condition, and Motorman Charles Gaell was killed.

ITALIAN FISHERMAN KILLED BY A FLOATING MINE

Hauled it Aboard, and Were Blown to Pieces—Government Protests to Austria Against Mining Adriatic—Cannon Being Pushed

LONDON, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—The casus belli for which alone many believe Italy is waiting before plunging into the European struggle on the side of the allies may present itself, and quickly, in the mining of the Adriatic by Austria. An Italian fishing boat struck one of these Austrian floating mines yesterday twenty miles off Ancona, and was blown up, eight of her crew losing their lives. Another mine was washed ashore near Pesaro, forty miles north of Ancona. The Italian Government at once instructed its Ambassador at Vienna to enter an energetic protest against the mines on the ground that they "prevent free and safe navigation of the Adriatic."

Scarcely had reports of the loss of the fishing boat and the consequent protest been received than a Rome despatch brought the report that an Italian torpedo boat had been sunk in the Adriatic between Venice and Comacchio. This report however, was not confirmed by the Italian Ministry of Marine. There can be little doubt, if this report should prove true, that it would strain the present situation between Italy and Austria nearly if not quite, to the point of breaking.

Even should this report prove groundless, it is generally believed that Italy will not stand by and see her commerce and fishing industry in the Adriatic, which she regards as under her own protection and control, jeopardized by floating mines planted by the Austrians on the chance they may destroy an enemy.

Floating mines in the Adriatic, according to the announcement made to-day, have already caused nineteen deaths, which has aroused Italian feeling against those responsible.

British Clergy Justify War Step

Refute Charges of German Theologians Regarding England's Position in Struggle

LONDON, Sept. 30.—In reply to the appeal addressed by German theologians to "Evangelical Christians Abroad", a manifesto was issued here yesterday signed by heads of the Established Church of England and by Nonconformist leaders, justifying England's action in connection with the European war.

The manifesto refers to the authors of the German document as "men of whose honesty, capacity and good faith there can be no question," but expresses amazement that such men should commit themselves to a statement concerning the political causes of the war which depart so strangely from what seem to us to be the plain facts in this grave hour of European history.

After expressing the hope that the time will come when it again will be their privilege to work with the German theologians in behalf of Christianity, the signers of the manifesto add:

"There must be no mistake about our position. Eagerly desirous of peace, foremost to the best of our ability in furthering it, keen especially to promote a close fellowship between England and Germany, we nevertheless have been driven to declare that, dear to us as peace is, the principles of truth and honor are yet more dear.

"We have taken our stand for international good faith, for the safeguarding of smaller nationalities, for the upholding of the essential conditons of brotherhood among the nations of the world."

Among the signers of the manifesto are the Archbishops of Canterbury, York and Armagh, the Bishop of London, the Rev. R. J. Campbell, Dr. J. Clifford, the Rev. F. B. Meyer, Dr. Campbell Morgan and Sir Roberston W. Nicoll.

OPIUM CONSUMED IN UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Dr. Wright the eminent sociologist has created a sensation by showing the increasing quantities of opium which are being consumed throughout the United States. He declares that the annual requirement for legitimate medical and other purposes is 60,000 pounds but that last year no less than 480,000 pounds were brought in. In his remarks he said: "The use of cocaine, opium and other drugs is, I regret to say, largely on the increase all over the United States, especially in localities where the sale of liquor has been prohibited." Bishop Brant three years ago made the statement that the pure food laws were doing excellent work in the matter of patent medicines, but he insisted that the drug stores had taken the place of the hotel in many of the cities, adding "one of these days it may occur to the American public that it is paying too high a price for prohibition."

Extension of Pastoral Service

Six Years May be Allowed Methodist Pastors under Special Circumstances—Age Limit

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—A motion to allow the four-year pastoral term to be increased to six under special circumstances was passed by the itinerancy committee of the general conference of the Methodist church this morning. The motion will be submitted to the conference this afternoon.

Because a two-thirds vote of the conference is required for the passage of the measure, even its supporters have little hope that it well be carried. The majority in committee was very slight.

The demand for an extension of the pastoral term comes from the western provinces, where so many new churches are being built.

The re-election of some of the older officers of the church will be prevented if the large number of delegates in favor of instituting an age limit for pastors succeed in getting their measures through the conference to-morrow.

The report of a committee on the age limit and superannuation will be read, discussed and voted upon before the election of officers. Some of the best known officials of the church are of advanced age.

This afternoon's session of the conference will be taken up with routine business, such as reception of committees' reports. To-night, Rev. T. Albert Moore, general secretary of the conference, will speak on temperance, prohibition and moral reform.

It is likely that the conference will not close before next Tuesday or Wednesday, although it was originally intended that the last sessions should be held next Sunday. The various committees have so much business on hand that an extension of the time is thought to be desirable.

Rev. Dr. Carman, superintendent of the conference, will preside tomorrow at a luncheon of the senior graduates of Victoria College, Toronto, who are delegates to the conference.

A New Judge

The Mail-Empire of the 30th Sept. contains the following Ottawa telegraphic item:—

The names of Mr. W. B. Northrup, M.P., for East Hastings, John F. Orde, K.C., of Ottawa, and Frank Arnoldi, K.C., of Toronto, are being prominently mentioned in connection with the vacancy in the Supreme Court of Ontario caused by the resignation of Mr. Justice Teetzel. The resignation takes place in October.

The Intelligencer knows nothing of the intentions of the Government, or of the opinions of Mr. Northrup upon the subject. This it does know, that no man in Ontario is better qualified, legally and personally, for the position than Mr. Northrup.

DR. REAUME STEPS OUT

Minister of Public Works Resigns From the Cabinet

He Will Retire From Politics Altogether and Will Probably Resume Practice In Essex County—Hon. Mr. Hearst Is Prominently Mentioned as Premier, But No Statement Is Yet Forthcoming.

TORONTO, Oct. 1. — Hon. Dr. Reaume handed in to the Ontario Government yesterday his resignation as Minister of Public Works for the province. His official duties cease at once and the portfolio is left to be filled in the Cabinet reorganization Dr. Reaume leaves the political arena altogether and probably will resume his practice in Essex.

The reception of his signed resignation by Acting Premier Pyne and the Cabinet was not altogether unexpected. It was believed that he would vacate his position towards the end of the month. According to his statement last evening, he considered it an opportune moment to drop out, when the Cabinet was facing a shift in membership.

HON. DR. J. O. REAMUE.

Dr. Reaume was first elected to the Legislature in the 1902 general election. He was again returned in 1905, and in the same year was appointed Minister of Public Works by the Whitney Administration. On Feb. 21, in 1905, he carried a bye-election by acclamation, and was elected in 1908 and 1911, but was defeated last June. It is understood that he was pressed by the Premier to retain office until the situation cleared somewhat, and so remained for the last three months.

In well-informed Conservative circles it was stated last night that Hon. W. H. Hearst is to be the new Premier. Mr. Hearst declined to discuss any aspect of the situation, and Dr. Pyne was more than usually reticent. Dr. Reaume's retirement from political life was made known after he had left the Council chamber for home.

Dr. Roche To Retire?

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—While there is a belief in some quarters that Hon. Dr. Roche will shortly retire, there are also those in Governmental circles who are convinced that the Minister of the Interior will retain his portfolio until the end of the present Parliament. It is rumored that the Premier is averse to changes in the Cabinet until after the next election.

Hon. Louis Coderre may go to the King's Court Bench of Montreal, where there will shortly be a vacancy.

BOMBS HIT WARSHIP.

Japanese Aviators Say They Struck Vessel During Attack on Kiaochau.

TOKIO, Oct. 1.—It is asserted by Japanese aviators that they struck a German warship with bombs dropped from a height of 2,100 feet during the last engagement at the port of Kiaochau. A monoplane and two biplanes were engaged in the assault. The wings of the three machines were riddled with rifle bullets, but they succeeded in returning to the Japanese lines without incident.

A considerable force has been landed from the Japanese fleet and is now co-operating with the land forces. Laoche, described as a town of some importance, has fallen. Four field guns were taken in the assault.

The outer defences of the beleaguered stronghold of the Germans are said in high official circles to have been captured by the British and Japanese assaulting columns.

PHOTOGRAPHER KILLED.

Jules Lavergne, of Montreal, Is Murdered and Son Is Badly Wounded.

MONTREAL, Oct. 1. — Jules Lavergne, photographer, Ontario and St. Denis streets, was shot dead at six o'clock last night. His son, Rene, is in the General Hospital in a critical state from a bullet wound, and J. N. Lapres, 460 St. Denis street, who is alleged to have done the shooting, is in Notre Dame Hospital, also in a serious condition from a revolver shot. Lapres is a photographer, and the elder Lavergne was formerly a partner of his in the photographing business, now being conducted by the son, Rene Lavergne. It is said Lapres wanted to buy the business and started the shooting because Rene Lavergne refused to sell. The elder Lavergne, hearing the shot which brought down his son, rushed at Lapres, it is said, and in a scuffle which ensued, both he and the alleged assailant were shot.

Judge Lanctot took Rene Lavergne's statement in the hospital last night, as it was thought he might not recover.

There is nothing a married woman enjoys more than helping a spinster to get into the same kind of trouble.

It takes a strong-minded man to admit he is in the wrong when he is.

AMBULANCE BRIGADE

The Belleville branch of the Red Cross Ambulance Brigade is adding members rapidly, there being about thirty now on the roll. Last evening at a gathering in the armories a lecture by Dr. MacColl brought out many excellent points on First Aid, which will prove of great benefit in emergencies. All the appliances are brought into action, and each case is carefully explained. After a specified course, certificates are granted from headquarters at Toronto, for expert amateur work. In a sense of quick action, while waiting for the coming of a physician, restoring one from drowning, fainting, etc., the knowledge is of great importance. It is hoped these lectures will be largely attended.

Chairman Invites The City Council

Prominent Officials Will Speak at Queen Mary School Flag Raising Tomorrow

Colonel Ponton, Chairman of the School Board, has invited the Mayor and City Council and the members of Parliament to inspect Queen Mary School at 11.15 o'clock sharp tomorrow, Friday morning. The classes will be visited, the children will then gather in the Assembly Hall when the Robb cup will be presented and at "High Twelve," precisely, the first flag raising at the new School will take place in front of the school building. His Worship, Mayor Wills, and Mr. J. W. Johnson, M.P.P., will officiate. The children will sing "God Save the King." The Honorable Sir Mackenzie Bowell, the oldest ex-school Trustee in Belleville is expected to be present. It is hoped that every Alderman and City official and every member and official of the School Board will be present from 11.15 a.m. to 12 noon at Queen Mary School.

Colonel Ponton Receives Notice

Colonel Ponton, as Secretary of the Belleville Board, of Trade has been notified by the Department of Trade and Commerce that after the 1st January the weight of the contents of any bag, sack or package of any of the cereal products mentioned in the Inspectioned in the Inspection and Sales Act must be stated thereon and that uniform weights per bushel, or bag of vegetables throughout the whole of Canada will be definitely established.

Cochrane For Ontario Premier

Ottawa Also Talking of a Shake-up in Dominion Cabinet

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—There are persistent rumors in political circles at Ottawa that Hon. Frank Cochrane will become Premier of Ontario. Mr. Cochrane and Hon. J. D. Reid are in Toronto today conferring with the Toronto Conservative leaders.

Mr. Cochrane's own personal feelings would be against accepting such an onerous position, but the pressure may prove too strong for him. It is well known that Mr. Cochrane would like to get out of politics entirely and retire to private life, but public men are not always free to follow their own desires.

If Mr. Cochrane resigns from the Borden Government to accept the Ontario Premiership it is believed that a re-organization of the Cabinet which has been pending for some time will follow.

Hon. Dr. Roche, while he is slowly recovering from his recent operation, will not be able to resume his work for a long time. It is believed his health will compel him to retire shortly. There are also rumors that Hon. Louis Coderre will accept a judgeship.

Rumor has it that Mr. T. Chase Casgrain will enter the Cabinet to take Mr. Coderre's place as one of the French-Canadian representatives. Mr. Chase Casgrain, it is said, would become Minister of Railways and Canals if Mr. Cochrane retires. Gossip states that Hon. Arthur Meighen is slated as Secretary of State and Mr. R. B. Bennett of Calgary as Minister of the Interior.

However this re-organization talk is only rumor. There has been much gossip of this character for the last year which so far has never developed.

Mackenzie King and Rockefeller

Former Canadian Minister to Enquire Into Conditions

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—According to the New York American, John D. Rockefeller, whom some Socialists assail as the enemy of labor, is preparing to spend a goodly share of his vast wealth for the cause of labor.

The American learns that the Rockefeller Foundation, endowed with 100,000,000, has chosen Mackenzie King, former Canadian Minister of Labor under Sir Wilfrid, as a special investigator of labor condition. The scope of his work is understood to be as wide as the continent of North America.

Whether or not the clash of his great coal interest with the miners has anything to do with the movement could not be learned last night. Enquiry by the American only developed the fact that the Rockefeller Foundation has been making a far-reaching preliminary enquiry into the most practical method of conducting labor research and hat Mr. King has been selected as one of the most prominent experts in this line of work.

KINGSTON

W. Cook, who was shot on Labor Day in Belleville, has gone on duty again.

Cataraqui Lodge No. 10, I.O.O.F., held an at home last night in honor of the visit of the Grand Master, Mr. Donald McIntyre. It was not an official visit. He came to present jewels to four Past Grands: J. McCann, W. Allen, J. Donaldson, A. Arniel. After refreshments, speeches and songs were the order of the evening.

PUNCTUALITY

The punctual man is a bird; he always is true to his word; he knows that the skate who is ten minutes late, is trifling and vain and absurd. He says, "I'll be with you at four", though torrents may ruthlessly pour, you know when the clock strikes four he will knock with his punctual fist at your door. And you say, "He is surely a trump! I haven't much use for the chump who is evermore late, making other men wait—the place for that gent is the dump." The punctual man is a peach; he sticks to his dates like a leech; it's a pity, alas, that he has not a class of boneheaded sluggards to teach. He's welcome wherever he wends; the country is full of his friends; he goes by the watch and he ne'er makes a botch of his time, so he never offends. If he says he'll get married at nine, you can bet he'll be standing in line, with his beautiful bride, and the knot will be tied ere the clock is done making the sign. If he says he'll have cashed in at five, at that hour he will not be alive; you can order his shroud and assemble a crowd, clear out to the boneyard to drive. The punctual man is a joy! The biggest success that I know! He is grand and sublime, he is alwasy on time, not late by ten minutes or so.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE J. C. ROCKWELL SUNNY SOUTH CO.

When the J. C. Rockwell "Sunny South" Company makes its appearance in Griffin's Opera House, Wednesday evening, October 7th., local theatre goers will have an opportunity of judging for themselves just what a first-class colored organization really is. This is one of the standard colored attractions of America. They are presenting a clean cut and finished performance that is a decided novelty, a mixture of fun, melody and dancing, that is bound to please the most fastidious seeker after amusement. It has charm from curtain to curtain, and the auditor will be amused as well as entertained. Comedy is all that is aimed at and nothing else is reached bar some very clever singing, dancing and thrilling specialities, which will make the audience sit up and take notice. The characters are natural and the singing and dancing of the different members are characteristic of the negro. It is a breezy performance that depicts characteristic scenes of every dya life among the negroes in the south. So well has the author done his work that a convulsion of laughs is the result. There are no job-lot nor shop-worn jokes, everything being new and up to the minute. It is full of ginger snap and well calculated to drive away the blues. If you are bothered with business cares you will find immediate relief if you take this prescription.

The organization is accompanied by a solo concert band and a superb orchestra. The Koontown parade, a decided novelty, takes place at noon. Popular prices prevail, 25-35-50c. Plan at Doyle's, Mon. Oct. 5.

Most married men realize the difference between home ties and bargain counter ties.

To Keep Our Workers Busy
For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.
Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning
We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build
GERHARD HEINTZMAN PIANOS
represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in non-employment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.
You Reap the Advantage
Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

LETTER FROM VALCARTIER ON EVE OF DEPARTURE

Sergeant-Major Spafford Writes of Incidents and Prospects While Sixteen Transports Dance at Anchor Ready for Sailing--Boys Feeling Fine and Anxious to Embark

R. M. S. Saxonia,
Quebec, 28 Sept., 1914.

The concluding scenes at Valcartier were briefly, one of busy preparation, when keenest activity was evident in every quarter of the camp from Monday to Thursday, the rush of motor trucks with equipment and supplies from early morning till late at night, which gave men the cue that they were to move on short notice.

The 2nd Battery, of which the 34th of Belleville is a part, received orders to be ready to move on the 21st. Everything was packed, tents struck, etc. Imagine the impatience of the men when a new order came to stand by for another day. To make matters worse, it began to rain, and thus exposed, the men bivouacked in the open, partaking of real service breakfast, lunch and dinner.

On the 24th about 5 p.m., the order came to proceed to Quebec, and in spite of their drenching the men left camp cheering and singing in the pouring rain. Eighteen miles of rough, muddy road was before them. Night came on, adding to the discomfort of all, especially going up and down hills. The gunners had to dismount to put on brakes. It was as dark as an Egyptian night and many hair-raising experiences occurred.

Men and horses certainly showed the effects of the severe test to which they had been put during the long, wet, muddy march. They arrived at Quebec at 8.15 a.m. on the 25th.

Although weary and very hungry, the men started to load horses and guns immediately on their arrival, and our boys proved their mettle. Our good friends at home should feel proud of the boys, who have proven themselves worthy and given a good account of themselves since they have been in camp, in efficiency of drill and conduct.

Many little incidents occurred during the embarkation. One of the drivers was patiently waiting in line with his team to be loaded, and both man and horses were tired and hungry. The driver was seated on a bale of hay holding the halters. A few moments afterwards it was observed that the man had fallen asleep and the horses were contentedly munching the hay.

Another, a gunner from Belleville, (only a boy) tired out, lay down on the floor of a shed, with his kit bag, great coat, etc., all around him. Even the horses, which at times stepped over him, failed to disturb his sleep.

We completed loading on the 27th and are now anchored in mid-stream under the guns of the fortress of Quebec. The boys are enjoying their new quarters and are all in the best of spirits.

There are 16 transports all anchored and ready to sail, when, we do not know. The Saxonia is a splendid ship.

An aeroplane passed over the fleet today and gracefully circled around the fortress. Naturally it created considerable interest, and soon rumors passed around that it was a German, but we are glad to say it was one of the four which the contingent is taking for service.

The horses are in fine condition and very comfortable on board. We had no difficulty in loading them, as all they had to do was to walk up a gangway into their stalls on board.

The boys of the 34th send their best regards to all before sailing. We hope to report again on our arrival in England.

Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, the Vice-Consul of Japan and ladies paid us a visit on the 26th. They inspected the transports at anchor.

Sergt.-Major G. Spafford is chief of police on board ship. He has ten assistants, chosen from the brigade. They are all men of unusual proportions. Sergt. Armitage is 6 ft. 6 ins.; the Armstrong brothers, William, 6 ft. 5 ins., John, 6 ft. 4½ ins.; G. Maryland, 6 ft. 3 ins.; G. Wiley, 6 ft. 5 ins.; G. Weir, 6 ft. 4 ins.; G. Daly, 6 ft. 2 ins. It is unnecessary to remark that good order prevails since their appointment.

NOTES.

Pat and Ted Yeomans are busy on top side, instructing in signalling. Both are in the best of health and enjoying the novelty of roughing it.

We had quite a snow storm yesterday, and this morning there was ice on the ship's deck.

Belleville Talent at Rednersville

A very successful concert was held last evening at Rednersville Church, under the auspices of the Epworth League. The programme furnished by Belleville talent was very ably rendered and enjoyed by all. Mr. Nelson Parliament, acting as chairman for the evening, rendered a splendid address. Among those from Belleville who took part, and of whom special mention should be made were the following vocalists: Mrs. J. Grant, Mrs. F. Nicholson, Miss Margaret Brown, Miss Pearl Davis, Miss K. Bawden, and Mrs. M. P. Duff, Miss Lulu Dyer and Miss Isabel Adams, doing themselves credit as readers, while Mr. Walter Aselstine's trombone solos were highly appreciated, calling for encores.

The Church was prettily decorated with fruit and flowers, giving an atmosphere of good fellowship and cheer to those present, and at the close of the programme refreshments were served by the League, the talent leaving for Belleville about 11.30 p.m., each possessing a souvenir taken from the decorations.

Upon leaving the Church the party took up the strains of "For They are Jolly Good Fellows," which were wafted back to the Leaguers until the music died away in the distance.

The proceeds were donated to the relief fund at that point. The party arrived home about midnight.

Men who have nothing else to apologize for should apologize for being on earth.

NEGOTIABLE PAPER

Bills of Exchange, Bank Checks and Promissory Notes.

IN A CLASS BY THEMSELVES.

These Convenient Substitutes For Specie, Which May Pass From Hand to Hand as Readily as Coin, Differ Radically From Other Contracts.

We may speak truthfully of the strength of paper, yet how like a paradox it sounds! From childhood we have been accustomed to take frequent liberties with the flimsy material, to fold and rend it according to our lightest whim, and now to speak of it as strong! But strong it is, and the business world of America is bound into a cohesive whole by the fibers of millions of notes, checks and drafts which pledge the honor and credit of its citizens.

In this brief article we shall attempt to define three kinds of commercial paper—bills of exchange, promissory notes and bank checks—that are all business contracts. They are contracts, however, as to which business convenience decrees that the form shall be just as important as the substance.

If I am hiring Regan the contractor to build my house and we fall out over our agreement the court will consider every possible point connected with the transaction in order to determine what our mutual intentions really were. But if I employ Regan to do the work and give him a promissory note in payment of his services, our rights, so far as that note is concerned, are largely determined by the exact form in which I issued it, taken in connection of course with the subsequent indorsements—that is, whatever written additions were afterward made to it in the course of business.

The vital feature of bills of exchange—or drafts, as they are generally called—promissory notes and bank checks is their negotiability—that is to say, they are a special class of contracts which are so framed and so favored by the law that if certain rules are adhered to they can be passed from man to man quite as freely and far more conveniently than actual cash.

An ordinary contract may be assigned or transferred from one to another. Thus if I have agreed to furnish a large factory with knitting machines I may assign my right to be paid for doing so to Bogardus for a valuable consideration. Suppose, though, that I misrepresented some important feature of my knitting machines to the Success Textile company, which ordered them, and after I have transferred my rights in the contract to Bogardus they find it out. Under such circumstances the textile company can employ the defense of misrepresentation against Bogardus just as readily as they could against me, for he has simply stepped into my shoes and is in no better position than I would be had I remained a party to the contract.

Now, this is just where drafts, notes and bills, or, as they are often called collectively, negotiable instruments or commercial paper, differ radically from other contracts. While still in the hands of the original parties who gave them birth they are subject to any defenses which one may have against the other, so that if Curzon gives a promissory note for $100, due in sixty days, to Plaisted and then finds that through mutual dealings Plaisted really owes him $500 he may at the end of the sixty days refuse to pay Plaisted the note and demand instead $400 from him. Suppose, however, that Plaisted has meanwhile sold the note to Rangely, who knows nothing of his debt to Curzon, can Curzon still set off Plaisted's debt and refuse to pay Rangely the note? Undoubtedly he cannot do so.

Such a case illustrates the distinguishing characteristic of commercial paper. Like a bird which has flown from the parent nest, it is freed from any defenses which the original parties to it may have, just as soon as it has been purchased, in good faith and for a valuable consideration, by some third person.

In every other form of contract the rule is otherwise; land bears its burdens from owner to owner, the assigned mortgage conveys no better title to the purchaser than the assignor had to give; but for the purely practical reason that in trade there must be some convenient representative of specie, which may pass from hand to hand as readily as actual coin, a general agreement and strength of custom among merchants bred the three forms of credit paper—the bill of exchange, the promissory note and the bank check—all of which travel, in the words of a great jurist, as couriers without luggage, and to all of which an innocent purchaser, for value, gets an absolutely clear title.

A Butler's Assistant.

A rule in serving in English style that needs attention is to be careful not to overcrowd dishes. A "butler's assistant" may be used where the hostess has not enough help. It is a small piece of furniture that stands at the left of the hostess bearing many little articles that are likely to be needed, such as extra knives and forks, spoons, saucers, cream pitcher, etc.

The handsome pitcher and glasses to match for iced tea, with long handled spoons, may be placed upon this useful table as well as the after dinner coffee service, with bowl for hot water, cream jug and sugar dish, spoons and everything but the hot water and coffee pot.

Thanks to the German artillery, future tourists in Europe will have a magnificent array of ruins to visit—Southern Lumberman.

BOURASSA AGAIN

The Intelligencer has already expressed the opinion that this erratic young gentleman has and is receiving too much attention by the Press, giving him the notoriety he little deserves.

A short time ago a motion was made to expel him from the Canadian Club in Montreal which was referred to the Executive Committee of the Club, which met, deliberated for an hour, and did nothing. Bourassa now writes the Secretary of the Club telling him he never "accepted a membership in the Club" and "never paid any fee," for the reason that the Club was not French enough for him, or as he puts it, "The reason was and is still that so long as the executive of your club do not decide to make it Canadian in fact as well as in name, by a more equitable use of the two official languages of this country, I will not form a part of it."

PLACING THE BLAME

The New York Times on Sunday published the Russian "Orange Paper," purporting to be the full text of Russia's correspondence in the negotiations proceding the war. The British and German White Books have already been published, so it is now possible for those who would study this phase of the quarrel to examine the position of each of these governments. So much has been said from the German side about Russian responsibility for the war that it is fair to note some of the principal points in the position of the Russian government. It appears from this correspondence that so late as July 29th, the actual date of Austria's declaration of war against Servia, the Russian minister of foreign affairs proposed to the German ambassadors a conference of Germany, France, Great Britain and Italy with "direct contact between Autsia-Hungary and Russia," adding that after the concessions made by Servia a ground of compromise on questions that remained open would not be difficult to find on condition of a certain good will on the part of Austria-Hungary and on condition that all the powers use their influence in favor of conciliation.

The following day, July 30th, M. Sazonof says he dictated to the German ambassador for transmission to Berlin the following: "If Austria recognizing that the Austro-Servian question has assumed the character of a European question, declares herself ready to eliminate from her ultimatum the points which are in infringement of the sovereign rights of Servia, Russia undertakes to cease her military preparations.

On the 31st, this was modified by suggestion of Great Britain to the following: "If Austria consents to stay the march of her armies upon Servian terrritory and if, recognizing that the Austro-Servian conflict has assumed the character of a question of European interest, she admits that the great powers examine the reparation which Servia could accord to the government of Austria-Hungary without injury to her rights as a sovereign state and to her independence. Russia undertakes to maintain her expectant attitude."

It will be remembered that at this time Austria had been bombarding Belgrade for two days.

There does not appear to be in any of the official publications a message which can be looked upon as a direct reply by Germany to this proposition. The only note from Germany to Russia on July 31st that appears in the text of the German White Book is this: "In spite of still pending mediatory negotiations, and although we ourselves have up to the present moment taken no measures for mobilization, Russia has mobilized her entire army and navy; in other words, mobilized against us also. By these Russian measures we have been obliged for the safeguarding of the empire, to announce that danger of war threatens us, which does not mean mobilization. Mobilization, however, must follow unless Russia ceases within twelve hours all warlike measures against us and Austria-Hungary and give us definite assurance thereof."

It may be that what has thus far been published is only a part of the correspondence which actually passed during these critical days. It appears from these versions, however, that while Russia was proposing conferences and conciliation and offering to cease military preparation if Austria would cease her aggressions against Servia, Germany was curtly demanding that Russia cease mobilization without conditions. From the fact that Russia has not even yet, two months after the war began, succeeded in bringing enough troops to her German frontier even to prevent German invasion, it is not possible that Russian mobilization on July 31st could have been far enough advanced to leave Germany no time even to consider conferences and conciliation. The contention that Russia is to blame for the war must rest on the argument that Austria-Hungary's action against Servia was none of Russia's business and that Russia had no right to interfere. It does not appear from either the German or Russian correspondence that Russia ever had a chance to avoid the war on any other basis than that. Germany on the other hand, had the chance to agree to a general conference of the powers.

THOSE GERMAN ATROCITIES

That the barbarities practiced by German soldiers against the people of Belgium are only too true is vouched for by those who have taken pains to investigate to the farthest extent. A writer on the editorial staff of the London Daily Mail has, to our knowledge, discredited the stories of atrocities in Belgium, and held them to be the exaggerated tales of hysterical persons. Then he went over to Belgium himself and spent several days there investigating. Here is what he wrote when he returned:—

Life in London seems a bit unreal when one has been face to face with life at its grimmest and bitterest, with death, the great harvester, with misery at its full, with whole towns destroyed, with womanhood put to shame and childhood to death. I thought a week ago that I knew something of what this war meant, but today, looking back, I can only say that I had no conception of the reality. And yet I have known war; war in what, up to then, was some of its most horrible forms. But this war on us today is uglier, more cruel, and more vicious than the world has ever known for centuries. For the men fighting us are fighting with every weapon that cruelty and heartlessness and remorselessness can supply.

"This is mere rhetorical exaggeration," I can fancy some reader living in a quiet western or southern farmstead might say. "This is mere journalism and writing for effect!" It is nothing of the kind. My difficulty is not to paint pictures of horror, but to give any suggestion of what some of the horrors that I know are. Frankly, I cannot do it, because there is no language that could be put in type that would be permissible. Picture the worst you know, the worst of outrages, the worst of cruelty, and then you will not have fancied bad enough. I am one of those who do not readily believe stories of atrocities in war. I know how easy it is to manufacture such accounts. I know, too, how difficult it may be to refute them. When I first heard the tales of what the German soldiery were doing, I regarded them as mere extravagant inventions. Today I know. I have seen with my own eyes and witnessed in my own person that the tales that have come over do not half convey the truth.

CURRENT COMMENT

Toronto News: "Sir James Whitney's last official message was a declaration of devotion to the Mother Country and an assertion of the inviolable attachment of Canada to the common Empire."

Edmonton Journal: "For the first time in a year the C.P.R. gross traffic returns have shown an increase over those for the same week twelve months before. As a business barometer there is nothing better than these weekly statements of our largest corporation."

Toronto News: "Col. Hendrie is a lover of horses and of all wholesome sport. He has no pretension or class feeling. He has not courted popularity or sought position. The office which he now takes was accepted with reluctance, but that he will fill it with satisfaction to the Province and honor to himself cannot be doubted. In Mrs. Hendrie Government House will have a gracious, attractive and accomplished hostess."

HOW TO STOP STOMACH TORMENT

Sound Advice From A Well-Known Physician

Men and women who suffer from what they call Dyspepsia, Indigestion or just plain "stomach-trouble" usually seek regular relief in the form of some pepsin pill or tablet, or other artificial digestant. This, experience teaches me, is a serious error. In nine cases out of ten the distress is caused by the development of acids in the stomach—formed by the fermenting of the food. Instead of a digestant being required, something should be taken to dissolve or neutralize this acidity, when normal digestion will follow as a matter of course. This acid matter is distinctly poisonous and unless it is dissolved, digestion merely carries the mass of fermenting food from the stomach to the intestines, where the poison is absorbed by the blood and carried all over the body.

If all the great army of people who suffer after nearly every meal would make it a point to take a teaspoonful of Bisurated in a quarter glass of water after each meal, there would be no formation of acidity and consequently no distress or discomfort. Sour, acid, glassy stomach, heartburn, belching, bloating, etc., would then be a thing of the past. "Bisurated Magnesia" is a physician's prescription. It is inexpensive and can be obtained at any drug store. It is prepared for just such trouble and the best proof of its efficiency is that it will stop the sharpest biting stomach distress in five minutes from the time it enters the stomach, simply by dissolving the acids that have been formed there. Its action is absolutely harmless.

War Notes

Toronto Globe: "Never were the Dominions so free. Never were they so loyal. Never did the Empire stand so four square to every wind that blows. King George understands. There is life because there is liberty. In its unity amidst diversity is the Empire's strength."

Hamilton Herald: "It is a mistake to assume as a matter of course, as some contemporaries are doing, that if the Germans are again forced to retreat, they will not be able to make another stand in French territory and are likely even to be driven out of Belgium across their own frontier. We wish we could take so hopeful a view. But it is not in accord with what has been revealed of German strategy and tactics and the German spirit."

Journal of Commerce: "It has ever been thus in Great Britain's conquest. We never 'rub it in.' The colonies we won by the sword have been assisted and made to feel that they were respected, and had become one of ourselves. We need only point to the late Boer Republics as an instance of this. The deadly foes of yesterday are the staunch friends of to-day. So will it be with Germany—the people of Germany—not the German war machine. That must be crushed never to rise again."

London Express: "Germany is already beginning to feel the pressure of events. The anticipated easy conquest of France is straining its resources, and is doomed to failure. The Austrian arfy, which was to hold ussia, has been almost destroyed. The beastly outrages in Belgium have aroused the indignation of civilization. The British army, at which Prussia jeered, has sent terror to the hearts of its best troops. The Russians are advancing steadily and swiftly, fighting with indomitable courage, led with consummate skill. The writing is on the wall, Even the Kaiser can read it."

HUNGARY ABANDONED.

Austrian Army Has Evidently Left Monarchy to Defend Itself.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—From the latest events in Galicia and along the Carpathians the conclusion drawn is that the army has abandoned Hungary to its fate and has left the route to Budapest to be defended by the Hungarian national troops, says the Petrograd correspondent of The Daily Telegraph. The despatch continues:

"The Austrians continue to retreat before the persuing Russians and appear to have given up not only the defence of their country in general but also to have decided to abstain from further independent action. They are simply hurrying on to Cracow to join the right wing of the Germans and apparently intend to become a mere component part of the German army.

"Having passed the most difficult part of Uget Pass in the Carpathians, after dislodging the Honveds from three positions, the Russian troops have only some ten or fifteen miles to descend before reaching the Hungarian plateau, where there is not a single fortress or fortified position except such as may be hastily improvised in the form of earthworks by the Hungarian defenders."

"Christmas In Berlin."

ROME, Sept. 30.—(Via Paris.)—"Cheer up; we'll spend Christmas in Berlin," is the encouragement which Gen. Rennenkampf has offered to his men, according to a report received here from Russian headquarters.

The general proffered this word of cheer for the purpose of helping his officers and soldiers stand fast during the present discomforts and sufferings of war.

POINT ANN

Sunday was Rally Day in the Methodist church. A chorus by Messrs. Model, S. Boyer, Mrs. D. Cook, Miss Guay and Miss Fox was beautifully rendered.

An At-Home Bazaar of the Energetic Club sewing circle was held at the home of the President, Mrs. Don MacDonald, Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. Mrs. A. G. Bennett looked after the articles for sale; Mrs. A. A. Huck presided at the piano, while Miss Huck poured tea. Quite a sum of money was raised and a pleasant afternoon spent by all.

Mrs. A. A. Huck is visiting friends in Deseronto.

Mr. H. MacKay spent Sunday at his home in Belleville.

Mrs. M. B. Taft and Master Lindsay of Rochester are visitors at the home of J. H. MacDonald.

Mrs. Sweanor, who has been ill, is able to be out again.

The many friends of Mr. E. G. Porter, K.C., M.P., are sorry to learn of his illness, and hope for a speedy recovery.

Point Ann will soon be able to boast of one of the finest concession roads in Ontario.

PHILLIPSTON

Our Sunday School Rally was a real success, and was opened with singing by the school and prayer by our pastor. The lessons of the past quarter were taken by Mr. Wm. Moore of Plainfield, and were explained in such a way as to make them very interesting and profitable to all. Following this was a chorus by the choir and addresses and talks by Mr. H. K. Denyes, Rev. Huffman, Mr. Tumon and Mr. J. F. Ketcheson, who has made a most successful superintendent for more than a year. The way our Sunday School is progressing reflects great credit on him.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thompson passed through here on Monday to call on Dr. Hill at Roslin. We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Thompson is not well.

Mrs. Snider of Shannonville, is visiting at her home here.

Mr. Joseph Phillips is ill.

IT ALL DEPENDS

A Pennsylvania farmer was the owner of a good Alderney cow. A stranger, having admired the animal, asked the farmer: "What will you take for your cow?" The farmer scratched his head for a moment, and then said: "Look a-here, be you the tax assessor, or has she been killed by the railroad?"

ANY DYSPEPTIC CAN GET WELL

By Taking "Fruit-a-tives" Says Capt. Swan

Life is very miserable to those who suffer with Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach and Biliousness. This letter from Captain Swan (one of the best known skippers on the Great Lakes) tells how to get quick relief from Stomach Trouble.

PORT BURWELL, ONT., May 8th, 1913.

"A man has a poor chance of living and enjoying life when he cannot eat. That was what was wrong with me. Loss of appetite and indigestion was brought on by Constipation. I have had trouble with these diseases for years. I lost a great deal of flesh and suffered constantly. For the last couple of years, I have taken "Fruit-a-tives" and have been so pleased with the results that I have recommended them on many occasions to friends and acquaintances. I am sure that "Fruit-a-tives" have helped me greatly. By following the diet rules and taking "Fruit-a-tives" according to directions, any person with Dyspepsia will get benefit".

H. SWAN

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c, a box 6 for $2.50, or trial size 25c. or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

YET, HE ANSWERED ALL RIGHT

A young German was being tried in court, and the questioning by the lawyers on the opposite side began:

"Now, Muller, what do you do?"

"Ven?" asked the German.

"When you work, of course," said the lawyer.

"Vy, I vork——"

"I know," said the lawyer, "but what at?"

"At a bench."

"Oh, Lord!" groaned the lawyer, "where do you work at a bench?"

"In a vactory."

"What kind of a factory?"

"Brick."

"You make bricks?"

"No; de vacory is made up bricks."

Now, Muller, lisen," said the lawyer "what do you make in that factory?"

"Eight dollars a veek."

"No, no! What does the factory make?"

"I dunno; a lot uv money, I tink."

"Now listen! What kind of goods does the factory produce?"

"Oh," said the German, "good goods"

"I know, but what kind of good goods?"

"The best."

"The best of what?"

"The best there is."

"Of what?"

"Of dose goods."

"Your Honor," said the lawyer, "I give up."—Ladies' Home Journal.

A TRIBUTE TO KITCHENER

Of all the estimates of Lord Kitchener that may be recalled at this time none is more remarkable than that of Mr. Winston Churchill in the River War. "In every instance," says Churchill, "the general placed on the field of battle an overwhelming, well-fed, thoroughly equipped army, in a suitable position for encountering the enemy. On every occasion the enemy were practically destroyed. On no occasion was the result in doubt when the morning of action revealed the antagonists. The chances of battle were reduced to a negligible faction. In nearly three years of war nothing of any consequence went wrong. What prouder boast could a general make than this plain statement of facts?"

With a man like Lord Kitchener directing the affairs of the British War Office it is not surprising that the British people have confidence in the outcome.

FORCES MUSTERING FOR ARMAGEDDON

Then Messiah's Kingdom Will be Established.

REVELATION INTERPRETED

Indications That We Are In the End of This Gospel Age—Antitypical Battle of Armageddon — Three Agencies Mustering the Armies to Battle—The Opposing Forces—A Seeming Victory For the Classes —Then Victory For the Masses— Why Armageddon Is Necessary— At This Juncture Earth's New Ruler Will Command Peace.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Sept. 27.—Pastor Russell's text for to-day was, "For the great Day of His wrath is come; and who shall be able to stand?" (Revela. 6:17.) His topic was Armageddon—a term which is being used on all sides and applied to many things. A number of famous cartoons illustrating popular thought on this subject are shown in the remarkable Photo-Drama of Creation, well known throughout the United States and Canada.

The Pastor said: God seems to have given the Book of Revelation with the intent of covering up great and important truths, not only because these truths were not due to be understood, but because He designs to keep certain features of His Plan from the world. Being a book of symbols, the Revelation will not be understood by the world in general; but the Bible assures that when the due time for revealment comes, the wise amongst His people, "the wise virgins," shall understand.

The Prophet Daniel, who tells us that the Time of the End is the time for those wise toward God to understand His great Plan, gives two particular signs by which this time will be especially marked: First, "Many shall run to and fro"; second, "Knowledge shall be increased." (Daniel 12:4.) To-day we see this prophecy fulfilled. All over the world the people are running to and fro as never before; and all over the world are opportunities for knowledge such as have never before been known. The remarkable fulfilment of this prophecy characterizes our day as the Time of the End, in which this Gospel Age is to be concluded and the Messianic Age to be ushered in—the time when God's people will understand and prepare for their change.

In the Scriptures God has seen fit to associate the name of Israel's famous battlefield with the great controversy between Truth and Error, Right and Wrong, with which the change of dispensation will take place. While the phrase, "Battle of Armageddon," is heard on all sides and is applied in many ways, nevertheless Christians realize that in the Bible this phrase is used in a spiritual sense. Therefore if the present is an opportune time to consider this Battle of the great Day of God Almighty, surely it is the proper time to view it from its true religious standpoint.

Before we proceed to set forth our understanding of the symbolic language of the Revelation, we wish to state most emphatically that we are saying nothing whatsoever against godly Christians at any time or in any place, in any church or out of any church. We realize that the Word of God conveys a terrible arraignment of some of the great systems of our day—some that we long have reverenced, that we have esteemed as containing many of God's people. We have nothing to say against godly individuals, but what we have to say in the interpretation of Scripture is in respect to these systems.

Coming to the interpretation of the symbols of Revelation 16:13-16, we find that the Scriptures mention three agencies connected with the gathering of the hosts to this great battle. We read that three impure spirits, teachings, will go forth from the mouths of the Dragon, the Beast and the False Prophet, and that these three will be in accord. These three doctrines symbolically represented by frogs, are to have a mighty influence throughout the civilized earth; they are to gather the kings and their armies to the great Battle of Armageddon.

The ecclesiastical kings and princes, with their retinues of clergy and faithful adherents, will be gathered in solid phalanx—Protestants and Catholics. The kings and captains of industry, and as many as can be influenced by them, will be gathered to the same side. The political kings and princes, with all their henchmen and retainers, will follow in line on the same side. The financial kings and merchant princes, and all whom they can influence by the most gigantic power ever yet exercised in the world, will join the same side, according to this prophecy. They do not realize, however, that they are coming to Armageddon.

These "doctrines of demons," represented by the frogs, will lead many noble souls to assume an attitude quite contrary to their preference. For a time the wheels of liberty and progress will be turned backward, and medieval restraints will be considered necessary for self-preservation—for the maintenance of the present order of things and for the prevention of the new order which God has decreed. Even those who may be God's people do not stop to consider whether it is His will that things should continue as they have been for six thousand years.

In giving this interpretation, it is necessary for us to indicate what is symbolized by the Dragon, the Beast and the False Prophet. Bible students of nearly all denominations agree with us that the Dragon of Revelation represents the purely Civil Power. Protestant interpreters generally agree with us that the "Beast like a leopard" (Revelation 13:2) represents the Papacy. But fewer still, we fear, will be ready to support our view that Protestantism is the "Image of the Beast" (Revelation 13:15), elsewhere styled "the False Prophet."

We urge no one to accept our interpretation, nor shall we think unkindly of those who refuse it. We will neither slander or otherwise injure them, nor threaten them with eternal torture. They have the same right to their views that we have, and the same right to make them known to others. For our part, we shall be very glad to consider anything which opponents may set forth as their interpretations of the passage under consideration.

The symbolisms of Scripture, rightly understood, are always forceful. When the Holy Spirit used a frog symbolically to represent certain doctrines or teachings, we may be sure that the true application will fit well. A frog is a small creature, yet it puffs itself up until it almost bursts in its efforts to be somebody; it has a wise look, even though it does not know much; and whenever it utters a sound it croaks. The three most prominent characteristics of a frog, then, are pomposity, an air of superior wisdom and a continual croaking.

Applying these symbols, we learn that an evil spirit, influence, teaching, will come from the federated Protestant churches, from the Church of Rome and from the civil authorities, all in full agreement. The spirit of all will be boastful, an air of superior wisdom and knowledge will be proudly assumed—all will croak in harmony. All will predict dire results to follow, involving the interests of both the present and the future life, if their counsel be not heeded. However conflicting the creeds, the differences will be ignored in the general proposition that nothing ancient must be disturbed, investigated or repudiated.

The Divine authority of the Church, and the Divine right of kings, aside from the Church, will not be permitted to conflict. Any persons or teachings in conflict with these boastful and unscriptural claims will be branded as everything vile, at the mouths of these froglike spirits, speaking from pulpits and platforms and through the press. The nobler sentiments of some will be strangled by the philosophy of the same evil spirit which spoke through Caiaphas, the high priest, respecting our Lord Jesus. As Caiaphas declared it expedient to commit a crime in violation of justice, both human and Divine, in order to be rid of Jesus and His teachings, so this frog spirit will approve of every violation of principle necessary to their self-protection.

The croaking of these frog spirits of doctrine will gather the kings and princes—financial, political, religious and industrial—into one great army. The spirit of fear, inspired by the croakings, will scourge the passions of otherwise good and reasonable men to fury, desperation. In their blind adherence to these evil spirits, evil doctrines, they will be ready to sacrifice life itself on the altar of what they mistakenly suppose is justice, truth and righteousness.

As we understand the Scriptures, for a brief time these combined forces of Armageddon will triumph. Free speech, free mails, and other liberties which have come to be the very breath of the masses of our day will be ruthlessly shut off under the plea of necessity, the glory of God, the commands of the Church, etc. All will seem serene until the great social explosion takes place, described in Scripture as "a great earthquake."—Revelation 16:18, 19.

In symbolic language, an earthquake signifies social revolution. The declaration of the Revelator is that it will be "such as was not since men were upon the earth." Our Lord Jesus and the Prophet Daniel described it as "a Time of Trouble such as was not since there was a nation."—Matthew 24:21; Daniel 12:1.

The false, froglike teachings will gather together into one host the great, the rich, the wise, the learned and the kings of the earth. At this juncture Divine Power will step forward and marshal the hosts to Armageddon—to the Mount of Destruction. The very thing which they sought to avert by federation will be the very thing which they will hasten. Other Scriptures tell us that God will be represented by the great Messiah, and that He will be on the side of the masses. Thus we read, "At that time shall Michael (the Godlike One—Messiah) stand up"—assume authority. He will take possession of His Kingdom in a manner little expected by many of those who erroneously have been claiming that they were His Kingdom, and authorized by Him to reign in His stead.

The Scriptures declare, "His servants ye are unto whom ye render service." Some may be rendering service to Satan and error while claiming to be serving God and righteousness; and some of these may be serving ignorantly, as did Saul of Tarsus, who "verily thought that he did God service" in persecuting the Church. The same principle holds true reversely. As no earthly king holds himself responsible for the moral character of each soldier who fights in his battles, so the Lord does not vouch for the moral character of all who fight on His side of any question.

The same principle will apply in the approaching Battle of Armageddon. God's side of that battle will be the people's side; and that very nondescript host, the people, will be pitted at the beginning of the battle Anarchists, Socialists, and hot-headed radicals of every school of reason and of unreason, will be at the forefront of that battle. The majority of the poor and of the middle class prefer peace at almost any price. The masses have no sympathy with anarchy; for they realize truly that the worst form of government is better than none.

A comparatively small number, God's consecrated people, will at heart be longing for Messiah's Kingdom. These will wait patiently for the Lord's time; they will be of good courage, knowing the outcome delineated in the "more sure word of prophecy," to which they have done well to "take heed, as unto a light shining in a dark place, until the Day dawn."—2 Peter 1:19.

Conscious of their own weakness as compared to the kings and princes, financial, religious and political, who will then hold sway, the masses will be restless. Through the ballot and the peaceful readjustment of earth's affairs they will seek for the elimination of evil, for the placing of monopolies, utilities and the supplies of nature in the hands of the people for the public good. The crisis will be reached when the hitherto upholders of law shall become violators of that law and resisters of the will of the majority as expressed by the ballot. Fear for the future will lead the well-meaning masses to desperation; and anarchy will result when Socialism fails.

Horrible indeed would be the outlook for the future did we not have the infallible Word of God assuring us of a glorious outcome. Divine Wisdom has withheld until our day the great knowledge and skill which is breeding both millionaires and discontents. Had God lifted the veil a thousand years ago, the world would then have lined up for its Armageddon. But that date would have been too soon for the Divine Purpose; for God has His own times and seasons, and has appointed the Seventh Thousand-Year Day of the world's history for the Reign of Christ. Therefore in kindness God veiled our eyes until the time when the gathering to Armageddon would immediately precede the inauguration of Messiah's Kingdom.—Revelation 11:17, 18.

St. Paul, writing prophetically of this time, declared that it would be one of trial and testing to many professed Christians, for the reason that they received not the Truth in the love of it. (2 Thessalonians 2:10, 11.) They preferred their own erroneous theories, the Apostle explains, and therefore God will give them over to a strong delusion, permitting them to believe the lie which they preferred and to suffer for missing the Truth which they did not love. Thus they will be in the condemned host, "fighting against God."

Sad to say, we Christians have labored under a thorough delusion respecting God's Plan. We have claimed that Christ set up His Church in Kingdom power and that the Church has been reigning on the earth as His representative. On the strength of this delusion, Jews and so-called heretics have been persecuted to death as opponents to Christ's Kingdom. Meantime we thoughtlessly prayed, "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth, as in Heaven." We knew that the Redeemer had said that He would come again to make us His Bride and Joint-heirs; but we ignored the Scriptures. We were drunk, as the Scriptures symbolically say; all nations were drunk with the false doctrine. (Revelation 17:2.) It is this false doctrine which will constitute the frog spirit that soon will croak, preparatory to Armageddon.

For the past forty years the forces have been mustering for the conflict. As the belligerent parties have crossed each other's paths, incidental skirmishes have taken place—strikes, lockouts, riots, etc. Court and army scandals in Europe, trust and court scandals in America, have shaken public confidence. Dynamite plots, charged by turns on employes and employers, have tended to make each distrustful of the other. Bitter and angry feelings are more and more manifest.

According to Scripture the great battle must follow the occurrence of two events, the transformation of the Image of the Beast into a living force, and the return of many wealthy Jews to Palestine. The Protestant Federation realizes the futility of its organization unless it receive vitalization—unless its clergy be recognized as possessing apostolic ordination and authority to teach. This the prophecy indicates will come from the two-horned Beast—symbol, we believe, of the Church of England. High-handed activities of both Protestantism and Catholicism, operating in conjunction for the suppression of human liberties, await the vivifying of this Image.

At the very close of Armageddon will come "Jacob's trouble" in the Holy Land. Then Messiah's Kingdom will begin to be manifested. Thenceforth in the Land of Promise Israel will gradually rise from the ashes of the past to the grandeur of prophecy. Through its Divinely appointed princes, the Ancient Worthies (Hebrews 11; Psalm 45:16), the all-powerful, but invisible, Kingdom of Messiah will begin to roll away the curse of death and to uplift mankind. Then will be fulfilled the Promise made to Abraham — "In thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed."

Massed Millions.

Mukden, in the Russo-Japanese war, heads the list with a total of more than 700,000 men in battle array:—

Leipsic ("the Battle of the Nations"): October 16th to 19th, 1813.—French, 160,000; Austrians, Russians, and Prussians, 240,000. Total, 400,000.

Sedan: Aug. 29 to Sept. 1, 1870.—French, 150,000; Germans, 250,000. Total. 400,000.

A Great, Big, Capable Stove

YOU don't buy many stoves in a lifetime. Many people buy but one. A stove is an important purchase. It involves considerable money.

A stove that's not capable makes cooking a dread and a drudge—but still, meals you must have 3 times a day the year round. So choose your stove carefully. What has the Gurney-Oxford Stove to offer? First of all, it's a big, heavy, capable stove. It has the lasting qualities of an heirloom. It's a capacious stove, the top is broad and deep, the ovens are high and wide and deep. The grates of the Gurney-Oxford give the fire every chance to breathe. The combustion is perfect: this means the most heat from the least coal—in other words, economy. The heat goes all around the oven in flues, not over it and up the chimney to waste. There are no cold corners in a Gurney-Oxford oven.

Then, there's the Gurney-Oxford Economizer, the greatest single improvement in stove-making of a decade. The drafts are all on the chimney, regulated by one handle. Notch No. 6 will keep the fire down to a veritable spark between meals. Notch No. 1 brings it back to life, and the oven to the desired temperature. Don't buy a stove for looks only. Don't buy it simply on price. Buy it for what it will do; how it will cook; how it will last; the satisfaction it will give. The Gurney-Oxford from every standpoint is a capable stove for 3-times-a-day satisfaction and economy.

HEADING FOR SUWALKI

Rennenkampf Is Moving on the Kaiser's Headquarters.

Russian Force Has Advanced From Grodno to Augustow and Has Driven Gen. Von Hindenberg From Strongly Entrenched Positions—Southern Army Is Now on Plains of Hungary.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 1.—The army under Gen. Rennenkampf has advanced along the railway from Grodno to Augustow and is now moving on Suwalki, where the Kaiser has his headquarters. In the fighting between Grodno and Druskeniki the Germans, under Gen. Von Hindenberg, were driven from strongly intrenched positions.

Three great Rusisan armies are now operating against the Germans and Austrians, in addition with the two minor forces which mark the extreme north and south of the Russian battle lines.

Gen. Rennenkampf is repelling the Germans' attempted invasion north of Poland into the Province of Grodno and Vilna.

Heading southwest from Warsaw a new army of fresh troops is pushing in the direction of Breslau, with its left wing in a position to co-operate with the third big army which is pursuing the Austrians westward toward Cracow.

The Russian forces on the extreme left wing have penetrated the Carpathians at three points, and are now on the plains of Hungary, within 120 miles of Budapest. The three defiles in the mountain ranges, through which they are pouring are Dukla Pass, Sanok Pass and Usock Pass. Through two of them run railways, which the Russians now control, to points in the southern foothills.

The fighting along the East Prussian frontier, in which the Russians have been successful in extending their front 99 miles, has resulted in the repulse of all the German attempts to force a passage of the River Niemen. This statement is contained in a despatch from the Petrograd correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Co.

TURKEY SEEMS DETERMINED.

Suspension of Rights of Foreigners Likely To Go Into Effect To-day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—So far as officials here know, Turkey will carry into effect its announced intention to abrogate all capitulations granting extra territorial rights to foreigners in Turkey to-day. Secretary of State Bryan said the Porte had received in friendly spirit, the notification that the United States would reserve the right of future discussion of Turkey's action, but had not indicated a postponement of the operation of the decree.

A close watch will be kept over the manner in which Turkey exercises the new full sovereignty over her dominions. The cruiser Tennessee, now at Falmouth, Eng., will take a station off the Turkish coast for the present, probably making her base at Alexandria, Egypt.

Great Gale In Germany.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—A Central News despatch from Copenhagen says that all cable communication in Sweden and Germany have been interrupted since Tuesday as a consequence, it is stated, of the great gale prevailing. It is reported that Germany has been without any foreign mail since last week.

The Danish Government is issuing a domestic state loan of 50,000,000 kroners (approximately $15,000,000).

British Warships To Aid Russians.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. — Captain R. Goelsche, in command of the Danish steamer United States, in yesterday from Chritsiancand, said that he had picked up a wireless in the North Sea containing the information that 30 British warships were on their way through the Kattegat to help the Russian fleet in the Baltic Sea.

BOY SCOUT MURDERED WHO REFUSED INFORMATION

LONDON, Oct. 1. — German tales of tragic episodes of the war were issued by the Official Press Bureau last night. The stories were taken from a book called "Krieg's Chronik," which was seized from aliens entering British ports. The book consists, according to the bureau, "partly of a highly untrustworthy chronicle of the war, and partly of soldiers' letters from the front."

"As showing the methods of thought of the enemy these last have considerable value," continues the bureau. "It is not the truth or falsity of the tales that matters, but the applause and self-congratulations of the writers on deeds of gross treachery and cruelty claimed to have been done by themselves or comrades."

"A traitor has just been shot. He was a little French lad belonging to one of the gymnastic societies which wear the tri-colored ribbons, a poor young fellow who, in his infatuation, wanted to be a hero.

"As the German column was passing along a wooded defile he was caught and asked whether the French were about. He refused to give any information. Fifty yards farther there was firing from cover of the wood. The prisoner was asked in French if he had known that the enemy was in the forest, and he did not deny it.

"He went with a firm step to a telegraph pole and stood against it with a green vineyard at his back and received the volley of a firing party with a proud smile on his face. Infatuated wretch! It was a pity to see such wasted courage."

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

Official advices from Mexico City yesterday announced the issuance of a decree annulling all mine titles granted during the Huerta administration.

The St. Thomas City Council has borrowed $18,000 from the surplus funds of the local Hydro-Electric department for the purpose of continuing local improvements.

John Lally, 69, for the past twenty years lockmaster on the Cornwall Canal, died of appendicitis at the Hotel Dieu in Cornwall yesterday morning. He was not ill a week.

The Order of the Iron Cross, first and second-class, has been conferred on Prince William of Hohenzollern. His daughter is the wife of Manuel, the former King of Portugal.

Changes Paper's Name.

TOULOUSE, France, Oct. 1.—Former Premier Georges Clemenceau has succeeded in evading the suspension order against his newspaper, L'Homme Libre, by changing the name to L'Homme Enchaine (The Man in Chains). The paper was published as usual yesterday.

The article which resulted Tuesday in an order for suspension for eight days is a mild appeal for the proferential treatment of German Alsatian prisoners.

Beautiful Nursery Furniture.

Wedgwood wicker furniture is beautiful for the somewhat elaborately furnished nursery. The woman who thinks that simplicity, even to the point of plainness, should be the keynote of all children's rooms would doubtless think Wedgwood furniture too elaborate, too ornate.

Made of wicker, it is enameled a dull, lovely shade of blue and decorated with festoons of plaster flowers in white, held in loops here and there with little plaster figures. Sleeping baskets, clothes holders of various sorts, children's chairs, tables and chiffoniers are decked with little plaster figures.

SAN GUILIANO DYING.

Death of Foreign Minister May Decide Italy's Action.

ROME, Oct. 1.—Almost coincident with the demand made on Austria by the Italian Government that she stop strewing the Adriatic with mines, comes the information that an Italian torpedo boat has struck a mine and sunk near Commachio. The Minister of Marine has announced that no official confirmation of the report is available, but asserts that it will be immediately investigated.

The Italian Minister at Vienna was yesterday instructed to file an emphatic protest with the Austrian Government against the laying of mines in neutral waters. He will point out that Italian shipping is seriously menaced by the presence of these mines. Twenty miles off Ancona a fishing craft met destruction and nine of her crew were killed.

It is stated that several hundred mines have already been picked up by Italian craft, and that a good many more have floated ashore.

Inasmuch as the protection of mines is the only thing which enables the Austrian fleet to remain in comparative safety at the naval base of Pola, the Austrian refusal is regarded as certain.

Marquis Di San Guiliano, Italian Minister of Foreign Affairs, who is dangerously ill and not expected to recover, has said to a friend: "I wish that I could live ten weeks more!" Indicating that he expects the gravest events to transpire within that time.

May Change Italy's Policy.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Marquis di San Guiliano, the Foreign Minister who is one of the chief friends of the triple alliance in Italy, is seriously ill, and Premier Salandra has taken charge of the Foreign Office. It is suggested in London this might bring about some change in the policy of Italy, as the Premier is said to be in favor of Italy joining with the allies, to which move Marquis di San Guiliano has been strongly opposed.

BRUSSELS IS ROUSED.

Citizens Likely To Revolt Under Treatment of Germans.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Chafing under the intentional provocations of Germans, the residents of Brussels are growing hourly more surly, according to a courier who reached London yesterday from the Belgian capital, which place he left Tuesday morning. He reports that there have been several riots, and although the Germans threatened to shoot the ringleaders, they refrained from doing so after deliberation. However, the Belgians give ample evidence that sooner or later they will rise up in arms against the overbearing enemy in their midst, and it is the hope of the Germans, according to the courier, that they will riot on a large scale, for that would give the enemy a longed-for reason for setting a torch to the city.

Despite the spirit of braggadocio, so the courier says, the Germans show uneasiness over the big battle on the Aisne. It is believed in Brussels that the Germans really intend making no great move against Antwerp, although the siege guns are now battering away at some of the surrounding forts. The courier asserted that the movements in the direction of Antwerp were looked on more in the nature of engaging the main Belgian forces to keep them from joining the allies at this juncture. Fully two thousand Austrians, with heavy artillery, passed through Brussels a few days ago, it was said by the courier. They were on their way to join the German right wing. British papers are selling in Brussels for 25 francs, and the Germans are doing everything to prevent their importation.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Sept. 30.—The local grain situation was unchanged today. A few inquiries for grain were received, but in all cases the prices bid were out of line and no business was reported done. The feeling here is that it is just a matter of time until English buyers must come into the market for Canadian grain and just so soon as this occurs prices will respond easily. Farmers evidently are not nervous and are clinging to their stocks. Large supplies are piling up at all stores and as there has been a temporary lull in the demand, it is felt here the natural course of the market will be easy until the demand increases but that this should be short lived.

Oats were also easy.

Little business was done in cheese, but the market held steady.

Butter continued in little demand.

The provision market was active and firm.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN MARKET.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 30.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.10; No. 1 northern, $1.06⅝ to $1.09; No. 2 do., $1.03⅝ to $1.06⅛; December, $1.08⅛.

Corn—No. 3 yellow, 69c to 70c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 43⅝c to 44c.

Flour—Unchanged.

Bran—$20.

DULUTH GRAIN MARKET.

Stockers and Feeders.

The market for stockers and feeders was slow, with prices easier, in sympathy with fat cattle. Choice steers sold at $7 to $7.25; good steers at $6.50 to $6.75 and stockers at $5 to $6.25.

Milkers and Springers.

Milkers and springers were good property and sold at firm values at $65 to $120 each, the bulk going at $70 to $90 each.

Veal Calves.

Choice calves sold at $10 to $10.50; good at $9 to $9.50; medium at $8 to $8.50; common at $7 to $7.50; inferior, rough, eastern calves at $5.50 to $6.50.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts were large. Ewes sold at $5.50 to $6.25; yearlings at $6.50 to $7; culls and rams at $3.50 to $5; lambs sold at $7.50 to $7.85; cull lambs at $6 to $6.50.

Form Whole Brigade.

MONTREAL, Oct. 1.—The proposal to form a French-Canadian regiment for active service will probably widen into a much larger scheme. The promoters met yesterday morning and discussed the details of a plan to form a brigade of French-Canadians, commanded and completely officered by men of that race and consisting solely of French-Canadians. This will mean that instead of enrolling 2,000 men for service, the recruiting officers will try to raise over 4,000 men.

To Give Apples To Poor.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 1. — Mayor Graham has arranged to have apples offered by farmers of the district, distributed among the deserving poor of the city on Saturday next. Collegiate and public school students have offered to pick them, motorists transporting them to the orchards, while business men and merchants have offered motor trucks for the hauling of the fruit to London, and the charities organization will look after the distribution.

Belgians Declare That Germans Have Been Repulsed at Antwerp.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The Germans for two days have been shelling forts Waelham and Wavre-St. Catherine, which cover the road from Malines to Antwerp. Behind Waelham are the waterworks that supply Antwerp, but even the destruction of these would not be fatal to the fortress, as a good supply of water has been provided for from other sources.

Concerning the progress of this attack, the official reports give widely different accounts. The Belgians say that the German attempts to advance have been repulsed and that their shells have had no effect on the forts. On their part the Germans declare that the Belgian sorties have been driven back.

Two Corps Stay In Canada.

KINGSTON, Oct. 1.—No. 3 Company, Army Service Corps, in command of Major W. A. Mitchell of Kingston, will not go to the front with the Canadian overseas contingent. No. 3 Company and No. 5 Company of Montreal will be kept in Canada for home service.

SCHOOL DAYS IN THE LONG AGO

(By Maurice D. Lynch in Chicago Belleville News)

The sight of thousands of kids going back to school early this month, to take up the White Boy's Burden, started my mind on the back track towards days in old Belleville.

The more I think of my early school days, the more firmly convinced I am, that the world is growing better. I don't believe that very small boys would, nowadays, be permitted to "pull the rough stuff" that I've seen sprung on teachers when I was a kid. School laws are stricter and are better enforced than they were then. Children must be kept in school now until they are at least fourteen years old, while, usually, even boys who do not intend going to High Schol and College, are kept at school till they graduate at fifteen or sixteen. Thirty odd years ago, most boys of sixteen had been working for a few years. It was no uncommon sight to see fully grown young men going to school in the winter, to pick up the rudiments of an education, after working from early spring until late fall in outside occupations.

The attendance, at primary schools, of big husky young men was frequently the cause of youngsters doing things, from force of example, that they never would have thought of themselves. For one thing, it gave the kids a liberal education in the sort of rough and tumble fighting, for there were fights galore among the older boys and many locally famous scrappers were developed in the schools of old Belleville. He was a very unobservant kid who, by the time he was twelve, hadn't learned just the proper way to get an opponent's head in chancery and plaster him a la mode.

Teachers nowadays would not stand for some of the things that were of common occurrence when I was grabbing off my share of what was in the text books. For instance, it as an unwritten law that no older brother should allow a younger to be punished, without standing up and calling on the teacher to desist. If the usual diplomatic formula of "Hey, there, you leave my brother alone!" did not cause a cessation of hostilities on the part of the teacher, then one was in honor bound to mobilize and start for the enemy's borders, with such weapons as he could arm himself with from his own desk, or commandeer from a neighbor's, such as a good heavy slate, or something equally effective. There used to be a very heavy pinkish colored slate, without a frame, that would make the huskiest teacher back up for a minute. I have seen some very pretty artillery work done with ink bottles and I remember at least one school room wall which was varicolored stopping swiftly-coming ink bottles at odd times and sundry. A teacher who was a scrapper soon managed to put the combative brethren hors de combat, or whatever you call it, but not infrequently he realized that he had been in a fight. Such alliances defensive were recognized and while I will not say they were respected, they were expected, and the punishment for such grave breaches of discipline was surprisingly light.

Another thing that was a point of honor in school when I was a kid, was that no boy might show that he was hurt when punished, without losing caste. Corporal punishment was general in school (and out of it, for that matter) in those days, and many's the stinging slap was administered on our hands with rulers or straps lustily laid on by old time school teachers. The proper thing to do, according to the etiquette in such cases provided, was to wear a scornful half-smile while the gad was being laid on. This got you in the warm approval of your fellows for your gameness, and about twice as many belts from the teacher, who usually was peeved by the aforementioned scornful demeanor.

We got even in our own way with the teachers, though. I remember one old gent who was not well liked. He asked us the day before Examination Day to bring flowers next morning to help decorate the school. A Council of War was held that afternoon on Myers' Hill and we brought the decorations next day—early. When the old boy got to the school, a little before nine o'clock, he saw more thistles in bloom, burdocks and flowering weeds of all kinds than he ever suspected grew. The poor old chap cried when he saw what we had done and then we felt like thirty cents (Mex.). We then hustled out and got the real thing, thus re-establishing the entente cordiale—as we used to say at The Hague.

Steam heat, a modern convenience, deprives kids, wrongfully, I think, of at least one joy that was experienced a few times every winter in the days when we were soaking in the good stuff from the books. I refer to the pleasure of sprinkling a handful of Cayenne pepper on the glowing red top of the big box stoves that held a half dozen large sticks of cord-wood at a time. By the way, in zero weather, those nearest these stoves were, figuratively, in the hot room of a Turkish Bath establishment, while those furtherest away were wondering whether just the big toe, or the whole foot, was frozen. This delicate trick with the pepper caused an instantaneous attack of virulent influenza and if the sneeze pressure could have been controlled and utilized, I've figured it out that it would have furnished power enough to run a compressed air street car from Coleman's Castle to where Harry Carey says the Two Mile Pond started. Of course, any school room with so much "pep" in it was no place for a bunch of ministers' sons, so there was always a holiday for the rest of the day. As is usual after disasters, an "investigation" was always started, but the Sphinx was a chatter-box compared to the boys of that sechool on such occasions. A "squealer" had no more chance there than a fried chicken at a colored camp meeting.

One bit of pleasantry that was considered particularly droll was to write on the blackboard:

"Oh Lord of Love, look down from above
On us poor scholars.
They hired a fool to teach our school
And paid him six hundred dollars."

CENTRE ALONE STANDS

Official Reports of Allies' Movements Are Exceedingly Scanty, But Backward Move of Entire German Line is Imminent—French Have Taken Seicheprey in the Woevre District—Juniville In Peril.

FROM THE BATTLEFRONT, Oct. 1.—This was the nineteenth day of continued hard fighting along the 150-mile front from the Somme to the Moselle, and yet there is no definite indication that the historic battle is nearing a finish. There are, however, evidences that the Germans are receding before a forcible and sustained pushing from the allied armies, especially on their western and eastern wings, while in the centre, where the Germans are more strongly entrenched than at any other point with heavy artillery, remains almost stationary.

It is generally concluded by French military men that some important move must soon be made by the Germans, who have found it impossible to stem the advance of the allies, though they opposed the sternest and most desperate resistance, sacrificing thousands of men daily.

The German wings appear as though folding back on the centre, leaving the sole loophole for a backward movement by way of Rethel.

The Germans' main supply base at Juniville, which is protected by heavy masses of troops, as it is absolutely essential that this place shall be held for the revictualling of the German armies in northeastern France, appears to be placed in a somewhat precarious situation, with its single line of railroad.

The line of battle has changed considerably since the beginning of the actual contact between the two great armies, whose numbers and real positions it is not permitted to make public. The front now presents sinuous windings, looping inward and outward at various points in a country which everywhere is wonderfully adapted to defence.

The allied commanders are husbanding their men's lives to the greatest possible extent by keeping them from frontal attacks on positions where the Germans are in advantageous situations, but whenever the plan of campaign necessitates direct attacks, the French and British soldiers go forward cheerfully with the utmost confidence in their leaders.

Official Bulletins.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The following official communication was issued last night:

"The general situation is satisfactory. There has been no change of any account on the front except to the south of the Woevre, where we have occupied Seicheprey and advanced as far as the slopes to Rupt de Mad."

"First, on our left wing, north of the Somme, the action continues to develop more and more toward the north. Between the Oise and the Aisne the enemy has delivered a vigorous attack on Tracy-le-Mont, northeast of the forest of Aigle. They were repulsed with heavy losses.

"Second, on the centre there is relative calm along the entire front, which extends from Rheims to the Meuse. Between the Argonne and the Meuse we have made slight progress.

"In the Woevre district there have been severe battles. Our troops have advanced at several points, notably to the east of St. Mihiel, a town east of Triancourt and southeast of Verdun. (East of St. Mihiel would be just across the French border from Metz.)

"Third, on our right wing, in Lorraine and the Vosges, there has been no change."

Must Assume Another Defensive.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The nineteenth day of the battle of the Aisne finds the allied armies pushing with all the strength they can bring to bear in their great effort to outflank the German right wing and force it back from its line of communications through Belgium.

There is evidence that this movement is beginning to tell, and that, unless something unforeseen happens, this portion of the German army must fall back to another defensive line.

ITALY'S FORCE GROWS.

Calling Out of More Reserves Brings Army Up to 1,390,000 Men.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The calling to the colors of the 1885, 1886 and 1888 classes of Italian reserves early in October have been confirmed by several Italian newspapers, according to the correspondent of The London Daily Mail at Venice. Eleven first category classes will then be under the flag, and will total 1,390,000 men. Without counting the 80,000 men now in Tripoli, Italy will have an army of 1,310,000 men in her own territory, divided into 30 army corps.

Continuing the correspondent says that Austrian troops are still throwing up defence works along the frontier, the Ponta Feltarvis line being defended by the Landwehr.

Cabinet Confers To-day.

LONDON, Oct. 1. — The Rome correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. reports that a message received at Rome from Bucharest, says that King Charles has summoned the Cabinet in special session today to decide the attitude of Roumania toward the war.

More blond Eskimos have been discovered in the Arctic. Somebody has been shipping in peroxide.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST LAND REGULATIONS.

The sole head of a family, or an male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency) on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.—30690. dtf

The French soldiers are absolutely confident of victory. In fact they are so convinced that they are the superiors of the Germans that the chief difficulty of officers is keeping their troops from recklessly exposing themselves.

The total receipts of the French railways in France, Algeria, and Tunis for 1913 were $391,309,256.

British Tommy is Like Red Pepper

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—"A laborer in one of our plantations a few days ago," says the Barbados W.I., Standard, "went up to one of the men of overseas contingent and in a serious manner, which evidently showed that he was really seeking enlightenment, said in his local vernacular, which we cannot attempt to reproduce:—'Massa, is it true that before the war the Kaiser sent a bag of rice to King George and told him, 'King George, I got as many soldiers as there is rice in the bag,' and that King George sent the Kaiser a bottle of nigger peppers telling him: 'I only got as many soldiers as in this pepper bottle, but you just bite one and then you'll see if your soldiers like these.' "

This occurrence, which is going the rounds of our agricultural people, is a very apt illustration of the Barbado negro's opinion of the fighting capacity of the British soldier.

Mr. J. O. Leach Heard of War While on Survey in far North

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—John Owen Leach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leach, of South Drive, Rosedale and a graduate of the Royal Military College is now on the way to the seat of war, after having exhibited the spirit of military tradition and training by walking ninety miles to make it.

Mr. Leach was on a survey in Northern Ontario, when war broke out Seeing the news of declaration of war in a perer some time after it had occurred, he immediately set out, taking nothing but the clothes he wore, for the nearest station. He arrived in so dilapidated a condition that he was refused admittance to a Pullman. Arriving in Toronto, he stopped only to bid mother goodbye and then went to Quebec, enlisting in the artillery.

TREMENDOUS LOSS TO SHAREHOLDERS

The Financial Times of Montreal is concerned over the passing of dividends by industrial concerns since the war began, and places the loss to shareholders during September alone by dividend action of this sort at $1,000,000. It is feared that this state of affairs applies to every industry.

A PESSIMIST

He Was Converted to Optimism

By DWIGHT NORWOOD

Billy Bryce and I were inseparable companions, bosom friends. We were opposites in disposition, and I think such dissimilarity is one of the most effective of all causes of friendship. Billy was as cheery a chap as ever lived. I was inclined to be morose. Billy said nice things to people which he only half meant. I said gruff things to them that I didn't mean at all. I didn't need to understand Billy, because he always appeared amiable, but Billy needed to understand me, for I was constantly saying something disagreeable—why, I scarcely know myself; quite likely to cover up a liking for the person to whom I spoke.

I was very dependent upon Billy for cheerfulness, and when he wrote me that he was engaged to be married it was a sad blow to me. I had had other friends who had married, and the friendship between us was never the same as before their marriage. I would go to their homes for Sunday dinner and be heartily welcomed, but it was always plain that the wife and children had supplanted me. I was a second, third or fourth consideration.

Billy's letter indicated that he realised the change his marriage would cause in our intimacy and seemed intent on preventing it so far as possible. "I wish," he said, "that there shall be the same friendliness between you and Luella as between you and me. You shall have the freedom of the house at all times, whether I am at home or absent. You must not expect me to have the slightest jealousy for you. My fiancee agrees with me perfectly in this and, instead of having that jealousy brides are subject to for a bosom friend of her husband, will welcome you to the family circle as one of us."

This did not reassure me at all. I was supplanted, put down from first to second place. I knew Billy's optimistic disposition and also knew that he could not suspend a natural law. I wrote him that if he did not wish the lady he was to marry to freeze me out of the house he had better tell her that if she wished it he would never see me again. "That's just like you," he replied, "but you can't move either me or Lule with your pessimism."

Billy asked me to be best man, but I detest ceremonies and took care to be called away on a matter of business at the time of the wedding. But I sent a handsome wedding present. I was not so brutally frank as to tell Billy I had gone away on purpose to get rid of officiating at his wedding, but I told him that doubtless his bride would appreciate my wedding gift far more than she would me.

After the wedding Billy brought his wife to the city where he and I had always lived. The first time I met his wife I was surprised that he should have married a girl with a disposition so like his own. His wife grasped my hand cordially, looked at me with a smile on her pretty lips and a twinkle in her bright eye and said:

"Billy says you are awful grumpy, but we'll take that out of you, won't we, Billy?" and she looked at him knowingly.

My first call was short. I suppose I am prone to look out for trouble, but it seemed to me that Mrs. Bryce was a trifle too demonstrative. I was stricken with fear that instead of being jealous of me, as I had supposed, she might make Billy jealous of me, and that would be ten times worse than if she should freeze me out. I went away determined that I would not be drawn into any such danger. To be supplanted in first place with my friend was bad enough; to be placed at enmity with him would be harrowing. I resolved that I would not call on Mrs. Bryce again for a month at least.

But the very next day I was summoned to the telephone and heard the lady's cheery voice say:

"Is that you, Mr. Quimby? Come up to dinner this evening. We dine at 7. You needn't bother about evening dress if you don't wish to. Don't fail me. Billy has to go out, and I shall be all alone."

While I was trying to frame an excuse I heard a click, and that was the end of the one sided dialogue. All that afternoon I was trying to persuade myself that there was no way out of the matter, but the truth is that in my heart I didn't wish to find a way out of it. I had no place to spend the evening but my club, and I was tired enough of it. I wished to bask in the light of Mrs. Bryce's cheeriness.

Resolution is of no use where a pretty woman is concerned, and I could scarcely wait after business was over for the dinner hour. It came at last and was made welcome by Billy and his wife, Billy regretting that he was obliged to go out during the evening, but he would come home as early as possible. He was ever so much obliged to me for the favor done him of "keeping Lu from being lonely."

Just before dinner was served I saw a servant carrying a tray covered with dishes upstairs. I supposed Billy and his wife were alone in the house except for the servants and asked if any one was ill.

"A relative of Lu's," said Billy. "She's not ill, only bashful; doesn't like to meet strangers, you know."

"Sorry to leave you, old man," he said. "You'll excuse me, won't you? Lu will take good care of you. I'll try to get in before 10. Don't go till I come back."

I was left tete-a-tete with a pretty woman, and Billy had taken care to have a bottle of good wine on the table, so that had I not been sensible of the danger of the situation I should have rejoiced. I was somewhat reassured by a twinkle in Mrs. Bryce's eye when she kissed her husband goodby, for I began to think, after all, they had conspired to get rid of my belief that Billy's marriage would be a deprivation to me.

Whatever was their design, I fell into it. I did not fear for Mrs. Bryce, but I did fear for myself. She showed no disposition to go back on Billy by deed, word or look. It was I who in my heart envied my friend his wife.

Billy did not return at 10 o'clock or at 11. At half past 11 I tore myself away after having passed a delightful evening.

During the next week Billy and his wife were constantly telephoning for me. I found myself becoming infatuated with her and tried to keep away, but they wouldn't let me do so. Billy was as persistent as his wife and she as persistent as Billy. A guilty conscience needs no accuser, and it seemed to me that Billy must notice my embarrassment, my shamefacedness. But he didn't. At any rate, he was as cordial, as jovial, as affectionate as he had ever been. And, as for being jealous of me, such an idea appeared never to enter his head. Indeed, he seemed to be constantly contriving to leave me alone with his wife.

I had not been introduced to Mrs. Bryce a week before Billy announced that he was called away on business and would be absent for about ten days.

"What!" I exclaimed. "Leave your wife so soon after your wedding?"

"What can I do? Business won't wait while a man is spooning with a new wife. Besides, Lu won't go with me."

"Indeed, I won't," said Lu. "I detest traveling. Besides, how would I amuse myself, shut up in a hotel, while Billy was attending to business? No, thank you. I'm comfortable here."

"There!" said Billy. "You see what marriage is. They're very sweet on you till they get you; then you discover that it's all put on."

His wife reproached him, but seemed to have difficulty in repressing a smile. Truly they were taking a great deal of trouble to make me feel that I had been a gainer instead of a loser by Billy's marriage.

I spent every evening at Billy's house during his absence. I made one sickly effort to miss an evening, but Mrs. Bryce asked me what in the world she would do alone. I asked her if the relative Billy had mentioned as being with her would not be a companion for her, but she said that person had gone the same day as Billy.

By the time the ten days of Billy's absence had gone—and they seemed but half a week—I had so far given my heart to his wife that I dared not meet him. I asked Mrs. Bryce when she expected him, and she told me for a couple of days. But when dining with her I heard a key in the latch of the front door and knew that my bosom friend—now my bosom enemy—had returned. He ushered in a lady whom I noticed resembled his wife. She came up to me smiling and put out her hand.

"I am Mrs. Bryce," she said. "We have all been playing a game. Billy thought it would be a good joke to introduce you to my sister, Edith, as his wife. He said he thought it would break the formality of your coming under the new conditions. I kept out of the way till Billy concluded to be absent for awhile; then I went with him."

"And you are the relative to whom a dinner was carried upstairs?"

"I am."

"To tell the truth, old man," Billy broke in, "you were getting so devoted to my wife that I thought I'd better"—

"William!" protested she who had played the part of his wife.

This was a great bouleversement both for me and Edith. So long as she had been the leading lady in a play she had not scrupled at anything, but now that she must be herself again she began to show signs of embarrassment. I was too stupid to see that this plot had been intended to take proper care of me in the loss of my friend by giving me a wife. I confess I was at a loss to understand why they had thought proper to play such a joke on me, but I did not refer it to its true source.

We had a merry dinner together, which was only marred by Billy, who could not resist the temptation to guy me for my devotion to one whom I had supposed to be his wife. His taunts were only appreciated by himself. His wife tried to frown him down, his sister-in-law looked daggers at him, while I looked silly. However, the dinner at last ended. Billy and his wife went upstairs ostensibly to rest after their journey, but really to leave me alone with Edith.

I put an end to the embarrassment attending the joke that had been played upon me by proposing to Edith that since she had played the role of wife so well she had better be a real wife. She assented. Mr. and Mrs. Bryce were the next day informed that the play had ended in a reality. Billy enjoyed his joke hugely, declaring that it was the only way I could have been saved from a lonely old pessimism.

Some idea of the magnitude of the present war may be gleamed from the fact that Mr. Roosevelt hasn't been able to make the front page since it started.

"THE FATHERLAND" IS REFUSED THE MAILS

The Canadian Post Office has placed a ban on "The Fatherland," a paper published by Mr. Viereck, editor of "The International."

"The Fatherland" proposed to present an unprejudiced account of the pro-German point of view in the war.

A letter was received by a gentleman in Toronto who had subscribed to the publication, advising him of the action of the post office, and asking for advice as to the treatment of the remainder of the subscription money.

DOING ITS DUTY

Montreal, Sept. 30.—Labor conditions in Canada should be considerably improved by a decision of the C. P. R., announced yesterday, by which the operating departments of its eastern and western lines have been authorized to take on six thousand extra laborers for suitable work during the next two months at current rates of wages. The object of this measure, it is explained by the company, is to help furnish employment before Winter and relieve possible distress occasioned by the temporary dislocation due to the war.

ALLIED VICTORY NOW ASSURED GERMAN FORCES NEAR COLLAPSE

Terrific Fighting All Along the Line—Invaders are Subjects of Terrible Artillery Fire—Bullet and Bayonet Action Beyond Description

(Canadian Press Specials Exclusively to the Intelligencer)

REPULSED BY RUSSIAN ARMY

PETROGRAD, Oct. 2.—The General Staff has given out that the Russian troops have continued to repulse the enemy from the boundaries of the Government of Suwalki and Lomza. The German troops that were attacking Ossowetz are retreating hastily to the north.

An attack by Russian cavalry against the German vanguard in front of Andrew and marching on Kielce was crowned with great success. The German infantry was caught unawares and is retreating in disorder, pursued by Russian cavalry. The Russian advance is successful everywhere.

BERLIN DESPATCHES PUT IT MODERATELY

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—According to an announcement made in Berlin today, the great battle in France is still undecided. The Germans are said to be hammering the French positions at numerous points with their heavy artillery. Attempts of the Allies to break through the German lines have been repulsed. The heaviest losses have been in the Argonne region.

MISGIVINGS AS TO OUTCOME REMOVED

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Central News Correspondent at Calais, after a tour in the vicinity of the Allies left, wires that he has seen many things to remove any misgivings as to the outcome of the battle. The curtain is about to be lifted on the greatest drama ever seen in war. A portion of the German right wing on Wednesday was in great danger. Their lines, which a few days ago faced westward, are now facing northwest. A patrol from Gen. Von Klucks' command captured Sunday, owing to exhaustion of their horses, says they had nothing to eat for some days. Von Kluck's position has been made more precarious by the general staff crowding reinforcements upon him for whom the commisariat is inadequate.

BATTLE CONTINUES TERRIFIC FIGHTING

PARIS, Oct. 2.—An official statement this afternoon, says battle continues with terrific fighting on allies left wing, notably in the region of Roye, where the Germans have concentrated important reinforcements. Action extends more and more towards the north. The front of the battle line now extends into the region south of Arras. The Germans attempted during the night to throw a bridge across Meuse, but artillery fire destroyed it. The Allies offensive progresses are step by step in Woevre district. On the remainder of the front there have been nothing but desultory operations.

TO LAY MINES AS COUNTER STROKES

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Official Information Bureau announced today that the Government had decided to lay mines in certain areas as a counter stroke to the Germans' procedure.

Russians Teach Kaiser's Parrot

Learns it to Say Wicked things About its Royal Master

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The correspondent of the Telegraph at Petrograd, telegraphing regarding the operations in Russian Poland near the East Prussian border, says:—

"The triangle formed by joining Stshutshin Angustowo and Ossowetz is little more than a vast swamp making military operations difficult, even in the best weather. Rain has been falling heavily for the past two days, but the Russians nevertheless are pushing on determinedly.

"The recent fighting has been sanguinary, two German divisions having been destroyed in the battle of Druskenikt. In the west of Russian Poland the brushes between the advance guard continue.

"The Polish peasants are extremely bitter against the Germans, and this feeling has been increased by contact with German humor. An an instance the Germans everywhere pretended to pay for supplies with documents written in German, which the peasants do not understand. When translated the peasants found that these papers had inscribed thereon that 'Whoever presents this at the end of the war will be hanged.'"

There has probably been sniping by the civilian population as the bodies of six peasants were found hanging to a tree in a Polish town a few days ago. Their fellow townsmen vowed to have revenge and two days later a German scouting party found the bodies of twenty-two German soldiers hanging from the same tree

"A letter received here from a Russian officer who is camping on the estate of Emperor William at Rominten. East Prussia says: "William's estate is magnificently equipped, and we have everything at our disposal which we could wish. We are enjoying particularly delicious dinners prepared by his fine cooks.

"'His park swarms with rare animals and birds. We are teaching his parrots the Russian language, and they are learning to address their imperial master with compliments I should blush to repeat in company.'"

CAUGHT IN ACT OF ROBBING CARS

Extracted Valuables from Beneath Pillows of Passengers

TORONTO, Oct. 2—Special—Wilbert Barr, who says he is a cook without any permanent place of abode, was arrested last night by two Canadian Pacific detectives in the terminal yards He was locked up in the Court Street Police station on a charge of theft.

Barr was caught in the act of robbing one of the railway's sleeping cars. He is alleged to have, during the past three days, stood near the late trains, to have cut the air screens and to have slipped his hand through the hole and extracted the passengers' valuables from beneath the pillows. A number of articles which have been identified by passengers, were found in his possession.

MONCTON COTTON FACTORY RE-OPENS

MONCTON, N.B., Oct. 2.—Special.—It is announced by Secretary W. H. Price of the Board of Trade that he has received a communication from the General Manager of the Dominion Textile Company at Montreal, in which he states that the Moncton branch will be reopened as soon as the cotton trade warrants. American advices are to the effect that the cotton market will be normal shortly, which means that the Moncton branch will soon reopen.

STAFF ALL SERVING WITH COLORS NOW

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Every member of the Dominion emigration staff here within the specified age limit has now joined the colors in various capacities. The Manitoba Government have closed their agency and their representative Mr. Kerr has joined the Dominion staff. Despite the general upheaval the emigration offices are busier than usual at this time of the year with enquirers, the majority of whom, however, are urged to defer emigrating.

PREPARING THE GERMAN PUBLIC FOR DEFEAT

ROTTERDAM, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—There has been a wonderful transformation in the tone of the German press, which is obviously preparing the way for a retreat from France. All the papers print an official message, which remarks that the fighting around Noyon has reached unheard of proportions, adding:

"We may be forced to abandon some points of small importance, but the people must reserve judgment until the result of the operations is known."

The Germans in Rotterdam are aghast at the tone of the German newspapers.

The British troops are mentioned as pushing on by the sheer weight of their masses, and the French are admitted to have taught a severe lesson. A week ago such statements would have meant the suppression of the newspaper printing them.

Machinist Killed At Sarnia Tunnel

Had Neglected to Cut off Electric Current and was Electrocuted

SARNIA, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Chas. O'Neil, a machinist at the G.T.R. roundhouse at Sarnia Tunnel was fatally injured at 5.45 yesterday by receiving the full voltage of current used for motive power at the tunnel and died an hour later without recovering consciousness. He had mounted on top of one of the mammoth electric locomotives which had been brought into the electric ward at the roundhouse, and apparently had neglected to cut off the current. He fell to the ground and was found unconscious He leaves a widow and one child. An inquest was held this morning.

INCIDENT "HERO" HAS BEEN KILLED

PARIS, Oct. 1.—Special—There remains no doubt now that Col. von Forstner, commander of the 99th German Infantry Regiment, and "hero" of the Zabern incident, has really been killed.

A member of the staff of the Figaro reports that he was ordered recently to search German officers who had been taken prisoners, and that in a saddle-bag he found that the owner was an officer whose duty it was to keep a roster of the regimental losses. On this list he saw this entry: "Baron von Forstner, dead" and the date, Sept. 1.

Prepare Line For Retreat

Germans Building Heavy Pontoon Bridges as a Way out of France

LONDON, Oct. 1.—A Rotterdam despatch to the Daily News says:

"Despatches from the south indicate that preparations for the retreat of the German right have already begun. German troops have been observed coming from the north of France toward Tournal and Mons prepared to cover the main army in case of retreat."

ANOTHER NEW COMET

May be Seen Without Aid of Glasses in Northern Sky

TORONTO, Oct. 2.—Special—Astronomical students will be interested to learn that a new comet is visible in the northern sky in the early hours of the morning. This visitor is one of the circumpolar variety, which skims the horizon, as it revolves around the north or polar star. It can be seen without the aid of glasses, as it travels in an easterly direction during the night and westerly by day.

Russia Bucks up Drinking Shops

Perceptible Change in People of Country Since Traffic Was Prohibited

PETROGRAD, via London, Oct. 1.—The minister of finance, P. Bark, yesterday received an order to the effect that the prohibition of the sale of vodka shall be continued indefinitely after the end of the war. This order is based principally on the tremendously improved condition of the country since the Emperor issued the edict prohibiting traffic in this liquor.

Visitors ariving from southern Russia say that is such a change in that region that the country is hardly recognizably. Peasants who, before the war, had fallen into hopless indolence and depravity already have emerged into self-respecting citizens. The effect on character is already visible in neatly freshed clothes instead of the former ragged and slovenly attire. Huts, which were formerly dilapidated and allowed to go without repairs, are now kept in first class condition

The towns have become more orderly and the peasants indulge in wholesome amusements. These people now save fifty-five per cent of their earnings, which formerly was spent for drink and they have increased their earning capacity through sobriety. This extra money is now devoted to the necessities and comforts of life.

This startling regeneration of the peasantry is, in the opinion of the Russian authorities, likely to have an important effect on the social and economic conditions of all Russia.

A change in the large cities is also noticeable. Liquor is still sold in first-class cafes, but these are practically empty. The Nevsky Prospect, once famous for its gay midnight life, is now quiet, without a sign of revelry.

Surplus Food For Toronto Poor

Several Carloads Will be Brought in and Distributed

TORONTO, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—As a result of a conference between Property Commissioner Chisholm and the officials of the Department of Agriculture the City of Toronto has undertaken to buy bags and pay freight for the shipment to the city of several carloads of apples that would otherwise rot in the fields. The agreement is the result of a scheme mapped out by the department some time ago as a result of investigations made in the apple-growing districts. During the past few weeks the officials have been in communication with the various co-operative associations, a number of which have assured the department that they will assist in every way in supplying their surplus fruit, even to the extent of collecting it.

In discussing the situation yesterday, Hon. James Duff urged that the local municipalities take up the scheme. Many of them could secure large quantities of fruit for distribution among the needy at a very small cost in freight. The Minister declared that the co-operative associations were entitled to lot of credit for their offer to pick and pack the surplus fruit free of charge.

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR'S FINAL OFFICIAL ACT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

TORONTO, Oct. 2.—Sir John Gibson performed the final official act as Lieutenant Governor this morning, when he administered the oath of office to the new Premier, Hon. W. H. Hearst, and the Minister of Public Works, Hon. Finlay MacDiarmid.

FLAG RAISING AT THE QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

Magnificent Display at New West Side Structure this Morning—Addresses by His Worship Mayor Wills, J. W. Johnson, M. P. P., Col. W. N. Ponton, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Others—Children Salute the Emblem

Citizens of all ranks gathered at the new Queen Mary School in West Belleville this morning for the purpose of raising the flag on the fine flag-staff which has been erected in front of the school. Previous to the raising of the flag at high noon, by His Worship, Mayor Wills, the various class rooms of the school were visited, as were also all parts of this up-to-date school. After the visit the scholars were gathered in the assembly room and upon the platform were the members of the Board of Education, and citizens were gathered around. The members of the Board present were: Col. Ponton, chairman; B. Mallory, C. M. Reid, W. R. Taylor, W. C. Reid, P. Harrison, J. Elliott, A. McGie, L. R. Terwilligar, A. E. Bailey and F. S. Deacon.

Amongst others present were: Sir M. Bowell, J. W. Johnson, M.P.P., H. F. Ketcheson, President of the Board of Trade, Mayor Wills, Ald. Platt, Rev. A. R. Sanderson, Rev. R. C. Blagrave, W. J. Diamond, Sec.-Treas. of the Board of Education, Rev. A. M. Hubly, Ald. St. Charles, Ald. Woodbridge, H. A. Kerr, City Assessor, J. O. Herity, and G. A. Bennett, contractor of the building.

Major Barrager, Principal of the school, opened the proceeding by calling upon Col. Ponton, Chairman of the Board, to preside over the gathering.

The Colonel said it was desirous of raising the flag at high noon, and as it was approaching that hour, addresses would be delivered after the ceremony.

Mayor Wills was, however, called upon, and spoke briefly, and assured those present that it was a great pleasure for him to be present. Some years ago when he was a member of the School Board it was determined that better and more commodious schools should be erected. Two new schools were erected in East Belleville and later on the one in West Belleville. The latter building is beautifully situated and he was proud that the school was erected on property formerly owned by the late Hon. E. Murney. His Worship referred to the war that was going on. It will be a war to the finish, and the British will win if it lasts long enough for some of the boys grow up to be able to take part in it. He hoped all would enjoy the school and its surroundings.

The children were then marched out to the front of the school and lined up. As the hour of noon was striking the Mayor raised the flag upon the staff.

Rev. R. C. Blagrave, Rector of Christ Church, was then called upon and gave the following invocation:

O Almighty God who has in time past given glory to this emblem of our country and Empire, by sending to those who live under its gracious folds, the true vision of righteousness and duty, grant that we may ever continue to reproduce in our lives that for which it stands. Uphold this standard now in the great struggle for home and country. May those who shall here learn many lessons, learn above all here and elsewhere the lesson of honor and justice, so that those sacred principles of life ever enshrined in the heart of Greater Britain, may burn on to the end of time, to the honor and glory of Thy Holy Name, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The singing of the National Anthem and cheers for the King were given.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the children and others returned to the assembly room of the school and listened to addresses.

The song, "O Canada," was sung by the pupils of the school.

Col. Ponton said all were particularly proud of Queen Mary School. It was a pleasure to have the Mayor of the city, members of the City Council and citizens generally participating in this event. It was a proud day for Principal Barragar and the pupils of the school. In referring to the school the Colonel said there were eight ex-pupils of the school at present on the ocean as members of the Canadian contingent which was going to fight for the Empire. They had been well drilled under the capable instructions of Major Barragar in old No. 2 School. Their splendid boyhood would develop into splendid manhood.

The Wallace Robb trophy, a handsome silver cup, won by the Cadet Corp of Queen Mary School, was presented to the corps by Mr. J. W. Johnson, M.P.P., and was accepted on behalf of the corps by Senior Sergt. Fred Woodley. In making the presentation Mr. Johnson said he had great pleasure in presenting the cup, but he was not surprised that it had been won by the cadets of Queen Mary School, owing to the fact that the corps had such a person to train them as Major Barragar, Principal of the school, who is in every sense of the word a soldier.

Mr. Johnson then spoke as follows:

Belleville is steadily advancing; evidence of that is seen in all parts of the city; new homes are being erected, old ones enlarged and improved, Front Street has been paved and will soon have the most modern system of lighting, there is not a vacant store in the business section and few vacant dwellings. The farming community on which we so largely depend, is prosperous, and while our manufacturing industries are not doing as much business as in former years, the depression will, I believe, soon disappear and they will enjoy before long greater prosperity than ever. In school equipment we stand second to no community in the Dominion. This magnificent school building, now being dedicated to the children of West Belleville, reminds me of the three degrees of comparison, positive, comparative, and superlative: the first of the three new buildings was positively good, the next was comparatively better and this one is superlatively the best. I congratulate Mayor Wills on the splendid success of his administration of the city's affairs and equally congratulate Col. Ponton on the gratifying outcome of his devotion to his duties as Chairman of the Board of Education, and these boys and girls who are so highly privileged.

I have spoken of the school equipment; I am glad to say here in public what I often say privately, that I believe there is no community better served than Belleville is by the teachers in all our schools. There are three reasons for the satisfying results we obtain; the teachers are thoroughly qualified, they are devoted to their duties and they set the example of industry and hard work to their pupils. What blessings we Canadians enjoy! They are so numerous and so great that no man can number them. Of all the countries in the world that the German burglar desires to possess, I believe that country is Canada. His marauding hordes would be here now endeavoring to rob us of our possessions and make us his vassals and his slaves, were it not for the ships and the men of the navy and the men of the army, who are fighting the battles of freedom, not only for the British Empire but for all the world beside.

As a member of the local committee that is in charge of the Patriotic Fund created and to be maintained to assist the families of the men who have gone from this locality to engage in the war to fight on our behalf, I appeal for their interest and financial assistance to every one in the community who is able and who is not already contributing. See Mr. Tannahill, the treasurer, at the Bank of Montreal.

My great countryman, Dean Swift, was once engaged in a service in the Cathedral at Dublin on behalf of the poor and distressed. When the time came for him to preach the sermon he quoted the text, "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord," and continued, "If you are satisfied with the security, down with your dust," and the sermon ended.

Let us all bear our part in the common task which the war imposes on each one.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell was called upon and received a most hearty welcome. In his opening remarks Sir Mackenzie compared the school management today with that when he enjoyed school days. He also spoke of the time when he was for some years Chairman of the Board of Education and the opposition then offered by tax payers to the raising of money to make improvements to schools. He congratulated the present Board of Education and Colonel Ponton, the Chairman, upon the new schools which have been erected in the city. He also desired to congratulate the parents and children upon the fine building they were in. Whatever Col. Ponton undertakes, Sir Mackenzie said, he always accomplishes. The system of teaching today as compared with some years ago was also referred to by Sir Mackenzie.

Before he concluded he asked that the children be granted a half holiday and it is needless to say that the children appreciated this, as evidenced by their loud applause. The request was acceded to.

This concluded the speech-making.

During the meeting "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," was sung, Miss Anna Ponton taking the solo, and the children joined in the chorus.

The singing of the National Anthem and cheers for the King and Queen, and others brought the pleasing proceedings to a close.

This notice of the opening of the Queen Mary School would not be complete without a word of commendation to the builder, Mr. G. A. Bennett, whose work in the construction of school buildings in Belleville is a credit to him as a contractor and builder.

London Confident Success is Near

J. L. Garvin Sums up the Prevailing Feeling and Predicts Political Upheaval in Germany

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Though up to the time of writing the censorship has not allowed the publication of any definite news beyond that contained in the official bulletins of what is happening in France, there prevails in military clubs and other centres of information in London a spirit of quiet and cheerful confidence. Reliable information goes to show this confidence is not unjustified.

There is no jubilation and no excitement. Englishmen are not prone to forget the lesson inculcated in the "Tommies'" slogan, "It's a long way to Tipperary." This gigantic struggle will not be won without appaling losses, but for the present the outlook is better than the most sanguine expected, and everywhere is confidence that excellent news will soon be coming from France.

J. L. Garvin, writing in to-night's Pall Mall Gazette, reflects the prevalent opinion. After pointing out that nearly a fortnight ago the German public was still encouraged by Berlin bulletins to believe an overwhelming victory was at hand, and that for eighteen days the whole German forces have tried their utmost with a miserable repetition of failure and deadly loss, Mr. Garvin writes:

"It is odd that two great military nations seem to have exchanged their supposed characters. Berlin at the start was full of levity and regend of cheap shouts of 'On to Paris.' Since then Germany has done nine-tenths of the vaporing. The French are cold with fortitude and tenacity and their operations have been more anonymous than those of the Japanese. We hear very little of their Generals or their deeds, yet Joffre's methods somehow seem to make a more and more dominating impression of deliberate personality.

"On the German side the Kaiser's Byzantine regime of court favortism, as the Germans have often bitterly called it, has not been good for the promotion of men of signal talent and character. There is apprehension in Berlin, there is a mysterious spreading of hope throughout Belgium, there is an evident belief in Paris and Bordeaux that the invaders will be decisively beaten at every point of the present line of battle.

"We need not point out that it would be impossible for official silence or semi-official sophistry to conceal the meaning of such a disaster from the German people. That is the worst of a semi-despotic regime—nothing helps it but victory. Otherwise the defeated nation blames its rulers, not itself. The profound weaknesses of the present German political system will be revealed before the end of this war."

SIKH ON WARPATH

(Canadian Press Despatch)

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A despatch from Calcutta to Reuter's describes a mutiny of Sikhs at Bajbaja, ten miles from Calcutta. The Bengal Government statement says:

Sikh passengers on the steamer Komagata Maru, who were refused permission to land at Vancouver, arrived at Bajbaja last Saturday. Some of them tried to board a train for Punjab and opened fire with their revolvers. One European was killed and several others wounded, including the Commissioner of Police.

At Punjab a policeman was killed and several wounded. Troops were compelled to fire to check the rushes of the Sikhs and 16 of the rioters were killed. The remainder scattered to surrounding villages and later were rounded up.

GREAT BATTLE BEGINS

Russians Have Engaged Austro-German Forces at Cracow.

In Suwalki District the Russians Have Foiled Two Desperate Efforts of the Germans to Cross the Niemen River—Kaiser Is Rushing Troops From France to Aid In Resisting Eastern Invasion.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The expected engagement before Cracow opened yesterday. The forces of the enemy include the Germans and Austrians and Saxon corps, in addition to a considerable number of first line troops transferred from France. The Austrian forces comprise the entire remainder of the army with the exception of that part which is opposing the Servians. Gen. von Hindenberg, variously reported during the last few days as being seriously ill and as being hurt by a fall from his horse, is in command.

The Russians, under command of Gen. Rennenkampf, number approximately 1,000,000 men at this point, and as many more are available as will be necessary. Gens. Rousky and Dimitrioff are co-operating.

Another German army, driven from the Town of Augustowo, is engaged with a force of Russians estimated at 500,000 men in the forest of the same name, which is cut up by many small lakes. The ground is very favorable to defensive operations and the defenders of Cracow expect their army in that vicinity to protect their flank.

A Petrograd despatch to Reuter's Telegram Co. says:

"In the Suwalki district from the flank of the Germans the Russians foiled two determined attempts to force a passage of the Niemen river between Olita on the north and Druskeniki on the south. Military critics point out that with the capture of Augustowo and Koptzyewo the Russians have broken the German centre.

"The German line extended from Ossowetz to Simno, and the Russians with great bravery have expelled the Germans from their entrenchments on the lakes, which are divided by only from two to five miles of dry land.

"According to the newspaper the German losses at Druskeniki amounted to 20,000. The rains have mired the roads so that many German guns have been embedded and lost."

The special correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Co., who has just returned to Petrograd from a tour of the Galician battlefields, reports that from Lublin southward he found the country devastated and deserted, and the villages burned or razed to the ground.

At Tomaszow depots for Russian trophies of war has been improvised in barns. Among the prizes are rows of howitzers, quick-firers and mortars, many of which have not even been fired, and the majority of which were undamaged. The Russians proposed to establish a special battery of artillery with the guns.

The correspondents found Jaroslau surrounded with barbed wire, behind which were entrenchments and undamaged earthworks.

"The flight of the Austrians after a short bombardment," he says, "appears to have been a most pusillanimous action."

The town itself presented a most animated appearance, business going on as usual.

Kaiser Rushes Troops East.

ROME, Oct. 2.—(Via Paris.)—According to despatches reaching here, all the Bohemian and Moravian railroads are congested with German troops and war material, which are being transported to the Russian frontier. Germany is making a supreme effort to face the Russian advance and all civilian transport has been forbidden.

Despatches from Vienna say that the Austrian staff is entirely dependent upon that of Germany, which has assumed supreme command in the campaign against Russia.

GERMANS ARE AGAIN RETREATING

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The British War Office today stated that no word had been received from General French, probably because he was too busy just at present. Nevertheless, the unofficial reports all induce the belief that the Germans are again in retreat in France.

The British War Information Bureau made it known today that Indian troops were landed in France last Friday.

A Vienna despatch says that the advancing Russian army arrived at the outlying forts of Cracow today and were immediately attacked by the combined German and Austrian armies.

It is announced from Berlin that Turkey today expelled all the correspondents of Russian newspapers from Turkish territory.

WING STILL RETIRING

Von Kluk Is Slowly Falling Back Towards Belgium.

Paris War Office Says Violent Attack on French Has Been Turned In Favor of Allies Near Roye and Successes Have Been Gained In Argonne and at Several Other Points—Foresees Disaster.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The following official announcement was issued by the French War Office last night:

"This evening there is nothing of particular importance to describe, except in the region of Roye, on the French left wing, where a violent action has successfully turned in our favor, and in the Argonne, where we have made progress at several new points. The general situation remains satisfactory."

The British war information bureau made it known yesterday that Indian troops were landed in France last Friday.

All unofficial reports agree that the army of Gen. Von Kluk is slowly retreating in the region north of the Somme, and that the long-predicted backward movement of the German right wing is at last taking definite shape. The belief obtains that he will retreat through the southern corner of Belgium, and thence through the Duchy of Luxemburg. Strong reinforcements have come up to the aid of the allied left, and the much-talked-of turning operation on the flank of the Germans continues without intermission. It is authoritatively stated that several towns until recently held by the Germans between the Oise and the Somme have fallen before the allies' advance.

Paris is enthusiastic over what is generally accepted as the German defeat in the greatest battle the world ever saw. It was said by an official of the Government yesterday that the French War Office will enter no claims of victory until the result is certain. The utterance of Gen. Gallieni a few days since, when he declared that victory would incline to the side able to throw the largest number of fresh troops into action, is recalled in connection with the British Indian troops on the far north of the allies' line. These are believed to have entered the fighting at the crucial moment.

A Rotterdam despatch to The Daily Telegraph says:

"The Germans in Rotterdam are aghast at the tone of the German newspapers which arrived to-day (Thursday). Only one meaning can be attached to what they contain—they are preparing the German people for defeat and the ruin of their hopes.

"Official messages ask that judgment be suspended if news should arrive that the German troops have been compelled to abandon certain positions.

"The British troops are mentioned as pushing on by the sheer weight of their masses, and the French are admitted to have taught a severe lesson. A week ago such statements would have meant the suppression of the newspaper printing them."

A correspondent of The Daily Telegraph in France describes the fighting between the allies and the Germans in the quarries where the Germans have been entrenched.

"From some of these natural fortresses," he says, "the Germans have been driven at last. It is rumored that they left others owing to the unburied dead, whose bodies poisoned the air. A quarry near the forest of Aigue was attacked under cover of a mist by the French, who drove out the defenders after desperate fighting. Another quarry was won similarly by the French, who set fire to several buildings and attacked the batteries under concealment of the smoke.

"A prisoner taken here, who was formerly a professor in one of the universities, said that the casualties during the past fortnight have been terrible. French bayonet charges have left the plains along the Aisne strewn with dead.

"Victory everywhere has been with the allies. The enemy's resistance has been broken, and there must soon be another retreat to the north and east. But the Germans must hold this right flank at any cost until the last moment in order to save the centre, which has been shaken by the British."

A Reuter despatch from Paris says: "A fight is proceeding on one part of the allies' left resembling that at Paardeberg, in the South African war. Nearly 4,000 Germans are in the same plight as Gen. Cronje was. They are completely surrounded by French troops in some quarries, where they are cut off from all hope of rejoining their division, and are being shelled."

At the town of Albert, 18 miles from Amiens, the Germans made a two-day attempt to cut through the allied lines. The fighting at this point was some of the bloodiest of the combat, resulting in tremendous losses to both sides. It came as the result of a sudden change in Von Kluk's tactics. Following his effort to counteract the flanking movement to the north, he suddenly concentrated heavy artillery at Albert and strove valiantly to cut through. The guns were supported by endless columns of infantry, and for a time it seemed that the assault would succeed, but the French brought up their redoubtable machine guns and the tide was eventually stemmed. On the French right the Germans have been driven back, and Metz is declared to be isolated. This narrows the route by which the Kaiser's armies can fall back, and will materially shorten the opposing battle lines.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE J. C. ROCKWELL "SUNNY SOUTH" CO.

In gathering the cast for his present company, Manager J. C. Rockwell has mustered the best talent he has had since his "Sunny South" company came to be known as the most pretensious colored organization in America. It is said to be a performance for the masses as well as the classes and a visit to the Griffin Opera House, Wednesday evening, October 7th., will convince skeptics to the fact. A pleasant Olio to please you, songs that are tuneful, comely colored girls, who know how to wear gowns and dance, comedians and singers who understand their business, vaudeville acts and specialities that come under the caption of real novelties compose the show. The performance, a pleasing mixture of snappy dialogue and tuneful songs strung together by a plot which is sufficiently plausable and at all times highly amusing, is a combination which cannot fail to please. It is claimed by the management that the music in the performance is original, and most of it is of that catchy, rippling kind which captivates the audience who whistle on the streets and hum tuneful snatches when leaving the theatre. Comedy is bountiful, laughs are plentiful from curtain to curtain, and are of the hearty and wholesome sort. The show as a whole teems with novelty and emphasizes the enterprise of the manager in attempting unusual things in this special line. The solo concert band, which accompanies the organization, will be seen in the "Koontown" parade, a decided novelty, taking place at noon. The company also carry an excellent orchestra of seven soloists. They will render the latest and most popular music of he day. Prices, 25-35-50c. Plan at Doyle's, Mon. Oct. 5.

War Notes

The latest estimates show that twenty thousand Ulster volunteers have enlisted in the army; which means one recruit out of every five volunteers.

Two of the recruits at Toronto are sons of a father who served in South Africa, grandsons of a soldier and great grandsons of a man who fought at Waterloo. Some of the men of the ranks, as well as the officers, come of fighting families. The Toronto brothers in question are a good example.

The captain and all the officers of the Austrian steamer Radium, chartered to carry coal for the Austrian navy, have been arrested and summarily shot at Castelnuovo, Dalmatia, on suspicon that they were selling information to French warships regarding the position of mines in the Adriatc.

The London Times has received the following despatch from its correspondent in Bordeaux: "The constant thrust of bayonet charges and the battering of heavy guns has made but little alteration along the heavily-entrenched German centre, but the less rigid flank positions have been hammered into broken and sinuous lines both on the left and the right.

"On the left front is the broadening-out sweep of the Allies' turning movement, while reaching further to the north, it is pressed out at a slightly wider angle.

'While the position in the centre is virtually unaltered, on the right it is difficult to trace events in this portion of the front with any great accuracy. Between the Argonne and the Meuse the French are progressing slightly against entrenched and fortified positions."

The Secret of Health is Elimination of Waste

Every business man knows how difficult it is to keep the pigeon holes and drawers of his desk free from the accumulation of useless papers. Every housewife knows how difficult it is to keep her home free from the accumulation of all manner of useless things. So it is with the body. It is difficult to keep it free from the accumulation of waste matter. Unless the waste is promptly eliminated the machinery of the body soon becomes clogged. This is the beginning of most human ills.

DESERONTO'S FATALITIES

(From the Post)

Several tragic deaths have taken place in and around Deseronto within the past year or so, but perhaps none more appalling than the death of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Brant, who resided about two miles from Deseronto on the Marysville road.

The deceased couple were in Deseronto on Friday, where Mrs. Brant delivered butter to several private patrons, she being considered one of the very best butter makers in these parts. On Saturday they went to Belleville, returning to their home early in the evening. Mr. Brant's hired boy, Dechene by name, put the team away and afterward had supper with Mr. and Mrs. Brant. After supper Mr. Brant gave him some money and he returned to his home in Deseronto, intending to go out again on Sunday morning. Dechene was the last one to see Mr. and Mrs. Brant alive.

Shortly after midnight the neighbors saw the house enveloped in flames, and rushed to the scene of the conflagration, but too late to prevent the total destruction of what was just a few minutes before a well-appointed country home.

There are many theories as to how the fire was started, but the most natural one is that when the fire was started to get supper the pipes upstairs became overheated and ignited the woodwork, which burned slowly until after Mr and Mrs. Brant gone to bed and had gotten into sound sleep, when they were overcome by the smoke.

On Sunday morning, when the heat had subsided sufficiently to allow of a serch all that was found were a few charred bones and a purse containing some change. Autos, carriages and people from Deserton and all parts of the surrounding country wended their way all Sunday to the scene of desolation and sorrow.

The late Mr. Brant was well-to-do, owning about 225 acres of land, about nine horses, and one of the best dairy herds hereabouts. He was a member of the Indian Council, and a treasurer of the Mohawk Agricultural Society, and was estimated to be worth in the neighborhood of $12,000. As for Mrs. Brant she was a woman of irreproachable character and a helpmate to her husband in every respect. Mr. Brant is survived by two bothers, Josiah and William.

The funeral services were conducted at Christ Church, Tyendinage, yesterday, by Rural Dean Creggan, in the presence of a very large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends.

DO NOT BUTCHER HEIFER CALVES

A special bulletin from the Commission of Conservation says:

The outbreak of the war in Europe and the consequent demand which is naturally to be expected for increased exports of meats, finds Canada in a very much denuded condition as regards live stock.

As a result of the removal of the American tariff on cattle a heavy export trade developed in the south. In some districts in eastern Canada nearly everything has been shipped out of the country except dairy cows. This export trade, together with many farmers selling their calves for veal, can have but one result in Canada, viz. a greater scarcity of meat than at present prevails, even in a normal market.

Meat industry in Canada should not be allowed to drindle—rather, the production of hogs, sheep and cattle on Canadian farms should be greatly increased. To obtain this increase does not mean that farmers should devote their whole attention to live stock. The majority of farmers will admit that with very little extra effort and expense they could increase by several head the live stock on their farms without in any way interfering with their present system of farming.

From reports to the Commission of Conservation, present condition indicate a world-wide scarcity of live stock, with little likelihood of an overcrowded market for many years to come. The opportunity for Canadian farmers is therefore apparent. To take advantage of this, farmers should save their heifer calves to produce more cattle, while the others may be turned off, not as veal but as beef.

Expert stockmen advise that there are good times ahead for those raising sheep. The high price of mutton and of wool and the comparative ease with which a flock of sheep may be sustained upon land which is otherwise unsuitable for agriculture, should suggest a great increase in the number of sheep raised by Canadian farmers.

Increased production in hogs can be brought about more quickly than in any other class of live stock, and consequently should receive immediate attention.

Animal production on the farm is desirable because it increases the fertility and crop-raising ability of the soil. Good prices are sure to be obtained for any surplus which farmers will have to sell on account of the inevitable shortage of supply resulting from war conditions in Europe. These two conditions should be an incentive to Canadian farmers to increase their live stock production. A little foresight now, with modern methods of feeding, will make increased production easily possible.

CANADIAN APPLES BEST IN THE WORLD

The Canadian department of trade and commerce will conduct a dominion-wide advertising campaign to increase the consumption of Canadian apples throughout Canada.

Although the finest apples in the world are produced in this country many Canadians have had to content themselves in previous years with apples imported from the United States. This was due to the fact that Europe appreciating the quality of Canadian apples, imported them in very considerable quantities.

The exports of Canadian apples to the United Kingdom have been running 1,500,000 barrels a year. In addition, seventy-five per cent of all the apples evaporated have been exported to Germany, Austria-Hungary and other countries in continental Europe

The war has resulted in a curtailment of the market for Canadian apples in Great Britain. It has also resulted in jeopardizing for this year the trade in evaporated apples with continental Europe, for Germany was the clearing house for most of that trade.

In view of these conditions the department of trade and commerce, as a general effort to assist in creating new sources of demand to replace those cut off by the war, has been seeking to devise some means of assisting Canadian apple growers in quickly changing the market for Canadian apples from export to domestic channels.

In order to effect the change in the quickest possible way, the minister of trade and commerce, Sir George E. Foster, has decided, after several conferences during the past wek with the manager of the Canadian Press Association, John M. Imrie, to use the means that would be adopted by a business concern confronted with a similar situation, namely: To advertise Canadian apples to the people of Canada in order to increase the demand for them in the home market.

All that is necessary in order to secure the increased consumption of Canadian apples in Canada is to let the Canadian know the food and other values of the Canadian apple and that instead of using imported food they may have this year the products of Canadian apple orchards that in previous years have graced the table of Europe's nobility.

As the apple crop is now ready for harvesting the announcement of Sir Geo. Foster's plan will be welcome news to the apple growers throughout Canada.

As the messages to the public had to follow immediately and the preparation and handling of the campaign involved a great deal of work that had to be crowded into a short period the department of trade and commerce decided to entrust the whole campaign to J. J. Gibbons, Limited, who handle the advertising campaigns of many Canadian manufacturers.

To Keep Our Workers Busy

For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.

Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning

We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in non-employment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.

You Reap the Advantage

Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

SIR JAMES' SUCCESSOR

The honor of succeeding the late Sir James Whitney in the Premiership of Ontario has fallen to the lot of the Hon. William Howard Hearst, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, who has represented Sault Ste. Marie in the local legislature for some years. The selection will meet the approval, we doubt not, of the party, as he has all the qualities required in a leader.

The Mail-Empire thus speaks of him:

"With the exception of one member, the Ontario Cabinet formed yesterday is made up of men who were holding office under Sir James Whitney at the time of his death. For years they were associated with him at the Council Board and on the front benches of the Government side—most of them, too, having been his colleagues on the front benches on the Opposition side. For the greater part of the last twelvemonth of Sir James' life the administration of the province's affairs was almost altogether in the hands of his fellow-Ministers, who throughout his illness carried on the public business on the lines he had laid down. Mr. Macdiarmid, the new member of the Cabinet, has sat in the Assembly for the last fifteen years, a prominent and steadfast supporter of Sir James. Things will go on as they went before. The old wine of Whitney policy has not been poured into new bottles. The principles and ideas of government Sir James established will be continued without a break.

Of the men Sir James Whitney left in office any one of four or five might have been chosen with general acceptance to succeed him as President of the Council. The one selected is Hon. W. H. Hearst. Mr. Hearst has his colleagues' goodwill for the office and the confidence of the people. He has proved himself well deserving of them. From the moment he took charge of the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines his good work has kept him in the public eye. He has been a hard working, enthusiastic and most progressive administrator of New Ontario. In the few years of his service there he made a reputation such as few public men succeed in making in the course of lifetime. He has the advantage of being a good speaker, which is also an advantage to the province, as he is thereby able to arouse interest among hearers who have any thought of settling or investing in the Northern country. Mr. Hearst will, at all events for a time, continue at the head of the Lands, Forests and Mines Department. It seems too much to expect that he will keep that office permanently. Sir James Whitney, who had an immense capacity for work, found the duties of the President of the Council sufficient to keep him busy at high pressure night and day. The conduct of the affairs of a department in addition would have been out of the question.

THE FRENCH CORPS

Sir Lomer Gouin, Premier of Quebec, has given his strong adhesion to the project of raising a French-Canadian regiment for the war, the Prime Minister having assured Dr. Mignault that any member of the Quebec Government service, either inside or out, who decided to join the unit would receive his full pay while absent fighting for the Empire. The generous offer of the Prime Minister will, Dr. Mignault says, be a very strong incentive to many to form part of the regiment.

Not only is the idea of a French unit being well received throughout the province, but the French-Canadians of the United States are eager to form part of the regiment and to accompany their compatriots of this province in the contingent. Several letters have been received, for instance, by Dr. Mignault from different parts of the Union offering men.

Mr. Louis Lemarise writes as follows from Woonsocket, R.I.: "In the name of a group of French-Canadians here, I write to offer our services in the formation of a new regiment which you are getting ready for active service. We are from ten to twelve, and perhaps more. There are also several Belgians as well as some young Frenchmen here who would like to form part of the regiment, so will you kindly let me have an answer as soon as possible."

Sergeant Oscar Lapointe also writes from Murray Bay, Que., that he can raise at least fifty men for the new contingent, and he hopes those who are at the back of the movement will give them a chance to join the colors. It is further said that the district of Quebec will raise a full regiment, and taking in the French-Canadian regiment which Essex county purposes to furnish, a complete brigade of four thousand may be available for Lord Kitchener's future armies for the continent.

INCREASED PRODUCTION

A progressive Elgin county farmer, who during the past few weeks has motored upwards of 600 miles through Elgin, Middlesex, Perth and Norfolk counties, writes the Toronto News that fully 50 per cent. more land is being sown with wheat this autumn than for many years past. The seeding has been done for the most part under exceptionally favorable conditions. Most of the crop "is up beautifully."

In the district covered, which is one of the most fertile in the province, says the News, the production of fall wheat has declined steadily in recent years. Under the stimulus of war prices there is a return to the old staple crop, which used to be one of Ontario's mainstays. We hear of considerably increased acreages being given to wheat in other parts of the Province.

Some people have been worrying about the possible failure of farmers to seize the opportunity presented by the withdrawal of European farmers from the land, but apparently those of Ontario are alert and informed. They read the papers and bulletins sent out by the Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, and profit by these publications. This autumn the farmer has acted under the double incentive of high prices and the Empire's need of an adequate food supply. In his case patriotism and profit go together.

WHAT HE MIGHT MEAN

Discussing the possibility that the Dominions might have remained neutral, in the European conflict, the Manchester (England) Guardian remarks yesterday:—

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the naval debate used language which might bear the interpretation that Canada was free to choose whether she would be neutral or not. He probably meant," the Guardian adds, "no more than actual abstention from giving us armed assistance. Canada has advantages which no other Dominion possesses, as no European power could ever attack her without making an enemy of the United States under the Monroe doctrine."

Had the Manchester Guardian read carefully the utterances of Sir Wilfrid in the House of Commons during the discussion upon the question of aiding the Empire in strengthening the navy, it would have had no difficulty in coming to a conclusion and understanding what he meant. His utterances now, are not those of then, the reason is not unexplainable.

MERCIFUL JURORS

Stead M. Gamble, of Toronto, Secretary of the Structural Iron Workers' Union, has been found guilty at Whitby of damaging property of the Hamilton Bridge Company. Gamble's offence was to pour acid on a rope on the strength of which the lives of a number of the company's men might have depended. He repeated in Canada the crime that in the United States led to wholesale murder and the imprisonment of a number of allied organizations' officers. Notwithstanding the enormity of the crime the jury recommended Gamble to the mercy of the court, why, it is difficult to understand. True, he failed in his purpose, but that was not his fault. His intention was murder and should receive the punishment of a murderer, as also should those who inspired his conduct, by word or example, have had their lesson to the effect that law is stronger than any faction of a combination which sets it at defiance, unless punishment is inflicted commensurate with the crime committed life and property is no longer safe in the country.

WHAT AN AMERICAN THINKS

A resident of South Norwalk, Connecticut, writing to the Montreal Daily Mail, expresses his convictions upon the European war, which is but an echo of the general feeling throughout the United States. He says:

As an American, allow me to say that the sympathy of all true Americans is with Great Britain in this great war.

We realize that the English people are fighting for that which money cannot buy — "principle" — and also for human rights and liberty. England has never before engaged in a war that was so just and righteous as the present one. I venture to predict she will emerge from it greater and grander than ever. I cannot bring myself to think that she will be beaten. And I pray God she may not. England has always stood for justice and equality for all. And should England now fail to win victory it would mean that civilization would go back 500 years.

There are at least two million Americans ready to join the Canadian Militia should they be needed. We are ready at the call to shoulder a gun and fight for our Mother Country. Our hearts go out to you in this hour of trial. And our prayers go up asking for guidance for our dear kindred to success and a glorious victory. It is times like these that bring up English-speaking people to realization that blood is thicker than water. And when peace reigns once more I hope it will be the English nation who will point the way to happiness and prosperity for the whole world to enjoy.

GEO. W. LYNCH.

CURRENT COMMENT

Montreal Mail: "'Buffalo Bill' died before his time. Some of those German savages would have served for one of his shows had he been alive to organize it. The red men are innocents in comparison with the sausage consumers."

Journal of Commerce: "William Jennings Bryan does not believe in waiting for piping times of peace in order to sign up arbitration treaties. He has already secured twenty-four nations, and three more are about to sign. Germany, however, has refused to sign—having an utter disregard for "scraps of paper."

Montreal Mail: "The war has had a direct influence upon trade in this country by creating a demand for supplies necessary for the soldiers. It has had a far greater indirect influence by stimulating the demand of the staple home market through increasing the spending power of the farmer. And it has supplemented those influences by absolutely shutting out the competition of goods "made in Germany," and practically all manufacturing Europe."

The bayonet has always been a favorite with the British soldiers. The big, brawny Scots, and the other stalwarts who constitute the backbone of the British army, have always loved to fight at close quarters. Despatches from the front tell of a hundred occasions when the Germans gave way before the furious bayonet charges of the allied troops.

St. John (N.B.) Telegraph: "Ontario has had six Premiers since Confederation—Hon. J. S. Macdonald, 1867-1871; Hon. Edward Blake, 1871-1872; Sir Oliver Mowatt, 1872-1896; Hon. A. S. Hardy, 1896-1899; Sir George Ross, 1899-1905; Sir J. P. Whitney, 1905-1914. Not one of them is alive today. Sir J. P. Whitney was the first to die in office.

Journal of Commerce: "During September, of the second month of the war, Bank Clearings in Montreal gained $13,000,000 over the showing in August, although the returns are somewhat below those of September last year. It is generally believed that business throughout the country was at its lowest ebb during August, and that from now on there will be a steady improvement."

Her Overworked Mother

(By W. Werner)

Almost any time you passed the Gary cottage, a pretty, quaint place, all white and green, set in a cluster of lilac shrubs and tall maple trees, you could see Mabel Gary lounging on the front porch, reading or doing fancy work, or simply dreaming. If you didn't see her, you heard the lazy tinkle of the piano. But you never by any chance saw her working.

And almost any time you passed the Gary cottage, with its trim garden in the rear and neat rows chicken coops alongside, you could see Mabel's mother on the back porch scrubbing or washing or digging in the garden, or you could see her moving about the kitchen or parlor with a broom, or catch the clink of dishes as she washed them. Never by any chance did you see her lounging.

She was a spry, though wrinkled, little woman. Her eyes were as black as coal. Her hair was the same. She had a small income left from her husband's property. He had died when Mabel was small and she kept herself and Mabel in comfort in a village where only a few families were accounted rich.

Mabel was pretty in a languid, pale style. Her hair was a light yellow, her eyes were a very light blue; her hands were white and always folded, except when she played the piano. And how people disliked her playing!

"Just like herself—lackadaisical and lazy!" snapped Mrs. Bowen, whose cottage adjoined the Gary's "I do get so tired of that everlasting tinkle. I'd like to shake her into action."

The town was indignant over it. Mabel was healthy and young and spry. She could dance all night. Her mother was old and frail, even though alert, and she had complained often of aching joints. And the town pitied the man who would be Mabel's husband. The town boys frankly declared that they wouldn't have her. But they enraged the other girls by taking her to dances and lounging evenings upon the Gary porch, for Mabel was as pretty as a pink and white sweetpea and her hair under the moonlight was pale gold. More than one of the town boys thought regretfully that if she didn't loll around quite so much and was a shade less selfish, what a wife she would make. So they loved Mabel and made love to her intermittently, but they proposed to the other girls.

Mabel didn't seem to care. She lounged on, and her mother worked so that she might lounge in comfort. The oldest women once or twice hinted to her that she might help her mother. Mabel yawned.

And then Chal Baker came to town. He was a clever, handsome fellow, and did not need the background of his well paying position as cashier of the bank to insure his popularity.

Mabel attracted him, first of all. Every one expected that, and every one sat back with an amused air to watch the young man get thoroughly acquainted with Mabel. Every one knew just why, after about four weeks, his cheerful smile lost its cheerfulness, and his expression became painfully thoughtful.

"If she had an ounce of sense," laughed old Mrs. Bowen, "she'd pretend to be different—at least, till she landed him."

But Mabel, it seemed, was too indolent to pretend. Mrs. Bowen, from her advantageous proximity, was able to keep the town well informed and amused over the course of events. "I heard him one night on the porch ask her if her mother was not tired. It was after supper and her mother was washing the dishes. Mabel said—you know how she drawls: "Oh, no; mother likes to work.' And he said, 'Humph!' Yes, he said it just like that!"

Nevertheless, Mr. Baker continued to spend most of his evenings on the Gary porch and ate supper Sundays in the Gary's dining-room.

Mrs. Bowen reported that they were engaged. From behind her curtains one moonlight night she saw him kiss her twice.

But Mabel denied both items—the kissing indignantly, with an "Old spying cat!" The engagemnt she denied quietly. Mr. Baker told people to attend to their own business and hinted darkly that small towns were too interested in other people's business.

A week later Mrs. Bowen reported "and I heard him say, 'I love you, Mabel, only—only——' And she cut in sharplike—I never knew Mabel could talk that sharp. 'But you're afraid I shan't keep your house spick and span!' "

" 'I have enough to keep a maid,' he said, uncomfortably."

"Just then Mabel's mother came out. She looked like she was so tired she couldn't stand. I watched her by spells all day. 'Come on out, mother,' cooed Mabel, 'and sit down' as Mrs. Gary stood by the settee. But she said she couldn't. She wanted to hull some strawberries, so she could can them the first thing in the morning. 'We'll help', said Chal Baker, and he sprang up from the hammock. Mabel just sat still and looked uneasily at her mother. 'No, I'd rather work by myself. Mable would spoil her hands!' "

"He turned and looked at Mabel. The way he looked said plain: 'Would you rather spoil your hands—or our lives?' Mabel's mother said timidly. 'Sit right there, Mabel. I would rather——"

"But Mabel jumped up. To think of me living beside them all these years and not guessing! But they hulled the berries in perfect silence. And immediately he went home. And then—you see the windows were up, and I could hear every word. Mabel said angrily. 'Now, mother, I hope you're satisfied; He's gone! Forever! All because you wanted a lady with white hands for a daughter! And I won't be treated this way any more.'

" 'I can't bear to see you messing and spoiling your pretty hands,' sobbed her mother. 'And he'll come back.'

" 'He won't,' stormed Mabel. 'He thinks I didn't want to h-h-elp you! He wouldn't believe that you won't let me! And I wish I was d-dead! And to-morrow morning I'm go-going to h-h-hoe potatoes.'

" 'And ruin your complexion!' sniveled her mother. 'I think you're selfish, Mabel! You know it's all the pleasure I ask—to see you pretty and dainty——'

" 'I won't need any complexion any more!' sniffed Mabel.

"Oh, yes," added Mrs. Bowen to her auditors. "I knew they needed some one to help 'em fix matters, so I went right down to the bank the next morning and told that young man! He was sort of huffed at first—seemed to think I was an old meddler—but he brightened up before I got through talking. And then", grimly, "I just kept on with the good work and told Mabel's silly mother what I thought of her."

GERMAN BARBARITIES AND THEIVING

London, Oct. 1—It is reported in a despatch from Ghent that German soldiers have capped their previous record of atrocities by entering Alost disguised as peasants and shooting down unarmed men and women. The entire population of thirty thousand fled from the town, and streams of refugees are fleeing from the village beyond Dendre, learning reprisals by the Germans. All are hurrying to Ghent for safety.

The Secreary of the Hon Geo. H. Perley, acting High Commissioner in England, makes the statement:

"Mr. Cole states that published accounts of atrocities perpetrated by the German army fall far short of the reports which have reached London from Belgium. He throws some new light on the sinking of German cruisers in the fight off Heligoland. The Germans, it appears, were decoyed from their shelter by the manoeuvres of a large liner sent in by the British. They came out to capture what looked like a possibly rich prize, and found the British squadron waiting for them

BEAUTIES OF ONTARIO

The Court House at Whitby

ONTARIO, uniquely called "The Garden Province of Canada," justly deserves that distinction in two senses. In the broad agricultural meaning, Ontario possesses extensive fields where grow, in greatest abundance, not only the yellowing grain, but also in variegated variety the best products of earth in vegetables and fruits of the fields.

BUT Ontario deserves her title as "The Garden Province of Canada" for another reason. All the cities and towns of this province of the Great Dominion are, as the Bible puts it, "beautiful for situation," picturesque in landscape and marine views, inviting to the home-lover, and smile Welcome to the tourist from foreign lands who seeks refreshing scenes of streets or highways well laid, of homes and villas novel in design and made winsome by their shade of trees, lovely lawns and dainty beds of flowers—suggesting, as they do, happiness, contentment and peace.

WHITBY, which is on the new "Lake Shore Line" of the Canadian Pacific, is pre-eminent in these latter excellencies, which are the delight of the observing and scene-loving tourist. This beautiful hillside town, the birthplace of Hamar Greenwood, M.P. (England) and where Canada's celebrated journalist, publicist, raconteur, and soldier, Col. George H. Ham, received his rudimentary education, overlooks the wide expanses of Lake Ontario, which, in summer, smiles, coquettes, and invites the citizens of the town and visiting tourists to enjoy, by canoe, skiff, or motor-boat, the pleasures of its sun-lit placidity by day, or, if a breeze arise, its gentle credling "under the silvery moon" by night.

IN many ways Whitby draws the tourist like the lovely provincial towns of England. It has its own individuality and vitality—not that of its greatest city-neighbor, Toronto, only an hour's run on the new Lake Shore Line, but a town "by itself," full of a subdued activity in education, business, industry, and social life. In the first regard, it is the seat of one of the most famous of Canadian Colleges for Women, where at the annual spring convocations may be seen the rose and lily of Canadian womanhood. Business and industry in Whitby are conducted with sturdy but conservative dignity. No one hurries and no one fails. In social life a sweet and captivating democracy prevails, and, in this regard, the citizens of Whitby are open-hearted, always welcoming the visiting tourist who has the gift of knowing how to "make himself at home" in this pretty hillside, lake-view Canadian town.

LIKE all towns it takes pride in its local institutions. The tourist will be invited to inspect its celebrated Ladies' College, or its public buildings of which the most notable in architecture is the beautiful Court House in Renaissance style, made impressive by the severely chaste facade and by the "great guns" which seem to guard this noble edifice from worldly intrusion, and to say, in the quiet but indomitable British spirit, "What we have we'll hold."

WHITBY is one of the chief "Beauty Spits" of Canada's Garden Province; and, in Biblical phrase, "a city set upon a hill which cannot be hid."

HINDUS ON THE JOB.

They Were Given Warm Reception By French at Marseilles.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A special correspondent of The Times wiring from Marseilles says:

Yesterday witnessed the flower of one of the world's most ancient civilizations set foot for the first time on the shores of Europe.

I have seen the proud Princes of India ride at the head of thousands of troops, princes and men alike fired with all the ardor of the East, determined to help to win the Emperor's battles or die. Of far greater significance than the mere making of history, I saw welded before my eyes what may well prove to be the strongest link in the singularly wonderful chain which binds the British Empire together. The hot day had just begun to lift from the bay when suddenly an interminable line of steamships crept along by the adjacent islands. The awakening port knew that the long-expected ships with Indian troops aboard had arrived.

With precision the expedition of transports swung into the harbor and moored alongside their appointed quays.

Native and British alike stepped ashore, all in magnificent condition. Every road within a mile of the docks was a mass of excited Latins. Every second-storey window and every roof was a coveted vantage seat.

All the troops are in khaki, with only slight differences in design. Some of the British contingent from India wear short pants, identical to those of Boy Scouts. Others wear knickerbockers that cover the knees. The puttees are the same as those of the army at home.

The head-dress in every instance is the turban. This also was khaki, but the different regiments and different castes show slight distinctive markings. The most pronounced is the band of green interwoven with khaki in the Gurkha's turban.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

The British War Office has issued a call for 1,000 expert railroad men to assist in the operation of the French railways.

The crew of the steamer Selby, sunk by a mine in the North Sea while on a voyage from Shields to Antwerp, was landed at Lowestoft yesterday.

An official message issued at Budapest, according to a Rome despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co., states that Hungarians have recaptured Uzsok Pass in the Carpathians.

The ratepayers of the Township of Kitley voted down by a large majority a bylaw to bonus the proposed Gananoque, Arnprior & Ottawa Railway to the amount of $25,000.

Prompt measures in procuring and forwarding warm clothing for the French soldiers for the winter is urged by the national committee appointed to take charge of that work.

Henry De Marse and Alton Heath, river guides, residing at Thousand Island Park, were drowned in the river near Grennell Island while making a crossing between these two points.

Starting in a shed at the rear of a building, fire did considerable damage yesterday afternoon to a block on Main street, Galt, owned by M. Brock Wilkins of Toronto. The loss is $10,000.

Lt.-Col. T. G. J. Beuchon is listed as "killed on the field of honor" in the latest French casuality list. He was one of the French leaders in the campaign of the great nations against China in the Boxer rebellion.

The coroner's jury at Montreal yesterday brought in a verdict of murder against J. N. Lapres for shooting Jules Lavergne in the latter's photographic studio Wednesday. Lapres lies dangerously wounded at Notre Dame Hospital.

Henry Savage Landor Missing.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A. Henry Savage Landor, the explorer, is missing from the place in Antwerp where he had been stopping for the last two weeks, says a despatch to The Pall Mall Gazette, from Antwerp. The correspondent adds that it is feared that Mr. Landor ventured beyond the outer line of fortifications and has been unable to return to the city.

HEARST TAKES OFFICE AS ONTARIO'S PREMIER

Dr. Reaume Is Succeeded by Finlay Macdiarmid, M.P.P., and Other Portfolios Remain Unchanged—Hon. Mr. Hearst Retains Ministry of Lands and Mines—Lucas to Sit on Hydro Electric Board.

PREMIER HEARST.

On Wednesday Lieutenant-Governor Sir John Gibson who remains in office until his successor is sworn in, sent for the Hon. Dr. Pyne for consultation. Attorney-General Foy, the senior member of the late Government not being sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be seen in connection with public business. Dr. Pyne has been acting as chairman of the executive council for some time past and was obviously the Minister to be consulted, he making no claim to the succession himself, but clearly and distinctly intimating that he would refuse absolutely to assume the responsibility. It was also understood that the Hon. Mr. Hanna was not prepared to accept the Premiership under any circumstances, and on the advice of Hon. Dr. Pyne his honor sent for the Hon. W. H. Hearst, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, and requested him to assume the Premiership and the task of reorganization of the Government. Mr. Hearst intimated his willingness to undertake the responsibility, asking for time to consult with his colleagues of the late Government, who at once placed their several portfolios at his disposal. It is understood that the following selections have been made of Ministers of the reconstructed Cabinet:

First Minister and President of Executive Council, and Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, Hon. W. H. Hearst.

Attorney-General, Hon. J. J. Foy.

Minister of Education, Hon R. A. Pyne.

Provincial Secretary, Hon. W. J. Hanna.

Minister of Agriculture, Hon. J. S. Duff.

Provincial Treasurer, Hon. I. B. Lucas.

Minister of Public Works, Finlay G. Macdiarmid.

Minister without portfolio, Hon. R. F. Preston.

The Ministers will be sworn in before His Honor Sir John Gibson at the Parliament Buildings at 10 o'clock to-day.'

The Hon. Sir Adam Beck will continue chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, but in accordance with the views entertained for some time by himself and the late Government that it would be advantageous to have the Provincial Treasurer as a member of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Hon. I. B. Lucas will take the position on the commission that the act requires to be filled by a member of the executive council.

JAPS OVERWHELMING.

German Troops at Kiaochau Are Forced To Fall Back.

PEKIN, Oct. 2.—A German report from Tsingtau, the fortified position of the Kiaochau territory, sent by carrier pigeon to Tsinan, in Shantung Province, and thence to Pekin by telegraph, indicates that the German retirement from the second line of defence around Tsingtau, which took place last Monday, was due to the overwhelming numerical strength of the Japanese.

Continuing, this report says that the Japanese losses were 1,700 killed and 800 wounded, a result of the fire from German warships, coupled with the fire of machine guns on land. The German losses are described as small.

At the German legation in Pekin it was said yesterday that Germans caused the destruction early this week of the railroad bridge at Yayuho, six miles west of Weihsien, and that they will cause other bridges to be dynamited if the Japanese continue their westward movement. They will dynamite also all the Government buildings at Tsingtau when a further defence of that place becomes impossible.

C. P. R. CLAIM GROWS.

Action Against Owners of Storstad Is Now For $3,000,000.

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—By an amendment made in the Admiralty court yesterday the C. P. R. has changed the sum of its suit for damages against the owners of the collier Storstad for the ramming of the Empress of Ireland from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. The additional million, it is stated is to cover actions for damages by loss of life, either on the part of the relatives of the crew under the Workmen's Compensation Act or otherwise.

It is likely that the case will be given a hearing soon.

TAKEN TO COLOGNE.

German Wounded To the Number of 60,000 Now In Hospitals.

LONDON, Oct. 2. — The Evening News prints a despatch from Copenhagen saying that 60,000 Germans wounded have arrived in Cologne, most of the men being victims of the artillery duel along the Aisne river.

London Drys Refuse Truce.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The temperance forces of London have rejected the offer of the hotelmen to hand the $3,000 in the latter's coffers over to the patriotic fund if the temperance men would call off their proposed license reduction campaign this year, and the campaign to have six licenses cut off in January next, will be proceeded with.

Crown Princess Goes To Front.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—In a Berlin via The Hague despatch, a correspondent of a news agency says that Cecilie, the German Crown Princess, accompanied by her two eldest sons, has left Berlin to join the Crown Prince at his headquarters in France. She purposes personally to bestow decorations upon officers of her dragoon regiment.

MARKET REPORTS

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Bearish crop estimates and big receipts more than offset in the wheat market today the influence of encouraging cables and of war demand for flour. There was a weak close, 1⅛c to 1⅜c under last night. Other leading staples, too, all showed a net decline—corn 1c to 1¼c, oats ⅜c to 1c, and provisions 7½c to 62½c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 1.—Cash close:—Wheat—No. 1 northern, $1.07½; No. 2 do., $1.04; No. 3 do., 99c; No. 4, 92½c; No. 5, 86½c; No. 6, 81½c; feed, 78c.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Oct. 1.—The export of grain from this port is practically at a standstill. All enquiries received from abroad for some time past have been out of line, and every day go lower than on the day previous. The decline which has taken place in American and Canadian markets is more than taken care of in the prices offered by foreign buyers. The receipts of wheat were large here again today and the local demand practically nil. It is believed that eventually the demand for foreign account will be much greater and that prices will therefore be higher. In the meantime, however, prices will no doubt reflect the piling up of stores at all points.

The cheese situation was featureless except for a few transactions between local houses at firm prices.

Butter remained easy, as did the market. The provision market was firm but inactive.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN MARKET.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.08¾; No. 1 northern, $1.05 to $1.07¾; No. 2 do., $1.02 to $1.05; December, $1.06½.

Corn—No. 3 yellow, 67c to 68c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 42¼c to 42½c.

Flour—Unchanged.

Bran—$20.50.

DULUTH GRAIN MARKET.

DULUTH, Oct. 1.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.07½; No. 1 northern, $1.06½; No. 2 do., $1.03½; December, $1.06½.

CHEESE MARKETS.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Oct. 1.—At the cheese board meeting today 2469 colored and 1230 white were boarded. The sales were 140 white and 290 colored, at 14⅞c. The board closed with biddings at 14⅞c and no more sales.

Sheep—Receipts, 42,000; market higher; native, $4.70 to $5.75; yearlings, $5.50 to $6.25; lambs, native, $6 to $7.75.

British Steamer Sunk.

CALLAO, Peru, Oct. 2.—The Kosmos steamer Marie arrived here yesterday with the crew of the British steamer Bankfields, which was sunk by the German cruiser Leipzig off Eten, Peru.

The crew of the Bankfields have appealed to the British consul here in the hope of obtaining their liberty. The men said that their ship carried a cargo of sugar valued at $500,000.

The Marie was followed into port by the German steamer Amasis, also of the Kosmos Line.

Would Tie Up Krupp Factory.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Application for a receiver for the assets of the Krupp Company in England was denied by the court yesterday. The application was by a railroad creditor who desired to tie up the assets of the company in this country, before the end of the war would make it possible to remove them from England to Germany.

Recent Inventions.

A patent has been granted for paddle wheels to be attached to rowboats and operated by cranks.

A paper dishcloth which becomes soft and pliable when wet and is durable enough to be used several times has been invented.

So that a man can sit down to shine his shoes there has been patented a blacking stool that can be temporarily fastened in front of a chair.

A machine has been perfected in Saxony which embroiders designs on three dozen pairs of stockings at once, 288 stitches being taken simultaneously.

SECRET PACT DENIED.

Report Was Set In Circulation To Arouse Antagonism.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. — Official and diplomatic quarters united yesterday in discrediting a published report of a secret Anglo-Japanese agreement under which Japan was to have a free hand in China, was to be permitted to send Japanese immigrants to all parts of the British Empire, which would include Canada and Australia, and was to have a British loan of $200,000,000, while Japanese troops were to assist in putting down disaffection in British India.

At the British Embassy it was stated that official warning had been sent from London some time ago to be on the watch for such a report, British officials having advised the Home Government that the report would be set in circulation for the purpose of arousing antagonism.

BITTEN BY A DOG

A lad named Logan, who was yesterday afternoon engaged in selling newspapers, was proceeding down Pinnacle street, when he was bitten on the right leg by a dog. The wound made was fortunately not a serious one, and was cauterized by a local physician. No ill effects are anticipated.

POLICEMAN SHOT

Since the war broke out four special police have been on duty guarding the Grand Trunk bridge spanning the Trent river at Trenton. While one of the guards was on duty Sunday, about 2 a.m. he was run into in the dark, supposedly by a tramp. The tramp shot at close range, the bullet, which was of 32 calibre, passed through the clothing, which was an overcoat, a coat and two shirts, and through the arm. The night was very dark and rainy and it is not known how many intruders there might have been.

OBITUARY

JAMES WHITE

In the removal by death of Mr. Jas. White, one of Madoc's most familiar figures disappears from view. He was one of Madoc's most active citizens and for the last forty years played an important part in her political, educational and moral welfare. During his long life he filled many positions of honor and trust. Mr. White, although not possessing the advantages of a scholastic training, was a remarkably well informed man on general topics, an extensive reader, a friend of education and a man who made sacrifices in order that his family might receive benefits of a liberal training. He possessed a ready and facile tongue and pen, in the exercise, the directness and power of which he took considerable pleasure.

To mourn his loss he leaves a family of six children, 2 girls and 4 boys, Herbert of Moosejaw, Sask., Tillie, Kathleen and George at home; James of Lindsay, and Russel of Brockville. His wife predeceased him about three years ago.—Madoc Review.

Mr. White was for a number of years the Madoc correspondent of The Intelligencer.

RECEIVED FULL PAYMENT

Belleville, Ont. Sept. 30, 1914.

The Policy Holders Mutual Life Insurance Company, Temple Bldg. Toronto, Ont.

Gentlemen:—

It is with much pleasure that I am able to write you instructing you that I have received to-day payment in full of $1000, for the risk held on my late son, Freddie Clayton Gerow, who lost his life on the 13th of September through an unfortunate accident in the Bay of Quinte near here. The proofs of loss were prepared by my solicitors on Saturday the 26th. inst., and I received payment this 30th. day of September. You can readily understand the relief that payment of this amount affords me at this very critical and trying time and goes a long way to relieve the anxiety which I otherwise would feel if payment had been delayed.

Yours truly,

(Signed) Mrs. Emily Gerow.

APPRECIATES PROMPTNESS

Belleville, Ont. Sept. 30, 1914.

The Policy Holders Mutual Life Insurance Company, Temple Bldg. Toronto, Ont.

Gentlemen:—

We can assure you that we appreciate and esteem the promptness in paying the policy held by your Company on the late Freddie Clayton Gerow, and we esteem the promptness and dispatch with which you have dealt with the matter so far as the mother is concerned. Thanking you, we remain,

Yours truly,

(Signed) Porter & Carnew

DOUBLE DOSE FOR AUTOMOBILIST

An automobilist from Kingston was in the city yesterday and was summoned before Magistrate Masson on a charge of speeding on a public street. He was fined $1 and costs, and later in the evening was again apprehended for driving his car without having the back light lit. For this infraction of the law he had to contribute another dollar and costs.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST LAND REGULATIONS.

The sole head of a family, or an male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency) on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

W. W. CORY, C.M.G.,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.—30690. dtf

Thrilling Story of French Gallantry Around Peronne

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Amiens, under date of Sunday, in describing the heavy fighting around Peronne, which has been taken and retaken at various times, says it is impossible to hear of the dogged courage of the French troops witnout a thrill of warm admiration.

"At eleven o'clock one morning," says, "the French advance was subjected to a terrible concentrated fire, and it seemed impossible for the troops to hold their ground. The French artillery had to abandon position after position.

"At 2 o'clock the shells began to fall around the crossroads where the staff were located, and the general in command was urged to quit. 'No,' he said. 'So long as I stay here we cannot retreat, and we simply got to hold on.'

"He said the same thing when three farm houses close by were in flames. He said it, and meant it, and saved the day.

"At 3 o'clock he was there still, and his men held their own. At 4 o'clock the German fire slackened a little, and an infantry attack was pushed forward.

"That evening the French guns were occupying the positions which the Germans guns had held all day. The general had held on."

Toronto Man Accused of Unlawfully Taking His Family Across Border

WINDSOR, Oct. 2.—Special—The United States Federal authorities have detained Achiel Van de Well, who came here from Toronto, on a charge of having smuggled the several members of his family into the United States after they had been rejected by the immigration authorities.

Van de Well will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Hurd to-morrow.

NEW PRODUCT OF SYDNEY FIRM

SYDNEY, N.S., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—A non-staining cement is being manufactured by the Sydney Cement Company, Ltd., which manufacturers cement with the slag from the blast furnace of the Dominion Steel Company. The new Canadian product has been used in the construction of a number of large buildings in Toronto and Montreal. The new cement has been used in the work on the Levis building, Montreal, among others, and is being specified by a number of the leading Canadian architects. The company is now arranging arrangements for shipments of the cement to the new Massachusetts institute of Technology in Boston.

St. Thomas Journal: "Sir Adam Beck and Hon. W. J. Hanna are strong men, politically. Both have shown legislative ability." It is a wonder the Journal would admit it.

Buffalo Express: "So great is the distress among former Wall street employees as a result of the closing of the stock and other exchanges that a committee of employers in the financial district has been formed to organize relief. This is a phase of the war's influence of which little has been known."

Gems of thought never were nor will be a drug on the market.

SWORD SUPERIOR TO THE PEN

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Special—Anatole France has written to the Minister of War the following letter: "Many good people find my style at this time worth nothing. As they may be right, I am stopping my writing, and so remain without employment. As I am no longer very young, but have excellent health, please make me a soldier."

The reference to people not liking his writing is probably his view of a letter which he wrote, which was taken, in some quarters, to mean that he had certain sympathies with the Germans.

POTATO GIFT FOR EMPIRE FUND

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 2.—Special.—The work of gathering potatoes for shipment to Great Britain as part of New Brunswick's contribution to the Empire Patriotic Fund is still going on. The potatoes are of the very finest quality and are being carefully selected.

UMPIRES FOR WORLD SERIES

The umpires will be Klem and Byron of the National League, and Dineen and Hildebrand of the American League.

There will be three official scorers. J. D. Spink of St. Louis, and one man picked by the Philadelphia baseball writers and one by the Boston writers.

No changes were made in the rules for playing world's series games. As heretofore four games must be won by a club to claim the championship. In the event of a seventh game being necessary the toss of a coin after the six contest will decide whether the seventh shall be played in Boston or Philadelphia. In case of a tie game or postponement, the clubs will remain in the city where the game was scheduled to be played until it is decided. The prices for seats are:

Boston—Boxes, $5 each; grand stand, $3 pavilion, reserved, $2; general admission, $1; 25-cent bleacher seats, 50 cents.

Philadelphia—Boxes, $5 each seat; grand stand, $3; pavilion, reserved, $2; general admission, $1.00.

Tickets will be sold in each city for a series of three games. In the event that a game is unplayed the money paid for a ticket for that game will be refunded.

BRAVES WILL BE KEPT GOING TIP-TOP SPEED

New York, Oct. 1.—In preparation for the world series, the Boston Braves, winners of the National league pennant for 1914, are to be kept keyed up to the high pitch under which they have been playing for the last two months, according to Manager George Stallings, who arrived here last night with his team for a five-game series with the New York Giants.

The same team that battled for the penant will appear against the Giants in the series, the Boston manager announced.

Manager Stallings said that his main hope for the series was his pitching staff, and that if nothing happened to his pitchers between now and the end of the week, he would have no excuse if he lost to Philadelphia.

New York, Oct. 1.—It was announced officially this afternoon that the Giants and Highlanders will play a post season series at the Polo Grounds beginning October 8. The seris will consist of seven games or until one team wins four games. The series will be under the supervision of the national commission. The spoils will be divided as in the world series, the players sharing in the receipts of the first four games.

The two teams met in 1910, when both teams finished in second place. The Giants took our of seven games from the Yankees in theat series.

Of the men who played with the American team then only three are still with the Yankees, Pitchers Fisher and Warhop and Outfielder Birdie Cree.

PROGRESS BY THE ALLIED FORCES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Unless all signs fail, German armies in France, or most of them, are nearing completion of their round trip. This it is held here, is the only conclusion, and it is hinted at even in Berlin newspapers to be drawn from reports both official and unofficial of those on or near the scene of action.

The Montenegrin army, according to official communication issued by the Montenegrin Consul General here, stands across the road approaching Bosnian Capital, Sarajevo, whose supplies have been cut off.

The same announcement states that by the capture of Vlasenitza the Servians have cut off retreat of the Austrians.

COMISKEY OWNS YOUNGEST BASEBALL TEAM

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Manager Callahan is chaperoning the youngest club Comiskey has owned since he broke into Chicago nearly 14 years ago. John Collins is a comparative youngster in major league experience, but he is the "veteran" of the Sox regulars. He came to the Southside club in 1910 from Springfield, in the Connecticut league. He was discovered by Ted Sullivan, and probably is Ted's most famous "find" in the big show. Russel Blackburne runs Collins a close second, but the Palmyra boy has been identified with the minors until recently. His real major career dates from the time he went into take Berger's place several weeks ago. Friends of the former Milwaukee infielder think he is on his way now, and believe nothing can stop him.

Seek Prohibition of War Pictures

Attempt in New York to Stop Show of German Atrocities

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The Chamber of German-American Commerce has announced that it had information that certain motion picture films were about to be displayed in New York which would depict the advance of the German troops through Belgium.

Mr. Heinrich Charles, the secretary of the chamber, said that as a result of this information the chamber was convinced that the exhibition of these pictures would violate the spirit of President Wilson's neutrality message to the American people, and the chamber had decided to make an effort to prevent the pictures being shown in the United States, at least, during the war.

"Yes; I understand that they do," said Mr. Charles, "and to show such pictures might cause ill-feeling on the part of some of the American public, and for that reason, and that only, we are opposed to their exhibition."

Mr. Charles then announced that the chamber had made its protest to the National Board of Censorship of Moving Pictures, which board, with the consent of various moving picture corporations, has the final say as to whether or not a picture is oneworthy of the public view.

MADE THE DISCOVERY

Of a Very High Explosive--May Manufacture Near Kingston

J. Duncan Thompson, son of J. D. Thompson, who was for years associated with the Ontario Powder Company of Kingston, and for the last two year with Sid Donald Mann, of the Olympic Powder Company of Deseronto, has made a very valuable discovery in a new high explosive. On Tuesday afternoon he was experimenting on the big cut in Barriefield hill that is being taken out by Fallon Brothers. He demonstrated the virtues of his discovery in several holes and broke to pieces a number of huge bowlders. It is claimed for this explosive that it contains no nitroglycerine, is impervious to water, requires no thawing and is free from noxious fumes, the cause of what is known as a dynamite headache. It is very powerful but can only be exploded by the correct way with a detonator.

Several local men are anxious to put up the capital and erect a plant here for its manufacture, but it is understood that Mr. Thompson has already given options to a group of men. "If possible the plant will be erected near the city," said Mr. Thompson, but he would give no information as to when the manufacture of it begins.—Kingston Whig.

SUMMER HOTEL BURNED

Mr. John Green's summer hotel at Crowe Lake was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Green had been away during the day and as the evening was chilly started a fire when they returned in the evening. As soon as they were warmed they retired and shortly after the kitchen was discovered to be on fire.

Nearly all the cottages at the Lake are closed for the season, but word was quickly brought to the village and a number soon reached the Lake. Mr. Alphonse Shannon was stopping at the Lake with his mother and with his assistance a large part of the furniture was saved.

The boat house and stable were saved. The loss was partly covered by insurance. We understand Mr. Green will not rebuild—Marmora Herald.

Convicted of Manslaughter

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 3.—Jesse Ward, an elderly man of Toronto, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of Percy Sparlings at Grimsby Beach, was sentenced this morning to ten years in the Kingston Penitentiary.

Owing to the heavy losses in officers at the front, Lord Kitchener is said to be filling their places with capable sergeants and corporals. Promotion from the ranks is not unknown in the Imperial army, but is not a common practice. The Ulster Volunteers are the most democratic military force in existence.

PRACTICAL STANDSTILL BUT HOLDING ITS OWN

Allied Forces Meeting Charge after Charge With a Stability That Augurs No Good to the Invaders--Von kluck's Forces in Precarious Condition

(Canadian Press Special Exclusively to The Intelligencer)

VON KLUCK'S INCREASED FORCES SAVED HIM

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Dow, Jones & Co., a Wall Street news agency, put out the following today:

"Bordeaux—Minister of War Millerand declared today that only the steady arrival of heavy reinforcements had averted disaster for the army of General Von Kluck and the entire right wing of the German army. He said that early in the week the forces of General Von Kluck were in desperate straits and that part of them had been forced to withdraw from an advanced position to a point northeast of St. Quentin by an army of French Artillery."

PROCEEDING SLOWLY BUT FAVORABLY

VIENNA, An official communication signed by Field Marshal Potiorek, has been given out. It says:

"Up to the present time our offensive movements of the past two days against the Servians, who are in strongly fortified positions, protected with barbed wire entanglements, have proceeded slowly but favorably.

"The announcement from Servia concerning the annihilation of the 40th Division Hungarian Honved, is proof of the vivid imagination of the Servians. This division, as the Servians have had repeated opportunity to learn, is in the best of condition at the battle front."

THE FIGHT WILL BE LONG AND FIERCE

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Though the German right is less than fifty miles from the Belgian frontier, never since the outbreak of the war, apparently, have the people of Great Britain been more reconciled to the idea that the struggle yet to come will be long and terrible. When the Germans first began to retreat after their rush toward Paris, hope ran high that some master stroke would bring complete rout to the invaders. Now, however, many observers emphasize that, even should the so-called battle of the Aisne be terminated, the Germans would only fall back on equally strong entrenchments.

REPULSE ATTACKS WITH RIFLE AND BAYONET

PARIS, Oct. 3.—An official statement has been given out, which says:

"First—On our left wing a violent action which has been in progress since yesterday continues without interruption, particularly in the region of Roye, where we have repulsed all the attacks, although upon this part of the front the enemy has been re-inforced by new additions taken from the enemy's centre.

"Second—On the centre nothing is to be noted from Rheims to the Argonne region. In the Argonne district the Sixteenth German Corps, (the army of the Crown Prince) which had attempted to slip by through the woods of Grurie, has been driven back toward the north.

ATTACK OF GERMANS HAS BEEN REPULSED

PARIS, Oct. 3.—An official announcement issued this afternoon declares that a violent attack of Germans near Roye has been repulsed by the Allies.

ITALIAN BOAT SUNK BY MINES

VENICE, Oct. 3.—A report has reached here of the sinking of another Italian boat and the death of her crew of fifty men at a point near Trieste, as a result of coming in contact with a floating mine.

There is alarm all along the Italian coast at the presence of Austrian mines. Water traffic with Austria has been suspended and goods destined for Austrian ports are being abandoned on the docks.

RUSSIA AND U. S. SIGN ARBITRATION TREATY

This is the Twenty-Seventh of the So-Called Investigation Treaties

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Secretary Bryan for the United States and Ambassador Bakhmeteff for Russia, yesterday signed a treaty binding the two nations to submit all disputes that cannot be settled diplomatically to an international Commission of five members for investigation during a period of at least one year, during which hostilities may not be commenced.

This is the twenty-seventh of the so-called investigation treaties, and follows in a general way the lines of those previously negotiated with nations all over the world.

Similar pacts have been signed between the United States and Great Britain and France.

No treaty of any kind has existed between the United States and Russia since President Taft abrogated the commercial treaty of 1832.

SUMMER IN MANITOBA

90 in Shade, With Gardens in Full Bloom

WINNIPEG, Oct. 3.—The remarkable summer weather this province has enjoyed during September culminated here today with temperatures ranging between 80 and 90 in the shade, dropping to 70 this evening. Add to this that there has been hardly a touch of frost as yet in this district, and the phenomena of flower gardens in full bloom at the beginning of October and vegetables ripening is accounted for. Usually by September 9 at the lastest a killing frost has made havoc of the labors of the gardener, and a parallel for present conditions would be hard to find in the history of the Red River Valley. Coal dealers complain that the cut of seventy-five cents a ton in the price of the standard commodity has failed to create a market, for few householders have felt need for artificial heat.

LEARNED TO STEER COURSE WELL AND TAKE LONG JUMPS

Honest Appreciation of Ontario's New Premier by Former Room-Mate and Quondam Liberal Organizer

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—A warm tribute to Premier Hearst was made today by a leading Ontario Liberal, Alexander Smith, the well-known Ottawa Barrister, who was Secretary and General Organizer for the Liberal party in the Provincial and General Elections from 1893 to 1904. Mr. Smith says Mr. Hearst's rapid rise amongst his fellow members of the Legislature during the short period of six years is just what was expected except by Mr. Hearst himself as he was always a willing worker in the ranks of his party awaiting calmly for results. Mr Smith first met Mr. Hearst at Collingwood, when as Bruce county boys they attended the collegiate institute and had been warm personal friends together. "Oh yes," says Mr. Smith, "Hearst and I roomed together when attending the Collingwood Collegiate Institute and our pastime and recreation was rowing on the Bay. He was a good oarsman and learned to steer his course well. To this when the weather was unfavorable we added the long jump. You see that both these attainments have been useful very recently to the new Prime Minister."

On more than one occasion, relates Mr. Smith, the late Premier Whitney consulted the North Country lawyer before he came into the legislature and was so impressed with him that he wrote Mr. Hearst holding out hopes which have now been realized.

German Force Caught in Quarries

Have Long Galleries, Electrically Lighted, as Refuge From Shells Outside

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A Paris dispatch to The London Daily News, says the vigorous offensive of the Allies has compelled the recent extraordinary efforts of the Germans, nowhere successful, to break through our centre for relief. The French reinforcements brought up in response to the German movement are winning gradually to the main artery of the German position. It may not be severed, but it is now at least exposed to the knife.

"Towns and villages from Vic-sur-Aisne around to Peronne and beyond are being captured and recaptured daily in the work of turning the German flank.

"The valor and desporation of the Germans in their efforts to keep us out frequently bring them partial success. In all that country the fighting during the past week has been of an extraordinarily violent character, but the general progress of the Allies eatward and inward is unquestionable.

"At Lassigny, for example, a German force of a strength which I could not learn has been surrounded by the French and cut from the main body. It has taken refuge in some extensive quarries, and its position is now very like that of Cronje at Paardeburg. These quarries which are of German ownership, so that every yard of their intricate workings is known to the enemy. There are long subterranean galleries, electrically lighted.

"The careful Germans, when they saw retreat impossible, drove into the refuge many of the inhabitants who now serve as a shield for the German soldiery, but as French troops now surround the position, and the French artillery is shelling the German guns and trenches, nothing but a miracle can save that imprisoned section of the German force, and in the end it must surrender.

FAVORS FISH INDUSTRY

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 3—Special—Although from every city and town in the province come stories of industrial expansion, St. John is still looking for fresh industries. Lewis Conners, of Conners Bros., of Black Harbor, is in favor of a fish industry for St. John. "If St. John," said he last week, "wants to establish a new industry, its business men could not take up a better one than that of organizing a fleet of off-shore fishermen. Digby has built up quite a fleet of that kind and the fishermen have done well. According to reports, some of the Digby fishing vessels made big money last year, in fact some vessels stocked enough pay for themselves during the winter. Where Digby has made a success there is no reason why St. John or St. Andrews should not. Some years ago St. John had a few fishing vessels, but they were rather small, and probably did not do very well, as their operation were confined to the Bay of Fundy. What is needed to carry on the fishing business on a successful basis are vessels from 100 to 150 tons, capable of working on the banks on the southern coast of Nova Scotia in the winter time. Most of the American vessels make their winter catches on the lesser banks lying off the coast of Nova Scotia. The Digby vessels also make their catches on Browne, Lahave and Cape Sable banks. Vessels can be built in this country as cheaply as in Glouscester, and there should be no difficulty in manning them. Many of the best skippers running fishing vessels out of Gloucester or Boston were at one time fishing out of New Brunswick ports on the Bay of Fundy or from Nova Scotia. Today there is a big market for fish in Canada, at certain seasons of the year some of the fish dealers in St. John have to import fish from the States, paying duty on their consignments. This is a condition we should try to abolish. Vessels running from the banks on the south shore of Nova Scotia can reach St. John almost as quickly as they can get into Digby and from here to the big markets of Montreal and Toronto is a shorter haul than from Digby. St. John would be a fishing port of considerable importance, but it will not be so till the local dealers see their opportunity."

BELLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL IN SPIRITED FIELD WORK

A Large Number of City's Younger Generation do Themselves Credit as Athletes--Many Events Closely Contested--List of Successful Competitors

Naturally the pupils who attend the High School look forward with interest to the annual field day, an event which has now been commemorated for several years. It took place yesterday and it was an ideal day for sports. The programme of events, 36 in number, was of such a length, that a portion of it had to be carried out in the forenoon. This part of the programme took place on the High School grounds, whilst the greater number of events took place at the Agricultural Park, commencing at 1.30 p.m., and were not concluded until six o'clock. During the afternoon there were a number of interested spectators present to witness the girls and boys engage in the sports. In all of the events there were many entries, and the results in many cases were close and exciting. The winners in the various events were as follows:—

GIRLS' EVENTS.

Throwing Basketball—H. Coughlin, 1st; E. Sayers, 2nd; B. Calnan, 3rd.

Nailing Contest—Nancy Latta, Bessie Hearst, Annie Whiting.

Medicine Ball.—There were five teams of 10 girls each competed. The result was a win for the team representing Forms 3 A and B. The girls composing the team were: Helen Foster, Margaret Collins, Stella Collins, Helena McDonald, Mary Yeomans, Marie McGinnis, Ethel Sayers, Bessie Ketcheson, Lorena Chute, Helen Coughlin.

Peanut Race.—C. Coughlin, Mary Yeomans, Jessie Buck.

75 yards dash, Forms 3 and 4.—Mary Yeomans, L. Chute, Evelyn Dempsey. Time, 10 2-5 seconds.

75 yards dash, Forms 1 and 3—Harriet McIntosh, Anna Hogan, Beatrice Calnan. Time, 10 4-5 seconds.

Relay running race—There were three teams with four girls in each team and the winners were in the order named: Mary Yeomans, Helen Coughlin, Lorena Chute, Stella Collins, 1st. Clara Coughlin, Bessie Sayers, Florence Cook, Anna Hogan, 2nd. Keitha Henderson, Myrtle Archibald, Marjorie Thompson, Evelyn Dempsey, 3rd.

Roll Call.—In this event the girls had to run, pick up an apron and tie it on with a bow; run and pick up a hymn book and find a certain hymn; then run and pick up a parasol and open it. They then had to run to the winning line with the parasol up and the hymn book open at the proper hymn. The winners were: Marjorie Thompson, Mary Yeomans, Anna Hogan.

FRENCH GUNS ARE LABELLED "THE BLACK BUTCHERS" BY FOE

"Make Me a Cemetery Down There", Directed by a French Officer--He Was Obliged--Five Hundred Slain

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Dilating upon the splendid accuracy of the artillery fire and the extent to which the artillery has been used in the present war, The Daily Mail correspondent in France says:

The infantry has counted for little in these protracted operations. On the allies' left wing the men say that they have nothing to do and several have complained to spending eight days in the trenches without seeing a German. Both armies are tired.

There was one appaling incident. Three days ago 500 Germans were caught in some flat fields with slopes on every side. The French artillery took up positions secretly and when the moment came to open fire the officer in command said, "Make me a cemetery down there." His order was obeyed, the guns accounting for the greater part of the 500 and rifle fire for the rest. Those who were there say that not a single German escaped.

It is no wonder that the Germans have nicknamed the big French guns in the field artillery "The black butchers." Their effect is terrible. The shells they throw explode only ten feet above the ground and spread their missiles over an area measuring 100 yards by 30 yards. The shock of their explosion alone often kills at once a whole row of entrenched men.

Got Automobiles By Peculiar Ruse

Germans at Munich Said to Have Duped Foreigners

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—The White Star liner Arabic, with 500 American tourists from the war zone aboard, arrived last night after an uneventful voyage from Liverpool and Queenstown Charles E. Russell of New York, who had gone abroad to attend the International Socialist Congress at Vienna, told of a ruse of the German officials at Munich to obtain possession of private automobiles.

"The city officials invited many of us stranded foreigners to a performance of 'Parsifal' at a local theatre," he said. "As a result of the invitation the theatre was crowded and many expressions of pleasure at the hospitality of the Germans were made. After the performance was over the rich Americans and others who had come in automobiles found that every machine in front of the theatre had been confiscated.

HIS DEMAND REFUSED HE SHOOTS WAITRESS

Then Desperado Fled Without Stopping to Rifle Cash Register in Restaurant

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—When she refused to hand over the money in the till of a Greek restaurant at 294 Notre Dame street west, Mary Belizar, a young Russian girl was shot in the head last night by an unknown man. The girl, who is nineteen years of age, and lives at 58 St. Urbain street, is employed as a waitress in a restaurant owned by Locus Matheus.

At 8.30 o'clock last night Matheus left the shop for a few minutes leaving the girl alone in the place. A moment after he had left a man entered the store and said to the girl: "Hand me over all the money you have in the register." She refused the demand, and the man drew a revolver from his hip pocket and shot her in the chin. Without waiting to take the money, the desperado then fled through the door, turning into a lane leading to St. Maurice street.

Matheus, who hurried back to the restaurant when he heard the shot fired, telephoned to the Chaboilez St. police station. Constables Rivet and Vallee were sent out, and Captain Dandenault and Lieutenant Huberdeau followed them shortly. The girl was found lying in a pool of blood, and there was no trace of her assailant when the officers arrived. An ambulance was called and Mary Belizar was taken to the General Hospital, where her condition was said to be very serious. Her jaw is broken, and the bullet, which is lodged in the back of her head, is not yet located.

Inspector McLaughlin was notified. and Detectives McCann, Barett and Martin were put on the case. The Russian girl, who has retained consciousness, stated that she knew the man who had shot her by sight, but not by name. She said he was an Irishman, and had red hair.

Deal Over a Wife

One Sued the Other for the Payment of $200 on Promissory Note Given to Return a Wife

WELLAND, Oct. 2.—A curious deal over a wife among residents in the foreign section came to light in the Division Court this morning, when Max Berger sued Solomon David for the payment of a promissory note for $200.

Both men are Jews and storekeepers. Defendant has a wife and a child in the old country. Evidence produced for the plaintiff was to show that Mrs. Berger has for the past eight months been living at the home of David. In August Berger approached David and said that Mrs Berger would like to return to him.

A meeting of seven Jewish arbitrators was called to deal with the matter, and both Berger and David signed notes for $200 that they would abide by the decision of this body. The ruling was that Mrs. Berger was to return to her husband. This she failed to do.

Defendant claimed that the note he signed in favor of Berger was a forfeit, to be made by him in case he influenced the woman in question. This he had refrained from doing, but she had remained with him, and said she would rather die than return to her husband. His Honor dismissed the action with costs, contending that the plantiff had not proved that any consideration had been received for the notes.

Who could suppose that in Canada a case of this kind could possibly exist?

Belleville Branch Bible Society

Yesterday afternoon the officers of the society met, with a number of ladies, in the James Wallace tea-room, and discussed over the tea-cups plans for making the annual canvas of the city for contributions to the funds of the society.

The collectors will likely begin their duties in a few days. We bespeak for them the usual kind reception at the homes of the people, and hope that liberal contributions will be given them. The demands upon the treasury of the society are greater than ever.

THE HEROISM OF ONE WOMAN

A Devoted Wife Saves Husband from Drink and Unemployment.

Mrs. S., of Trenton, was in despair. A loving father and a careful provider when sober, her husband had gradually fallen into drinking habits, which were ruining his home, health and happiness. Drink had inflamed his stomach and nerves and created that unnatural craving that kills conscience, love, honor, and breaks all family ties. But read her letter:

"I feel it my duty to say a few words about your Tablets. As you are aware, I sent and got a bottle, thinking I would try them in secret. My husband had only taken them a week when he told me he was going to Port Arthur for the summer, so I had to tell him all about the Tablets. He said he would take them just the same. He writes me saying that he has taken it and feels splendid, does not care for drink. In fact, he has not taken any liquor from the first of my giving it to him. I feel I cannot say too much in favor of your wonderful Remedy."

"Mrs. S——, Trenton, Ont."

Samaria Prescription stops the craving for drink. It restores the shaking nerves, improves the appetite and general health, and makes drink distasteful, even nauseous. It is tasteless and odorless, dissolving instantly in tea, coffee or food.

Now, if you know of any unfortunate needing Samaria Prescription, tell him or his family or friends about it. If you have a friend or relative on whom the habit is getting its hold, help him yourself. Write to-day.

A FREE TRIAL PACKAGE of Samaria Prescription, with booklet giving full particulars, testimonials, price, etc., will be sent absolutely free and postpaid, in plain sealed package, to anyone asking for it. Correspondence sacredly confidential. Write to-day. The Samaria Remedy Co., Dept. 99, 142 Mutual St., Toronto, Canada.

WEDDING BELLS

THOMPSON—POST

An interesting home wedding was celebrated on Tuesday evening, September 29th, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Post of Rossmore, when their daughter, Mary C., was united in marriage with Mr. Harry Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Addison Thompson of Belleville.

The bride and groom were unattended. The bride was very becomingly attired in white silk. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. J. Anderson of Rossmore, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

After the congratulations the company repaired to the dining-room to enjoy a sumptuous wedding supper. The happy young couple left on the early morning train for Niagara Falls, Buffalo and points West, and on their return will take up their residence in Belleville.

To Keep Our Workers Busy

For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.

Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning

We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in non-employment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.

You Reap the Advantage

Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

REMEMBERED BY RELATIVES AND FRIENDS

Many were yesterday afternoon in attendance at the funeral of the late Mrs. Canning. At the family residence, Yoemans street, a service was conducted by the Rev. A. M. Hubly, Rector of the Reformed Episcopal Church, who also officiated at the grave, at Belleville cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. John Harris, W. H. Gilbert, Claus Rathman, Geo. R. Brown, Nelson Jones and John Ballantyne. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, the following being the contributors:

Pillar, family; wreaths, Mrs. T. Symons and family, Mrs. and Mrs. C. Rathman, Mrs. L. A. Weese, Miss Mable McCutcheon; Sprays, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, Hook and Ladder Dept., Master Walter Harden, Mr. and Mr. R. J. Gibson, Rev. A. M. Hubly, Mrs. Jas. Orr, Mrs. Wm. ### Paper Allowed To Publish.

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—(Via The Hague and London.)—The decree ordering the suspension of the Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts has been rescinded, conditional upon the avoidance by the paper of reference to class hatred and class struggle. These are described as wholly inapplicable to the present situation in view of the unanimity of the German people in the present war. The management of The Vorwaerts has given asurances of compliance.

The Methodist Conference

The venerable Dr. Albert Carman, who for over thirty years has been General Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, will practically retire from active office when the quadrennial general conference now in session, in Ottawa completes its work.

The resolution of the committee dealing with Dr. Carman's retirement reads as follows:

"On the rising of this conference the Rev. Dr. Carman becomes General Superintendent emeritus, receiving during the next quadrennium the full salary of a General Superintendent acting on the request of the General Superintendent as advisory counsel, presiding on similar conditions in conference boards and committees, and in any other capacity that occasion may suggest and his strength allow."

"Dr. Carman's work links him with such historic men of Methodism as Coke and Ashburg," stated the committee, and also explained that Dr. Carman had expressed his willingness to retire.

When the report of the committee was about to be presented, Dr. Carman, who was in the chair, rose—"I would like to make a few remarks," he said, "I have not come here without sober reflection and some convictions," said he. "When you are electing officers, my view is that you take care of Methodism and the Methodist Church, and you are not to consider taking care of Carman. Carman is ready for any word, ready for any work. Such has been the kindness of years gone by. I have nothing to say. What can I say? I insist that your first duty before God and the angels is to take care of Methodism. Whatever you do to me is a side issue. You may have better man in view. I prefer then to leave the conference; to leave you free as the sun's rays stream from the sky. I do not want to tie you one-millioneth, one-billioneth, one-trillioneth bit."

Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, of Vancouver, was again elected General Superintendent with the proviso that his term of office be for the next eight years. A motion submitted by Rev. Dr. W. H. Heartz, of Amherst, N.S., to appoint a General Superintendent with jurisdiction in the maritime provinces was voted down by an almost unanimous vote All the other general conference officers were re-elected with the exception of Rev. Dr. James Woodsworth, senior Superintendent of Home Missions, who was retired. The recommendation of the committee that he be paid a bonus as a retiring allowance found general favor.

PRINCIPAL McLAURIN SPEAKS TO PARENTS

Have you a boy or girl in the High School? Are you interested in their success? Once a year Principal MacLaurin lays his plans before the parents, explains just how success and failure come about, and shows how the home can help to bring this to pass and help or hinder the student's success. On Monday, Oct. 5, at 4 p.m., in the High School, at the re-opening meeting of the Women's Institute this address will be given. Reports from the two playgrounds will also be given, followed by a discussion led by West Belleville Women's Institute as to how to make this work even more effective.

All parents and good citizens are invited to be present, as well as the members of Queen Alexandra and West Belleville Women's Institute.

The Red Cross

The Red Cross ladies under the Belleville Patriotic Association, purpose giving a Hallowe'en festival on October 30th and 31st.

This will be held in the Armouries and on the Armouries lawn, and will consist of continuous entertainment afternoon and evening of both days.

The crying need from the battle front for more help urges us all to make extra efforts in making this festival a great success.

All proceeds are to be used for securing and forwarding articles for the comfort and needs of "Our Own Boys" at the front, and who may be sick or wounded.

We feel confident that so worthy an obect will receive the support it merits.

Something in the Way of a Record

Yesterday's Intelligencer referred to Toronto volunteers with an enviable list of fighting ancestors, which at first reading appeared above approach. This morning, however, the father of two Belleville boys, who are now on the high seas enroute to the front, gave us the following which has Toronto and all other Canadian cities tied to a post. Listen to the ancestral record: Two boys from Belleville, now in the first contingent; their father served in the Northwest Rebellion; their great grandfather was a colonel in 1837; their great-great-grandfather a colonel in 1812, all of whom came from stock of the United Empire Loyalists on both sides. Anyone to beat this? We doubt it.

WILL GIVE PATRIOTIC ENTERTAINMENT

The ladies of the Tabernacle church intend to give two entertainments upon October 22nd and 23rd in the City Hall, under the management of Mrs. Grant. The celebrated operatta of Miss Conedi, which has had such distinguished success in Brandon, Fort William, Port Arthur and now to be produced in Winnipeg under the direction of Miss Knight, the composer.

About eighty people will render this beautiful operatta. The proceeds will be equally divided between the Patriotic Fund and the Tabernacle church.

"PAT" YEOMANS RELATES EXPERIENCES AT VALCARTIER

R. M. S., 27 Sept., 1914.

Dear Dad:—We had an awful march down here. We started at five p.m. on Thursday from Valcartier.

Previous to this we had been standing to our horse, all hooked in, ready to move, with horse lines all pulled up. The tents had been taken down, and everything, including the blankets, packed and on the transport wagon.

Three times we mounted and commenced to move off, when orders came down holding us there for a while longer.

When we did finally start it was five o'clock and the rain was just pelting down, and having been out in it all day, our great-coats were soaked through and so were we.

From then on we were not out of the saddle for twelve hours. The column made up of three batteries and an ammunition column, with transport waggons extended over a mile, and every time anything happened it was all held up. That was what took so long, for the distance is only eighteen miles. We were cold and soaked through riding in dark and rain all night on awful roads.

Several transport waggons upset into the ditch and the guns were mired in the mud. Some of the men were badly hurt. One broke his leg and another got under the horses and was nearly kicked to death.

It rained and the wind blew cold as ice. I thought I would not be able to get dismounted but managed all right.

After we got to Quebec we put our horses in stalls in the Exhibition grounds and fed them, and at seven we marched down to the boat, which was in dock waiting for us.

We worked there all day as hard as niggers, loading the horses, the guns and the baggage, not even getting a chance to put on dry clothes.

About five in the afternoon we were assigned our state-rooms. Ted, Harry Wiseman, Billy Miller, of whom I told you in another letter, and myself all got one to ourselves, a side one, too. They certainly are swell rooms and sleeping apartments, meals and all are away beyond what I expected. We have made good friends with the chief steward and he is looking after us.

I don't know how this will reach you, as we are now lying out in the middle of the river waiting for the other boats to load, but I heard there would be a last mail collected and I took a chance.

There are about thirty liners in the fleet altogether, of which I have seen——and some others I could not see the names of.

I saw the "Stordstad" here, too.

They say this mail is to be censored, in which event this will reach you in good condition, if it does at all.

Good-bye,
PAT.

ONTARIO'S NEW CABINET

As already announced ,the Hon. William Hearst, K.C., has become Premier and has formed a Cabinet. no changes having been made, except in the Department of Public Works, to which the member for West Elgin, Mr. F. G. Macdiarmid, has been called, the Hon. Mr. Reaume having resigned.

A further change in the personnel of the Cabinet is the omission of Sir Adam Beck from membership without portfolio. The reason for Sir Adam's retirement has not yet transpired.

It is authoritatively announced that both Dr. Pyne and the Hon. Mr. Hanna declined to be considered in connection with the formation of a new Cabinet. That Mr. Hanna had claims no one will dispute, looked upon, as he has been, as one of the most prominent members of the Whitney Cabinet.

Referring to the new Premier, the Toronto Globe speaks of him in flattering terms. It says:

Hon. William Howard Hearst, K.C., is just fifty years of age. He was born in Arran township, Bruce county, on February 15, 1864, and received his education at the local public school and Collingwood Collegiate Institute. His professional career was spent as a busy lawyer in Sault Ste. Marie. For six years he has sat in the Legislature for the riding of Sault Ste. Marie, being first elected in 1908. His rise politically has been rapid. When the Whitney Government came into office Mr. Hearst was appointed as agent for the Province in connection with the guarantee loan of $2,000,000 to the consolidated industries at Sault Ste. Marie, and only resigned from that position to enter the political arena.

Mr. Hearst has spent most of his life in Northern Ontario, is well versed in its resources and problems, and invariably dilates upon its future in his public addresses. Personally he his public addresses. Personally he is aggressive, and has administered his department with much vigor. In his manner he is brusque and retiring, in disposition kindly but firm. He is fond of home life, and since coming to Toronto has established himself in a fine house in Glen Road, Rosedale. Mr. Hearst has long been an active member of the Methodist Church, and is an advocate of temperance.

REV. DR. CARMAN

The Rev. Dr. Carman, well known in Belleville, and in fact in the whole Dominion, after over thirty years' services as General Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, retires from the active work incident to the important position he has so worthily filled for so many years, but is retained in the services of the Church as "Advisory Counsel," for the next four years, a wise step on the part of the Committee. No one who knows the Dr. could for a moment suppose his remaining idle if there was work to do.

The Intelligencer extends its congratulations with the sincere hope that the Rev. Gentleman may be spared for many many years to continue his usefulness to the Church and to his fellow men.

The monument erected in Montreal in honor of King Edward VII. was unveiled by the Duke of Connaught on the 30th of September. King Edward had a short reign so far as years are concerned, but it sufficed to win for him a measure of regard and good will that few sovereigns can expect to achieve. He made friends for his country as well as for himself wherever he travelled; and some of his works will live after him. It is meet that both should be commemorated in Canada's first commercial city by a memorial of popular respect, effective in conception, in design and in execution. The monument was bought by the citizens of Montreal, the money being raised by subscription.

Vodka is an intoxicant drank by the people of Russia, which seems to have been doing mischief in the army, so much so that its prohibition as a war measure of the general sale of in Russia has worked so satisfactorily that it is proposed to make it permanent. Vodka, whether made from rye, potatoes or other produce, is a spirit of much potency, and it has been much drunk by the Russian people, especially of the peasant class. Its disappearance, even if something else is substituted for it by the people who drink it, will be a good thing .

War Notes

Mail and Empire: "When a German bomb was dropped in Paris a few days ago, killing an old man and wounding a little girl, the United States Ambassador had a very narrow escape. In the interests of humanity it is to be regretted that he was not slightly injured. That would have been the last German bomb throwing upon non-combatants." In other words there would be trouble at the United States end of the line.

The war, it is calculated, is costing Germany $5,000,000 a day. The other nations involved in the fight are paying out a similar amount. If the struggle is kept up for very long it will leave a debt that will not be lifted till many generations have given their share.

Claims have been frequently made that Germany has been storing for years, but this can only be proven by the length of time her supplies actually hold out. If she has not done so, the time wil come when she will have to risk all on an attempt to open her ports.

While President Wilson is frowning on United States loans to belligerent nations ,an order for 1,000 sets of artillery harness and 500 cavalry saddles has been placed by the British government in Richmond, Va. This neutrality business is a commercial chameleon.

New York Press: "Of all the queer news of war politics the queerest comes from Austria. The newspapers of that country, as soon as it was known that Japan had declared war on Germany, assumed a probability that the United States would join with the Triple Alliance so as to have an opportunity to strike at Japan. Evidently it has been believed in some quarters of Europe that America and Nippon needed only a shove to be locked in conflict."

Boston Globe: The war between the North and the South was fought by real boys—drummer boys, boy privates, boy colonels and even boy Generals. In the beginning of that struggle 40 per cent of the enlistment were of youths under 21. At that time the regulations did not permit the enlistment of soldiers younger than 18. But before long the recruiting officers began to muster those who "looked old enough to serve," whether they were 15 or 16 or even younger. In the Union Army a compilation of the enlistments shows that there were 25 boys, "soldiers", who were only 10 years or younger; 225 who were not more than 12, 1523 who were 15 or under, 844,000 who had not reached their 17th year, and 1,151,438 who were 18 or under! In all that Grand Army of the Republic the soldiers who had enlisted at 21 or under outnumbered those who had passed their 22nd birthday 2,159,787 to 618,571.

New York Evening Sun: "It is not impossible that in the next few days we shall see the Belgians making their last stand. But even if they are now defeated, their contribution to the Allied cause cannot be exaggerated and will not be forgotten on the day of reckoning if Germany's foes ultimately prevail. Nor is it likely to be overlooked by Germany if she finally repulses a world in arms."

British Member of Parliament Describes Horrors that He Saw During Relief Tour--Wanton Destruction--Wives Saw Their Husbands Shot Amid Smokin Ruins

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A graphic picture of the desolation of Belgium was brought to London to-day by J. H. Whitehouse, M.P., for Lanarkshire who has just returned from a tour around Antwerp for the purpose of assisting in the relief measures. In describing the damage which he says the Belgians had to inflit themselves to supplement the defences of Antwerp, he said, "Hundreds of thousands of trees have been cut down, so that at some points of our journey we had the impression of passing through a wilderness of rocks. The tree trunks had all been removed so as to afford no cover to the enemy. All houses had been blown up, or otherwise destroyed. Later we passed through the country which had been flooded as a further measure of defence. The damage resulting from these precautionary measures alone amounted to $50,000,000. In the villages all ordinary life was arrested. Women and children were standing or sitting dumb and patient by the roadside. Half way to Termonde we could plainly hear the booming of guns, and saw many evidences of the battle which was then raging.

Termonde in Ruins

"I had read newspaper accounts of the destruction of Termonde, and had seen photographs, but they had not conveyed to my mind any realization of the horrors of what actually happened. I went through street after street, square after square, and I found every house entirely destroyed, with all the contents. It was not the result of bombardment. It was systematic destruction.

A blind woman and her daughter groped among the ruins. They were the sole living creatures in the whole town. Two or perhaps three houses bore the German command in chalk that they were not to be burned. These remained standing, but deserted, amidst the ruins on either side. "I inquired what had become of the population. It was a question to which no direct reply could be given. They had fled in all directions. Some had reached Antwerp, but a great number were wandering about the country painstricken and starving. Many were dead. What had happened at Termonde was similar to what happened at other parts of Belgium under the military occupation of Germans. The result is that conditions have been set up for the civilian population throughout the occupied territory of unexampled misery. The whole life of the nation has been arrested. The peasants and poor are without the necessaries of life, and conditions of starvation grow more acute every day. Even where there is a supply of wheat available the peasants are not allowed to use their windmills owing to the German fear that they'll send signals.

"We are, therefore, face to face with a fact which has rarely, if ever, occurred in the history of the world—an entire nation is in a state of famine, and that within half a day's journey of our own shores. The completeness of the destruction in each individual case was explained to me later by the Belgium ministers, who described numerous appliances which the German soldiers carried for destroying property. Not only were hand bombs of various sizes and descriptions carried, but each soldier was supplied with a quantity of small black discs, a little bigger than a sixpenny piece. I saw some of these discs which had been taken from German soldiers on the field of battle. These were described to be as composed of compressed benzine. When lighted they burned brilliantly for a few minutes, and are sufficient to start whatever fire is necessary after the explosion of a bomb. To the conditions of famine and homelessness which exist on such a stupendous scale there must be added the mental panic in which many survivors remain. Eye witnesses of unimpeachable character described the sufferings of the women and children at Liege. As they fled from their burning house clinging to their husbands and fathers they were violently pulled away and saw the men shot a few yards from them."

E .GUSS PORTER, K. C., M. P.

The member of the House of Commons, now unfortunately confined to his room, owing to severe attack of rheumatism, was unable to be present at the ceremony of raising the Flag at the Queen Mary School yesterday, but sent the following admirable letter to the Chairman, Col. Ponton, which was received too late to be read during the ceremony. The letter breathes the true spirit of a Canadian, which we recommend to every reader.

Colonel W. N. Ponton, K.C.,
Chairman Belleville Board of Education, City.

Dear Sir:—

I am writing to express my sincere regret that illness which confines me to my room will prevent me joining you and others of the Board and citizens generally in participating in the first raising of the Empire's Flag which is so much in evidence nowadays, over Queen Mary School on Friday morning. The event is one which under ordinary circumstances in the interests of the education and loyalty of the children of this country is of great importance, but at this particular time when the glory of the Flag and its achievements on land and sea are the very life and soul of the Empire, the hoisting of the Flag in the presence of the younger element of the Community into whose hands and upon whose intelligent direction it must be handed on, the event becomes all the more important.

The many boys and girls who will witness this event today, we are well satisfied are British subjects, loyal to the core, but in these time of trouble and oppression the declaration of loyalty means something more than a mere declaration, it means help, and I would thank you to say to the young people assembled, that it is to them, we, who are growing older, look for the upholding of the honor and dignity of the Flag, which means so much for the liberty, enlightenment and benefit of the world. That in all times no matter how young or how old, how rich or how poor, how prosperous or oppressed, for each one to do in his or her sphere of life, whatever, and no matter how little it may be to perform and fulfil that trust that is placed in them by a loving community and a grateful Country. With an expression of hope that Queen Mary School will fulfil our fondest expectations in imparting instructions to those who are privileged to attend it, and that there may issue from its walls only men and women true to their Flag, to their Sovereign, and their Country, and well equipped to take up and carry on the burden of shaping the Nation's Destiny, which is soon to be cast upon them; and again regretting my inability to be with you to-day, I am,

Yours sincerely.

An Easy Way to Get Fat and be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomachs or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This masterstroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through its re-generative, reconstructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. J. S. McKeown's drug store and other leading druggists of Belleville and vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

Caution:—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

A REMARKABLE RUN

Boston's victory of the National League pennant was a remarkable one. A tail-end team in mid-summer, the Braves advanced steadily from July 1 to September 2, when they reached a tie with the Giants. Within two weeks of the latter date they had attained a lead which was never lost.

Manager Stallings' success has been gained with a team many of the members of which had been discarded by other major league clubs. The greatest single factor in the building of the pennant-winning organization, however, probably was the acquisition of Johnny Evers, manager last year of the Chicago Cubs.

NOW FOR A SERIES

The Philadelphia Athletics would again have walked all over New York in a world's series. It is more than a question whether they can handle Boston with any steam roller methods. The Braves have proven themselves a team and day in and day out against any and all kinds of opposition, have demonstrated that they play from the ground up. It looks like the best series yet offered. The Athletics are favorites already, but many a short-priced one has gone under.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

RURAL JOYS.

Oh, the romance and the glamour
Of a peaceful country life,
Far away from toil and hammer
And the city's noisy strife,
Where no tempting drink is foaming,
Cool, seductive, fresh on ice,
And you revel in the gloaming
Without money, without price!

The mosquito, up and coming,
Buzzes coyly in your ear,
In his friendly manner humming
Tunes in town you never hear,
Almost makes you think of Riley
In his clear, poetic note
Till he comes and very slyly
Leaves his mark upon your throat.

In the fragrant meadow yonder
List the mooing of the cow,
And upon her notes you ponder
If engagements will allow,
For there's always something doing
In the house or out of doors.
You might listen to her mooing
Were it not for sundry chores.

Yes, the country is a winner
And a dream to read about,
But it sometimes jars the sinner
When he comes to try it out.
Over city weary creatures
It may cast a dreamy spell,
But it hasn't all the features
Of a large, first class hotel.

Different Kind.

"Uncle Jason, won't you go with me to the necktie party?"

"What? Do the women go to them here?"

"Pshaw! We used to have them in Texas, but the Sunday schools didn't give them."

Easy.

"Whose little boy are you?"

"I'm mamma's little boy."

"Would you like to be my little boy?"

"No."

"Why wouldn't you like to be my little boy?"

"'Cause you'd ask so many fool questions."

Long Memory.

I remember, I remember, the day when I was born.
We had a mess of chicken and roasted Indian corn.
The corn, so ripe and mellow, I toasted by the fire
And ate a half a bushel—I did or, I'm a liar.

Doomed.

Its speed the auto should not check
While yet it holds a place,
For soon mankind will crane its neck
To see the airship race,
And the results will be decided
By those with rubber necks provided.

Their Task.

"Jones isn't the old fogy he used to be."

"No; he has come out wonderfully in the last ten years."

"What is the reason?"

"His children have done a good job of raising him."

Interesting.

"What does Mame mean when she says that she has an option on Harry?"

"Well, there seems to be some kind of an arrangement whereby he is engaged and she isn't."

Unhealthy.

"He is going to die in the last ditch."

"Why, the idea!"

"What's the matter with that?"

"Why, he will catch his death of cold there."

In Real Life.

"Why are you so happy?"

"My mother-in-law is coming to visit us."

"Does that start the smiles?"

"You ought to taste her cooking."

Just His Sort.

"Papa, what is meant by all right thinking people?"

"The people who think as your old dad does, sonny."

MAJOR PANET MAY COMMAND.

French-Canadian Officer To Be Offered Colonelcy of New Regiment.

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—The command of the French-Canadian regiment that will be raised will be offered to Major Edward DeB. Panet of the fifth division. Major Panet is a graduate of the Royal Military College, Kingston, and he has also passed through the staff college in England.

In anticipation of his early departure on war service, Major Panet was married Wednesday.

Sir Lomer Gouin, Premier of Quebec, has given his strong support to the regiment, and has promised that any Government official who desires to join it will be paid his full salary while absent on war service.

The Quebec Government will be asked to make a grant of $100,000 towards the cost of equipping the force.

Dr. Carman To Retire Soon.

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—Rev. Dr. Albert Carman, who for over thirty years has been general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, will practically retire from active office when the quadrennial general conference, now in session here, rises in a few days. Yesterday afternoon an unanimous vote of the conference decided in favor of the recommendation of the superintendence committee to appoint him as superintendent emeritus for the next four years with the same salary as is paid to a general superintendent.

Rev. S. D. Chown, of Vancouver, was again elected general superintendent, with the proviso that his term of office be for the next eight years.

Particular as to Ownership.

"I am fond of comfort."

"So am I, under certain circumstances."

"What circumstances?"

"When the comfort is my own."

Compliment Accepted.

"I like your cheek."

"Thanks, awfully. Many people have admired it."

Industrial Items.

The Philippines produce 40,000,000 pounds of crude salt yearly.

In twenty-one mine disasters in the world since 1906 over 5,000 lives have been lost.

The United States has more than 6,000,000 factory employees and 1,600,000 railroad employees.

New factory laws in Switzerland have established the fifty-nine hour week—that is, ten hours daily for five days and nine hours on Saturday—as the maximum working time.

After a few years of married life a man learns not to tell his wife twice that the same woman is good looking.

The airship has added to the possibilities of war, but the plain fighting men continue to bear the brunt of battle.

Maintaining great navies and standing armies to insure peace doesn't seem to have proved a brilliant success in the old world.

Despite the havoc that powder and ball are producing, the girls still go to balls and powder their faces without fear of explosion.

And still the hope is entertained that when it is all over there will be enough of the earth left for the meek peacemakers to inherit.

Having tried and failed to keep the peace with armament, perhaps the world will soon be ready to experiment with disarmament.

Europeans in large numbers are stranded in the United States—an especially fine place for them to be stranded just at this time.

After one or two big naval battles in Europe the American navy, without the addition of a single ship, will be the strongest in the world.

Changes in military uniforms throughout the world show a growing inclination to protect the soldier instead of making him a target.

There are people in this country who will postpone the payment of their debts for a month, or even more, without any proclamation of a moratorium.

Delegates to the postponed peace conference at Berne returned from Europe minus their baggage. That is one of the "most unkindest cuts" of the whole war.

A New York paper chronicles the fact that an intoxicated man was rescued from the East river while a sober man drowned. Still even this is no argument for inebriety.

The Belgian farmer has been plowing up cannon balls for several generations. The indications are that his descendants can continue the performance for generations to come.

Cherokee Indians have asked that they be permitted to live their own lives in their own way, which shows how naively optimistic are the Indians as compared with the rest of us.

Every married Canadian desiring to enlist for the war is required to produce the written consent of his wife. It would be a good plan to limit some kings and emperors in a similar way.

TO GROW HAIR ON A BALD HEAD

BY A SPECIALIST

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower with results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces; Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics.

Some article of some kind or another is reasonably sure to be named after Liege.

THE GREATEST MOVEMENT ON ATLANTIC OCEAN

Thirty-one Vessels Took the Canadian Contingent, Conveyed by Eleven Warships--Slipped Silently Away--Band Played Tipperary and National Airs on Dufferin Terrace --and They Were Gone

RIMOUSKI, Oct. 2.—Thirty and one ships were required to carry the men, the guns, the horses and the supplies of the Canadian Overseas Expeditionary Force. To convoy that number of ships a fleet of eleven war vessels was requisitioned, the whole movement being the largest and most important ever effected on the Atlantic. It was carried out in a splendid manner. The movement from Valcartier was effected in fine style, and the embarkation and sailing followed as part of a well-ordered plan. The movement of 31,300 troops and 8,000 horses was the biggest war action that Canada has ever undertaken, and it was performed almost faultlessly. It was a well organized, well equipped force that went forward, and every man expects that they will do Canada credit. They should do. They are fine men physically, they are well armed and well clothed, and they possess spirit and stamina. They have gone forward to undertake a serious business in a serious way. They well deserve to be called the "flower" of Canada.

The correspondent with with the contingent at Valcartier and afloat with them, and can repeat with the Commentor, "All of which I saw, and part of which I was." This is the actual story of what happened, and it will tell of the movement with such blanks as are necessary for precautionary measures.

Movement from Camp.

The movement from Valcartier started with the mustering of the left half of the 12th battalion, which was sent to Quebec to perform guard duty and ended with the departure from camp eight days late of the righ half of the same battalion. The troops that moved in took possession of the wharves and the breakwater, and when they disappeared one day the red coats of the 87th regiment replaced the khaki serges of the men of the 12th battalion. In those eight days the division had moved out of Valcartier. Horses, artillery and transport waggons came over full eighteen miles of road, while the troops were sent by train. The guns were moved out in rain, and travelled to the Exhibition Grounds, where they halted. They reached Quebec in the sunshine, but mud-caked having experienced severe service conditions through which men and horses came in fine style and without mishap.

But they left a woeful road. The thousands of hoofs cut into the sand and clay, the wheels of the light artillery ripped great holes, and the wide tyres of the heavy guns fairly gouged gaps along the way. It will some time before the roads recover, but as they lasted long enough for the one purpose that is of small amount. It had been intended to march all the men to Quebec, but the weather was vile, and plans were hastily made for the movement by train. It required five days to transport the various units, an average of ten troops moving away from the camp each day. The trains ran directly to the breakwater, and the transfer to the ships was promptly made. As the ships were filled they moved off and steamed down the river to anchorage previously agreed on, and there met the naval convoy, and afterwards the great fleet set out to sea.

No Cheering Crowds

There was little of the picturesque in all this business. There were no cheering crowds; in fact comparatively few people knew anything of what was going on. For one thing it was difficult to reach the wharves because of the strict military guard, and from the Terrace there was not much to be seen. Very few people realized the true significance of the event when the band of the Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery, in command of Lieut. ONeil marched out in their service uniform and played on the Terrace. Most people accepted it as a pleasing compliment and few knew that they were bidding farewell to the troops.

Band Played Tipperary

The band played lengthy repertoire, including "Tipperary," and ended with the national airs of the allies, "O Canada," and "Auld Lang Syne" Only a few days previously the band of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, in charge of Lieut. Light, had given their last concert at Valcartier, and it seemed but a few hours previously that they had played the Royal Canadian Dragoons out of camp, marching with them from their quarters to the tune of "Tipperary." The two bands of the permanent force are fine bands and the people of Canada ought to hear more of them when peace returns. They deserve much of the men who heard them play daily and nightly and they have the satisfaction of knowing that they gave much pleasure.

A Memorable Sight.

So the band played on the Terrace one afternoon, and at night the harbor and stream was clear, and the ships were on their way. We were to see them later and it was a sight to remember. All were in war rig, and the great fleet gave the impression of power and strength. There were times in Quebec before the fleet sailed that it all appeared to be a great jolly game, and one would be reminded of that chapter of "Vanity Fair" which deals with the night before Waterloo.

"Fruit-a-tives" Keeps Young And Old In Splendid Health

J. W. HAMMOND Esq.

SCOTLAND, ONT., Aug. 25th. 1913

"Fruit-a-tives" are the only pill manufactured, to my way of thinking. They work completely, no griping whatever, and one is plenty for any ordinary person at a dose. My wife was a martyr to Constipation. We tried everything on the calendar without satisfaction, and spent large sums of money until we happened on "Fruit-a-tives". I cannot say too much in their favor.

We have used them in the family for about two years and we would not use anything else as long as we can get "Fruit-a-tives".

Their action is mild, and no distress at all. I have recommended them to many other people, and our whole family uses them".

RUSSIANS FIGHTING BEHIND BARRICADES

TASK IS ACCOMPLISHED

Allies Have Prevented Germans From Breaking Through.

British and French Troops Feel That They Have Succeeded in Their Work and Although German Attacks Continue Victory For the Allies Is in Sight—Not a German Left of the Meuse.

ON THE BATTLEFRONT, Oct. 3.—(Via Paris.)—A thrill was in the air all along the extended allied lines to-day. The French and British troops, who have been over a fortnight in the closest contact with the Germans, felt that they had accomplished their hard task of preventing the Germans breaking through the human barrier erected between them and their main objective, Paris, and that this meant eventual victory for the allies.

"First—On our left wing one of our detachments which came out of Arras (a fortified town and capital of the Department of Pas-de-Calais) has fallen back a little toward the east and north of that city.

"North of the Somme we have made progress in front of Albert. Between Roye and Lassigny the enemy has directed violent attacks, which have broken against our resistance.

"Second—Quiet prevails along the rest of the front. It is reported that in the neighborhood of St. Mihiel (Department of Meuse, twenty miles southeast of Verdun) there remains no enemy on the left bank of the Meuse."

The fury of the German onslaught was unabated yesterday, especially on the western wing, but their every effort was met with vigorous resistance by the allies, who seemed to vie with each other in throwing all their strength and courage against the attackers.

The scene of the most violent attacks changes day by day. The Germans, finding it impossible to penetrate the allied lines in the vicinity of Rheims and Soissons, quickly transported many of their divisions farther northwest and yesterday hurled them against Roye. Again they failed, although last night they had not ceased their efforts to batter down the resistance.

Spies are so numerous along the front that orders have been issued stating that any German in civilian dress encountered will be considered a spy, and those furnishing him with clothes will be regarded as accomplices. Germans who do not surrender on the first summons to do so will be executed. The order says that any group of more than three armed Germans found behind the allies' lines will be considered as ghouls and shot while every person found committing robberies on the battlefields, whether civilian or soldier, will be court-martialled.

Fight Three Weeks Old.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The battle of the Aisne, as it is still called, although the armies contending in it have spread far beyond that river, has been in progress just three weeks now, and no decision has yet been reached. The reports coming from Paris earlier in the week that the results of the allies' operations were about to be attained were premature, and from all appearances there must be more hard fighting before either side gives way.

The heaviest blows are being given and taken in the western area, where, according to yesterday's French official communication, an extremely violent battle continues, especially in the Roye district, where the Germans have concentrated considerable forces. The communication added that the action was extending more and more northward, and that the fighting front now extended to the district south of Arras.

This, apparently, was a modest account of the northward advance of the French, for private telegrams received in London last night announced that the French actually had reached Arras. Stubborn resistance is being offered by the Germans in the vicinity of Roye, where earlier in the week they succeeded in occupying the heights, which, however, they later were compelled to give up.

Along the front from the Oise to the Meuse rivers, according to the French report, only partial operations have been attempted by either side. Frontal attacks by the allies have, as a matter of fact, been discontinued, while the flanks are fighting for ascendancy.

On the allies' right the Germans have made another attempt to cross the Meuse at St. Mihiel, where they got across last week. The German attempt to regain this ground, which they had abandoned when threatened on their flank by troops from Toul, was made Thursday, when they tried to throw a bridge across the river. The bridge, however, according to the French report, was destroyed during the night.

Although figures are naturally withheld, it is learned in Paris that during the last two days the army of Gen. D'Amade, which commands the extreme left of the French position, has been reinforced by nearly three army corps (about 120,000 men), so that it has been possible to extend this line very nearly to the Belgian border. As a matter of fact, the French are in touch with the Belgian forces, who have been operating irregularly in the west of Belgium and with the British base at Ostend.

HALTS MOVEMENT TO TO RE-TAKE SARAJEVO

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A despatch from Nish, Servia, according to a telegram from the Rome correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co., asserts that Gen. Jankovitch, the Servian commander-in-chief, has ordered that the attempt to capture Sarayevo be abandoned temporarily, as it was found that the Austrians defending the city occupy positions that could only be taken by great sacrifices. The Servian general staff considers such action unjustifiable at the present moment.

SUWALKI IS DESERTED

Germans Retreat From Town With Great Slaughter.

Attack on Ossowitz Is Repulsed by Russians and Assaulting Force Loses Heavily — Rome Despatch Says Germans Have Been Decisively Defeated In Provinces of Suwalki and Lodz.

LONDON, Oct. 3. — The Russian War Office announced yesterday that following the assault of the Germans at Ossowitz, in the Polish Province of Suwalki, the Kaisers' forces have been driven back with great slaughter. The principal German forces are said to be strongly entrenched in the vicinity of Pitrokow and Kielce, in the region west of the Simno. Violent conflicts are in progress. Many of the German troops participating in the series of actions which lead to their retreat came from France. This is established by the capture of numerous prisoners.

Following the fall of Tarnow on Wednesday the Russians pushed forward and crossed the Nida river in Poland and the Donajoc river in Gallicia. This force constitutes the main Russian army. It is said to have gone into action along the Raba river, the first advance line before Cracow.

Gen. Von Hindenberg, who has scored several successes against the advance of the Czar's legions, is in command at Cracow, where several of the Bavarian army corps are stationed. These troops did valiant work in France before being transferred. The total Austro-German force are estimated in some quarters to aggregate 2,500,000 men. These figures are probably excessive.

Opposed to those forces are the pick of the Russian troops, under Gen. G. Rennenkampf. At least one million men will be on the fighting line, supported by an enormous amount of heavy artillery.

The Russian embassy at Rome announces that the Germans have been decisively defeated with terrible losses in the Province of Lodz and Suwalki. The Germans have been compelled to flee from Suwalki, Ostrovitz and other towns, leaving great quantities of transport guns. The troops in their route, threw away their rifles and small baggage. Numerous batteries were abandoned in the deep quagmires.

Other messages from Petrograd declare that the Germans lost 30,000 killed and wounded and 20,000 prisoners.

A despatch to the Central News from Rome says:

"The Russian embassy here has issued a communication which announces that the Germans have suffered a terrible defeat in the provinces of Lodz and Suwalki, Russian Poland.

"The Germans, the communication says, were attacked with extreme violence and compelled to flee from Suwalki, Ostrovitz, and other towns, leaving behind them great quantities of transport and guns. Their troops threw away their rifles and baggage. Numerous cannon were abandoned in the quagmire."

Other telegrams from Petrograd, the Central News correspondent at Rome says, declare that the Germans have lost 30,000 men in killed or wounded and 20,000 men taken prisoners.

Russian Cavalry's Success.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—A despatch from Petrograd gives the following official announcement:

"A division of Russian cavalry has obtained a brilliant success against the advance guard of Germans leaving Andreje, Government of Kielce, Russian Poland, in the direction of the city of Kielce. The enemy, surprised, threw down their arms and ammunition and fled, while the Russian cavalry cut up a laggard detachment.

"The German operations in Russian territory have nearly all failed, their artillery being defenceless on the roads, which are not macadamized. Most of the batteries become stuck in the mud as soon as they leave the principal routes."

Cabinet Sworn In.

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—The Ontario Government is once more ready to resume business under a new directorate, the new members of the Cabinet and Premier Hearst having been sworn in yesterday. The whole morning was devoted to the ceremonies necessary to the taking up of the reins of Cabinet office by new officials, and at the end a social function, presided over by the Premier and Lieut.-Governor Hendrie, was held for an hour in the council rooms. This resolved itself into a period of congratulations and well wishes to the administration on the part of the guests.

Zeppelin To the Front.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Count Zeppelin is declared to have passed through Essen en route to the front, where he will direct the operation of the Zeppelins, according to a news agency despatch from Amsterdam.

Cornwall Man Injured.

CORNWALL, Oct. 3.— Frank Lavine, who lives on the Carlos Kinney farm at Massena Centre, is lying in the Hotel Dieu Hospital here in a critical condition as the result of a runaway accident, and his chances of recovery are said to be poor. While driving home from a neighbor's his horse was frightened by a dog and ran away, throwing him out on his head and shoulders. Dr. Elkins found that Lavine was suffering from a severe concussion and from bleeding from the nose and ears. He was hurried to Cornwall.

Greece Is Pacific.

ATHENS, Oct. 3.—(Via London)—Premier Venizelos of Greece has announced in the chamber that Greece is striving to avert war in the Balkans. He declared that Greece is willing to make concessions to Turkey, even going to the extent of restoring the Aegean Islands, taken during the latest war, on condition that Greek administration of the islands be continued.

PUT ON THE NEW

THANKSGIVING DAY Is MONDAY, OCT. 12th

It's because Thanksgiving Day is so near that we suggest it's time to "Put on the New," and not only do we make this suggestion, but for the week preceding Thanksgiving Day we will make a special display of all kinds of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Garments, including Fall Skirts and Coats, Ladies' Silk and Wool Dresses, Dress Skirts and Waists, Corsets, Satin Underskirts, etc. And we would further suggest that there is no other time like the present to select New Fall Garments, for just now our Stock of Garments is at its very best.

OUR SPECIAL SUIT AT $17.50.

We think this is perhaps the Best Suit Value we have ever offered. First of all, it is a "Northway" Suit, and is made of a pure wool serge, the Coat being satin lined, while the skirt is cut in the new Tunic style. These suits are shown in Ladies' and Misses' sizes, in colors, black, navy, new blue and brown, for only $17.50 each.

NEW CORD VELVETS.

No matter what you think now, before very long you will want Velvets and we think a good time to buy velvet cords is just now while we have Sixty-Five Boxes of New Corded Velvets, in every new fall shade to select from, all 27 inches wide, to sell at 50c., 65c., 75c., 90c. and $1.00 yard.

HORROCKSES' COTTONS.

When buying Cottons, ask for Horrockses' and you are sure to get value for your money. Just now we are showing a full range of these goods in Flannelettes, Sheetings and White Cottons, with Qualities and Prices unequalled in other goods.

FEATHER RUFFS AND MUFFS.

For early Fall wear there is nothing more dressy than these beautiful Ostrich and Marabout Ruffs and Muffs. We show these neck scarfs or ruffs in a variety of styles from $4.50 to $9.50 each, and Marabout sets, large Muff and Scarf for $17.00 per set.

NEW FANCY SILKS.

We are now showing a wonderful collection of all the very newest things in Fancy Silks, including Dresdens, Roman Stripes, Plaids, Tapestries, etc., especially selected by us for Ladies' Fancy Waists, Dresses and Trimmings. Prices 75c. to $3.00 yard.

BEAUTIFUL SILK AND WOOL DRESSES.

We have just recently placed in stock a choice selection of Ladies' Silk and Fine Wool Crepe, Voile and Silk Moire Dresses, very pretty Autumn styles, at every price from $8.50 to $24.50.

LADIES' NECK WEAR.

Our Thanksgiving Display of Ladies' Neckwear is attracting more than ordinary attention. If you want to see all the new things in Ladies' Neckwear, just watch our windows, or, better still, visit the Ladies' Neckwear Department.

OUTCOME IS CERTAIN

Allies Bound To Win Battle of The Aisne, Says Observer.

LONDON, Oct. 3. — A correspondent of the Central News at Calais, who has returned to that city from a tour in the vicinity of the allies' left, says:

"Without disclosing military secrets, I can say that I have seen many things to remove any misgivings as to the outcome of the battle. The moment is near when the curtain will be lifted on the greatest drama ever seen in war.

"The position of the German right wing on Wednesday was such that a portion lying between Lassigny and Chaulnes was in extreme danger. Above Chaulnes the German lines, which a few days ago faced westward, are now facing northwest, and have been bent back on the line of Chaulnes, Cambrai and Valenciennes. On Sunday a German patrol was captured near Chaulnes. The fate of the Germans was due to a shortage of horses. The men said that they had had nothing to eat for some days. They belonged to Gen. Von Kluk's command.

"It has been apparent throughout that Gen. Von Kluk's right was made more precarious by the crowding on him of reinforcements from the centre and left by the German General Staff. His commissariat failed. This might have been avoided if the Germans had been prepared to sacrifice their carefully selected position in the Noyon region, but they staked everything, holding that the peril of an envelopment was becoming more imminent daily."

Alexandre Ribot, the French Minister of Finance, yesterday informed the Cabinet that the financial situation on Oct. 1 was entirely satisfactory, as shown by an examination of the books of the treasury department and the Bank of France.

HOLLAND SOLVES TROUBLE.

She Will Not Allow Any Goods To Be Exported To Germany.

LONDON, Oct. 3.— Holland has given assurance that it will prevent the exportation of foodstuffs from Holland to Germany or to other countries now at war.

This action by the Dutch Government greatly simplifies the differences which have arisen concerning cargoes of food destined for the Netherlands, and makes it possible for the British Government to cease the seizure and investigation of cargoes of foodstuffs consigned to Dutch dealers.

The decision will eliminate also the friction caused by the seizure of foodstuffs bound from the United States to Rotterdam, and is described as gratifying both to the British Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, and the American Ambassador, who have been conferring daily as to what shipments may be properly considered contraband. A great percentage of the American exports to Holland is wheat and other foodstuffs, the status of which is now thoroughly defined.

THREE JUDGES DEAD.

Paris Bench and Bar Has Suffered Heavily In War.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—The French Bar has suffered the fortunes of war. In opening the sessions of the courts yesterday the public prosecutor, [illegible] Herbaux, announced that three judges of the Paris bench had been killed, while a list of dead issued by the War Office contained the names of many lawyers, among them being a large number of young men who had already entered on brilliant careers and whose futures seemed full of promise.

Justice Blondel, the public prosecutor said, fell in the fighting at the Meuse, Justice Matillon was killed at the Aisne and Justice Perlange was mortally wounded in a recent engagement.

War May Solve Problem.

LONDON, Oct. 3. — Sir Edward Carson, speaking in Ulster, said though Home Rule was now on the statute book, the act was not worth the paper it was printed on. Ulstermen, having helped the Empire in the present emergency, would never be asked to go under the government they so detested. The present war might prove the solution of the Irish troubles.

Seventy-Five Millions In Bonds.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Tenders will be received by the Bank of England on Wednesday next for treasury bills to the amount of $75,000,000, in amounts of $5,000, $25,000 and $50,000. The bills will be dated Oct. 10, and will be payable in six months.

Undecided, Says Berlin.

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—(By wireless to Sayville, L.I.) — According to announcement made in Berlin yesterday the great battle in France is still undecided. The Germans are described as hammering the French positions at numerous points by their heavy artillery. The attempts of the allies to break through the German lines have been repulsed. The heaviest losses have been in the Argonne region.

School Teachers Warned.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 3. — Advices from Maestricht, close to the Belgian border, say that the schools in Liege and other towns and villages now in German hands are reopening and that the teachers are warned that they must instruct their pupils to be good in their behavior toward the Germans.

KAISER RUNS TO AND FRO

German Emperor Travels in Train of Ten Pullmans.

ROME, Oct. 3. — (Via Paris.)—Emperor William, says a telegram from Berlin, is going from one front to another. He travels in a special train of ten Pullman cars, which formerly were painted white and blue, but which now have been repainted like the ordinary cars, in order to protect the train from the bombs of French aviators.

When the Emperor goes to places out of the reach of the railway he travels by automobile. Besides his aides and bodyguard he is also watched by secret field police.

ANTWERP ATTACK FAILS.

German Assault Is Repulsed By Belgian Sortie.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The Antwerp correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. has sent the following despatch:

"The German attack on the fort and approaches of Koningshoyck (one of the new forts on the outer line) Thursday night was repulsed.

"A violent attack on Termonde was repulsed at two o'clock yesterday morning, the Belgians blowing up the bridge (over the Scheldt).

"The Belgians undertook a counter-attack from Antwerp Friday morning on the front of the easterly position. This still continues.

"The Germans have suffered heavily everywhere under the well-directed machine gun fire of the Belgians," according to a statement cabled from Antwerp by the correspondent of the Central News. "At the Wavre and St. Catharine forts alone (outside of Antwerp) the German dead may be counted by thousands. At several points the corpses lie in heaps. Entire companies have been exterminated, while the other troops were driven back at the point of the bayonet."

VIENNA IN PANIC.

Government of Austria May Be Moved to Prague or Salsburg.

LONDON, Oct. 3. — Despatches from Vienna, via Rome, state that the Austrian Emperor and his Cabinet are debating the removal of the Government to Prague, in view of a possible siege of Vienna by the Russians. For the past month a large number of laborers have been throwing up defences in every direction and the city is believed to be almost impregnable. But the Government will not risk capture and has chosen Prague as its new location.

Prague is about midway between Vienna and Berlin on the north bank of the River Moldau. It is fortified.

Salsburg Also Mentioned.

ROME, Oct. 3. — (Via Paris.)—A great impression has been produced by a report circulating in diplomatic circles here to the effect that the Austrian Government is urging Emperor Francis Joseph to transfer the court and seat of Government to either Prague or Salsburg.

JOFFRE FOR MARSHAL?

Ancient French Office Will Probably Be Revived Soon.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—The office of the marshal of France will probably be filled again soon. A decree issued Tuesday fixes a salary for that post, which has long been empty, and in the minds of the French people there is no doubt where the honor will be bestowed.

The marshal of France was the highest rank in the old royalist armies, and the post was retained when the French army was reorganized in 1875. It was provided then that the conditions under which the rank should be bestowed should be fixed later.

No one has ever been appointed to the dignity under the present French Republic, because, as The Matin says in an editorial yesterday: "No prominent figure has appeared in French military affairs who has merited it until the present commander-in-chief confronted the emergency of the present war."

LOOKED AFTER BY FRIENDS

The police last evening answered a call to West Moira street, where it was alleged a drunk was lying off the walk. When the officer arrived the party had been taken in charge of by friends.

CASE ENLARGED

At the police court this morning a case of non-support charged against a man by his wife, was allowed to be enlarged for some time in order to give the man an opportunity of providing for his family as he promised to do.

CHEESE BOARD

At the Cheese Board here to-day 1495 boxes of white and 274 boxes of colored cheese were offered for sale. The sales were 506 boxes at 15 1-16c.; 795 boxes at 15c. all white, and 170 colored at 14 1-9c. The balance was refused at 15c.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT

Mr. Albert Chapman of this city was yesterday afternoon the victim of a painful accident and one that will incapicate him from active work for some. He was in the act of getting into a delivery waggon, when a friend gave him a push, with the result he fell upon the pavement on Front St., braking his left arm between the wrist and elbow.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME

The fire yesterday, at noon hour, proved to be more serious than at first reported. A frame residence, occupied by Mrs. Bulyea, and situated on South Foster Avenue was destroyed together with the greater portion of the contents, including a sewing machine and a sum of money. A dog, which was in the house at the time was cremated. Mrs. Buyea is a poor woman, with a large family and the loss she has sustained is one she can ill afford.

THE MARKET

Despite the fact that Roblin's Mill fair was in progress to-day, a large attendance was on the market to-day. Prices as usual were good for all produce offered for sale. The ruling price for butter was 32c. to 34c. per pound; fresh eggs 25c. to 26c. per dozen; dressed chickens from 75c. to $1.50 per pair, according to size and quality. Potatoes sold at 90c. per bag

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE J. C. ROCKWELL "SUNNY SOUTH" CO.

Musical travesty, nonsense, song dance, vaudeville, etc., are the ingrediants of the entertainment which will be given by the J. C. Rockwell "Sunny South" company in Griffin's Opera House, Wednesday evening, October 7th. The performance is said to be intensely funny, and the music, all of which is original, is of the lively, jingling kind that becomes popular at once. From the slender plot many amusing complications arise. Three acts are full of ginger and gallop laong from first to last with spryness and gaiety. It is a conglomeration of absurdities, interspersed with laughter-provoking situations and repartee from start to finish. Catchy music, clever dancing, good comedy and one round of nonsense throughout the three acts will cause the audience to go home feeling satisfied they have received they have received full value for their money. The real big laugh begins with the rising of the curtain and it doesn't relax for a moment until you find yourself on the sidewalk after two and half hours of incessant merriment. You'll be whistling the songs for days to come and quietly tittering at is many funny jokes that you cannot forget. There is nothing offensive in the show, and quite on the contrary, there are many features which would provoke laughs in the most cimucmspeck, and gladden the hearts of the most solemn.

The organization is accompanied by a solo concert band, which will be seen in the "Koontown" parade, a decided novelty, taking place at noon. The company also carry an excellent orchestra of seven soloists. They will render the latest and most popular of the day. Prices 25, 35, 50c. Plan opens Monday at Doyles.

ALLEGED CRUELTY

Last evening a party was arrested for being intoxicated and in charge of a horse and vehicle. It was alleged that the horse was being abused, but this allegation was not proven. This morning the accused appeared before the magistrate and a fine of $10 and costs was imposed. The fine was paid.

WEDDING BELLS

SHORTILL—FLINT

Parkdale Baptist Church was the scene of a quiet wedding on Wednesday, Sept. 30, when Betsey Mary Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Flint, was united in marriage with Mr. Robert J. R. Shortill, B.S.A., of Belleville, Ont., son of Mrs. Shortill and of the late William H. Shortill of Georgetown. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. Frederick B. Greu, D.D. Mr. David Slater officiated at the organ.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a tailored suit of cream serge, with hat of cream velvet and corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and dahlias. A peridot and pearl necklace was the gift of the groom to the bride. At the close of the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Shortill left for a short trip, and upon their return will reside at the Ontario School for the Deaf, Belleville, Ont.—Toronto News.

Mr. Shortill is the teacher of Agriculture and Farm Superintendent at the O.S.D. The bride is a niece of Mrs. Alex. Ray, of Belleville, and has been a frequent and popular visitor to our city.

POUND—WALKER

At high noon on Wednesday, the 30th inst., there occurred a very interesting and pleasing event at the residence of Mr. Stanley Walker on the Fourth Concession of Thurlow, when his daughter, Miss Euretta Oresta, became united in marriage to Mr. John Franklin Pound, also, of Thurlow. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. E. Wilson, M. A., of Canifton, and took place on the spacious veranda of the family residence, which was specially prepared and decorated for the occasion, while a large company of friends and relatives upon the remaining veranda space and lawn, surrounded the bridal party. The bride, very prettily gowned in ivory duchess satin, trimmed with shadow lace, covered with a beautiful veil and orange blossoms, always beautiful and a favorite with all who knew her, looked even more charming as she approached the marriage altar leaning upon the arm of her father, while the wedding march of Lohengrin was played by Miss E. Walker. She was accompanied by a sweet little flower girl, Miss Edna Ketcheson, bearing a little basket of flowers containing the wedding ring, and quickly took her place by the side of the groom at the marriage altar. The brief marriage service was soon over, when congratulations were fairly showered upon the happy young couple now made one in the bonds of marriage. The party then repaired to the dining room, which was likewise decorated most appropriately for the occasion, and a very sumptuous luncheon was enjoyed by all. The tables being dismissed and the marriage registers duly signed, the company was arranged upon the veranda and lawn by Mr. Ketcheson of Thurlow, when a photograph of all was taken. While the guests enjoyed themselves in joyous merriment the hour of "going away" soon came. A huge motor car was waiting, and presently the bride again appeared, clad in a neat costume of heavy blue Bedford cord with silk waist to match and black velvet hat with white plumes. Meanwhile the motor car had been placarded for its journey, and decorated with old shoes and other things deemed necessary in the accompanyments of all newly married folks when they go upon a honeymoon journey. Although the sun shone forth with all the golden splendor of an autumn afternoon, there were not lacking of evidences of showers, not of rain, but of rice and confetti, which fairly descended in torrents while Mr. and Mrs. Pound made their way to the car. It is very certain they will not soon forget this initial experience of ther married life. Very soon the bridal party was out of sight on their way to take the train west for a honeymoon trip. The bride's presents were unusually bountiful and beautiful. The groom's gift was a beautiful gold watch to the bride, and to the pianist and little flower girl he gave bracelets. A check for a liberal sum, was noticed in the large collection, the gift of the bride's father. The young couple are followed by the best wishes of hosts of friends in both the church and community. They will take up their residence in Thurlow upon their return from their wedding trip.

TROOPS LACK LEADERS

German Operations Show Signs of Inferior Guidance.

British Official Bulletin Says the Want of Cohesion in the German Movements Is Due to the Loss of Officers — Allied Troops Have Lost No Ground But In Most Cases Have Gained.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The official bureau issued a statement at midnight from the headquarters of the British expeditionary force, under date of Sept. 29, concerning the movements of the British force and the French armies in immediate touch with it. The statement is in part as follows:

"The general situation as viewed on the map remains practically the same as that described in the last letter, and the task of the army has not changed. It is to maintain itself until there is a general resumption of the offensive.

"No ground has been lost. Some has been gained, and every counterattack has been repulsed—in certain instances with very severe losses to the enemy.

"Nevertheless the question of position is only a part of the battle, and there has been considerable improvement in the situation in another important respect. Recent offensive efforts of the enemy have been made without cohesion, his assaults being delivered by comparatively small bodies acting without co-operation with those on either side. Some of them, indeed, evince clear signs of inferior leadership, this bearing out statements made by prisoners as to great losses in officers suffered by the enemy.

"Further, the hostile artillery fire has decreased in volume and deteriorated both in control and direction. The first is probably due to the transfer of metal to other quarters, but the latter facts may be the direct result of the activity of our air craft and their interference with the enemy's air reconnaissance and observation of his fire.

"The Germans recently have been relying to some extent on observations from captive balloons sent up at some distance in the rear of their first line, which method, whatever its cause, is a poor substitute for the direct overhead reconnaissance obtained from aeroplanes.

"As a consequence the damage being done to us is wholly disproportionate to the amount of ammunition expended by the enemy. For the last few days it has amounted to pitting certain areas with large craters and in rendering some villages unhealthy, as the soldiers put it.

"Of recent events an actual narrative will be carried on from the 25th to the 29th inclusive. During the whole of this period the weather has remained good. On Friday, the 25th, comparative quiet reigned in our sphere of action.

"That night a general attack was made against the greater part of the allies' position and it was renewed in the early morning of the 26th. The Germans were everywhere repulsed with loss. Indeed, opposite one portion of our lines, where they were caught en masse by our machine guns and howitzers firing at different ranges, it is estimated that they left one thousand killed or wounded."

"On Sunday, the 27th, while the German heavy guns were in action, their brass bands could be heard playing hymn tunes, presumably at divine service.

"The enemy made an important advance on a part of our line at six p.m., and renewed it in strength at one point, with, however, no better success than on the previous night. Sniping continued all day along the whole front.

"On Monday, the 28th, there was nothing more severe than a bombardment and intermittent sniping, and this inactivity continued during Tuesday, the 29th, except for a night attack against our extreme right."

MAKING SHRAPNEL SHELLS.

Canadian Firms Get Big Contract From British Government.

TORONTO, Oct. 2. — Further details of the arrangement announced on Tuesday, by which Canadian manufacturing firms will supply the British War Office with large numbers of shrapnel shells, were given out yesterday by officials of several Toronto concerns. In a nutshell, the contracts mean work for 250 or 300 Toronto men at tip-top wages for an indefinite length of time. The shops contracting will work, some of them, 24 hours a day. Galt, Sherbrooke, Dundas, Welland and firms in other places are also soon to take some of this contract.

The manufacture of these 15 and 18-pound shrapnel shells is a delicate and exacting piece of work, subject to untiring Government inspection. It also requires considerable special machinery and tools, which the Canadian firms are now collecting.

The War Office has placed an initial order in Canada of 100,000 shells. Before doing so a commission was put to work to report if Canadian manufacturers could make shell.

"Many men of many minds,"
So the brief inscription runs.
No one, though, the precept binds,
For a man so often finds
Very many mindless ones.

No Ill Feeling.

"Hello! What's the trouble here, little boy?"

"Aw, they ain't no trouble! Them kids is jist scrappin' to see which kin lick."

Some idea of the magnitude of the present war may be gleamed from the fact that Mr. Roosevelt hasn't been able to make the front page since it started.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST LAND REGULATIONS.

The sole head of a family, or an male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency) on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

W. W. CORY, C.M.G.,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.—64388.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorised publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.—30690. dtf

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

THE KIND THAT WEARS.

THERE'S a heap of satisfaction
 In the meeting of a fellow
Who on close investigation
 Hasn't any streak of yellow,
Frank and candid in his dealings,
 Skulking not behind the bushes,
Never giving to a brother
 Any sly, unfriendly pushes—

One who greets you in the open
 With a straight and manly bearing
If it's in a friendly contest,
 With the laws unwritten squaring,
Or if strife is strong and bitter
 Being just as true and candid,
Though it aids him in the winning,
 Doing nothing underhanded.

There is very little pleasure
 Dealing with the kind of creatures
Who are neither milk nor water,
 But are double in their features,
Those who greet you in the morning
 With a manner quite attractive,
But when you are at a distance
 With their hammer arm get active.

Oh, the true blue man and brother,
 Not the fawner or the flunky,
But the one to face the music,
 Is the fellow who is hunky!
And it's good to get your peepers
 On the man who's right all over,
For in life's large field of action
 They are not as thick as clover.

Small Change.

The plumber was hurrying to his work when he met a man in distress.

"Have you seen anything of a twenty dollar goldpiece?" asked the man breathlessly. "I lost one somewhere along here."

"I believe I did see one lying on the sidewalk back there apiece," replied the plumber, "but I didn't stoop down to make sure of it."

Far as It Would Carry.

"Put me out when I have ridden a quarter's worth," said the passenger to the driver of the taxicab as he climbed in and sat down to make himself at home.

"All right," said the driver. "We will [illegible] back three feet and then you [illegible]ble out."

Sure to Do It.

Or whether right or whether wrong,
 It doesn't matter much,
For as we gayly go along
 We get in trouble's clutch.

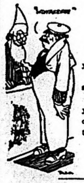
More Previous.

"How's Jenks getting along?"

"Had a great run of luck."

"Has opportunity been knocking at his door?"

"Pshaw! It calls him up by telephone."



The Palmist.

"What was your order?"

"Beer, pretzels and sauer kraut."

"Let me look at your hair and I can tell your nationality."

She Did the Talking.

"Did you speak to your wife about that matter we were discussing?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"I only saw her for about three hours."

SIX CITY EMPLOYEES LEAVE THEIR WORK

Object to Interference by Aldermen--Assertion that Men are Receiving too High Wages Resented--It is Alleged that Two Aldermen Claimed that Not Enough Work Was Being Done

At noon today the men employed on the upper bridge by the department of Public Works decided to quit their work. They claim that they were doing their best for the city, but could not, and would not put up with the interference of Alderman Platt, who, it is alleged, claimed their wages were too high; and Aldermen Duckworth and St. Charles, who, the men say, claimed they were not working fast enough. The civic employees consisted of two masons, one stone cutter and three laborers.

TRAGIC DEATH OF A GRAND TRUNK CALL BOY

Charles Cooke, of Emily Street, Killed While Riding on an East Bound Freight Train--Death Supposed to be Instantaneous --Inquest Being Held

Charles Cooke, a lad 14 years of age, who had been engaged for the past three months as a call boy at the Grand Trunk Railway station here, at an early hour on Sunday morning met death in a terrible manner. The boy was about the station at midnight, and shortly after in the discharge of his duties. At a few minutes before one o'clock a freight train from the west and bound for the east passed the station here. At the time Cooke was upon the platform and as the train passed slowly the engineer and fireman saluted him by waving their hands. This was the last seen of the lad alive. Shortly after his lifeless remains were found by the track about 100 yards east of the station platform. The deplorable accident was not witnessed by any person, but it is supposed that the boy boarded the freight train, and in some manner fell off, with the result that he met his death by being run over. When found life was extinct. Dr. Boyce, coroner, was summoned and after viewing the remains ordered the same to be taken care of. They were subsequently removed to Tickell & Sons' undertaking establishment. Owing to the fact that the boy had been killed on the railway an inquest is necessary.

This morning a jury composed of Ald. Platt, as foreman; Ald. Panter, J. B. Black, E. T. Cherry, Wm. Rodbourne, J. H. P. Young, J. Douch, Jesse Harris and W. Wilkins assembled at Tickell's undertaking establishment and after being sworn in viewed the body. A relative of the deceased in the presence of the jury identified the remains as those of Charles Cooke. An order for the burial of the body was given and an adjournment of the proceedings was made until tomorrow evening.

The victim of the distressing affair was a son of Mr. Ebenezer Cooke, who resides on Emily street. He was born in Gloucester, England, and with his parents had been in this country a little over a year. He was one of a family of eleven children. Charles was a general favorite with all who knew him, being of a kind and obliging disposition. He was a member of St. Thomas Church choir and was also connected with the Y.M.C.A. After the jury had viewed the remains they were prepared for burial. The heart-felt sympathy of many will be extended to Mr. Cooke and family in their hour of sore affliction.

FOR MILITARY REASONS

Frenchman Was Executed by Soldiers at Bordeaux

BORDEAUX, Oct. 3.—Pierre Nasica was put to death today for "military reasons." It was the first execution under military law at the temporary capital. Nasica faced the end bravely. As he stepped from the automobile patrol wagon that brought him to the Arlac parade ground the condemned man was rolling a cigarette which he smoked while he listened to the reading of his sentence. Then he shook hands with the chaplain and stepping briskly to the execution post folded his arms and looked straight at the firing squad. He refused to have his eyes bandaged. At the sharp command a volley sounded. Nasica sank to his knees dead. Detachments from all the regiments of the Bordeaux garrison witnessed the execution and when it was over defiled past the body.

TREAT INTERPRETERS THE SAME AS SPIES

PARIS, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—It is learned that the Germans are shooting French interpreters with the British troops, whom the Germans treat as spies. These interpreters retain their French uniforms though with the English khaki-clad troops, so they are easily marked.

HON. SAM HUGHES BACK FROM GASPE

He Had no Intention of Crossing the Ocean with Troops---May go Over Later---Minister Confirms Reports That Gen. Alderson May Command

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Col. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, returned to Ottawa to-day from Gaspe after directing the embarkation and setting sail of the flotilla which is now carrying the Canadian overseas contingent to England. There had been rumors that Col. Hughes might sail across with the troops, but it is learned he had no intention of doing so. It is probable that after taking up a number of matters which remain to be looked in regard to the Canadian expeditionary force, the Minister will take a short holiday, which may assume the form of a trip to England, to see the Canadian troops training.

The announcement from England that Major-General Alderson would probably command the contingent has been confirmed by Col. Hughes. He stated today that the name of General Alderson had been one of those which were submitted to the War Office and agreed to by the Canadian authorities. He has every respect for the abilities of the British officer, and states that his appointment will be a matter for gratification in militia circles here.

It is understood there is still no decision as to the sending over of a second contingent. Reinforcements will be despatched probably from time to time, and will be assembled and equipped at their own mobilization points.

Germans Facing Cholera Peril

Outbreak Reported in Ranks But Authorities do Not Fear an Epidemic

ROME, Oct. 3—Copies of the North German Gazette received here says that cases of cholera have been reported at some points in Germany, out that extraordinary precautions have been taken to prevent an epidemic, and that the authorities say they do not fear its spread.

Royal Duke Is Held As Hostage

King Albert Will Shoot Him With Own Hand if Brussels is Destroyed

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Letters from London received here last night clear up the identity of the mysterious prisoner mentioned in recent cables as held by the Belgians, to whom the other German prisoners pay extraordinary respect, such as would be accorded by them to Royalty. One statement was that the prisoner was Prince Adabelt, the third son of the Kaiser.

The despatches from London identify the mysterious prisoner as the reigning Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, brother of the German Crown Princess. It is not known when the Duke was captured, but the Kaiser has shown the keenest interest in his welfare.

According to the statement from London, two letters of surpassing interest have recently passed between the Kaiser and King Albert of the Belgians. In the first letter the Kaiser, in his own handwriting, informed the King of the Belgians that if a hair or the head of the captured Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin were hurt, he the Kaiser would destroy Brussels.

The reply to this ultimatum was laconic but to the point. King Albert, also in his own handwriting, assured the Emperor that immediately the forces of the Kaiser commenced their work of destruction, he, King Albert would shoot the Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin with his own hand.

CHILD HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Wanted to Know If She was Killed When Auto struck Her.

KINGSTON, Oct. 3.—"It hasn't killed me has it?" was the query of a pretty six-year-old little country girl as she was pulled from under an automobile on Ontario street shortly before noon today by a number of spectators who were horrified at the possobility of a serious acident when they saw the car strike the child. Fortunately she was not injured and was able to rejoin her mother who was on the market nearby, but those who witnessed the incident fully expected to find her seriously injured. The driver of the car was not to blame for the accident. He tooted the horn of the car when he saw the child approaching the crossing and she stopped right in front of the car.

Arrive in London Before Contingent

Party of Canadian Officers Arranging Reception for Troops

LONDON, Oct. 5—Special—In an interview with your correspondent to-day, Col. John W. Carson, who was with the advance party of Canadian contingent officers arriving last week, stated that he and his fellow-officers had an uneventful trip on the Lusitania.

Questioned regarding the Canadian contingent, he replied that he had every reason to believe every member was looking forward eagerly to coming to grips with the enemy as a chance of Canada, and demonstrating anew the prowess of Canadian arms, which has been proved on many battlefields from the War of 1812 to the Boer War. Beyond the fact that he is in daily touch with the War Office, making arrangements for the reception of the Canadian troops, Col. Carson was unable to give any other information regarding the contingent at present, being forbidden by the military authorites to do so.

An additional cruiser squadron, it is learned here, will meet the Canadian army division, which is now on its way across the Atlantic, when it reaches English shores. The troopships are now escorted by a convoy of cruisers and battleships, but will be met by the second convoy and taken to a point of debarkation which will be decided upon later.

Kicked In Face By A Horse

Young John McLeod of Kingston Had Very Narrow Escape

KINGSTON, Oct. 3.—John McLeod, an 18-year-old youth living on York street, and nephew of James Gough, the contractor, with whom he works, had a narrow escape from perhaps fatal injury on Thursday, when he was kicked in the face by a horse and had four of his upper and three of his lower teeth broken and his under lip badly gashed. Fortunately the horse's hoof struck him a glancing blow instead of a straight full blow or he would have been instantly killed.

The young man had taken the horse out watering and the animal turning to kick at a dog which was pursuing it. At the time young McLeod was behind, with the result that instead of kicking the dog the horse kicked the youth.

Dr. Gardiner was hurriedly summoned and had the young man removed to the hospital. He will likely be all right again in several weeks but he certainly had a narrow escap.

Germany Beaten Says Tim Healy

Intended to Demand One Thousand Million Dollars From Paris

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Special—Timothy M. Healy, the Irish M. P., who arrived in New York today on the Campania, when interviewed by a correspondent, expressed confidence in the ultimate defeat of the Kaiser's armies in the campaign in France. "The Kaiser," the Irish leader said, "has lost all the admiration the world had bestowed upon him and Germany by the manner in which she attacked Belgium to make a short-cut to Paris. The success of her strategy depended on that move. She has lost. She intended to hold Paris for a ransom of a thousand million dollars, with the alternative of burning the city.

"I regard Germany as a beaten power. Judging the situation from a political and diplomatic viewpoint, it is apparent that the Kaiser is no statesman. He blundered in abandoning the policy of Bismarck. He has also shown the folly of an individual who, because he happens to be a monarch, claims as his birthright the ability to direct every military and diplomatic move of an empire."

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS HAS HAD ENOUGH

PARIS, Oct 3.—I met Richard Harding Davis sprinting down the Rue de Riroli today.

"I've only got time to shake hands and say good-bye," he said. "I'm off in five minutes.

"Off to the front," I asked.

"No more front for me," he replied "I have been arrested and locked up and God knows what else. War correspondents can do nothing, and I leave England for New York on Saturday."

WAR A SOLUTION OF THE IRISH TROUBLES

Sir Edward Carson Says the Act Will Never be Enforced

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Sir Edward Carson, speaking in Ulster yesterday, said that though Home Rule was now on the statute book, the act was not worth the paper it was printed on. Ulstermen having helped the Empire in the present emergency would never be asked to go under a government which they detested. The present war might prove a solution of the Irish troubles.

EARTHQUAKE AT SMYRNA

(Canadian Press Despatch)

SMYRNA, Oct. 5.—The towns of Isbarta (about 25,000) and Burdur (about 12,000) in the Province of Konia, were severely damaged by earthquake on Saturday night. The loss of life was very heavy. The two towns are the centres of carpet industry.

ITALY NOW PREPARES TO JOIN THE ALLIES

Ten Million Dollars Voted for Winter Equipment for Her Troops --Another Steamer Blown up--Demand to be Made That Austrio at Once Cease Laying Mines

ROME, Oct. 5.—Special—Another Italian steamer has been lost, this time with the lives of her crow of 40 men, through the Austrian mines in the Adriatic Sea. This latest Italian victim of these mines was bound from Trieste to Bari.

So grave is the danger from these floating mines in the Adriatic that traffic between Italian and Austrian ports has been suspended, and goods consigned to Austrian ports are being left on the dock by Italian shipowners rather than take the risk which a voyage entails for their neutral ships.

Admiral Canevaro, ex-Foreign Minister, expressed the opinion yesterday that Italy's neutrality had been violated by these acts. He urges the Government to demand that mines not be used, to prevent the possibility of international complications.

Meanwhile, in spite of the efforts of Premier Salandra to prevent a crisis in the Ministry, the Idea Nazionale, the new Nationalist party organ, which insisted yesterday that the reports that the Marquis di San Giuliano, the Foreign Minister, would resign had been confirmed, adds that Signor Rubini, the Minister of the Treasury, probably also will retire from the Ministry.

It is said that the condition of the Marquis di San Giuliano improved suddenly on Thursday, and that it is expected he will be able to leave his bed within a short time.

That Italy means to be prepared for whatever eventualities may ensue is indicated by the authorization by the War Office of the expenditure of $10,000,000 for special Winter equipment for the troops concentrated in the Alps, which means the Austrian frontier, across which the Austrians have been concentrating troops, building fortifications and cutting down forests which might interfere with artillery fire.

The Socialists have voted declaring themselves not opposed to Italy's participating in the war.

Germans Making Desperate Attempts to Break Through the Lines of the Allied Forces, but Without Success--Battle Thought to be Practically Won

(Canadian Press Special Exclusively to The Intelligencer)

NIGHT SURPRISE WAS REPULSED

TOKIO, Oct. 5.—It is officially announced that the German infantry at Tsing-Tau delivered a surprise night attack against the Japanese, but were repulsed. The Germans had forty-eight killed and the Japanese five killed and eight wounded. Cannonading on land and sea in the vicinity of Tsing-Tau continues. Shells hit the German gunboat Ittis, which retired to nearer the fort after an exchange of shots.

ANTWERP DEFENCES FORCED TO RETREAT

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Belgian Legation issued the following official announcement last night: On the east of the River Senne the defence of Antwerp has been forced to fall back to the River Nethe, before a violent attck of German artillery, after a desperate resistance of five days. The position on the Nethe is very strong and the Belgian army will resist with its full energy.

DESTROYED AN ENTIRE REGIMENT

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Fort Waelhem, one of the defending strongholds outside of Antwerp, destroyed an entire regiment of besieging Germans on Saturday afternoon. The Amsterdam correspondent of the Central News Agency has forwarded this statement, which he says was received in a depatch from Antwerp.

GERMANS EVACUATING

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A Petrograd despatch by way of Rome to the Central News Agency says the Germans are evacuating Russian territory. Whole regiments have been drowned in the Niemen River and have lost their siege artillery. The Emperor, it is declared, escaped with difficulty.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER WRECKED BY MINE

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A South Shields despatch says that the Norwegian steamer Tromoe was wrecked yesterday morning by a mine in the North Sea. Two men were drowned. The rest of the crew, numbering 16, took to the boats and were landed last night at South Shields.

SERVIANS REPULSE AUSTRIAN ATTACK

PARIS, Oct. 5.—A Havas Agency despatch from Nish says that the Servians on a front from Zvornik in Bosnia, to Loznitza in Servia, along the River Drina have repulsed violent attacks and inflicted heavy losses on the Austrians. The Austrians have opened an artillery fire on Sabats.

BATTLE CONTINUES WITH GREAT VIOLENCE

PARIS, Oct. 5.—The following official communication was given out today: "On the left wing to the north of the Oise, the battle continue with great violence. We have been obliged to cede ground at certain points. There has been no change along the remainder of the front.

PORTUGAL MUST ENTER THE FRAY

GENERAL IMPRESSION IS FAVORABLE

PARIS, Oct. 5.—An official communication issued last night says there is no new detail to announce. The general impression is favorable.

CANADIANS IN LONDON TO WELCOME CORPS

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The Canadian War Contingent Association is actively pursuing preparation for furthering the well-being of Canadian contingents. Hon. G. H. Perley asks us to say that the association would like to act as agents here of any organizations in Canada having similar objects and work, in co-operation with them.

The organization of the Queen's Canadian Military Hospital is nearly completed and it will be for the general use of the forces and Canadians only. Arrangements are being made for utilizing all the offers of help for convelescents which have been by Canadians resident here. Gifts of linen and clothing are already being sent extensively, but much more will be required later.

It is understood that many associations in Canada, as well as individuals are preparing clothing and comforts for the Canadian troops. The association here will be glad to act as distributors, as it is proposed to keep in touch with the regiments during the campaign. With the assistance of the War Office, distribution can probably be effected better from London than from Canada direct. Thus overlapping may be minimized.

Germans Ask For Armistice and Belgians Refuse.

Attack on Belgian Stronghold Proves Disastrous For Invaders, Who Have Been Repulsed — German Force at Dutch Frontier Captures Lanaken — Belgians Have Destroyed Bridges Over Nethe.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A despatch to the Central News from Antwerp, dated Sunday night, says:

"The Germans have been repulsed. They asked for a two-hour armistice to bury their dead, but the Belgians refused to comply.

"The Belgians have destroyed all the bridges over the River Nethe. The Germans attempted unsuccessfully to rebuild the bridges."

Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent in a despatch filed Sunday, says:

"The German troops to-day displayed greater activity around the Dutch frontier. They occupied Lanaken after a short bombardment."

An earlier despatch said: "The Germans have also been active in two widely-separated parts of Belgium. They visited Tournai on Saturday and announced that they were an advance guard of 10,000 men proceeding to Lille, while last night and this morning fighting was going on far to the east near Lanaken, northwest of Maestricht. One report said that Lanaken was on fire, but another declared that it was a nearby village that was burning. A number of fugitives have arrived at Maestricht, as well as some Belgian soldiers, who have been interned."

GHENT, Oct. 5. — The Germans made no forward movement all day Saturday. Southward of Antwerp there has been scarcely a shot fired near the Antwerp forts or the Scheldt defences. Skirting Ghent on the loop line, I have seen many trains in operation. Early yesterday morning the Germans blew up the railway bridge near Grammont to prevent the allies from using that route to cut off the German retreat from northern France by bringing troops down to Enghien.

There has been heavy fighting east of Antwerp, the Germans yesterday having concentrated on the forts on that side, but it has been in favor of the defenders. One of the huge 17-inch guns of the Germans was located by a Belgian aeroplane and destroyed by concentrated Belgian artillery fire. Scouts proceeding as far southwards as Nienov report that they have seen no Germans whatever.

Undoubtedly the situation has placed King Charles in a dilemma, for he already has made his choice between his duty to a free people and his duty as a Hohenzollern.

HARVEST FESTIVAL AT ST. THOMAS' CHURCH

Appropriate Discourses by the Rector, Rev. Canon Beamish—Interior of Sacred Edifice Tastefully Decorated with Fruits of the Harvest

Harvest festival services were held in St. Thomas, Anglican Church, in this city yesterday, and were largely attended. The interior of the sacred edifice was appropriately decorated for the occasion with grain, fruit and flowers, which were arranged in such a manner as to be most pleasing. The services were in every respect in keeping with the occasion, and the discourse by the Rector, Rev. Canon Beamish was most appropriate. The choir also rendered in a most capable manner suitable anthems at both services. In the evening, after the usual and special prayers had been read, the Rector preached, taking his text from Deuteronomy xvi:13—"Thou shalt observe the feast of tabernacles seven days, after that thou hast gathered in thy corn and thy wine."

The Rev. gentleman in his opening remarks referred to the various festivals mentioned in the Old Testament and their significance. Today, he said, we were observing a festival that was duly authorized by the church and for which special prayers had been issued. It was most desirable that we should observe at the close of the harvest a day of thanksgiving and such a day was recognized by nations. This day is made more complete by the observance of this festival. It was a festival full of meaning and significance. God may send us trials but He also sends us great blessings and a bountiful harvest is one of His inestimable blessings. Through the bountiful harvest we are reminded that from God we came and on God we are dependent, and to God we will go. The children of Israel were led into the land of promise by God and it had a deep religious significance as had this festival of the tabernacles. It was a picturesque and a sacred festival. The rich and poor participated in it. Our harvest festival is national and it is religious. It reminds us that from God all blessings come. God has watered the earth and caused the earth to bring forth its increase. It is a national blessing. The divine speaker then referred to the war at present raging and said that we were at present imploring God for our Empire, for the soldiers and the sailors, for the wounded and the dying. We pray God may overrule the war for good. This war has shown us a unity of our Empire. All have responded to the call to arms. All are united, going forward to fight the battles of the Empire. It shows that vbgkqj cmfwyp b pire. In her need the mother land has the strong and devoted loyalty of her sons throughout the whole Empire. It has a religious significance. There will be a harvest of the world, and how soon God only knows. We were now sowing for God or self, for His honor or for our own personal selfishness.

Surely this festival teaches us that God has remembered us and His church has the first claim. His church must not lack and His church must not suffer for other national events. He gave the life of His only Son for us, and it is our duty to serve the King of Kings loyally and with our whole hearts.

New Lights Turned on Saturday Night

Front and Bridge Streets Made Brilliant by Latest System—Switch Turned on by Ald. A. C. McFee

Everything made ready, with a temporary switch attached to a pole at the corner of Front and Bridge streets, at exactly half-past seven on Saturday evening, Alderman A. C. McFee, chairman of the committee on lighting, with a simple turn, sent the current over the wires, setting the large globes on the standards sizzling, and immediately the business portions of Front and Bridge streets were aglow with as brilliant a light as one could ask. Many were in waiting for the event and as the shining lamps gave out the first flash, an exclamation of delight was heard the length of the "lighted way," for such indeed it was. While now and then a flicker, and even a dullness was noted, the first trial was a complete success, and Manager Scott of the local branch, is to be congratulated upon the expert way in which the installation has been carried out. The lights did not appear to show to the best advantage, as the clear sky, a full moon and lighted stores offset what would otherwise have given a most brilliant effect. Last night a little difficulty was experienced in keeping the lights going, owing, we understand to some minor trouble, but this can be readily overcome. At present writing our people have every reason to be well satisfied with the prospect, and we feel assured that in the future Belleville will, so far as street lighting is concerned, be equal to the best in the cerned, be equal to the best in the Dominion.

HARRY WOODLEY MAKES AN AEROPLANE

When Harry Woodley, eleven years of age, son of Alderman Woodley of this city, entered the store of Mr. D. V. Sinclair a short time ago, and asked for some corset boxes, no one knew his purpose. The cordial young ladies of the store, however, thinking a lot of Harry, granted the request, hunted up the required number of "empties", and the little fellow left for home apparently contented. His secret was made known when the smiling-faced young man returned to the store on Saturday, carrying a neatly and correctly formed miniature aeroplane, with all the equipment, even to the man at the wheel. It is assuredly a masterpiece, each detail being brought out in a manner that would do credit, almost, to a—Curtis. Mr. Sinclair could not resist the temptation to advertise the talent of Belleville's coming air-ship constructor, and allowed the model to be place in one of the show-windows, where it may be viewed by the public. Harry is receiving many congratulations upon his handiwork, but, being modest, he only smiles and—looks bashful.

I First Saw

Hon. William Howard Hearst, who has just been elected as Premier of the Province of Ontario, in Cobalt. Cobalt was a natural enough place in which to see Mr. Hearst, for he was then Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines; and forests and mines in Ontario mean Cobalt, and that country which lies to the north of the town.

The occasion on which I saw Hon. Mr. Hearst was shortly after the provincial campaign in which Sir James Whitney led the Conservative party to victory in Ontario in December, 1911. Mr. Hearst was then full of the glow of political succees, and was surrounded by a group of admiring and happy Conservatives, most of them men who had campaigned hard through the provincial fight and the Federal election proceding it. Much as Mr. Hearst owed these men, as one of the leaders of their party, however, he had lost none of his democratic spirit, which had led through many successes.

As "Billy" Hearst he was, and is known to every prospector and settler in Northern Ontario. "Billy" knows his popularity, and those who approve of him and what he has done for the mining and farming district are equally popular with him. It is almost safe to say that there is but one man in the province, who is not a resident in Northern Ontario, who is more enthusiastic over the country and its prospects, and that man is J. L. Englehard, of Toronto.

Hon. Mr. Hearst has done much in the way of improving the conditions under which the settlers of the north live. His greatest coup in that line, however, was probably his "settlement by proxy" plan, which enables a settler to pay a neighbor to perform his settlement duties, while he is away earning money to carry on the work. Under the personal direction of Mr Hearst condition in the mines of the north have been greatly improved—all being done with equal fairness to owners and employes.

The difficulties encountered by prospectors in opening the new country have always been a source of interest to him, and through his personal contact with these men and their hardships, he has reached the point where they would make him Premier of Northern Ontario, if they wouldn't in the south. When I first saw the new Premier it was bitter cold, and yet he was on his way north into 40-below temperature, and a country where "the winter is eleven months long and the other month the sleighing is not very good—The Wanderer in Montreal Daily Mail.

To Keep Our Workers Busy

For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.

Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning

We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in nonemployment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.

You Reap the Advantage

Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

Presented to Every Reader

BIBLE CONTAINING FAMOUS TISSOT PICTURES IN COLORS AND TEXT ILLUSTRATIONS

BOUND IN LIMP LEATHER

THIS PAPER IS PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE OFFER THAT SHOULD INTEREST EVERY READER

It is with no small sense of pride that The Intelligencer makes the announcement that it will present to its readers a new and magnificent volume of the Bible, the first and only fully illustrated edition ever published. It is not to be understood that this presentation is prompted by religious motives so much as a desire to provide an educational feature that is not generally considered in that light. Admitting that all editions of this book are good, it follows that one containing some six hundred illustrations that bear directly on the reading matter which they accompany must necessarily be a superior volume.

Believing that its readers are deserving of none but the best, The Intelligencer has adopted this New Illustrated Bible as a means of furthering its educational activities.

This Bible is known as the King James Version, which was originally published in 1611, and is the only authorized version. The Revised Version is not generally accepted by the public, although it may be preferred by some students.

Every book of any importance, every magazine, literary, scientific, household or otherwise, is illustrated to a greater or less extent. Even the daily newspepers make a strong feature of illustration. Schools throughout the land teach the public by means of pictures. Why not, then illustrate and popularize the Bible, as has been done in this instance?

For convenience, the titles of the 600 text pictures in this Illustrated Bible are printed immediately underneath the pictures, and refer to the book, chapter and verse illustrated.

This is the only similarly illustrated Bible ever published in this or any country. It is bound in full limp leather with overlapping covers, printed on a superior grade of Bible paper and sold regularly at $5 a volume.

It matters not how many Bibles one may have, this illustrated Bible should be in every home because of the importance and educational value of these eye-teaching pictures.

There are many editions of other Bibles, all good in a way. The regulation small size meets a demand for a hand Bible, but it is lacking in the feature of text illustrations, which is so important and so necessary.

The large family Bible, which weights from 15 to 20 pounds, is no longer used to any extent, and but few are now sold. They are too large and cumbersome; seldom are they referred to, and as a rule are stowed away or used as an ornament in the parlor, while this illustrated edition is emphatically a home Bible, easy to handle, always full of interest to young and old and just the thing to interest the children.

In addition to these wonderful pictures printed with the type, there are also numerous full-page colored plates from the famous Tissot collection. These, together with marginal references, educational helps, self-pronouncing text and colored maps, make it in reality a book of rare educational value which all will appreciate.

The type is large, clear and distinct and easily read by young and old. The book is of convenient size, easy to hold or handle and it can be rolled up and carried anywhere. It is hoped that everyone will place this bok on a table in a room that is used constantly, where it may been seen and used daily as a work of reference.

While the $5 volume is by far the most magnificent work of the kind, there is also a $3 volume, bound in silk cloth. Both of these bindings are furnished in the Catholic edition also, in which the illustrations consist of the full-page plates and maps approved by the Church, without the Tissot and text pictures.

For a short time The Intelligencer will distribute these books on the popular educational plan as explained in the large advertisement on page five of this issue. Don't fail to clip the first certificate today.

REV. DR. CARMAN NOT IN A RETIRING MOOD

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—The delegates of the Methodist Quadrennial Conference are in a quandary. They understand that Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent, has accepted the position of general superintendent emeritus, but the aged warrior of the Methodist Church does not understand it that way. Four years ago he was elected for eight years, and unless he changes his mind between now and the next two days he will keep his position for the remaining four years of his term.

The delegates passed a recommendation a few days ago to give Dr. Carman the "emeritus" designation, and Rev. Dr. Chown the position of general superintendent. A special committee is trying to induce the former to agree to their wishes, but so far there is nothing doing.

ONTARIO TO AID BELGIANS

Ontario is to give $15,000 for the relief of the people of Belgium. The Cabinet has decided and the Premier, Hon. W. H. Hearst, immediately telegraphed to Sir Lomer Gouin, Prime Minister of Quebec, who has already promised that his Province will contribute a sum equal to that of Ontario. This is in pursuance of an agreement come to with Sir Lomer when he was here for the funeral of Sir J. P. Whitney. All the other Provinces have consented to assist, and one has promised to give $5,000.

SENTINEL'S OPINION OF SIR JAMES WHITNEY

The late premier was unfamiliar with slick methods. He despised them. Soft phrases capable of a double interpretation were hateful to him. No man ever interviewed Sir James without knowing when he left his presence what to expect. This is what made him popular. Every elector in Canada felt that they could depend upon him to carry out the last word of his pledges. They knew that while he presided over the affairs of this province nothing in the shape of graft could enter the administration. He was so punctillious in his own conduct and had such a horror of questionable transactions, that his leadership was bound to be of that character which excites public confidence and approbation.

While his simple integrity was his strongest characteristic, the policy of the Whitney Government was one which in itself was calculated to win the approval of the people of the province. An old-fashioned Conservative in all his views, Sir James became the most courageously progressive leader that this province has ever had. The Hydro-Electric, Prison Reform, strengthening of the University and the Workmen's Compensation are all outstanding achievements which have marked the progressive character of his administration.

From every standpoint, therefore, the people of Ontario have reason to mourn the death of Sir James Whitney. It is to be hoped that the sturdy qualities which he exhibited so successfully will mark the character of his character. At least he has shown an example, and lived long enough to prove its strength, that should be an inspiration to take his place.

His name will live in the annals of the public life of Canada as the most courageous, and perhaps the strongest man who has ever administered the affairs of the Province of Ontario.

"Tommy," said the Sunday-school teacher, who had been giving a lesson of the baptismal covenant, "can you tell me the two things necessary to baptism?"

"Yes,m," said Tommy, "water and a baby."

NOT DRUGS

Food Did It.

After using laxative and cathartic medicines from childhood a case of chronic constipation yielded to the scientific food, Grape-Nuts, in a few days.

"From early childhood I suffered with such terrible constipation that I had to use laxative continuously going from one drug to another and suffering more or less all the time.

"A prominent physicion whom I consulted told me the muscles of the digestive organs were weakened and could not perform their work without help of some kind, so I have tried at different times about every laxative and cathartic known, but found no help that was at all permanent. I had finally become discouraged and had given my case up as hopeless when I began to use the pre-digested food, "Grape-Nuts.

"Although I had not expected this food to help my trouble, to my great surprise Grape-Nuts digested easily from the first and in a few days I was convinced that this was just what my system needed.

"The bowels performed their functions regularly and I am now completely and permanently cured of this awful trouble.

"Truly the power of scientific food must be unlimited." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Trial 10 days of Grape-Nuts, when regular food does not seem to sustain the body, works wonders. "There's a Reason."

BLAMING THE WAR

The war is shouldering much undeserved blame for certain conditions in Canada. One particular fact must not be overlooked. Whether or not war has come, says the Monetary Times, Canada has commenced a necessary period of readjustment. This was well under way when the European atmosphere became thick with utimata. War has not made the adjustment less necessary. It is hastening it, and somewhat inconveniently in various directions. In other ways, it is migrating the adverse conditions, which must accompany a national change from a lengthy period of heavy construction, to what we hope will be a prosperous era of more production. The transition period is an awkward one. In passing through it, we have to prone our imagination and paper fortunes to hard facts. That the war is softening the natural hardships of the transition seen in active factory plants, which today would have been working at greatly reduced capacity, had it not been for government war orders; in the fact that only a fair wheat crop in Western Canada is fetching high prices because of the war; in the fact that the temeporary loss of population is helping to solve the employment problem; and in other facts.

When analyzing conditions, therefore, we should focus upon them the lenses both of the war and of economic readjustment, not the war only. The readjustment would have come wheather or not the war had come.

This phase of the situation has been discussed on several occasions in these columns, and it was pleasing to hear M. J. W. Flavelle put the matter bluntly and effectively in a recent speech at the Canadian Club, Toronto. After referring to a disposition in some quarters to make the first burden of the trouble rest upon the working staff, Mr. Flavelle said; "This is a readjustment of the affairs of Canada, and was inevitable with us, even without any war. When the readjustment has taken place, let us play the part of men. If we have been foolish and have entered upon engagements which we cannot meet, let us take our punishment, no matter how bitter it is, and let us start over again and learn that honest labor is the only road to success."

Similar sentiment were expressed by Mr. F. J. Dixon, member for Winnipeg Centre, in the Manitoba Legislature. He stated that the present dedepression is not caused by the war. There was depression before war and the war made it more acute. In fact depression had been caused largely by the land gamblers. They needed a lesson, and were no more entitled to protection than poker players and speculators in theatre tickets and other individuals who were trying to get something for nothing. Continuing, Dixon said: "We are suffering from a depression following an energetic attack of land speculating fever, and if we are all taught a sharp lesson; if we learn that land speculation is a blighting curse to the community, it will auger well for the future of this country."

The man who has been living upon his wits, nerve and paper, must give way to the man who will help in the work of production. Discussing this point, Sir George Paish, the English authority, on his return to London after a visit to Canada in 1913 said: "British investors, who have shown so much faith in the future of Canada by subscribing capital freely for the government, municipalities and railways would now do well to consider the question of forming trusts and loan companies for the purpose of assisting settlers on to the land, especially [illegible] farm lands in Canada as not at inflated prices. By so doing they would render powerful help to the Canadian people to produce the natural wealth for which so much municipal, railway, banking and trading machinery has been provided. It is evident that the machinery created to take care of the production of the country is sufficient to deal with at least twice, if not three times, the existing output, and it is obvious that the burden of interest upon the immense amount of capital supplied will be a heavy one until the productive power of the country is greatly increased."

Sir George also stated, that if the British people continued to invest in Canada, and Canada energetically applies itself to production, "the growth of production and income will be so rapid that even those people who are confident about the future of Canada will be surprised by the vastness of the country's output in a few years."

The City's Street Superintendent

A tax payer, largely interested in the proper government of City affairs, calls attention to the action of the city fathers, who a short time ago passed a resolution in Council taking from the Street Superintendent Mr. John S. Henderson, the right to employ any one to work on the roads, no matter how urgent the case might be, without first consulting and securing the consent and approval of the Chairman of Public Works. This grasping of patronage by the Chairman of Public Works did not stop here, the resolution takes from the Street Superintendent the right and power to dismiss a man working on the streets, no matter what his offence might be without first reporting to and securing the consent of the Chairman of the Board of Works.

Surely the members of the City Council did not consider when passing that resolution, the reflection it cast upon a city official, whose proper management of the work committed to his charge, we learn from enquiry of those who are in a position to know, has never been questioned. Why then this reflection upon his conduct and integrity as a public official, for such it would be considered by every one giving the subject a moment's reflection.

Let us suppose a case which might at any moment happen. A drain might cave in, or a culvert might become dangerous, and required the immediate attention of the Superintendent. He could not proceed to the repairing of the damage done until he had hunted up and found the important Chairman of Public Works, and reported to him the necessity of immediate action in order to prevent the city from action for damages that might result from leaving the work undone, during the time lost in obtaining authority from the Board of Works Chairman to employ men to do the work.

Let us suppose another case which might apply. A man might report for work, or he might during the day be found by the Street Superintendent in a state unfit for the performance of the work which he had to do. The Superintendent, under the provisions of the resolution passed, cannot dismiss him, until that important personage, the Chairman of Public Works, had been consulted and given his consent. City Fathers who have been pretty attentive to duties during the year, think of it.

If it be established that a public official has in any way, which the passage of the resolution under consideration would infer has been the case, transgressed his duties, in the employment of laborers, or in the dismissal of those employed on public works or elsewhere, he should be dismissed, and that too without a moment's hesitation. In the present case so far as we can learn, the present official has not offended in that way or in any other. Why then place him in a position which renders his powers to carry on the works with advantage to the city comparatively powerless?

CANADIAN APPLES

The advertising campaign which the Department of Trade and Commerce has just begun with a view to increasing the home consumption of Canadian apples is to be commended.

The Canadian apple [illegible] no equal in the world, declares a contemporary, and Canadians in the past have not been as large consumers of this delicious fruit as they should have been.

In the year 1911-1912, there were 1,644,652 barrels of Canadian apples exported; the most of which went to England, where they commanded the highest price in competition with all the countries in the world.

This year, when those heavy exports are cut off, there is a great variety of the choicest Canadian grown apples available for Canadian homes.

If people only realized what it means to their health, quite apart from the real enjoyment there is to be derived from the eating of good apples, every home in the Dominion would have a few barrels in storage for the winter.

There are a great variety of ways in which the apple can be served, and it is so inexpensive that a more general consumption of this fruit would have a material effect in lessening the cost of living and improving the health of the people.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that the Government's appeal on behalf of this national product will meet with a patriotic response in all parts of the Dominion.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars are annually paid out for foreign fruits, that are far inferior to the Canadian apple, both in flavor and wholesomeness. This money kept at home will help the farmers and apple growers, who in the final analysis are the foundation of our prosperity.

War Notes

Copenhagen—From a reliable source it is learned that a fevered energy is being displayed in the German docks. It is reported that fifty submarines are building and more are to be built.

The total German casualties in dead, wounded and missing, as officially reported to date, are 104,529. The casualty list announced today adds a total of 10,257 casualties to those previously announced. The total casualty list is made up as follows: Dead, 15,674; wounded, 65,908; missing, 23,007. If the Germans admit this loss, by what figure must it be multiplied to reach the truth.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 3.—A cable received by Col. H. H. McLean, M.P., says that his son, Captain C. Weldon McLean, of the Royal Horse Artillery, India, will be loaned to the Canadian contingent, and will join on the arrival of the Canadian forces in England. He served in the South African war. It will be remembered that Col. McLean, M.P., was the only Liberal member of the House of Commons who supported the Borden navy policy and is now off to the war.

London, Oct. 3.—Only today are the London papers allowed to publish accounts of the landing in France of native Indian troops, under the white officers "so thin and yet so handsome," as a French lady exclaimed, and accompanied by everything necessary to proceed immediately to the firing line. This is India's answer to the Kaiser's confident assertion that the war would find India in revolt.

Wounded Russian officers who have arrived at Petrograd from the front, declare that the Niemen River is filled with bodies of Germans killed in action. The German losses, they declare, number fully 20,000.

Germany has fought Western Europe by foul means as well as fair, writes Sir Harry Johnston, in the London Chronicle; by floating, drifting mines, that for the most part damage neutrals or non-combatants; by printed and whispered lies sedulously circulated among the distant, the impressionable, and the easily gulled; by blackmail ("Either you stump up millions of pounds or I efface for ever the historical beauty and interest of your land"); by terror and a Satanic appeal to human pity—the terror caused by the Red Indian atrocities, Turkish massacres of non-combatants, and the shameful trading on pity by using revered and aged men, women, priests and children as body-shields; by dressing in the uniform of the foe; by posing as Red Cross officers; by hoisting the white flag to lure honest soldiers into the death-zone.

Actor And Little Maid

(By W. Werner)

The old comedian sat in a corner of the porch despondently arguing to himself that "it was his sister's home and not his own;" that he "had been sick and unable to work for three years", and was "dependent on some one else." He footed up in his doctor bills and mentally calculated how long or how short a time his savings would last.

On the porch next door the little maid sat in a big armchair in her corner and wished the doctor hadn't been so slow making her well enough to run around; that her dolls' wig and eyes were not so insecure and that her brother was not five whole years older than she was and a boy

Inside one house the "sister" worried because of her brother's melancholy tendency, while inside the other house the bsuy mother wondered what could be done to rouse her listless daughter.

It was Anna May (the newest doll) who put the final touches on the distressing situation by getting a big black speck in her eye, and the little maid probed with a pin to relieve her darling's pain. The speck would not budge, but the eyes did, and suddenly the little maid discovered two empty holes where the beautiful orbs belonged. This was too much and the child wept copiously Her mother had just gone around the corner to the store. No one came to quiet the child's grief and the actor began to fidget in his chair. At last he called over, "What's the matter?" and for answer the sightless Anna May was held up to view.

The actor realized at once the tragedy of what had happened and tried to find some phrase that might be cheering. Often in plays he had taken children on his knees and chattered to them, to the great delight of his audiences. In those years with the little folks of the stage he had learned to understand how real a disaster a broken doll was and how deep and genuine a heartache such a catastrophe caused. He picked up his canes and limped slowly down the steps, across the lawn and on to the porch next door.

"If you take it in time and be very careful of the patients, lots of times you can cure a case like this," he said, taking Anna May in his arms and examining her tenderly.

The little maid stopped crying to look at him. She dried her eyes and watched with interest as he took a piece of bent wire and gently drew the eyes back into place. Then he took a bottle that might have held glue from the utility case he carried in his pocket. With a soft brush he painted the edges of the blue balls and with his handkerchief he made comfortable bandages. Last of all he propped Anna May among a stack of pillows in the little rocking chair.

"Madam", he announced gravely, "I am happy to say that the operation has been entirely successful. Her complete recovery will depend a great deal on the amount of care you will give the patient."

"What shall I feed her?" the anxious parent demanded, and immediately she and the doctor plunged into a discourse on dietetics, pulses, and pills. The talk went merrily on to other subjects, until both the actor and the little maid were surprised when the call for supper came from their respective homes. The old man gathered up his canes and hardly limped at all on his way home. The little maid waited until he got to his doorway, then with glad promises for to-morrow they bade each other "Good night" and "Pleasant Dreams."

"The "morrow" was bright and beautiful, and the actor found the little maid waiting his coming. Together they removed the bandage from Anna May, and that young woman gazed serenely at them with eyes that were quite as good as ever. Later the little girl found that the actor could make first class whistles, mend all kinds of furniture and cure the worst cases of brokenitis in dolls; also that he could tell wonderful stories of queer places, funny people, and happenings. One dey when she no longer sat in the big chair she told her mother that she "loved" the actor next to papa."

In the other house the sister watched her brother busily making a "real theater" for his little friend and the next day the two women rejoiced together at the improvement in their "cases."

The actor and the little maid spent long hours preparing and staging their "shows." Anna May usually took the leading part and no "star" ever received more enthusiastic applause nor less complaining about the color and location of her dressing room. As time went on new plays were introduced, managed to present to his "public." One of these mechanical toys never ceased to make not only the little maid, but her father, and mother laugh heartily, while the little brother rolled on the floor with delight.

One night after the little maid had been properly tucked in and kissed her father picked up this special toy and examined it with interest, while her mother told him all about the actor and his troubles.

"Tough luck", the man admitted, setting the queer little figure into motion. Suddenly he had an idea and he whispered it to his wife.

"Wouldn't that be perfectly splendid?" she cried, dropping her sewing basket as she hurried to get twine and wrapping paper. Together

A $5 ILLUSTRATED BIBLE FOR EVERYBODY

COMPLIMENTARY PRESENTATION

A great statesman said: "No library is complete without two certain books---the Bible and Shakespeare. Hardly a quotation in literature that is not taken from one of these books."

Everybody in Belleville will be benefitted by the exceptional educational presentation undertaken by The Belleville Intelligencer. Here is an opportunity for every reader of The Intelligencer to possess this ILLUSTRATED BIBLE (Protestant or Catholic) with practically no effort.

Every home needs a Bible, and one of convenient form. To appreciate this great book, it does not necessarily mean that one must be a church member or a religious man or woman, but it should be available for every one and often referred to, and often read here and there as the most interesting of all books, as the book under the teachings of which the wonderful development of civilization has been accomplished. It matters not how many Bibles you may have, you will also need this Illustrated Bible which illuminates—i. e.,—"throws light upon"—the particular text selected for illustration, and is beyond doubt the most beautiful edition of the Bible that has ever been published.

FOR EVERY READER
OF THE
Belleville Intelligencer

Heretofore the word "illustrated," as applied to a Bible, meant merely a few allegorical "pictures" of Biblical events taken from any source, and conveniently placed in any part of the book, merely as embellishment inserts, but not directly alongside and explanatory of the verse intended to typify or make plain; but our publishers, at an outlay of $50,000, prepared accurate illustration DESCRIPTIVE of the VERSE which they accompany, and placed directly next to the verse of the scene described—the only place it can [illegible] looked for or found quickly, the only place the illustration is a help to you—making this the FIRST and ONLY complete ILLUSTRATED Bible.

COMPARISON IS IMPOSSIBLE

for our new Bible stands alone--there is no other of its kind. Therefore, praise of this superb new book means no disparagement of the many excellent editions published heretofore.

Events that have been imperfectly comprehended become invested with the charm of living reality, and places that have seemed far off are made familiar, as though we ourselves had trod the hills and valleys of these historic lands. It may be truthfully said that this really superb edition of the book of books has an important mission to perform, in illuminating and vivifying the Bible narrative and giving it as never before, a present, living, human interest.

HOW TO GET IT
PRESENT SIX CERTIFICATES

Printed only in The Intelligencer—clipped on consecutiv days, together with the stated amount that covers the necessary EXPENSE items of this wonderful distribution, including clerk hire, cost of packing, checking, express from factory, etc

AND RECEIVE THIS $5.00 BOOK

This Bible is not a meaningless picture book. The illustrations serve a distinct purpose. They enrich the text, and they do more—they intelligently explain it so that many hitherto obscure passage assumes to thousands a new meaning through these eye-teaching pictures.

YOUR CHOICE OF THESE BOOKS

Magnificent Illustrated $5 Edition of the BIBLE (like illustration) is bound in full flexible limp leather, with overlapping covers and title stamped in gold, with numerous full-page plates in color from the world famous Tissot collection, together with 600 superb pictures graphically illustrating and making plain the verse in the light of modern Biblical knowledge and research. The text conforms to the authorized edition, is self-pronouncing, with copious marginal references, maps and helps; printed on thin Bible paper; flat opening at all pages; beautiful readable type. 6 consecutive free certificates and the $1.18 Amount Expense Items

The $3 Illustrated BIBLE is exactly the same as the $5 book, except in the style of binding, which is in silk cloth, contains all of the illustrations and maps. Six consecutive free certificates and the 81c. Amount Expense Items

Also an Edition for Catholics. Through an exclusive arrangement we have been most fortunate in securing the Catholic Bible, Douay Version, endorsed by Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop (now Cardinal) Farley, as well as by the various archbishops of the country. Illustrations consist of the full-page plates and maps approved by the Church, without the Tissot and text pictures. It will be distributed in the same binding as the Protestant books, and at the same Amount Expense Items, with the necessary Free Certificates.

The ILLUSTRATIONS ALONE COST Over $50,000

No Book Like This in the World at Any Price

This Bible is not a mere picture book. It is a genuine high art production, worthy of the Twentieth Century. In addition to the world-famed Tissot pictures in color are 600 illustrations, all exact copies of original paintings and drawings, which constitute the most wonderful gallery of Escriptural art in existence today—to this branch of the work, and at enormous cost, were called the greatest of living artists, and it is to their intelligent conception of the work and to their masterly skill in portrayal of Bible scenes that the superiority of this Bible over any yet produced is mainly due. Every picture is an eloquent sermon on these everlasting truths.

Working under the advice of archaeologists and historians of wide renown, have contributed the choicest products of their skill and genius to produce this grand triumph of artistic beauty and perfection in historical detail. These pictures are not mere reproductions of mediaeval frescoes and more or less familiar modern photographs, inserted at random; they have been especially made, in the light of twentieth century knowledge, to illustrate selected texts in accordance with the matured beliefs of the greatest living theologians.

AEROPLANE UNDER FIRE.

Bombardment With Shrapnel Leaves British Airman Unscathed.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A despatch to The Morning Post from its Antwerp correspondent says: I witnessed on Friday from the outside of Lierre the most interesting aerial engagement, if engagement is the proper word for a flight under heavy shell fire. A little after four o'clock a British naval biplane rose out of Antwerp and headed for the German lines between Willebroek and Howndonck. These machines fly with almost incredible swiftness. This one passed a fast motor-car going in the same direction as easily as a swallow passes a sparrow.

As soon the the British aeroplane got over the German lines it came under the fire of German guns, especially designed to attack aviators. Two of these guns engaged the aviator. They fired first some ranging shells, which on bursting left a thick ball of black smoke. These shells apparently were fired with a difference in elevation of 500 feet, and were designed to ascertain the elevation of the aeroplane, but the aeroplane seemed to shape its course so as to avoid passing near the smoke balls, which were in any case at a greater height than itself.

The German guns then began with shrapnel fire, as if satisfied with the information given by the ranging shells. Twelve shells were fired, all at a greater height than the areoplane, as if the design were to scatter the balls on it from above. Changing its course occasionally the aeroplane flew about, completed its work and winged its way back to the Belgian lines. Its passage in safety under the bursting shrapnel was one of the most exciting warfare incidents imaginable.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

A Petrograd despatch says it is seim-officially announced that Emperor William has left Breslau for Thorn and Bromberg in East Prussia.

M. Eyshen, Minister of State of Luxemburg, has issued a proclamation urging the people of the little state to remain calm in the face of German aggressions.

Ward Hamilton Bowlby, K.C., celebrated his 80th birthday yesterday in Berlin. He is the oldest crown attorney in the Dominion of Canada, having held his position for 47 years.

The war is costing France $7,000,000 a day. Minister of Finance Alexandre Ribot announced Saturday that the outlay for the first 60 days of the conflict had been $420,000,000.

Among the speakers on the second day of the American Bar Association Convention in New York on Oct. 20, 21 and 22, will be Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Chief Justice of the Canadian Supreme Court.

Lieut. Harold Pearson, M.P., son of Lord Cowdray, the noted oil financier, who was taken prisoner at the battle of the Marne, was later shot and killed by a German sentry while trying to escape.

Samuel Jones, farmer, of Percy Township, was found dead by a neighbor at his farm near Warkworth, Ont., Saturday. Mr. Jones was suddenly attacked by illness while in the fields.

Choosing a term in jail in preference to returning to the tramp steamer Askehall and serving under Capt. Harris, thirteen sailors were sentenced Saturday to 12 weeks in jail by Judge Lanctot at Montreal for having "mutinied" on board the steamer.

PRINCESS ALICE ESCAPED.

But She Had To Run Ashore on Cebu To Escape British Cruiser.

SEATTLE, Wn., Oct. 5.—The Blue Funnel liner Talthybius, in port from the Orient, brings details of the pursuit of the German auxiliary cruiser Princess Alice, by the British auxiliary cruiser Empress of Russia, formerly a Canadian Pacific liner, off the Philippines early in September, as already cabled. The German vessel was bound for Tsingtau and was reported to carry $10,000,000 for the German officials there. She was sighted by the Empress and fled at once, pursued by the Britisher. The Empress carries four 6-inch guns and six 4.7-inch guns. The Alice had eight 5-inch guns. The Empress overhauled the German boat and a running fight followed. The German lost the top of her smoke-mast and had her mainmast cut off clean. The stern was torn away and several holes made in the hull. The Empress was unmarked.

The German ship to avoid capture or foundering headed for the Island of Cebu and ran on the beach. The British vessel did not follow inside the three-mile limit. The loss of life was not learned.

Telegraph Poles on Track.

GUELPH, Oct. 5.—An attempt was made Friday night by persons unknown to wreck a Grand Trunk passenger train between Brantford and Guelph. Opposite the siding at the lime kilns, three miles north of Hespeler, the passengers were almost thrown out of their seats by the sudden stopping of the train.

The crew ran back with lanterns, and it was discovered that three large telegraph poles had been placed across the tracks. The engineer did not see the poles in time to stop the train, and he ran into them at full speed. Two of them were broken to pieces, while the third was pushed to one side.

The engine was not derailed, and there was no one hurt.

Snow In Calgary.

CALGARY, Oct. 5.—It is snowing in Calgary, and with a strong wind, and the heavy clouds gathering, it looks as if this district would register a good fall within the next day or two. The temperature has dropped perceptibly and wintry weather prevails.

No, Alonzo, a woman isn't necessarily homely because she is fond of her home.

CRITICAL STAGE PAST BATTLE WON BY ALLIES

Tremendous Assault Has Failed Utterly and Movement of Allies Will Probably Hem In German Right —Allies Captured Trench After Trench In Vigorous Fighting of Saturday—Wing Near Belgium.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The victory of French arms at Roye, where the tremendous assault of the Germans—their major effort of the Aisne campaign—has been completely defeated, is declared to be the deciding point in the twenty-three day battle. A great operation has been launched to hem in the German right in such a way that it cannot reach new defences in Belgium. Great forces are being rapidly concentrated by the allies in an effort to drive a wedge through the forces commanding the railway from Lille to Belgium. This effort is expected to develop in the neighborhood of Arras, where strenuous fighting has already taken place.

In addition to the steady hammering of the allied forces against the entire German right wing, the efforts of the Franco-British are bent directly on the line of German communications. These and these only have enabled Von Kluk to put up his magnificent resistance. By attempting a series of flanking operations, the allies may have delayed the success of their arms, but have saved thousands of lives that would have been thrown away in frontal attacks on the strong German positions. In order to make these flanking operations effective at once, huge reinforcements have come up on the extreme northern end of the allied line, and it is thought that the East Indians landed at Marseilles a few days since are by this time on the fighting line. They may be the deciding factor.

But the Germans are by no means short-handed. It is even reported from some quarters that their manoeuvres are handicapped by the presence of unwieldly masses.

To the east, in the Woevre region, the French advance goes ahead unremittingly. They are reported in command of positions which seriously menace German communications through Luxemburg, even threatening their main supply depot at Prinzivillle. It is felt that the steady and unsuccessful movement in that quarter indicates weakness on the part of the exhausted German armies. The same factor has paralyzed operations on the centre of both armies.

The allied commanders are believed to be preparing for the greatest assault of the war near Arras, which will take the form of a frontal attack in tremendous force. On it hinges the result of the Aisne battle; the Germans have made a supreme effort at Roye and failed.

Germans Forced Back.

FROM THE BATTLEFRONT, Oct. 5.—Trench after trench of the German line fell into the possession of the allies on Saturday after most vigorous assaults, carried home with determination, combined with the newly-learned lesson of caution.

The Germans who had borne back the allies' western wing slightly retained their advanced positions near Roye until they became untenable. They then fell back to new lines which had been previously prepared.

The western wing of the allied armies was still farther extended yesterday and now reaches within 30 miles of the Belgian frontier, carrying the allies' overlapping movement in a northeasterly direction.

The German reinforcements on this end of the line are very strong. These troops probably were brought from bodies of German forces echeloned in the rear of their advanced entrenchments. Their courageous dashes to the allies' front did not meet with success, and the French and British were able to make them fall back on their deep trenches.

The sight of the allied infantry creeping across the open spaces in front of the trenches, in a brilliant sunshine which glittered on their weapons, was impressive. Hundreds of shells burst overhead in their rear without doing damage.

Everywhere the French and British soldiers seemed as though glued to the ground, but yet their widely extended lines progressed always forward. In only two or three instances did they encounter the spitting machine gun fire with its murderous hail of bullets, which opened on them when they surmounted slight eminences, before reaching the German trenches. They found few Germans there to meet their boynets, as the invaders had retired to another line only a few hundred yards back.

It is stated that the Germans also receded on the eastern wing, where for many days they have been going back continually. In that region of the great battlefield the famous French Alpine riflemen came in contact with the Germans and inflicted considerable loss.

In the centre there was comparative calm, although the artillery and infantry kept firing occasionally as though to remind their adversaries of their presence.

The aviators on each side have kept continual watch on the movements of the enemy, and sometimes have dropped shrapnel bombs, generally with small effect, as the troops are well sheltered in their burrows.

FORT DE FRANCE, Island of Martinique, Oct. 5.—A strong earthquake shock was experienced here at 18 minutes past 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The direction was from north to south and the tremors lasted for thirty seconds. No damage was done.

FIRST PRODUCTION OF POWER.

Ontario Hydro Commences New Era In Its History To-morrow.

TORONTO, Oct. 5. — To-morrow will be recorded as a big day in the history of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, for it will mark the first venture into the actual production of power by a Government commission in the province. Sir Adam Beck will officially open the power plant and developing station at Wausdell Falls, and touch a button that will send light and power flashing into the first three of a string of municipalities in the surrounding district. On the same day inaugural ceremonies in connecion with the new power facilities will be conducted by him in Cannington, Beaverton and Stouffville, the three towns which will begin at once to benefit by the commission program.

Arrangements are being made for mass meetings in the different municipalities in the new power zone, and Sir Adam will deliver addresses on Tuesday evening.

Ward's Health Failing.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Oct. 5.—Jesse Ward, the Grimsby Beach grocer, who was sentenced on Saturday by Chief Justice Falconbridge to ten years in the penitentiary for manslaughter in killing Percy Sparling at the Beach, is showing rapid signs of failing health at the county jail. Yesterday he said that he did not expect to live out half his term. He is 67.

British Steamers Sunk?

LONDON, Oct. 5. — The following official statement, issued in Berlin, has been received here by wireless: "The German cruiser Karlsruhe has sunk seven British steamers in the Atlantic."

MARKET REPORTS

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 4.—There was a natural reaction Saturday after the slump of Friday, and the proof that, in spite of there being "little export trade," several million bushels of grain have left Atlantic ports in as many days. Winnipeg wheat opened ¼c to ⅝c up, and there was an excellent demand for No. 1 northern, which sold at ¼c to ½c over the option. Receipts for No. 1 are steadily declining. Nos. 2 and 3 are not wanted, but No. 4 and lower were in fair demand.

The close showed wheat to have advanced 1½c to 1⅝c.

Flax was weak and lower. Export houses admitted fair business after the close Friday, but declared bids out of line on the morning advance.

Receipts were 1169 cars, against 1258 last year, and 770 in sight for the day.

Cash: Wheat—No. 1 northern, $1.08; No. 2 do., $1.02⅝; No. 3 do., 97⅝c; No. 4, 91⅝c; No. 5, 86½c; No. 6, 81½c; feed, 76⅝c.

Oats—No. 2 C.W., 48½c.

Barley—No. 3, 65c; No. 4, 59½c.

Flax—No. 1 N.W.C., $1.15¼; No. 2 C. W., $1.12¼

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN MARKET.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 3.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.09½; No. 1 northern, $1.06 to $1.08½; No. 2 do., $1.03 to $1.05½; Dec., $1.07⅝. Corn—No. 3 yellow, 64½c to 65½c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 43½c to 44c.

Flour—Fancy patents, $5.70; first clears, $4.50; second clears, $3.25.

Bran—Unchanged.

DULUTH GRAIN MARKET.

DULUTH, Oct. 3.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.08½; No. 1 Northern, $1.07½; No. 2 do., $1.04½; Dec., $1.07½.

CHEESE MARKETS.

ST. HYACINTHE, Yue., Oct. 4.—Two hundred packages of butter sold at 26c; 450 boxes of cheese at 14⅝c.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Seven factories offered 1435 boxes colored cheese at today's market. Bidding, 14c to 14⅝c. No sales; 325 boxes butter offered, bidding 26c. No sales.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 3.—At the meeting of the Eastern Township's Dairymen's Association Saturday eight factories offered 260 packages of butter. Two buyers were present. Seven factories sold at 26c; one factory did not sell.

CATTLE MARKETS

To Congratulate Troops.

BORDEAUX, Oct. 5. — President Poincare, Minister of War, Alexandre Millerand, and Premier Rene Viviani, have left for headquarters to personally congratulate the French troops on their gallant conduct of the war.

THANKSGIVING DAY Is MONDAY, OCT. 12th

It's because Thanksgiving Day is so near that we suggest it's time to "Put on the New," and not only do we make this suggestion, but for the week preceding Thanksgiving Day we will make a special display of all kinds of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Garments, including Fall Skirts and Coats, Ladies' Silk and Wool Dresses, Dress Skirts and Waists, Corsets, Satin Underskirts, etc. And we would further suggest that there is no other time like the present to select New Fall Garments, for just now our Stock of Garments is at its very best.

OUR SPECIAL SUIT AT $17.50.

We think this is perhaps the Best Suit Value we have ever offered. First of all, it is a "Northway" Suit, and is made of a pure wool serge, the Coat being satin lined, while the skirt is cut in the new Tunic style. These suits are shown in Ladies' and Misses' sizes, in colors, black, navy, new blue and brown, for only $17.50 each.

NEW CORD VELVETS.

No matter what you think now, before very long you will want Velvets and we think a good time to buy velvet cords is just now while we have Sixty-Five Boxes of New Corded Velvets, in every new fall shade to select from, all 27 inches wide, to sell at 50c., 65c., 75c., 90c. and $1.00 yard.

HORROCKSES' COTTONS.

When buying Cottons, ask for Horrockses' and you are sure to get value for your money. Just now we are showing a full range of these goods in Flannelettes, Sheetings and White Cottons, with Qualities and Prices unequalled in other goods.

FEATHER RUFFS AND MUFFS.

For early Fall wear there is nothing more dressy than these beautiful Ostrich and Marabout Ruffs and Muffs. We show these neck scarfs or ruffs in a variety of styles from $4.50 to $9.50 each, and Marabout sets, large Muff and Scarf for $17.00 per set.

NEW FANCY SILKS.

We are now showing a wonderful collection of all the very newest things in Fancy Silks, including Dresdens, Roman Stripes, Plaids, Tapestries, etc., especially selected by us for Ladies' Fancy Waists, Dresses and Trimmings. Prices 75c. to $3.00 yard.

BEAUTIFUL SILK AND WOOL DRESSES.

We have just recently placed in stock a choice selection of Ladies' Silk and Fine Wool Crepe, Voile and Silk Moire Dresses, very pretty Autumn styles, at every price from $8.50 to $24.50.

LADIES' NECK WEAR.

Our Thanksgiving Display of Ladies' Neckwear is attracting more than ordinary attention. If you want to see all the new things in Ladies' Neckwear, just watch our windows, or, better still, visit the Ladies' Neckwear Department.

CUTTING OFF VON KLUK.

Huge Door Is Being Shut to Bar German Wing's Retreat.

LONDON, Oct. 5. — The Daily News has the following from its correspondent, H. M. Tomlinson, dated in France, Saturday, Oct. 3: The violent and repeated attacks of the Prussians against the French line between Craonne and the Argonne were intended to mask a great and rapid German movement, which, aided by reinforcements from Germany, through Belgium, was meant to outflank the allies primarily, and, in any case, to secure the main German lines of communication and a broad road home. But the French were quicker; their wonderful railways prepared a shocking surprise for Von Kluk. The impregnable British position by Soissons was the hinge of this huge door, which was being shut against the exit of the German army, vainly at Noyen and at Roye the Germans have thrown their strength against this closing of the barrier, and they have been thrown back.

I cannot say that the German line through Valenciennes, Cambrai and St. Quintin has yet been cut, but if an official communication now announced it, it would not surprise me.

ALLEGED HOLD UP

Mr. Charles Fry, residing on Pinnacle street, informed the police that on Saturday evening two men visited his apartment and demanded from him $2 each, which he refused to deliver up. Mr. Fry states that a dog which he is the proud owner of, came to his rescue and frightened away the intruders.

SECOND CROP

The Intelligencer was today shown some fine raspberries of the Columbia variety, which were picked from a bush in Mr. George Kerr's garden on Benjamin street, this city. This is the second crop picked from the bush this year. There are a number of blossoms upon the bush at present.

RANSACKED HOUSE

Mr. Argent, who resides on Pinnacle street; reports to the police that yesterday whilst he and his family were absent from home, some person or persons entered the premises and ransacked them. Nothing was apparently missed. Parties who reside in another portion of the house heard no person about Argent's apartments.

VISITING BOYHOOD SCENES

Mr. J. C. Fitzhett of Everett, Washington, spent yesterday and to-day in the city, the guest of Mr and Mrs. W. H. Crabb, Benjamin street. For the past 48 years Mr. Fitzhett has made his home on the Pacific Coast and at present is visiting relatives and friends in this vicinity. He was born at Hay Bay and has pleasant recollections of his boyhood days.

COMRADESHIP IN THE FIELD

English newspapers, which have been received contain a pleasant anecdote of the fighting at Mons. It comes from the French paper the Liberte, and concerns a Scottish regiment which is not named. This regiment was occupying a trench, swept by violent rifle fire and artillery fire, when two privates noticed that a Frenchman, attached to the battalion as interpreter occupied the most exposed spot in the trench. One private said: "The Frenchman is badly placed; let's widen his trench," and during a minute, paying no attention to the hail of bullets and shrapnel, the privates deepened the trench, and with the same calm resumed their places.

"ITCHING FOR A SCRAP"

Here is a cheery letter from a midshipman in one of the British battleships that are waiting for the German Fleet to come out of hiding; it appeared in the London Morning Post:—"A rumor got about that we had been sunk, some wooden gear that we had thrown overboard being found. We have not been sunk yet, nor, I am sorry to say, have we sunk any Germans. By the time this fetches up, however, I hope we shall have met them, captured most of them, and sunk the rest. We are all itching for a scrap, and this routine is getting rather monotonous. We go to night defense stations for three-and-half hours every night, and sleep in our clothes during our watch off and after daylight. We go into harbor to coal every four or five days. In the daytime at sea we have nothing to do except to rig night defence gear (searchlights are stowed below at daylight), do physical drill, running around the ship, &c., to keep ourselves fit, and occasionally going to action stations. Of course there have been various alarms, when we have to rush to our stations. But they are generally caused by some ham-handed horse marine firing a gun by mistake, or by some swivel-eyed look-out seeing one of our own ships and thinking it the enemy, or mistaking a treacle-tin for the periscope of a submarine. Anyhow, none of them have come to anything; but they tend to relieve the monotony, alhough at the expense of sleep, which is a rare luxury, especially at night. We have to sleep in the signal house so as to be near our searchlights, and are waked up every two or three minutes by signalmen coming in and falling over our feet (I can imagine you saying it serves me right for having such big ones). It is the only place where they can switch on a light to read signals. But in spite of these little inconveniences, I dare say we come off better than you. I am very sorry for everybody left at home; the war must affect them much more than it does us. I expect Hal is taking the war very seriously and thinks it 'balmy' that he can't go to the front or come to sea. I am not allowed to tell you anything, and so will write no more nonsense."

There is nothing a married woman enjoys more than helping a spinster to get into the same kind of trouble.

Royal Humane Society Medal for Marmora Young Man

The Vancouver Daily News-Advertiser contains the following which refers to a son of Mr. Alex A McDonald, of Marmora.

"The rescue of a young girl from drowning in Burrard Inlet by Mr. McDonald, assistant secretary of the London Pacific Guarantee Company, is reported to "The News Advertiser" by Mr. W. Hamar Greenwood. Miss Steeves, a seventeen-year-old girl, was fishing with her younger brother off the C.P.R. wharves on Saturday evening, it appears, when she fell in. Her cries for help attracted Mr. McDonald who was standing some 100 yards away. Without waiting to take off his coat he jumped into 20 feet of water and succeeded in rescuing her. It is understood that his action will be brought to the attention of the Royal Humane Society.

McEVOY—MILNE

St. Michael's church was the scene of a very interesting wedding ceremony at nine o'clock on Wednesday, September 30th, when Miss Gertrude Lillian, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Milne of Thurlow, was united in marriage to Mr. Frank McEvoy of Tyendinaga. Rev. Father Kileen officiated. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Frank Milne, wore a traveling suit of navy blue Broadcloth, with hat to match, and corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Mary Milne, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, wearing a navy blue whipcord suit and hat to match, the groomsman being Mr. Eugene McEvoy, brother of the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. Frank Milne, brother of the bride. The happy couple left on the Limited for Toronto and other Western points, after which they will take up their residence in this city.

Transcontinental Railway

This great National Railway will, says an Ottawa telegram of the 22nd inst., be finished and ready for regular operation the first of next month Part of the headquarters staff at Ottawa has already been laid off, and the remainder are likely to go in a few weeks. Matters have moved with particular haste since the Hon. Frank Cochrane personally assumed direction of the work, and now all the odds and ends are fixed up and the line finally completed, or nearly so, from Winnipeg to Moncton.

Under the terms of the contract the Grand Trunk Pacific Company is supposed to lease the eastern section on completion. When the question of further bond guarantees was before Parliament last spring it was clearly intimated by representatives of the company that this undertaking would be carried out. The matter has not been definitely concluded as yet, but there is reason to anticipate a harmonious adjustment of it. The Quebec bridge is of course the unfinished link, but pending its completion a first-class car ferry is to be operated.

GERMANS IN FLIGHT

Russians Have Won a Complete Victory in Augustowo.

Big Engagement on Frontier of East Prussia Ends in a Triumph For the Russian Arms and Germans In Flight Have Abandoned Wounded, Trains, Guns and Their Munitions of War.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 5.—The official communication from the general staff headquarters, issued last night, reads:

"The battle of Augustowo ended yesterday, Oct. 3, in a victory for the Russian arms. The German defeat is complete.

"The enemy is at this moment in a disordered retreat and in flight toward the East Prussian frontier. The valiant Russian troops are in close pursuit, the Germans abandoning in their desperate march trains, cannons and munitions, not having even time to gather up their wounded.

"It is already known that the battle of Augustowo, began on Sept. 29 with a bombardment by the German heavy artillery in the region of Sopotzkin (on the left bank of the River Niemen), followed by an offensive movement by the enemy against the same fortified town.

"At the same time, the Germans made repeated efforts to crush and dislocate the Russian forces near Druskeniki on the Niemen.

"On Sept. 26 the Germans also began an attack on the fortresses of Ossowets, but everywhere met with fierce resistence and were compelled to retreat. Not satisfied with counter attacks, our troops took the offensive vigorously and pursued the enemy. Notwithstanding the energetic resistance offered by the Germans, they could not check the onward rush of our troops, who captured the enemy's positions, one after another.

"Routed by this irresistible engagement, the Germans weakened and are at present in full retreat, they are leaving our territory in haste. At certain points this retreat is degenerating into a flight."

An official communique issued Saturday night said:

"Yesterday in the region of Augustowo the enemy developed an extremely obstinate defence in positions to the north of Lake Tligra. They made a desperate attack from Rachka and Borjiman, trying to seize the western exits from Augustowo forest. On the road to Ladzee and Shipliska the first German cavalry division attempted to stop the advance of Russian squadrons. A desperate fight proceeded until darkness set in. The German cavalry recoiled and fell back in disorder with terrible losses before the Russian charge, sweeping back in general flight their own infantry supports. The Russians have occupied Raigrod, Kalkaria and Mariampol. Minor encounters have occurred in the region of Kielce.

"In the Carpathians the Russians have descended into the valley of the Nat Iag. An Austrian detachment was defeated at Migulitse and lost their guns and maxims in the fighting.

The military critic of Russky Slowo says that the German army assembled in Silesia includes two Bavarian corps and that the army is commanded by the King of Bavaria.

"The Russians now have to deal with a total of six armies," he says. "Two of these in East Prussia constitute the left flank, two in West Poland form the centre and two others are concentrating on the right wing in West Galicia.

"The Polish peasants in Kalisz, Russian Poland, are carrying on a guerrilla warfare, in which the Germans and the peasants hunt each other on the forest with the aid of snares and entanglements. No mercy is shown on either side."

TURCOS CLIMBED TREES.

Then They Fought Hand To Hand With Imperial Guard.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A despatch to The Evening News, from Copenhagen, reports that the correspondent of The Berliner Tageblatt, who witnessed the battle at Verdun, on Sept. 24, when Prince Oscar led the Imperial Guard, says: Though the Germans fought like lions, the Turcos climbed trees like monkeys, hiding in the leaves. The Germans and Turcos fought and wrestled in a terrible hand-to-hand struggle, and many German officers fell dead around the prince, who thereafter had the heart attack already described.

He was taken to the hospital at Metz in a rather serious condition. Arrived there he began to regain strength, and when told that the Kaiser had conferred the Iron Cross on him he brightened up visibly.

The decoration was pinned on him by Gen. Von Strantz, who received it in 1890.

Wheat Flour Scarce.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 5.—(Via London.)—Owing to the general scarcity of wheat flour in Holland, and white bread is becoming a luxury, at Dordrecht, a town ten miles southeast of Rotterdam, the bakers have announced that beginning Monday, they will produce nothing but rye bread.

A despatch received here from Copenhagen states that upon representation of farmers the Danish Government has prohibited the exportation of all young horses.

South Africans Captured.

LONDON, Oct. 5. — The Pretoria correspondent of Reuter's says that the number of prisoners captured by the Germans in the fight in the Warmbad district of Great Namaqualand, German Southwest Africa, on Sept. 29, was 192. All are members of the South African Mounted Rifles.

Some idea of the magnitude of the present war may be gleamed from the fact that Mr. Roosevelt hasn't been able to make the front page since it started.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST LAND REGULATIONS.

The sole head of a family, or an male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency) on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

W. W. CORY, C.M.G.,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

Actor And Little Maid

they tied up the "act", and the big man chuckled as he tucked it away with his coat so as not to forget it in the morning.

Of course the little maid missed the toy before she had finished her breakfast, and its loss threatened to upset the usual harmony of her home, so her mamma whispered the secret to her, and she decided "they'd play doctor instead of show that day."

In the middle of the afternoon, just as the last splint had been put into place on Daisy Bell's broken arm, the little maid heard her mother talking to father over the 'phone. In a few minutes mother came out and invited the actor and his sister to dinner that evening. When papa came home that night he carired a paper parcel under his arm, and brought a fat little man, who bobbed around like a ball and kept laughing and chuckling as though something was loose in his insides.

Immediately after the introductions the little man announced that his business was mechanical toys and novelties and he demanded to know how much the actor wanted for the toy papa carried, downtown to show him. The actor was too surprised to answer, and could only look at the man in bewilderment.

"Most amusing thing I ever saw," the merchant exclaimed. "I'd like also to look over the theater and the other acts—mechanical novelties are my specialty," he finished, as though he was in a big hurry. Then he made an offer for the lot that made the actor gasp and look helplessly at his sister. Finally he nodded his consent, and they all shook hands with him twice around, and they shook hands with his sister; then he gathered the little maid into his arms and held her tight.

Fumes of Shells Petrify Germans

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Telegraphing from Paris, the correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company says:—

"That the fumes of the famous French 3-inch shell have a most deadly effect in an enclosed space is shown by a scene that met the eyes of the French penetrating a chateau occupied by the Germans, and which they had just bombarded.

"Entering the drawing-room they found a company of Wurttemburgians petrified in action. Some were at the windows taking aim, with their fingers still pressing the trigger, while others were at the tables where they had been playing games with cards in their hands, while still others had cigarettes in their lips. An officer stood with his mouth open as if in the act of dictating an order, and all the corpses looked absolutely life-like."

The easiest way not to settle a dispute is to go to law about it.

The successful man knows more about his own business than he does about other men's.

Summer Shortens

St. John's Nfld., Oct. 3.—The Newfoundland sealing steamer adventure, which is employed every summer as a transport ship in Hudson Bay for the famous fur trading concern of Revillon Freres, with its principal house in Paris and branches in London, New York, and Montreal, is just back from her cruise in the northern waters, and reports that the summers in the northern portions of the Hudson Bay are shortening, and that the season of navigation is becoming much more limited.

A curious feature of the present trip, says the report, is that one of the Revillon Company's officials, who returned by the ship, asserts that his conclusion is, after seven years in Hudson Bay, that the climatic conditions are steadily growing worse, and that the period of summer navigation is shortening. In proof of this he cites the fact that at Wakeham Bay the ice did not break up this year until the 5th of August, and the inlet began to freeze over on on the 3rd of September, leaving less than a month of free navigation.

This view is more or less concurred in by others of the party who were on board, and the general conclusion of the officers and crew is that as a trade route Hudson Bay may be regarded as a hopeless proposition, even though the Canadian Government has decided to build a railway north from Winnipeg to Port Nelson, and has already made considerable progress therewith, and though the same administration is spending immense sums in the endeavor to create a seaport with modern terminals for the shipping of grain in the Nelson estuary, where it is proposed that ocean steamers should take on cargoes of wheat for European ports, and bring back general cargoes for disbursal through all of Western Canada.

BUSINESS AS USUAL IN ST. JOHN, N. B.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—The business situation which has been considerably disturbed by the war, is gradually returning to its normal condition, and there is a decidedly better feeling prevailing among business men and manufacturers. The lumber and textile industries are showing evidences of a general improvement. Many trade enquiries are being received from Great Britain to supply lines of manufacturers that many and Austria. Hardware manufacturers are reaching out after this new business. It is very probable that the urgent demand for pit props that is coming from British collieries will be largely supplied through the Port of St. John. The Trade and Commerce Department of Ottawa has asked our lumbermen to send them quotations on this class of material, and these quotations are being forwarded. There is absolutely no limit to the quantity of pit props that are procurable in New Brunswick.

The ocean mail schedule for the approaching winter has not yet been definitely announced, although it has been reported that the service will be divided between this port and Halifax. The St. John board of trade which has been very active in pressing the claims of this port upon the government, has been advised that the subject had been taken up with the steamship companies prior to the outbreak of war, but no headway has been made owing to the existing state of affairs. So many steamers, according to the Postmaster General are being used by the government, that the providing of a mail service is rather difficult. The question of winter mail service has not been reached as yet.

PURSUING GERMANS TOWARD ALLENSTEIN

Two Russian Armies Announced to be Moving from Scene of Victories on Niemen River to Invade East Prussia Once More

PETROGRAD, Oct. 6.—Special—General Rennenkampf is pursuing the German northern army back into East Prussia, according to to-day's official report from the general staff's headquarters here. The Russian General is taking his forces back towards Allenstein, 50 miles southeast of Elbing, whither he penetrated at the beginning of the war, and whence the Russians were routed later with severe loss by the army of the German General von Hindenbrug. The official statement says:

"The defeat of the Germans is complete. Their retreat is changing into a rout that is so disorderly and precipitate that they are forced to abandon everything.

"Two Russian armies are proceeding, one from the east and another from the south, toward Allenstein.

"The German losses have not yet been officially ascertained, but it is estimated that they had 70,000 men disabled."

THE TURN OF THE TIDES.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood, leads on to Fortune."

Many Canadian business men are eagerly looking forward to the "turn in the tide" in Canadian trade. Some of them are saying: "Just wait until this war is over — the country will prosper, business will boom, and we will then start advertising on a large scale to get our share of it."

There is a wiser type of man; the man who is acting instead of talking — laying his plans now, so as to have his "boat of business" headed upstream when the tide turns; advertising now, because he knows that to delay until the war is over is to add a hundred-fold to the opposition his plea for "a share of the big business" must encounter.

Public opinion is not to be won over night. When the Canadian public lets loose its cash, the manufacturers and merchants to whom the golden stream will most freely flow, are those who are busy now creating good will for themselves and their goods.

To take the tide of business at its flood requires not days, not weeks, but months of preparation. Prepare now — advertise now —if you would later prosper.

ANTWERP FORTS STAND THE FIRE GERMANS BATTLING WITHOUT SUCCESS

Predominating Belief is That German Sojourn in French and Belgian Territory Will be Brief—Brilliant Tactics on Both Lines are of Frequent Occurrence, But Germans Gradually Lose Ground—Fighting Continues Violent

(Canadian Press Specials Exclusively to the Intelligencer)

ALLIES RETREAT BEFORE THE GERMANS

LONDON, Oct. 6—A Paris despatch this evening says today's official statement is taken to mean that the Germans have driven the Allies back at points where they have striven to reach the railway through Belgium over which the German reinforcements and supplies are being rushed. If the Allies could have cut this line they would have delivered a death blow to Von Kluck and Von Bachm. However, they still hold the railway line which parallels that held by the Germans extending from Amiens to Arras. They are also in touch with the Belgian positions in western Belgium.

It is announced from Tokio that the Allies continue to advance their lines at Kiacchou, despit determined resistance.

ADVANCES BY ALLIES NORTH OF SOISSONS

PARIS, Oct. 6.—An official communication issued this afternoon says, the Allies' front on the left wing is extending more and more widely. In the vicinity of Arras and on the right bank of the Somme the situation shows little change. An important attack made by the enemy near Lassigny failed. The Allies have made advances north of Soissons and in the vicinity of Berry-au-Bac. Large masses of German cavalry is reported in the vicinity of Lille. The German attacks on the Belgian lines at Antwerp have failed.

ENCOURAGING NEWS

BORDEAUX, Oct. 6.—News described as "most encouraging" has been received here to-day from Antwerp, which said the German attacks on that place seem to be slackening somewhat in intensity. German troops reported in official announcement to be near Lille indicate, in the opinion of French observers, that Germany has been forced to draw off forces from Antwerp to relieve the German right wing in France.

It is announced here on creditable authority that Winston Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty, is now in Antwerp consulting with the Belgian General Staff.

BERLIN ADMITS SITUATION IS DOUBTFUL

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Daily News Correspondent at Copenhagen telegraphs that Berlin papers admit that the situation is desperate. The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung says, the Germans are facing a difficult strategic situation in the Vosges, where the officers and men have been fighting in water filled trenches for thirty-seven days, unable to retire from the fighting line for rest, and unable to see the French artillery. The strain is almost unendurable and the bad weather is causing much sickness.

KAISER'S BLUFF CANNOT MISLEAD

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Daily Mail Correspondent at Belfort, France, says, that despite Germany's bluff that she is still holding Alsace, the French are there in such force that the Germans dare not attack them, and the French army of occupation might, if it choose, march unopposed right to the Rhine.

Germans Anxious To Take Antwerp

Belgians Adopt a Clever Ruse to Decimate Their Opponents--German Losses Heavy

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Antwerp correspondent of The Daily Telegraph telegraphing regarding the fighting around Antwerp, under date of Saturday says:

The Germans continue their desperate efforts to capture Antwerp. They are in a desperate hurry to accomplish it, pounding away unceasingly with their artillery at Forts Waelhem and Wavre-St. Catharines and flinging their infantry forward in frantic efforts to break through.

Their losses have been enormous and the numbers killed are estimated as high as 3,000 during the present movement.

The Belgians adopted a clever ruse at Waelhem. After the bombardment had lasted several hours the fort ceased reply, whereupon the German staff, thinking the fort out of action, ordered the infanty to advance in close formation. The Belgian gunners waited until they could see the whites of their eyes and then opened a murderous fire.

Thus far the forts in the outer ring of the Antwerp defences have suffered little harm from the German bombardment. The German big guns are not being worked by regular soldiers, but by men in citizen's clothing who wear only an armlet to indicate their military ocupation. Undoubtedly these men are employes of the Krupp factory hastily summoned to replace the losses among the regular gun layers. The heaviest German guns are located north of Vilvorde where foundations of reinforced concrete have been prepared.

The German shells have practically wiped out most of the little villages and hamlets in the outer circles of the Antwerp defences. The Germans still hold Malines, although at a heavy cost as the town is subject to constant bombardment from the Antwerp forts.

GOLD IN PLENTY

At noon on Saturday, Oct. 3rd, there was between forty and fifty million dollars in American gold in the vaults of the Finance Department at Ottawa which has received it in behalf of the Bank of England. Ten millions of this sum has been paid in by the so-called gold pool of American bankers, and against it bills to the same amount may be drawn that will be valid in London. The pool is endeavoring to impart some sort of stability to the foreign exchange market, which has been demoralized since the war broke out. The rest of the deposit, between thirty and forty millions has been placed there by various American concerns to meet their maturing obligations in London. The pool has authority from its principals to raise a gold fund of one hundred millions in all, and before it closes its operations may send a good deal more to Ottawa. It is taking time and some ingenuity to adjust business to the war order, but results are being achieved—Montreal Gazette.

WILL FIND WORK FOR CIVIC EMPLOYEES

Fake Canvasser is Under Arrest

Man Who Victimized Belleville People is Held by Police in Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—Wanted by the police of several Ontario towns and cities, John McCrae, no home, was arrested Saturday afternoon at a football game in Trinity College grounds at the request of Thomas Wauchope, who alleged that McCrae had swindled him out of a dollar.

Detective Murray, who has held a warrant for the man's arrest, states that McCrae, representing himself as a canvasser of a Detroit magazine is alleged to have been travelling through Ontario and fraudulently obtaining orders for the publication. Last week the police say that they have received complaints from Kincardine, Galt, Preston and Berlin regarding the man.

McCrae will appear in the Police Court today, and will be held until the police can thoroughly investigate his movements

Note: McCrae also worked Belleville and was given orders by a number of local people. Mr. Wauchope, who detected the swindler will be remembered as the recent head of the Belleville Business College.

Had Camera in Prisoners' Camp

An American, a stranger to Kingston, went over to Fort Henry, where the German prisoners are, and took with him a fine camera. When near the gates he took a couple of snaps and finally he filled the reels with some great pictures. He was just congratulating himself on his success when a heavy hand was laid on his shoulder and the machine was taken from his hands. It was opened and the film taken out, but the American considered that he was very fortunate in receiving his camera back without damage.

FOREIGNER STABBED

James Moray, Lies in Oshawa Hospital, and May Die.

WHITBY, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—James Morav, who was stabbed by a fellow-countryman, Antoni Bonjourni, on Saturday night, lies in the hospital at Oshawa in a grave condition. Bonjourni is being held by the police, and the nature of the charge against him will depend upon the result of Morav's wounds. It is said that Bonjourni was intoxicated and that he attacked Morav without any reason.

Appeals for End of Home Rule War

Mr. Redmonnd Will Meet Mr. Bonar Law "By Gentleness and Reason"

LONDON, Oct. 5.—John E. Redmond, the Irish leader, in making recruiting speeches at Wexford on Sun cruiting speeches at Wexford on Sunday, eloquently appealed for a reconciliation on the Home Rule question. He said:

"I will meet Mr. Andrew Bonar Law by gentleness and by reason. I pray with all my heart and soul that out of this terrible war one blessed result may come for Ireland( and that is that as Irishmen go on fighting side by side, Catholics or Protestants, and North of Ireland Irishmen by South of Ireland Irishmen, it may prove to be a sign of the future unity of our Irish nation.

"German domination means the loss of all the liberties we have won. I will put it quite plainly, as Gen. Botha, the South African Premier, did in his speech: 'Are you for Britain and her colonies, or are you on the side of Germany?'

"We canot remain aloof. The war has come upon us and we must make our choice. The only choice of honor, of safety and of statesmanship is to defend the Empire's liberties against their declared enemy."

BAY OF FUNDY SARDINE INDUSTRY

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 5.—Special—The sardine industry of the Bay of Fundy is enjoying one of the most profitable seasons in its history. The fish are very plentiful and the prices have run all the way from $10 to $30 per hogshead. Some fishermen have taken as high as $20,000 worth of fish and there are yet two months of the fishing season unexpired. The bulk of the fish have been sold to Maine packers. The big Canadian sardine factory at St. Andrews, which cost over half a million dollars, and which had been closed down for over a year owing to financial affairs, was recently sold to the Bank of Nova Scotia for $270,000. It is expected that this factory will open up under new auspices.

NEW BRUNSWICK MILLS OPEN

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 5.—Special—Moore's mill at Pleasant Point, which has been closed down for some time has resumed operations. Miller's mill also opened up for business last week and the mills of Miller, Moore & Co., are scheduled to open this week.

Farewell of Duke To Contingent

Governor Sent Message From Canadian People to the Departing Troops

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—Special— His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, on the departure of the Canadian expeditionary force for Europe, sent them the following farewell message in behalf of the Canadian people. It was read aboard each transport to the officers and men:—

"On the eve of your departure from Canada I wish to congratulate you on having the privilege of taking part, with the other forces of the Crown, in fighting for the King and Empire.

"You have nobly responded to the call of duty, and Canada will know how to appreciate the patriotic spirit that animates you.

"I have complete confidence that you will do your duty, and that Canada will have every reason to be proud of you.

"You leave these shores with the knowledge that all Canadian hearts beat for you, and that our prayers and best wishes will ever attend you. May God bless you and bring you back victorious.

"ARTHUR, F.M.,
"Governor-General of Canada."

Methodist Minister Called by Death

MONTREAL, Oct. 5.—Methodists in this city were shocked this morning when they learned of the sudden death over the week-end of Rev. Dr. W. H. Sparling at Carlton Place near Ottawa. Dr. Sparling was a member of the General Conference of the Methodist church and attended the conference held there last week. He is also an ex-president of the Montreal district conference and was present in Montreal when the annual meeting took place a few weeks ago.

His death is especially regretted among the older members of the church in Montreal inasmuch as he was pastor of the West End Methodist church here from 1893 until 1896. Since then he has held charges in Quebec, Sherbrooke, Brockville, Kingston and many other towns and many other towns and cities in Quebec and Toronto.

He is a cousin of Rev. Dr. William Sparling of Dominion Methodist chruch, Ottawa, who was elected presiden of the Montreal conference at the session held here recently.

CONSUL-GENERAL VISITS ST. JOHN

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 5.—Special—The Japanese Consul-General for Canada, Mr. Yada, visited St. John last week with a view to becoming familiar with eastern Canadian business conditions. As a result of a trip down the beautiful St. John river he was greatly impressed with the potential agricultural possibilities of New Brunswick. He expressed the conviction that the Province had a great future ahead, both along agricultural and general industrial lines.

GIVES TO THE PATRIOTIC FUND

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 5.—Special—An example of patriotic enthusiasm has been set by the Acadia Sugar Refining Company, which has donated five thousand dollars to the Patriotic Fund of the Empire.

BRITAIN SENDS INDIAN SOLDIERS TO AFRICA

LONDON, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—A statement given out today at the Foreign Office discloses the fact that Great Britain has transported a strong body of Indian troops to Africa to protect her possessions there. The statement says:

"During September there has been considerable activity along the Anglo-German boundaries of the Eastern African protectorate, due to attempts by the enemy to raid British territory and cut the Uganda Railway. All these attempts have been repulsed, and the raiding parties defeated in every case except one, where an unimportant frontier station is held by a small German party. The normal garrison of East Africa and Uganda has been strengthend since the outbreak of war by a strong body of Indian troops, and also by mounted and unmounted volunteer forces raised locally, and no anxiety is felt as to the military situation."

Cape Breton's New Industry

CAPE BRETON, N.S., Oct. 6.—Special—An enterprising Halifax concern with a fine eye for industrial opportunities has recognized the possibilities in the immense quantity of blue berries growing yearly at Blueberry Mountain and has erected a canning factory at New Campbellton. During the past three weeks some four hundred Indians from various parts of Cape Breton have been quartered on the immense plantation, and some idea of the enormous yield of this particular luscious fruit, may be gained from the fact that each Indian picker gathers in the vicinity of four gallons of blueberries a day. Early in the season blueberries were sold here at 70 cents a gallon, but when the berry pickers began to assemble the price dropped to 50 cents a gallon, which is the prevailing figure here at present. However, the Indians can afford to sell cheaper to the new factory at Campbellton, where they readily accept 25 cents per gallon, and make good wages at that price. It is rumored that next year another canning factory will be opened in northern Victoria county, where an immense blueberry barren yearly yields thousands of gallons. In the past only a small portion of these berries were picked, the rest being allowed to go to waste on account of the difficulties experienced in sending them here or some other market. Should the factory be established in northern Victoria county it will no doubt prove a profitable investment besides being a boon to the people of the locality during the blueberry season.

Chairman Platt Frees His Mind

Lays Blame on the City Engineer Against Whom The Intelligencer Had no Grievance

Belleville, Oct. 6, 1914.

Editor of Intelligencer.

Dear Sir,—With your kind permission I should like to publish the following letter in answer to your comments in yesterday's paper about the action of the City Council re the Street Superintendent.

For the information of your readers here is a copy of the resolution that was rescinded: "That the City Engineer be empowered to employ and dismiss all labor in his department including foremen and that laborers' wages be graded according to the value of the men employed."

Now sir, any one can see that no privilege has been taken, from the Street Superintendent because as the resolution reads that power was vested in the City Engineer. But as a matter of fact the Street Superintendent has done most of the hiring and discharging of labor, and pradoxical as it may seem, no one is going to interfere with him.

The Chairman of Public Works is not grasping after patronage as you insinuate in your paper, for Mr. Henderson is still hiring and discharging the workmen the same as he always did.

There is no need either for the citizens to worry or sit up nights thinking about those cave-ins and dangerous culverts that might require immediate attention, for Mr. Henderson will be on the job the same as he always has been and will not be asked to hunt up that important personage, the Chairman of Public Works.

Then why rescind the resolution? What members of the Council found fault with was, that the Engineer and Street Superintendent hired men, gave them what they chose and didn't consult any member of the Council in the least. Accounts would come in to the Council to pay men they had hired that would astonish you. For example the engineer was so overrun with work this summer that he thought he needed an assistant engineer. He hired one. The Council knew nothing about it till pay day came. Yet this same Engineer can leave the city's work for two or three days at a stretch to go and work for some one else, and expects the city to pay for his time. What do you think of it, Mr. Taxpayer?

In the work on the upper bridge men were given three and four dollars a day for doing the work an ordinary laborer could do? Is this a square deal?

Apart from the labor question, our employees have spent thousands of dollars this summer without ever thinking of consulting the Council or any of its members.

For instance, the Engineer thought we needed a motor to run the crusher, so he bought one of his own sweet will. After he bought the motor he thought he could get the crushed rock cheaper by buying a carload at a time, and, presto! a carload came to the station for which the city had to pay.

What kind of juggling is this with the taxpayers' hard-earned dollars? Citizens, will you stand for it?

There are many other things I should like to mention but my letter is already getting too long. I care not a fig if I ever sit in the Council Chamber another night, but whilst I am there I'm not going to be a putty man and let things drift as they have been doing. It is all very fine to talk about dismissing public officials when they transgress their duties; it is another thing to get them dismissed, especially when the pull is the right way.

I thank you, Mr. Editor, for bringing this matter to the public notice.

DR. E. O. PLATT,
Chairman P. W.

NOTE.—It is quite evident The Intelligencer has stirred up the bile of the Chairman of Public Works. It is well that it is so, as facts, if facts they are, have been brought to light not before known by the public. It will be noted that a copy of the resolution repealed is given by the Chairman, but that which was substituted is withheld. Why? It will also be noted that the Chairman's defence is an attack upon the City Engineer, to whom The Intelligencer did not refer in its comments. It confined its remarks to the hampering of the Street Superintendent in the performance of his duties.

The City Engineer is seriously arraigned, who is quite able to defend himself unless he lives in holy horror of the Chairman of Public Works, of which there are serious doubts. Thanks on behalf of the public, for an assurance by the worthy Chairman of Public Works that they may sleep in peace, fearing no accidents from cave-ins, etc. As the Chairman is, we understand, a Dr., he ought to know.

ALD. ST. CHARLES DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF TROUBLE

In an interview with an Intelligencer representative to-day, Alderman St. Charles denied knowledge of the trouble with the workmen at the upper bridge, saying that he had in no way interfered with the men, nor was the matter of wages or work production discussed by him to the slightest degree. As a practical man, Mr. St. Charles stated that there was a danger of pressing the work on the bridge too rapidly, the quality, rather than the quantity of a day's service weighing in favor of the best possible production, with which we heartily agree. The Intelligencer is pleased to make this statement, in that knowing nothing of the disagreement until after it had occured, he was innocent of any part in the alleged strike.

GEN. VON MOLTKE QUITS

German Chief of Staff Succeeded by Gen. Voightsrhetz.

Unofficial Advices From Berlin Indicate Serious Trouble In German War Office, Which Results In Sudden Change of Leaders at Most Critical Moment — New Leader Does Not Figure In Official Lists.

LONDON, Oct. 6. — Gen. Voightsrhetz has been appointed chief of the German general staff to succeed Gen. Relmuth Von Moltke, according to unofficial advices from Berlin.

The deposed general is the nephew of the great leader who directed Prussian operations in 1870 which resulted in the defeat of France. On Jan. 1, 1906, he was appointed chief of staff. The elevation took place over his protest, it being said that Von Moltke did not feel himself fully qualified for the high command. However, he is credited with being an excellent soldier and has done a great deal to increase the efficiency of the German soldier.

Gen. Voightsrhetz, who succeeds him, is almost unknown. His name appears in none of the usual reference works. He is the son of a well-known commander of 1870 who lead a division and afterwards became governor of Hanover. When he died an infantry regiment was named after him.

GEN. VON MOLTKE.

The military expert of The Standard, commenting on the removal of Gen. Von Moltke, says:

"If this is true, it is news, indeed, for it will constitute a serious panic in high places. Even in minor affairs of the world, it is not often that the policy known as 'swapping horses while crossing a stream' is adopted.

"There must be something very gravely wrong indeed if the Germans find it necessary to get rid of the man who originated and directed the whole of the strategy of their campaign, and that at a vitally critical moment.

"One cannot, for instance, believe that Von Moltke of his own initiative and free will withdraw troops from France at a moment when they were urgently needed to secure a decisive result in that area of war. Having withdrawn them, one cannot imagine Von Moltke sending them on a useless errand to East Prussia, when their presence in Galicia might have saved the Austrian army from disaster.

"But if he was responsible for such a fatuous policy, then supercession is not sufficient punishment. He should be sent to take a landsturn division into action."

VESSEL SUNK BY MINE.

British Steamer Goes Down Between Dover and Holland.

LONDON, Oct. 6. — Telegraphing from Ostend, the Exchange Telegraph Co. correspondent says:

"The steamer Ardmount, loaded with grain, which left Dover at 6.30 o'clock yesterday morning for Zeebrugge, Holland, struck a mine. Her crew of 35 was saved."

The Ardmount was from Galveston and it is reported that when she reached Falmouth last Saturday, she was ordered on to Antwerp.

The British steamer Ardmount, a vessel of 3,510 tons, commanded by Capt. Ronald, sailed from Galveston Sept. 9, and arrived at Falmouth Oct. 3, and sailed shortly afterwards for Antwerp. The Ardmount was owned by the Ashmount Steamship Co., of Glasgow.

Whole Army Imprisoned!

PARIS, Oct. 6. — A statement in The Figaro has aroused much interest to the effect that the Grand Duchess of Luxemburg has been imprisoned in a castle near Nuremberg, and that the little army of the country, amounting to only 250 men, has also been seized and imprisoned, including their commander.

Three Charged With Assault.

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 6.—Fred Person, Edmund McGrath, and Jas. Augerman, three youths of Merritton, accused of complicity in a brutal assault on John Marshall, a storekeeper on Sept. 4, with Angele Delori, an Italian, were yesterday committed for trial.

There seem to be more blockheads in the world than wooden legs.

It takes a strong-minded man to admit he is in the wrong when he is.

No need to get mad now, tear up the paper, or shout "nonsense, good tea or coffee never hurt anyone."

You know better than that, for you can point out all around you folks who are the worse for their slugging.

Think over a few tea or coffee drinking friends and casually enquire if they are entirely and perfectly well and just how tea or coffee treats them.

If it hurts others isn't it just possible—?

Catch the drift, don't you?

In fact after having studied the matter a bit it will become plain that if you are a tea or coffee-drinker the chances are that some form of incipient or perhaps fixed organic disease due to tea or coffee has set in, headache, biliousness, constipation, nervousness, sleeplessness, heart flutter or others of the well-proven tea and coffee ills. ## Suit For Damages Against the Town

William Hewitt Sues the Town of Brockville for Ten Thousand Dollars for the Death of His Son

Notice of trial has been served by Porter & Carnew, of Belleville, solicitors for William Hewitt, of Brockville, in an action against the Town of Brockville, asking ten thousand dollars damages for the death of his son, John Morton Whitney Hewitt, which it is alleged by plaintiff was caused by a defective electric light wire about two years ago. The death occurred on the street after a severe storm with sleet which broke down the wires. Hewitt was going back to work after his dinner and grasped a live wire, death resulting shortly after. The service of notice of trial would indicate that the case will be placed on the calendar for trial at the assizes which open in Brockville on October 13. The town will be represented by Hutcheson & Driver. — Brockville Times.

LETTER FROM E. WALLACE

On board T. S. S. "Cassandria,"
Oct. 2, 1914.

Mrs. Robt. Wallace,
132 South John Street,
Belleville.

Dear Mother,—

I am going to write a letter which may or may not be posted. We are some where, where there is water—gallons of it. It is very salty, or in other words, we are on the sea. I do not know where, and if I did I would not tell you at the present. Suffice it to say that if the Germans know no more about our whereabouts than we do, why we are safe.

The British Bull-Dogs are near us. We have a fleet of transports assembled here and we have the appearance of participants in a Spithead review. We have pinned our faith to Winston Churchill and Sam Hughes and some day you will hear of us again.

I am in G. Company of the Second Battalion. I am the only 34th officer on board. There may be others in the fleet, but we do not know. There are some fine ships in the fleet. Right astern of us are The Lapland and The Royal George. They are fine ships.

G. Company of the 2nd Batt. has some fine officers. I am the smallest, and I am no dwarf exactly. We average six feet or over. I am the lightest in weight, and I cannot qualify as a featherweight at that. So you can see that if it comes to a free-for-all among the officers we need not worry about results. However I am the only Irishman of the bunch and can trim any one of them if it comes to a show-down.

This salt air has given me an appetite. You should see me eat. I can eat like a horse after a ten mile trot when confronted with a feed of oats. However I expect that having received freely I shall be able to freely give as soon as Father Neptune tries to be funny.

You may wonder how a fellow feels when starting off on a trip like this. Well, can you recall the Bridge Street Picnics in the old days? Well, you have it. We however realize that this is no picnic but our spirits are just the same as if it were. We have promised to do several things to the Kaiser, but I read in a week old paper yesterday that he had a programme mapped out for us. We thank him for his consideration. However, Kruger mapped out similar entertainment for the Canucks, and William may carry out his intentions as did Oom Paul in the old days.

You have heard that we are 70 per cent. British born. I believe it. I had men and every one almost had a to write out the home addresses of 120 Somersetshire or some such name tacked on to it. Well, I must not draw this out too long. My last chance to mail this may expire at any moment and it may never materialize; however I am taking a chance.

Ed. O'Flynn, Dick Ponton and I are in the same battalion, but all three are in different companies. All are well. We have two sick men on board.

I do not like the way they work the time on board ship. They cut off a little time every day your are sailing, but they rob you of your sleep. If they would cut it off in the daytime instead of the night, providing they did not interfere with meals, yours truly would be more satisfied.

The crew of our ship are all Scotch except one. He is the wireless operator. He comes from Cork. He is sure Irish, and that is more than I can say for any Scotchman I ever met except John McIntosh and Prof. Johnstone.

Well, kindly remember me to all. Drop a line to some of my friends. I have not time to write to them. Tell them I am O.K., but Neptune is not busy as yet. I have not see any whales. It is too cold for sharks—except the card kind, but we have plenty of jelly-fish. They remind me of some of our Church Parade heroes at home whose motto was Primus Securatus — Safety First — and whose greatest trouble was Pedas Frigitus — Cold Feet. I may come home some day; but do not worry. Worse things might happen. Kindest regards to all, not forgetting the new officers.

Your loving son,
ERNEST.

RUSSIANS FIGHTING BEHIND BARRICADES

To Keep Our Workers Busy

For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.

Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning

We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in non-employment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.

You Reap the Advantage

Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

PLEASING INITIAL STAR COURSE AT Y.M.C.A.

The first of the Star Course entertainments in connection with the Y.M.C.A., was held last evening, and the attendance was all that could have been desired. The Tyrolean Alpine Swiss Singers and Yodlers were to have appeared, but, as explained by Mr. Hess, this musical organization was unable to be satisfied that there transportation from one country to another on account of the war was to be assured. In their place another aggregation was secured, consisting of Messrs. J. H. Cameron, H. Ruther McDonald of Toronto as soloists, Miss Marie Southall, violinist, and Dr. Harvey Robb, pianist. The entertainment given was all that could have been desired and it was thoroughly appreciated by all present. Each are artists in their respective class, and were in each number rendered by them compelled to respond to encore. Messrs. Cameron and McDonald are not strangers to a Belleville audience, and they have not lost any of their old time proficiency. As a pianist Mr. Robb is certainly wonderful, and Miss Southall as a violin soloist was all that could have been desired. The programme presented was as follows:

Part I.
Piano Solo—"Alice" .. .. .. .. .. .. ..
Dr. Harvey Robb.
Solo—"Out in the Deep" .. .. Lohr
Mr. H. Ruthven McDonald.
Violin Solo—"Concerto" .. De Beriot
Mss Marie Southall.
Song—"Mother Engînad's Sons"
.... .. .. ... ...... ....... McKay
Mr. J. H. Cameron.
Viola Solo—"Meditation"
(from Thais) .. .. .. Massanet
Miss Marie Southall
Recitation—"The Spell of the Yukon" .... .. .. .. .. Service
Mr. J. H. Caremon.
Part II.
Piano Solo—"Hungarian Rhapsody" .... .. .. .. .. .. .. Liszt
Dr. Harvey Robb.
Solo—"It's a Long Way To Tiperrary" .. .. .. .. Williams
Mr. H. Ruthven McDonald.
Violin Solo—"Humoreske"
.... .. .. .. .. .. .. .. .... De Vorok
Miss Marie Southall.
Musical Monologue—"The Lion And The Antelope." .. .. .. ..
Mr. J. H. Cameron.
Solo—"The Call of the Motherland" .. .. .. .. .. .. .. Miller

GOOD NEWS FOR LADIES

A a joint meeting of the Women's Institute held in the High School on Monday afternoon the following announcement was received with applause.

For some time, at the urgent request of several ladies, the Directors of the Y.M.C.A. have been planning to provide Gymnastic Classes as well as swimming lessons in the Y.M.C.A. building.

The only hours available are on Wednesday and Friday, from four to seven p.m. It is planned to conduct the first class as soon as there are 15 or more applications. This class will meet from four to five p.m.

A class for employed girls will be from six to seven p.m. as soon as there are 15 or more applications. The fees are payable in advance and will be fifty cents per month, or two dollars for six months. Girls must be at least 15 years or age in order to enter.

The girls or ladies will always be chaperoned by an apopinted member of the Y.M.C.A. Ladies Auxiliary, under whose patronage the classes are being organized.

The Gymnastic class will be directed by Mr. Faulkner, the physical director, while an expert lady swimmer will be in charge of the Swimming Pool Class.

As soon as a class is formed, the members of the class will be called together and particulars furnished as to the kind and style of dress to secure. There is no doubt but that there will soon be a need of forming a second and a third class.

15 YEARS SUFFERING FROM PILES

Mr. J. McEwen of Dundas, Ont., writes:—"For fifteen years I suffered with Piles and could get no permanent cure until I tried Zam-Buk. Perseverance with this herbal balm resulted in a complete cure, and I have not been troubled with the painful ailment since."

Mr. Henry Fougere of Poulamond, N.S., says:—"I suffered terribly with Piles and could find nothing to give me relief until I tried Zam-Buk. This cured me. I consider Zam-Buk the finest ointment on the market."

The above are specimens of the many letters we are constantly receiving from men and women who have ended their suffering by using Zam-Buk. Why not do likewise?

Seven Feet Of Pure Honey

A bee tree located some time ago in the sugar bush of James Black of Everton was cut down and the bees successfully hived. The tree, a large maple, was opened some 25 feet from the stump, and found to contain over seven feet of beautiful honey in the comb, about 12 inches in diameter, and nearly 150 pounds in weight. It is only a short time since there was located and tapped a standing basswood tree in Erin Township with a good find of honey, the colony in this case being of the thoroughbred Italian species.—Brockville Times.

THE HOME GUARDS OF OLD BELLEVILLE

(By Alice Pyne McDavitt)

We have read of mighty Admirals
Who did brave deeds at sea,
Of Raleigh, Blake and Nelson
From whom the foe did flee.

And farther back in ancient times
Tramped Caesar's legions bold,
And Alexander's warriors brave,
And Charlemagne's we're told.

Did many gallant deeds of fame,
And led their conquering hosts
Till rivers ran with foemens' blood
Who slain—the day had lost.

But nobler far than all of these Brave Generals of old
Are the Home Guard of fair Belleville
Where names are now enrolled.

To fight for home and honor,
For all that makes life dear,
Led forth by Sir Mackenzie
Known both far and near.

A veteran—four score and ten,
Ah: who could coward be
When pondering o'er the members names
We read of such as he!

Lazier, Ponton, Stewart, Flint,
And so the list does go,
The names of Sons of Belleville
Who drill to meet the foe.

All honor to the Brave Home Guard,
Three cheers we give to-day,
For we have heroes—don't forget;
At Belleville on the Bay.

OPENING EVENING OF ST ANDREWS GUILD

St. Andrews Church Guild opened for the season last evening with a very interesting programme, consisting of chorus singing, a pleasing solo by Mrs. A. P. Allen; an instrumental selection by Mrs. Collins; an address by Rev. A. S. Kerr; a travel sketch by Mr. L. E. Allen; solo by Mr. Bowie; and an instrumental selection by Miss Kerr, the whole concluding with the National Anthem.

The Guild is in excellent working condition, and the attendance, for the first gathering, was most gratifying.

How Thin People Can Put on Flesh

A NEW DISCOVERY

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Omit the flesh cream rub-ons. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating now and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay there" fat should be the net result. Sargol charges your weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—gives the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of the body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food and prepares it for the blood in easily assimilated form. Thin people gain all the way from 10 to 20 pounds a month while taking Sargol, and the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a scientific combination of six of the best flesh-producing elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and J. S. McKeown's Drug Store and all other druggists in Belleville and vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back.

THE LIBERAL POLICY HON. JOSEPH MARTIN

The Hon. Joseph Martin has turned his back upon the Liberal Party in England, and returns to what he deems a more congenial political clime—Canada.

The Hon. Joseph was fortunate enough to secure a seat in the House of Commons, England, for a constituency of advanced Radicalism, but found on coming in contact with the solid people of the old land, of his own party, that neither his talents or ability was appreciated, approved or adopted, so he abandoned the task of attempting the reformation of the English Liberal party, and the mode of administering Empire affairs by an English Cabinet and Parliament, Liberal in politics, though they professed to be, hence he returns to his native heath where he thinks his services will be better appreciated, and loses no time in entering into an alliance, offensive and defensive, with Sir Wilfrid Laurier to take charge of and fight the battle of Gritism in the Western Prairie Provinces, and in British Columbia at the next general election, when he will have meted out to him and his party the same treatment they received at the election in 1911.

There is one advantage in having the hon. gentleman once more in the political arena, he is bold and hesitates not to tell the electors what he thinks they should do. In the present case he lost no time in ascertaining the views of his leader, and having extracted from Sir Wilfrid before linking his fate with him, what his policy was to be in the future, and having obtained it, at the first opportunity informed an interviewer in Winnipeg on the 2nd Sept. what the result of his interview with Sir Wilfrid was. It was as revealed by himself as follows:—

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier and I had an interview recently with regard to the general position of the Liberal party. After a thorough discussion of the position, I found that I was able to accept Sir Wilfird's suggestion that I should take an active part in the next Dominion campaign. Sir Wilfrid has invited me to assist the party in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

"I am authorized by Sir Wilfrid to state that it will be the policy of the Liberal party to take the tariff entirely off agricultural implements of every kind and description, large and small, and this will also apply to mining machinery. The Liberal party will also, if returned to power, increase the British preference. Of course the policy of free wheat, to satisfy the recent American tariff act, will be granted by the Liberals.

"Sir Wilfrid has stopped all campaign work during the war, and so far as I am concerned, this line of policy will continue."

The platform, therefore, in the future campaign of the Liberal party is free trade in "Agricultural Implements of every kind and description, large and small"; that is from a spade to a reaper and binder, etc. This plank is a sop to the western provinces which they are to swallow, and which the Hon. Joseph is to expound.

Miners and saw mill owners are not forgotten, they are to have free trade also, but nothing is promised in the line of free trade in lumber, though that would please the prairie farmers, where there is a scarcity of lumber, but would not meet the approval of the British Columbian lumberman, who are an influential body at the time of election contests, hence no intimation of an interference with their interests is given.

Fortunately the agricultural implement manufacturers in Canada, have under a protective tariff, become so strong and acquired such a reputation for their goods in all parts of the world, as to enable them to sustain a little further reduction in the tariff, though low enough at present. In the past all, or nearly all of the large agricultural implement manufacturers have been ardent supporters of the Liberal party, and are now to receive their reward, should that party be again returned to power, of which, unless we mistake public opinion, there is not much chance, unless the people have forgotten the past record and the treachery of the Liberal party to every promise made by it.

The promised increase in the British Preference rates is but another step in the line of free trade, under the gauge of affection for the Mother Land. Should it be attempted, it will in all probability be upon the same lines as that which guided the Hon. Mr. Fielding, late Finance Minister, who first increased the rates of duty and then generously reduced them on goods imported from Great Britain, proving that humbug could be practiced in tariff reform, as well as in other lines of business.

On the whole Mr. Martin is to be congratulated on his boldness, a quality his leader does not possess, in letting the people know what they may expect, if unfortunately the Laurierites ever again attain power.

THE PURCHASING COMMITTEE

One of the most important duties of the Government in the present war crisis has been to act as purchasing agent for the British Government. Britain must have enormous quantities of food products, and the Canadian Government is securing much of this for the home authorities.

A purchasing committee composed of Hon. Robert Rogers, chairman; Sir George Foster, Hon. Frank Cochrane, Hon. J. D. Reid, Hon. Martin Burrell, Hon. L. P. Pelletier and Hon. A. E. Kemp was appointed. This committee has purchased and shipped 1,200,000 bushels of oats and 10,000 tons of hay. The work was carried out with wonderful rapidity. Within 30 days from receipt of instructions, the hay was purchased, pressed, shipped and landed in France.

The committee have also been of the greatest assistance to the British Government in assisting in purchasing remounts. Thousands of horses have been purchased and shipped, and this work is still continuing, and will continue until the war ceases. There will be a market for every available horse in Canada fit for military purposes.

The work of the committee is, however, just beginning. Immense purchases of other supplies will have to be made. In addition to the purchase of supplies for Britain, this committee purchased the 1,000,000 bags of flour—Canada's gift to the Motherland.

HANDLING THE GRAIN CROP

Another record is being made this year in the handling of the great grain crop of the West. Previous to 1912 there had for many years been grain blockades, entailing great loss to the farmers. That of 1911 was particularly disastrous. Last year the greatest crop in the history of the West was carried to the Great Lakes with a rapidity that was astonishing. There was not a single instance of car shortage or delay in the crop movement.

This year the returns so far indicate an even greater movement. Up to September 19 almost double the quantity of grain had been carried out than during the same period last year. There is, therefore, little or no danger of any blockade. The Government's transportation policy has been amply justified both this year and last.

Another pleasing feature is the excellent quality of the grain. So far 80 per cent. has graded three northern or better. This, it is thought, indicates that the aggregate yield will be greater than estimated.

CURRENT COMMENT

St. Thomas Journal: "Mr. Crothers congratulates the people of West Elgin upon Mr. Macdiarmid's elevation to the Ontario Cabinet. Too bad the people of West Elgin haven't something to congratulate Mr. Crothers upon in return." Mr. Crothers has good reason to congratulate himself that he is not in the same class with the editor of the St. Thomas Journal.

Toronto News: "A united Conservative party and co-operation between between the Dominion and Provincial leaders was the "Whitney tradition." And will be continued.

Montreal News: "Sons of British peers who married American girls are being killed or wounded frequently at the front. Uncle Sam can't help taking interest in the British cause."

It may be incumbent to love our enemies and pray for them, but when a man in our midst publicly prays that they may defeat and conquer us he is exceeding the bounds of our toleration.

Choosing a term in jail in preference to the tramp steamer Askehall and serving under Captain Harris, thirteen sailors were recently sentenced to jail for twelve weeks by Judge Lanctot, at Montreal.

Sarah Bernhardt has "taken her pen in hand" to tell how France regards the war. The essence of the article is that at longlast France has the chance to "get even"; and Germany gave it without knowing it "was loaded."

Toronto Globe: "The absurd proposal to hold a municipal contest on "party" lines shows how widespread is the belief that Governments exist for the making of jobs." This is always the cry where the Liberals are in a minority.

War Notes

The Kaiser is reported to have returned to Cologne yesterday. It is an open secret that the German General Staff operating in France is glad to get rid of his presence. Royal interference in the war has proved that the Kaiser is no strategist.

Toronto Globe: "The German General who had the Kaiser's commission as Governor of Paris in his pocket, can make his fortune by selling it to some enterprising American millionaire as a momento of William the Premature."

London Daily News: "Breslau is the real key to the defence of Berlin. If a Russian army is moving in force against Breslau, the Germans will be compelled to withdraw their forces from East Prussia and concentrate on Breslau for the defence of the capital. When that stage is reached—and, of course, it may take some weeks to develop —Germany will be unable to afford to keep her best troops in Farnce."

London Chronicle: "So long as we hold the sea, we cannot be vitally struck; and Russia, owing to her vast area and giant reserves of men and horses, is almost equally impregnable. These two great Empires, ruled by perhaps the two most dogged of the European races, saved Europe a century ago, and must rise superior to all reverses in the effort to save it today."

By the way, did you ever heaf of a man complain because the serman was too short?

There is nothing a married woman enjoys more than helping a spinster to get into the same kind of trouble.

The Clergy And the War

Rev. Dr. Herridge of Ottawa, Moderator of the General Assembly, preached Sunday night at Dovercourt Road (Toronto) Presbyterian Church from the text, "There was war in heaven."

"God help us," he said, "there is war on earth to-day; cruel, desolating war such as never was seen before, the cause of which is the colossal egotism in high places, which, for a time at least, has had its way. Upon the issue of this conflict hangs the quality and trend of civilization in years to come. May God defend the right!"

"It is a good thing," continued the preacher, "for us to be shocked out of our conventions sometimes. Heaven is always regarded as a place of peace, and here we find that it rings with the clash of arms. Men sigh for heaven and dread hell, but the truth is both are locked up in that little world—the human soul. When the wrong people get into heaven there is bound to be war, and either they or heaven must go! And there is bound to be war on earth until all the works of the devil are destroyed. There must be more peace on earth before we talk of peace in heaven. This war between Christian nations does not mean the fate of Christian principles, those priciples have never been fully tried. We must get rid of our bigotries and strife and learn to help others."

The Rev. Byron H. Stauffer, in Bond Street Congregational Church on the 27th ult., declared that there must be "something wrong with Christianity" when we find "that three of Queen Victoria's grandsons (King George, Emperor William and Czar Nicholas, who is a grandson by marriage) should be at war with each other is an awful reflection upon the Christianity professed by Europe. There is," continued the preacher, "something terribly disturbing about the thought that all of these countries which have unsheathed the sword are professedly Christian. There must be something formal and hollow about Christianity.

"Is it an ecclesiasticism which is in the way? Does the Church shut off our vision of the Christ? Have men when disgusted with the machinery and the chicanery of Church bodies made the fatal mistake of casting aside Jesus also We have preached personal salvation, but not social duty. The old notion has been, What does Jesus do for me? The new is, What must I do for Jesus? We have preached a Christ that saves from hell; we must preach a Christ that saves to love and serve us in heaven."

HUNTER OF 108 YEARS SHOOTS TWO BIRDS

WINDSOR, Oct. 5.—Abraham Kittlehune, believed to be the oldest Mason in the world, and the oldest resident of Essex county, celebrated his 108th birthday anniversary at his home in Kingsville yesterday. He is as vigorous as a man half his age, sleeps well and eats heartily.

Mr. Kittlehune was born in Waterford, N.Y., October 3, 1806. His father, William Kittlehune, died at the age of 104 years and six months, and his mother at the age of 99. His grandfather served as a General with George Washington in the War of Independence.

He has been married twice, and is the father of six children, one of whom, Mrs. Harrison, Bay City, Mich., has passed her 78th year.

Only last week Mr. Kittlehune went hunting and after bringing down two birds, prepared and cooked them himself. He says he expects to live at least ten years more.

WORK FOR ALL

If the men and women of Canada will buy nothing but "Canadian-Made" Goods from now to January First, every workman in Canada will be employed and the country will enjoy a period of prosperity hitherto undreamed of.

Canadian manufacturers are doing their duty under present stress in endeavoring to keep plants running and men employed regardless of profits.

Good Canadians will show enlightened patriotism, as well as sound business common sense, by buying only "Made in Canada" goods, thus building up their own prosperity and looking after those who remain at home.

And "Made in Canada" goods offer equal value with those made anywhere else in the world.

DISTRESS OF NATIONS WITH PERPLEXITY

"A Time of Trouble Such as Never Was."

CLASHING PRAYERS ASCEND

Great Confusion of Thought—The Present War Long Foretold In Prophecy—All Nations to Be Involved—Inefficiency of All Gentile Kingdoms to Bring Lasting Peace—Need of Divine Interposition—Nebuchadnezzar's Dream of Gentile Supremacy—"Times of the Gentiles" Now Expiring—The World's Hope—Messiah's Kingdom.

PASTOR RUSSELL

October 4.—Pastor Russell's discourse to-day was strictly up to date. He took for his text the Master's words, "Upon the earth distress of nations with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring; men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things that are coming on the earth." (Luke 21:25, 26.) He said in part:

Never was there such a war as there is at the present time. Peculiar conditions have arisen, more so than has ever been known before in the history of the world. With the utter destruction of civilization impending, present conditions seem to take on a peculiar force as we think of what relationship God has to all these matters.

On every hand prayers for peace are ascending to God. Some are praying for the success of the allied armies—which means the slaughter of the Germans, Austrians and Hungarians; others are praying for just the reverse; still others are praying that the war shall not go on. All this shows great confusion of thought. How could all these prayers be heard? The Master has told us that we are to pray in accord with the Word of God. Therefore, before praying on the subject, it would be well to determine what are God's purposes in regard to this war, in order to pray in harmony with His arrangements. Instead of telling the Almighty what to do, we should all hearken to His Word, and take note of what He says about this war and the terrible Armageddon which will follow it—the "Time of Trouble such as was not since there was a nation."

As I read my Bible with clearer eyes than once I read it, I see so many things different from what once I thought that I have great sympathy with people who are confused on this matter. As I read the Bible, God has foretold this very war and has indicated just what is happening to-day. Through the Prophet Joel He has said to all nations, "Let the weak say, I am strong. * * * Let the nations be wakened, and come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat"—to the Battle of the great Day of God Almighty. If God prophesied this war of nations, then we need not pray that He stop a war which He has foretold would take place.

Surely, so far as the present war has gone, it has brought a greater number to the grave than has any previous war. Many, doubtless, will be shocked at the declaration that this war and the still greater calamity to follow are of Divine arrangement. Nevertheless, the gathering of the nations to the present struggle is referred to in the Prophet's words, where the weak nations are called upon to assert their strength and to go down, all of them, to the Valley of Jehoshaphat—otherwise the Valley of Graves.

In harmony with this prophecy, the nations have for years been "beating their plowshares into swords, and their pruning-hooks into spears," in the sense that money has been spent for military purposes which should properly have been spent in agricultural implements and developments. Apparently all the nations of the world will yet be involved. Happy would it be if our own land should escape! We are very glad to note that our President and our Secretary of State are men of peace, and will surely do all in their power to avoid complications and war itself. Nevertheless, it is reasonable to expect that the great nations of Europe, realizing how much they will be weakened by the war, will do all in their power to ensnare these United States, lest at the conclusion of the war we should tower too much above the other nations in financial strength and in every other way.

But to the majority it is very confusing to think that God would bring about any great war. There is surely something wrong or there would not be such perplexity; for the Lord tells His people that they will not be in darkness. Speaking about this Time of Trouble, St. Paul says, "But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that Day should overtake you as a thief. Ye are all the children of the light, and the children of the Day" (1 Thessalonians 5:1-6.) God's people should have general information regarding His plans, purposes and arrangements.

Only as we look at the Divine Plan as a whole can we understand God's relationship with this bloody war—and with all war. Many have seen only small portions of the Divine Plan, and so have failed to grasp the great lengths, breadths, heights and depths of God's great Purpose. But whoever has an understanding of the great Plan of God will ever after be able rightly to appreciate and to locate not only the events of to-day, but also everything that is coming; for the Bible outlines the history of man.

The Scriptures clearly teach that our earth is the only rebellious province in all God's fair creation. In this little planet God has permitted sin to take its course—to bud, to blossom, to bring forth its fruitage—that both men and angels may see the dire results of opposition to the Divine Government. The Bible tells us how this world became rebellious. It tells us that God did not create mankind imperfect, as we are to-day. Man was created perfect, an earthly being—in the image of His Heavenly Creator, in the sense of having a moral character, but limited to earthly conditions. This perfect man was placed in a perfect home in every way adapted to his needs. This Eden was especially prepared for him, and he was to enjoy it. But he was the king of the whole earth; and therefore his Creator instructed him that, as his family increased, he was to subdue the earth and develop it. Had mankind remained in harmony with God, the whole world would have become as Eden.

God foreknew just what would occur, however. He foreknew Adam's sin and fall, as well as the mental, moral and physical degeneracy which would result from the disobedience of our first parents. He foreknew our weakness and imperfection, our attempts at moral, religious and mental reform and at mental and physical health. Yet He permitted all this to come to pass.

Sin entered the world, and has continued to rest upon the human family for six thousand years. This curse of sin and death is upon mankind. God's penalty for sin is death, and whether it comes through pestilence, famine, war or by slower processes, matters little. There is no one so stupid but that he can see that the whole course of human history has been a reign of Sin and Death.

The Bible tells us that God has permitted this condition to continue for the past six thousand years as a great lesson on the exceeding sinfulness of sin and on the utter hopelessness of any other help than that which He Himself has provided. For six great Days of a thousand years each—from Adam's time until now—Sin and Death have reigned over the race. These are man's work Week, in which he has been permitted to try everything he could imagine for his own relief from sin and its penalty—death.

And now, after the Week has drawn to a close, what do we find? Mankind are still dying—mentally, morally, physically. So far from gaining life for our race, all our efforts through doctors, scientists, etc., have accomplished practically nothing. Yea, our most learned physicians and specialists tell us that the world is on the verge of a collapse. They say that at the present rate of increase there would not be, in a hundred and sixty years from now, enough sane people in the world to care for the insane. They tell us that various diseases are increasing so rapidly as to endanger the existence of the race in a very short time; and this in face of the fact that sanitary conditions are made a necessity, even to the extent of providing individual drinking cups.

Our only hope is in God; and He has arranged that His blessing shall come through Messiah's Kingdom when our race shall have reached its limit. Man's extremity will be God's opportunity. In the great Seventh Day of man's work Week, the antitypical Sabbath, Messiah will, in association with His Church of this Gospel Age, set up the Divine Kingdom amongst men—a spiritual Kingdom, not an earthly one, ruling, blessing and uplifting mankind. For a thousand years this work of uplift will progress, until all the willing and obedient will have attained again the lost likeness of their Creator and all the unwilling and disobedient will have been cut off from life in the Second Death.

Another great lesson which God has been teaching mankind during the reign of Sin and Death is the fact that they are incapable of establishing such a government as is necessary for real blessing and uplift of the race. For a time He appointed the nation of Israel to be His typical kingdom, selecting King David and his posterity to constitute the royal family. The last king of David's line was Zedekiah, of whom we read: "And thou, profane wicked prince of Israel, whose time has come that iniquity shall have an end. Thus saith the Lord God, Remove the diadem, take off the crown; I will overturn, overturn, overturn it until He comes whose right it is; and I will give it unto Him." (Ezekiel 21:25-27.) The One whose right it is, is Messiah—Jesus the Head, and the Church His Body—on the spirit plane.

Certain Scriptures indicate that the time during which God's Kingdom would be removed would be seven prophetic Times, each of which is 360 years in length. Seven Times would therefore equal 2,520 years. That period, reckoned from the time of King Zedekiah's overthrow, ends with this year; for according to the Scriptures the crown was taken away from King Zedekiah in 606 B. C. If so, with the close of the present year Messiah should take to Himself His great power and begin the long-promised Millennial Reign of Glory, the opening or beginning of which, according to the Bible, will be a very dark hour—"a Time of Trouble such as was not since there was a nation," "nor ever shall be"—the like again.

When God took away His typical kingdom, 606 B.C., He gave the Gentiles authority or permission to do their best to rule and govern the world and to bring in righteousness. That we might know all this, He gave a dream to Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon, and sent the interpretation of the dream through Daniel, the Prophet. The dream showed a great image, whose head was of gold, representing Babylon; the breast and arms of silver, representing the succeeding government of Medo-Persia; the belly of brass, representing the Grecian Empire, which succeeded the Medes and Persians; and its legs of iron represented Rome, the government of the Caesars. Each of these governments has had universal sway, each has shown the best it was able to do for humanity, and each has failed.

The feet of the image were of iron, showing that they represented part of the Roman Empire; but they were smeared with clay and thus made to represent stone feet. These feet represented the Holy Roman Empire, whose divisions, or toes, are now at war with each other. The dream and its interpretation showed that the stone which struck the image in the feet, ground them to powder and utterly destroyed the entire image, represented God's Kingdom. According to the prophecy, this Kingdom will ultimately fill the whole earth.

The clay smeared on the feet, making them look like the stone, represents the fact that the present Roman governments of Europe claim to be Christ's Kingdom. On their coins, and otherwise, they claim to be representatives of God. They have deceived themselves into thinking of themselves as Christendom, which signifies Christ's Kingdom. In reality, however, they are Gentile kingdoms, the last representatives of Gentile power—the feet and the toes of the image of Gentile supremacy which Nebuchadnezzar saw in his dream.

These powers are what the Bible calls "the kingdoms of this world." But they are part of the Gentile power which has been permitted to rule the world up to the time when God will be ready to set up His Kingdom, which was also represented in Nebuchadnezzar's dream—the stone cut out without hands. The Word of God transforming the hearts of his people will gradually make them His Kingdom, and in the spiritual Kingdom these will be Messiah's joint-heirs. When the image of Gentile supremacy falls, these will be put into power and place. Then all will have opportunity to return to the image of God.

We have read in history, and daily we are reading in the newspapers, how these nations are attempting to blow one another off the sea and the land. "The nations were angry," says the Revelator. There is no nation so small but that it desires to go to war. As the Prophet Joel says to the nations. "Come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat." Outside of the walls of Jerusalem is the cemetery of Jehoshaphat, known as the Valley of Graves. In figurative language the Prophet is saying to the nations, "Come up to the Valley of Graves!" And this is just where they are going.

When we think of the appalling loss of life amongst these angry nations, it is grand to know that all these bitter experiences are not lost, and that the poor creatures who have suffered are not, when they die, hurled into eternal torment—that these poor creatures, not knowing what the war really is about, but demonstrating to the best of their ability their patriotism, are not thrown to the devil to be forever roasted. Ah, no! According to the Scriptures, they are falling asleep in death. Their sorrows and woes are all over for the present. They will know nothing more until He who has redeemed them will call them forth from the dominion of Death.

The present war will weaken the nations, not only of their life-blood, but also of their wealth; and it will demonstrate the inefficiency of all Gentile kingdoms to bring to the world peace, righteousness, satisfactory government. But Messiah's Kingdom, which will then be inaugurated, will be "the desire of all nations." This war and the anarchy of Armageddon, which will follow it, will prove conclusively the great need of Divine interposition in human affairs.

Doubtless earth's great rulers have done the best they knew how to do for their peoples. Some of our very best laws came from Julius Caesar, in combination with the Mosaic code. Some of the world's rulers to-day are also doing their best; but they are confused. Having a false idea of what constitutes Christ's Kingdom, they seem to think it their mission to conquer the world. They also believe that they foresee a general uprising of Socialism, and their hearts are failing them, fearing the things coming upon the earth.

While they knew that this would be the worst war ever known, yet they preferred it to that which they were striving to ward off and which they have succeeded in keeping off for the present. But they have lost their best blood, their best energy, their money, commerce, etc.; and when the war is ended, these nations, sorrowful and famine-stricken, will be greatly angered at their rulers. Then will come the determination for something like Socialism. This the governments will endeavor to put down, and to some extent they will exceed. Then will come the great explosion—the Armageddon of the Scriptures. Then will be the Time of Trouble, immediately preceding the Messianic Kingdom.

Thanks to the German artillery, future tourists in Europe will have a magnificent array of ruins to visit—Southern Lumberman.

Value of Honey.

Honey is a medicine as well as a food. Give it to the children in place of candy. Be sure, however, that you get pure honey. There are important differences even in pure honey, according to the conditions under which it is made, just as there is a great difference in fruit, according to the soil on which it is grown. Dark red honey is much the best, although the people demand light yellow honey, just as they insist on light-colored dried fruit, because they eat with their eyes and do not think.

AUSTRALIA PLEASED AT CAPTURE OF SAMOA

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Oct. 5.—"Over the scud and the palm trees," of Samoa the British flag flies once more replacing the flag of Germany which has floated there just fifteen years.

Australia is naturally elated over the seizure of Apia and the rest of German Samoa by the expeditionary force from New Zealand a few days ago. It is felt that the Antipodean Britons have demonstrated their ability to themselves strike a blow for the Empire, that the territory so closely associated with New Zealand and sought by her in vain in former years, is now under the dominion of her military, for annexation to the Dominion when the day of reckoning comes, and that there is a certain sentimental satisfaction in that Robert Louis Stevenson's grave will no longer be on alien soil.

"'The loss of her possessions in Samoa,'' says the Sydney Morning Herald—to quote only one jubilant newspaper, "is a significant indication of the inevitable effect of this war on German trade. Already the steady and unremitting labor of two generations has been destroyed.''

Samoa is a portion of the world that never should have belonged to any nation other than great Britain. It is naturally a portion of Australia. Let us hope it will be given up.

WOMAN OVERCOME BY DRUG STORE WINE

TORONTO Oct. 5.—(Special)—Mrs. Edith Reynolds, an elderly woman who gave her address at 48½ Davenport Road, walked into a drug store at the corner of Woodlawn Avenue and Yonge Street yesterday afternoon, and told the clerk she felt ill. She thought a little wine would do her good, and the druggist accordingly placed a bottle before her. He turned his back, and during that time the invalid emptied the contents of the bottle. Instantly her actions became erratic, and the police were notified. She was taken to the address given in the patrol, but the occupants refused her admission. She was then removed to the Court Street Station, and locked up as a drunk.

LONG TERMS FOR ROBBING RAILROAD CARS

Following a scathing denunciation of the actions of employes who used their positions to rob their employers, Judge Langelier in the Montreal Court of Session, Saturday sentenced John Harold and Arthur Proctor to three years in the penitentiary.

They had formerly been yardmen in the employ of the G.T.R., and instead of protecting the property under their care had stolen goods of considerable value.

In passing sentence the judge commented on the fact that railway companies suffered much material loss from this sort of theft and had to reimburse the public. Though it was their first offence an example would have to be made. They were liable to a sentence of fourteen years, but that imposed by the court would be three years in St. Vincent de Paul. Leave to appeal was granted.

Indian Troops Do Heroic Work in British East Africa.

War Office Announces Numerous Engagements Against German Forces Which Sought to Enter Protectorate and Cut Uganda Railway—Enemy Abandon Towns Before British Advance.

LONDON, Oct. 6. — Successes of British forces in Africa over Germans are told in an official announcement made yesterday afternoon by the War Office. The announcement is as follows:

"During September a number of engagements took place on the Anglo-German boundary of the East African Protectorate. The activity has been due to the efforts of the Germans to raid the British territory and to cut the Uganda Railway. With the exception of one important frontier station by a small party of the enemy, the entry of which it was inexpedient to oppose, all the attempts at invasion by the Germans have been repulsed.

"The normal garrisons of the East African Uganda Protectorate have been strengthened by powerful bodies of Indian troops and by mounted and unmounted volunteers, raised locally.

"One of the earliest moves of the enemy was an attempt to blow up the Uganda Railway at Maungu. The invading party was broken up before it did any damage. Their dynamite was captured after a hot engagement.

"An engagement occurred on Sept. 6, at Tsavo, in which the enemy was severely handled and eventually repulsed. The Indian troops showed conspicuous bravery.

"A second German force of 400, including 50 Europeans, occupied Kisii on Sept. 11. A British column engaged the Germans the next day, but was compelled to retire.

"Germans abandoned Kisii on Sept. 13, and retired to Karungu, which they later evacuated.

"Activities were recommenced in the Tsavo region on Sept. 20. The Germans attacked at dawn, but were beaten after two hours exchange of rifle fire. The conduct of the King's African Rifles was splendid.

"The Germans attacked the British outposts at Majoreni on Sept. 23 and were repulsed. Further fighting occurred on Sept. 25.

"In engagements near Magadi and at Mzima on Sept. 26 the enemy was repulsed with heavy loss."

EARTHQUAKE IN TURKEY.

Two Towns Are Shaken With Heavy Loss of Life and Property.

SMYRNA, Asiatic Turkey, Oct. 6.—(Via London.)—The towns of Isbarta (population about 25,000), and Burdur (population about 12,000) in the Province of Konia, were severely damaged by an earthquake Saturday night. The shocks made themselves felt at midnight. The loss of life was very heavy. These two towns are centres of the carpet industry.

About 2,500 Killed.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—An official message from Constantinople, transmitted from Amsterdam to the Central News, says that the victims of the earthquake in the Province of Konia, Asia Minor, are estimated at 2,500.

Britain Using Pressure?

ROME, Oct. 6.—(Via London.)—The German press, according to communications received here, thinks that Great Britain is using pressure to induce the Scandinavian countries, particularly Denmark, to abandon their neutrality and participate in the war against Germany.

The Deutsch Tage Zeitung of Berlin says it is rumored that many hostile ships have been seen in the Skagerrak and the Cattegat, adding, if these ships are British, it shows an intention to make threatening demonstrations against the Scandinavian states, particularly Denmark.

VICTORY IS COMPLETE GERMANS UTTERLY ROUTED

ROME, Oct. 6.—The Russian embassy here last night made public an official communication received from the Russian headquarters' staff, saying:

"The defeat of the Germans is complete. Their retreat is changing into a rout that is so disorderly and precipitate that they are forced to abandon everything.

"Two Russian armies are proceeding, one from the west and another from the south toward Allenstein (in East Prussia, 50 miles southeast of Elbing).

"The German losses have not yet been officially ascertained, but it is estimated that they had 70,000 men disabled."

News from the Russian headquarters says that the invasion of Hungary through the Carpathians has two object. The first is to insure the left flank of the Russian army operating against Przemysl and along the San river, and second, to open a new field of action in the vast Hungarian plains where it can frighten the population, disturb the drilling of Hungarian reservists and recruits and cut the railway communications, besides freely feeding an important portion of the army from the resources of the country.

It is recalled that during the Russian-Turkish war of 1877, an expedition, commanded by Gen. Gourka, and mostly composed of cavalry did the same thing crossing the Balkan mountains and entering Eastern Roumania.

A despatch received here, speaking of the Russian invasion of Hungary says:—

"Having captured all the Carpathian passes, the Russians have commenced the invasion of Hungary. Advancing to the south they have occupied Hosezumezo. Then the Cossacks effected a daring coup. They crossed the river and cut the railway at Cziget, thus isolating the remainder of Hungary."

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

The Earl of Minto, formerly Governor-General of Canada, has left a personal estate of $800,000 and also considerable real estate.

Among the wounded who have just arrived in Paris is Col. Du Paty De Clam. He is well remembered as a central figure in the famous Dreyfus trial.

The Prince of Wales' fund in London has reached $15,000,000 and the prince has issued a letter expressing his thanks for the generous contributions.

Rev. Dr. J. B. Silcox, of Kansas City, and formerly of Winnipeg, has been called to the pastorate of the First Congregational Church, London, Ont.

Celebration in honor of the republic of Portugal, which was proclaimed on Oct. 5, 1910, were held in Lisbon yesterday. The Lisbon garrison passed in review before the President.

By the falling in of the roofs of two motor garages yesterday in Calgary through the weight of snow, 30 automobiles were smothered in debris and damage to cars and buildings is estimated to be $35,000.

Col. Sam Hughes stated last night that he might make a trip to England in November to see the Canadian contingent in training. He leaves today for a week's rest at Lindsay and some hunting in Haliburton county.

Austrian Miner Murdered.

QUESNEL, B.C., Oct. 6.—An Austrian, 40 years of age, a worker in a construction camp, was found clubbed to death just across the river from here. Four Servians with whom he had been seen a few hours before, are under arrest. It is believed the tragedy is an outcome of a quarrel over the war.

PRINCE EITEL ESCAPED.

Another of Kaiser's Sons Displays Talents at Coulommiers.

PARIS, Oct. 6.—When the German troops occupied Coulommiers they took the chief officials of the town as hostages for an indemnity of $20,000. The officials protested that it was impossible to provide this, as all the wealthy inhabitants had left. The German general threatened to have the hostages shot, but in the midst of this scene a tall young officer entered. Gen. Von Kluk clicked his heels and saluted. Then followed a short colloquy with the unknown officer, to whom the general showed an extraordinary deference. The hostages were led out into the street and placed with their backs against a wall while twelve soldiers covered them with rifles. For nearly twenty minutes the hostages faced the muzzles of the rifles, not knowing when the officer's sabre would fall, giving the signal for their death.

Suddenly from above came the drone of an aeroplane. The aviator descended. He brought bad news. The British forces were approaching in great strength. The Germans, forgetting their prisoners, made a dash for their quarters, and half an hour later they evacuated the town in something like a panic. One of the first to leave was the tall young officer to whom Von Kluk had shown such great deference. Mounted on a fine horse, and striking to the left and right with his sabre, he forced his way through the terrified infantry. According to stories of German stragglers whom the British took prisoners, this young man who was in a hurry was Prince Eitel Friedrich, the Kaiser's second son.

BRITISH AT ANTWERP.

Are Fighting Shoulder To Shoulder With Belgians In Trenches.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—British troops are assisting in the defence of Antwerp. Yesterday they fought shoulder to shoulder with the Belgians in the trenches along the north bank of the River Nethe.

The Daily Mail received from its correspondent confirmation of reports that a British force has reached the city and is actively co-operating in its defence. The correspondent of The Morning Post in Antwerp sends the following:

"The Belgian field artillery is cooperating effectually with our heavy artillery. Our infantry is entrenched on the near bank of the Nethe, opposite the main German forces. Two German attempts to cross the river have been smothered by our artillery."

SUBMARINE STOLEN.

War Craft Built For Russia Disappears From Italian Yards.

ROME, Oct. 6.—The shipbuilding firm of Sangiorgio Shezia has informed the Italian Government that one of its engineers, accompanied by 15 workmen has seized a submarine being constructed for Russian and disappeared leaving a note saying they desire to fight in Russia's behalf.

The Government has sent a torpedo boat in chase of the submarine, but the pursuit has so far been ineffectual.

The submarine lacks stores. It has a tonnage of 300, and a speed maximum of 13 knots an hour.

Despite the secrecy which was attempted it has become known that the submarine disappeared Sunday afternoon, on the pretext that it was leaving to conduct wireless experiments. It cost about $75,000.

The task of conducting an official inquiry has been intrusted to Vice-Admiral Nicastro.

MARKET REPORTS

CHICAGO, Oct 5.—Severe drought in Australia had much to do today with making the wheat market ascend. The outcome was a firm close at ⅜c to ⅝c above Saturday night's level. Corn lost ⅜c to ⅝c net; oats finished ⅛c off, and provisions irregular, varying from 27½c decline to a rise of 2½c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 5.—A bull market, with a good demand for all grades of grain and a fair export trade, marked the opening of the week. Wheat prices opened ½c to ⅞c higher. There was a heavy decrease in world's shipments from last year—bad news from Australia and Argentina, a heavy decrease in local receipts, and a 365,000,000-bushel deficit in Europe—so the bulls came down with their horns on. Closing prices were ⅞c to 1⅛c higher for wheat, unchanged to ⅛c higher for oats, and 1½c to 2⅛c lower for flax.

Cash prices: Wheat—No. 1 northern, $1.07; No. 2 do., $1.03⅞; No. 3 do., 98⅝c; No. 4, 93c; No. 5, 87½c; No. 6, 82½c; feed, 77c.

Barley—No. 3, 65c; No. 4, 63½c.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Oct. 5.—Business in all lines of grains over the cable today was quiet owing to continued limited demand and the best bids from London for No. 1 northern wheat were 41s 3d. The local trade in oats is quiet, the demand being only for small lots to fill actual wants and as the offerings are fairly liberal, prices are lower all round. Argentine corn in car lots is selling at 84c per bushel ex-store. There is some demand for Ontario malting barley at a decline of 2c to 4c per bushel. The market for rolled oats is stronger in spite of the weakness in the raw material, and prices have advanced 45c per barrel.

In winter wheat flour the feeling is weaker and prices have declined 25c per barrel owing to more liberal offerings. Spring wheat flour is very quiet for both export and domestic account. The trade in millfeed is also slow as buyers are well supplied.

The butter market is quiet, finest creamery at the auction sale selling at 26¾c. Demand for cheese from over the cable was quieter, but the tone of the local market is firmer in sympathy with the higher prices paid in the country. Eggs steady under a fair demand.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN MARKET.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.10; No. 1 northern, $1.06⅝ to $1.09; No. 2 do., $1.00⅝ to $1.08⅝; December, $1.08¼.

Corn—No. 3 yellow, 65c to 66c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 43¼c to 43¾c.

Flour and bran unchanged.

DULUTH GRAIN MARKET.

DULUTH, Oct. 5.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.09; No. 1 northern, $1.08; No. 2 do., $1.05; December, $1.08.

CATTLE MARKETS

PUT ON THE NEW

THANKSGIVING DAY Is MONDAY, OCT. 12th

It's because Thanksgiving Day is so near that we suggest it's time to "Put on the New," and not only do we make this suggestion, but for the week preceding Thanksgiving Day we will make a special display of all kinds of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Garments, including Fall Skirts and Coats, Ladies' Silk and Wool Dresses, Dress Skirts and Waists, Corsets, Satin Underskirts, etc. And we would further suggest that there is no other time like the present to select New Fall Garments, for just now our Stock of Garments is at its very best.

OUR SPECIAL SUIT AT $17.50.

We think this is perhaps the Best Suit Value we have ever offered. First of all, it is a "Northway" Suit, and is made of a pure wool serge, the Coat being satin lined, while the skirt is cut in the new Tunic style. These suits are shown in Ladies' and Misses' sizes, in colors, black, navy, new blue and brown, for only $17.50 each.

NEW CORD VELVETS.

No matter what you think now, before very long you will want Velvets and we think a good time to buy velvet cords is just now while we have Sixty-Five Boxes of New Corded Velvets, in every new fall shade to select from, all 27 inches wide, to sell at 50c., 65c., 75c., 90c. and $1.00 yard.

HORROCKSES' COTTONS.

When buying Cottons, ask for Horrockses' and you are sure to get value for your money. Just now we are showing a full range of these goods in Flannelettes, Sheetings and White Cottons, with Qualities and Prices unequalled in other goods.

FEATHER RUFFS AND MUFFS.

For early Fall wear there is nothing more dressy than these beautiful Ostrich and Marabout Ruffs and Muffs. We show these neck scarfs or ruffs in a variety of styles from $4.50 to $9.50 each, and Marabout sets, large Muff and Scarf for $17.00 per set.

NEW FANCY SILKS.

We are now showing a wonderful collection of all the very newest things in Fancy Silks, including Dresdens, Roman Stripes, Plaids, Tapestries, etc., especially selected by us for Ladies' Fancy Waists, Dresses and Trimmings. Prices 75c. to $3.00 yard.

BEAUTIFUL SILK AND WOOL DRESSES.

We have just recently placed in stock a choice selection of Ladies' Silk and Fine Wool Crepe, Voile and Silk Moire Dresses, very pretty Autumn styles, at every price from $8.50 to $24.50.

LADIES' NECK WEAR.

Our Thanksgiving Display of Ladies' Neckwear is attracting more than ordinary attention. If you want to see all the new things in Ladies' Neckwear, just watch our windows, or, better still, visit the Ladies' Neckwear Department.

ELECTION IS ASSURED.

Hon. Mr. Macdiarmid Will Be Returned by Acclomation.

TORONTO, Oct. 6—Hon. Finlay G. Macdiarmid, the new Provincial Minister of Public Works, will go before his constituents for endorsation on Oct. 28. The nomination meeting has been arranged for the 21st instant and the writs are now being issued by the Government.

It is not expected that much of a contest, if any, will take place in his riding of West Elgin as the majorities which returned Mr. Macdiarmid of late years have been very substantial.

Premier Hearst intimated last evening that other contests are not likely for some time. He said he had not been able thus far to consider the situation in the riding of Dundas, vacated through the death of Sir James Whitney.

Murder Trial Opens To-day.

GUELPH, Oct. 6. — The trial of Gladstone Ray, charged with the murder of John Barr, the Italian, whose body was found lying on the roadway in front of Holliday's brewery, on Essex street, early on the morning of June 23, will open here to-day.

How to Destroy The Dandruff Germ

BY A SPECIALIST

That the dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the diseases which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is a well known fact, but when we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for many other diseases as well, we appeciate the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. We are therefore, particularly pleased to give herewith the prescription which an eminent scientist states he has found after repeated test to completely destroy the dandruff germ in from one to three applications. It will also almost immediately stop falling hair and it has in numerous cases produced a new hair growth after years of partial baldness. This prescription can be made up at home, or any druggist will put it up for you: 6 ounces Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavona de Composee, one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly, and after standing an hour it is ready for use. Apply night and morning, rubbing into the scalp with the finger-tips. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. While this preparation is not a dye it is unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color.

It's Like a Journey To Other Lands

ILLUSTRATED BIBLE OFFERED BY THE INTELLIGENCER REVEALS GEOGRAPHICAL WONDERS.

Most of us know the boundaries of our own state, or at least our own county, but we little realize the educational value to be gained from an occasional hour devoted to reading of other lands.

Take, for instance, Palestine, which is described as a narrow strip of country at the eastern end of the Mediterranean sea, stretching north and south 140 miles, and from 30 to 40 miles east and west, covering in its entirety an area of only 1,200 square miles.

Of all the lands of the earth, Palestine is one of the most interesting, for in this small country originated a volume that is familiar to all—the Bible. It has often been a question of wonderment that such a small portion of our earth could be instrumental in producing a "work" so universally known. And yet small countries have given to the world some of its greatest treasures. Take for instance Greece, England, Italy and Egypt; all of them are small, yet they have been world leaders in some one or another characteristic.

To-day there is not a place on our planet which is more thoroughly studied and known than this 1,200 square miles of Palestine. Even in our own generation, every foot of it has been surveyed. Our geologists have gone through the rocks, botanists have gathered and classified its plants, and zoologists have collected and arranged its animals. Maps have been made that show every mountain, valley, lake and river, as well as cities and villages.

In Palestine are to be found all the rock formations, as well as all of the flora and fauna known to this earth. Between the high altitudes of its mountains with their perpetual snow and tepid waters of the Salt sea, every climate is experienced, in which there is every living thing that is known to the earth. So it has been truthfully said that Palestine is the whole world in a nutshel.

By reading the foregoing, one may get a slight glimpse of the interesting knowledge set forth in the New Illustrated Bible, which is being distributed by The Intelligencer. This magnificent volume contains 600 text illustrations prepared by the world's greatest artist at the enormous cost of $50,000, aside from the numerous full-page colored plates from the famous Tissot collection. Every picture accurately portrays a scene that throws a true light on the particular subject which it accompanies. Some Bibles lay claim to "illustrations," where they simply have "pictures" inserted at random, without regard to the subjects. These may be said to entitle the volume to the word "illustrated," but it must be admitted that they have no education value, inasmuch as they have no bearing on particular subjects which they accompany. The New Illustrated Bible which the Intelligencer distributes is the only one that truly illustrates the exact subject related to it in position as well as in matter.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE J. C. ROCKWELL "SUNNY SOUTH" CO.

An attraction classified as a colored musical comedy is billed to appear in Griffin's Opera House tomorrow night when the organization known as the J. C. Rockwell "Sunny South" company will be seen. This style of merriment is one that the wise achres in the amusement fields have been consigning to oblivation for several years. It is true that a good many similar attractions have passed into disgard, but, when one is presented that boasts of a blending of pretty faces, charming musical numbers, rich costumes and backed by a strong company of comedians and a performance that has more original and funny incidents than any similar attraction, it is pretty sure to succeed. The "Sunny South" company has been on the road for many years and it was a winner from the drop of the hat, never having a loosing season. Not one moments thought is required of the audience from the time the curtain rises until it falls at the end of the third hilarious act. There is something exceedingly funny. The situations are quite obvious, the jokes are the kind that require no mental effort. It is highly seasoned with bright lines and catchy and ludicrous situations, which is diversified with marches, medleys, charming musical numbers and several novelty dances. There is not a line without some brightness. The vaudeville portion of the entertainment includes the following well known artists, J. W. Turner, who is conceded to be the most artistic roller skater in America. Moss and Harrison, one of the cleverest and most versatile colored teams in the business. Hr. S. Woten, Otis and Francis Benson, Hanky Williams and there are several others in the twenty-five people, who make up the company.

The solo concert band, which accompanies the organization, will be seen in the "Koontoon" parade, a decided novelty, taking place at noon The company also carry an excellent orchestra of seven soloists. They will render the latest and most popular music of the day. Prices 25, 35, 50c. Plan at Doyle's Drug Store.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST LAND REGULATIONS.

The sole head of a family, or an male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency) on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Preemption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

How to Get Rid Of Dyspepsia

Dont Rely on Medicine; Don't Go on Freak Diet; Common Sense and an Antacid Usually All That Are Needed

"If you have dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, belching, distress after eating due to hyperacidity (the usual cause of stomach trouble), you should take no medicine to act upon the stomach itself. That is positively not the way to cure the trouble. Again, you should not half starve yourself by going without the nutritious food that you need to rebuild waste tissues. Some foods are not good for people even when in perfect health—very rich, sweet, highly seasoned dishes. Avoid these, but eat fairly substantial meals of plain foods. Eat slowly. Even if you drink nothing but water you should not drink with meals. Drink before and after eating. Do not take pepsin or other artificial digestants. If you foolow the simple instructions it is probable that you will not need any medicine at all except, if you want to call it medicine, a little antacid after meals. The best antacid is ordinary bisurated magnesia, which can be purchased at any drug store. This is not to act upon the stomach but on the contents of the stomach. The antacid, as you can learn by consulting your dictionary or encyclopedia, is merely to neutralize or counteract the excess acid so the stomach can digest the food normally. Take a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia in a little cold or hot water after each meal. You should get immediate relief, even if your case is severe. Careful, moderate eating and the use of bisurated magnesia should put your stomach in normal condition in a short time; if you have not allowed dyspepsia to advance to the extreme stage of developing stomach ulcers.

In Daily Fear Of Death—Until "Fruit-a-tives" Brought Relief.

CHATHAM, ONT., April 3rd. 1913.

"Some two years ago, I was a great sufferer from Indigestion. One day my eye caught a billboard of "Fruit-a-tives" and I said to myself "if Fruit-a-tives will build me up like that, it is good enough for me". I bought some. After taking these wonderful tablets for only three weeks, I found myself wonderfully improved. In a short time longer, I cured myself entirely. My case was no light one, either, Gas would often form in my stomach and I was in daily fear that it would get around my heart and kill me. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy for Indigestion".

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

Rexall Orderlies
TRADE NAME

Perfect health can only be obtained by keeping the bowels regular. If your bowels do not daily carry away the waste left after the food is digested, decay sets in, producing poisons which are taken up by the blood, frequently resulting in Typhoid Fever, Appendicitis and other serious and fatal diseases.

To keep the bowels healthy and regular you must help, not drive, Nature by using Rexall Orderlies which are mild and gentle in their action, producing neither griping, nausea, nor any other discomfort.

Rexall Orderlies cannot injure the delicate tissue of the bowels, and, as they do not re-act, it is only necessary to take them for a short time to cure constipation.

If after you have tried Rexall Orderlies you are not perfectly satisfied with them, we will return you your money.

Sold only at the more than 7000 Rexall Stores and here only at this one.

THE CITY ENGINEER HAS A WORD TO SAY

Makes Some Statements Which Look Like Turning the Tables Tells How Profitable to the City That Motor Proved A Ray of Light on the Upper Bridge Work

The Editor, The Intelligencer.

Dear Sir,—In reply to the letter of the Chairman of Public Works in your paper of last evening, I would like to say that his statements are not in accordance with the facts, and are both unfair and misleading.

I did not buy a motor "of my own sweet will," but when I found that a 20 h.p. $500 motor could be obtained for $350, and that by using it at the Quarries, it would save the City $1.35 per day in power, I went to the Council and put the proposition before them, and the Council passed the resolution to buy the motor, and during the first three weeks it was running, we sold to the contractors, Messrs. Foley & Gleeson, 935 yards of crushed stone at 90 cents per yard, on which we made a profit of $420 or $70 more than the cost of the motor.

Furthermore, we have not purchased one pound of crushed rock which we could crush at the plant; but bought a car load of Granite Fines at $2.40 per ton f.o.b. Belleville, which is required for use in the top dressing of the side walks, a large portion of which has already been used and the balance will be required in the walks under construction.

Referring to the two men working on the bridge, getting 30c. per hour, and the foreman being paid 45c. per hour. These men were masons whose rate of wage is 45c. per hour. As the easterly pier required other work on it than mason work, I agreed to give them 30c. when working on the east pier. There was a considerable amount of mason work and work that required competent men. The job on the east pier speaks for itself.

The City has been saved over $4,000 in the construction of the storm and sanitary sewers by doing this work by day labor. These are facts that can be verified by going over the tenders and estimates and actual costs which are on file in the City Clerk's office.

Our sidewalks have been built at a very low figure, much below the price paid in both Toronto and Hamilton.

In my arrangement with the City I have the right to do outside work so long as it does not interfere with the work of the City, and as a matter of fact since I begun work for the City, I have not been a day off the work until last week, when I was away on a two days' survey.

Now, Mr. Editor, I do not mind criticism when it is done fairly; but when facts are so misrepresented and juggled with, I cannot let them remain unanswered. I remain,

Yours truly,
J. W. EVANS,
City Engineer.

AIRSHIPS ASSISTED IN DESTROYING CRUISERS

Kaiser's Reward for Reconnoitering That Aided Submarines to Sink Warships

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(Special.)—The Standard Berlin correspondent sends by an indirect route this despatch, bearing the date of October 1: "The Kaiser has conferred the Iron Cross on the commander and each of the crew of the German naval airship Schuekelang II. This distinction is conferred for services rendered to the Fatherland by "the magnificent aerial reconnoitering that led to the destruction of the three British cruisers' recently torpedoed in the North Sea by German submarines.

The foregoing despatch contains the first intimation that an airship cooperated with the sumbarines in the successful attack upon the cruisers Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue.

Call Convention To Select Canididate

Lincoln Conservatives Look for a Successor to Mr. F. A. Lancaster, M. P.

ST. CATHARINES. Oct. 6.—Lincoln County Conservative Executive has decided to call a convention for November 28th to nominate a candidate for the Dominion House of Commons to succeed Mr. E. A. Lancaster, M.P., who is retiring. The name of Mr. James D. Chaplin, a prominent local manufacturer, is being favorably mentioned.

DATE SET FOR WEST ELGIN BYE-ELECTION

Considered Possible that Hon. Mr. MacDiarmid May Not be Opposed

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—It is considered possible that Hon. Finlay Macdiarmid, the new Minister of Public Works, who has to go back to West Elgin for confirmation of the honor recently bestowed upon him, will be be returned by acclamation, as in the case of Hon. I. B. Lucas. It is stated that the Liberals will not contest the seat. The nominations, however, have been fixed for October 21, and the elections, if any, for a week later.

SPENT $2,500,000 ON NORTH ONTARIO ROADS

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Special—Mr. J. F. Whitson, who is in charge of the northern development work for the Ontario Government, reporting yesterday to Premier Hearst, announced that two and a half million dollars had been expended in road work and that between 800 and 900 miles of roadway had been built or improved. During the past summer 5,000 settlers were engaged on the work instead of the usual foreign labor.

Mr. Whitson declared that fall wheat had proved itself the most adaptable to the northern climate. Spring wheat, however, does well on the highlands. All grades of vegetables were found to be grown successfully. The Premier, adding to the report, announced that the dry fall has helped greatly in clearing up the land, and has made it possible for the settlers to burn over large tracts.

ENGLAND'S SPIRIT OF RESPONSE IS TYPICAL OF ITS PEOPLE

The spirit of the people in England is manifested in the ready response to Lord Kitchener's call for blankets. The nation gave quickly and generously; one newspaper raised 40,000 blankets and substantial cash fund. Queen Mary's thoughtfulness is noteworthy, as seen in the following despatch:

London, October 6.—The public response to Earl Kitchener's appeal for blankets for the new army now training has been so rapid and generous that the War Office intimates that no more are needed. Orders have been placed to cover all future demands.

The London Daily Mirror raised 40,000 blankets and $8,000 cash from its readers. The Daily News, Star and Express also raised blanket funds.

The wife of George Cave, M.P. for the Kingston Division of Surrey, organized fleets of motor cars, and secured 1,600 blankets from friends in one day.

A rapid response is now being made to the Queen's appeal to present each soldier at the front with a pair of socks and knitted belts. A note from the Queen will accompany each gift. Forty tons of socks and 35 tons of belts are needed altogether, in sizes 2 and 3 in the belts, and 11 in socks. It is requested the socks be lightly sewn together in pairs at the top of the leg and heels. Donors are asked by the Queen to buy materials for making socks and belts in our towns and villages, thus assisting in providing local employment.

Dundee women alone have sent 6,900 pairs of socks.

DESERTERS.

Artemus Ward, the famous American humorist, whose humor sometimes was a lance-thrust, once said that he was willing to sacrifice all his first wife's relations on the altar of his country. Many a man has been willing to let others do his fighting for him—willing, also to share the rewards of peace and victory. Men of this type belong to the deserter class.

In Canada are hundreds of business firms striving with all their might to make better times for themselves and their communities. To them all honor.

But there are other firms—manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers—who are "standing pat," "playing safe," doing absolutely nothing to build up business. They are mere lookers on, not participants in the valorous struggle of their brethren to maintain and establish good times.

Look about you and you will find in the advertising columns of this and other newspapers many messages from firms with a sturdy confidence in the future.

Lifter or Leaner — which are YOU?

Congress Opened At Long Distance

Duke of Connaught Performs the Calgary Ceremony From Ottawa

CALGARY, Alta., Oct. 6.—Despite inauspicious weather the twenty-first International Irrigation Congress, the first held in Canada, opened in the Horse Show Building yesterday. Although the Duke of Connaught was unable to be present in person he formally opened the congress by pressing an electric button at the Government House, Ottawa, which unveiled a portrait of His Royal Highness. Almost exactly at ten oclock as the crowd of delegates and visitors waited in silence a click was heard and the two flags, the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack, which hung side by side over the portarit began to show signs of life and while the audience stood and the band played "God Save the King," the portrait was gradually revealed and the congress was formally opened.

UNKNOWN MAN'S BODY FOUND AT WALKERTON

WALKERTON, Oct. 7—(Special.)—body of an unknown man, apparently about fifty years of age, was removed from the river above R. E. Truex & Company's dam here late yesterday afternoon. The remains, which, judging from the state of decomposition had been in the water some five or six days, were discovered by two canoeists in the centre of the river, which at this point is about five feet deep. In his pocket the authorities found a full bottle of whiskey, a silver watch and some twenty-five dollars in money but no papers which would lead to his identification. As there are steep banks along the river at this spot, how the unfortunate man came to his death is a mystery. Coroner Dr. Porter has called an inquest, which will be held to-night.

Two Murdered; Third A Suicide

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct 6.—Three are dead here to-day, two murdered and the third a suicide following an epidemic of crime last night, Roy Rogers, aged 33, of St. Paul, shot his wife, aged 25, and then sent a bullet through his own brain because she would not live with him.

Andrew Okeson, aged 30, believed to be insane, shot his brother Nelson, aged 35, a bartender, through the brain because of money troubles.

LOOTED BY ORDER

How German Prisoners Seek to Justify Themselves.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—(Special.)—Some German prisoners charged with pillage were sentenced to death and others to imprisonment. They justify themselves by declaring that if they did not loot, the officers would, and they simply obeyed orders.

Farmers Cannot Break Their Banks

Interesting Bulletin on Agricultural Subject Issued from Ottawa

OTTAWA, Ont. Oct. 6.—A pamphlet has been issued by the Central Experimental Farm entitled "The farmer as a Manufacturer." It has been prepared by Mr. A. T. Stuart, B.A., Assistant Chemist, who has presented a number of simple illustrations of the chemical processes that take place in vegetable and animal life.

The processes are indicated by which the farmer, whose raw materials are but air, water and soil, is able to manufacture therefrom an apparently endless variety of products—both plant and animal. It is shown, however, that their composition is to be easily understood, consisting as they do of but four principal constituents. The nature of the raw materials, the process of manufacture and the products are discussed.

Under the heading "Maintaining Fertility" it is pointed out that "the farmer must exercise extreme care if he would keep his soil in the highest condition of productiveness. Soil is the real guardian of the farmer's capital, and the security is absolute. Try as he may be cannot "break the bank." He may bring about temporary derangement and dividends may for awhile be suspended, but invariably under better managements prosperity can be restored and perhaps even larger profits than ever secured."

WAR TAKES MEANS GERMAN SUICIDES

Former Resident of Toronto Ends His Own Life in Connecticut

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 7.—Special—August Quak, a German, who formerly lived in Toronto, where a wife now survives him, despondent over having what little means he had swept away by the war in Germany, committed suicide in a peculiar manner, probably on September 10.

Two hunters found his body hanging from a sapling in the woods near here on Sunday morning. The body was badly decomposed and identification was not completed until today. A letter from Clark, McPherson & Jarvis, 156 Yonge Street, Toronto, arrived today for the dead man, and is held by Coroner Huntingdon.

Mr. Quak lived in Bedford Park, and left Canada shortly before the war broke out. Previous to his going away he applied for naturalization papers and was to have become a Canadian citizens. He moved before he had them and was not heard from afterwards. He owned some property in Toronto and had lived there some time.

Hasn't Heard Of A Camp Place

Would not Think, Anyway, of Taking Men to Coast for Pleasant Weather

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—The Hon. Sam Hughes when asked about the suggested establishment of a big training camp on the British Columbia coast, where the mild weather would permit of training during the winter said that he had heard of no such plan.

There would be base depots in most of the larger centres of the Dominion to recruit and train men to reinforce the Canadian Contingent but he would never thing of bringing men from other provinces to train in British Columbia because of the pleasant winter weather.

FIVE MILLION VOLUNTEERS

Slavs Rising as if Holy Crusade Was in Progress

ROME, Oct. 6.—Communications from Russia, which since the beginning of the war have become most abundant and detailed, describe the Muscovite Empire in such a fervour that those knowing the Slav spirit think the war now headed by the Czar will assume the character of a holy crusade and be like an immense flood, which breaking all dykes, will inundate and exterminate.

A despatch from Petrograd says volunteers who have offered to leave for the front already amount to five millions. Half of these are already drilled. General Soukomlinoff, the minister of war, declared that if the arms factories have not time to provide rifles for all, the Russians will take them from the Germans and Austrians and there will be glory for everybody.

MASSES OF CAVALRY IN VIOLENT ACTION

PARIS, Oct. 7.—The following official communication was issued this afternoon:

"On our left wing the battle continues with great violence. Masses of cavalry contending on either side have extended operations as far as the neighborhood Armentieres, or virtually to the Belgian border.

"The enemy's attacks in the Woevre district have failed and there is nothing now between the Somme and the Meuse.

"In the astern theatre the German army, retreating from their defeat at Augustowo, have been driven from fresh positions by the Rusians, who have penetrated East Prussia at several points.

BRITISH SUBMARINE SINKS GERMAN BOAT

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The Central News announces that a British submarine has sunk a German destroyer off Wilhelmshaven. Witnesses of the sinking saw a great column of water shoot up under the vessel's bow. She keeled over and sank in three minutes. A cruiser rescued the crew. At the same time the periscopes of two submarines were seen, but it is thought these were German. The vessel was sunk off the north coast of Holland.

ASIATIC CHOLERA DOING ITS WORK

LONDON, Oct. 7.—An Exchange Telegraph despatch reports a violent outbreak of Asiatic cholera at Tarnow, in Galicia, with forty cases reported yesterday.

RUSSIANS HEAVILY BOMBARDING PREMYSL

PARIS, Oct. 7.—A Havas Agency despatch says the Russians are heavily bombarding Premysl. The Austrians' efforts to relieve the fortress have failed and they have retreated.

OFFICIAL GERMAN LOSSES RUN HIGH

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The German losses up to September first were 117,000 in killed and missing, according to an official list published in Berlin, and authorities admit that the total losses to date are three hundred thousand at least, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Rome.

VON KLUK'S MOVES PROFIT BUT LITTLE

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Von Kluk is trying to out-flank the Allies and the big battle in France appears to be further from conclusion than it did two days ago. This counter stroke is viewed here as a supreme feature in the situation. Neither side is claiming any decision in this unprecedented struggle.

RUSSIANS SAID TO BE DEFEATED

An official statement from Vienna says the combined German and Austrian armies have forced the Russians from Opatow and Klimontow towards the Vistula River and also that the Russians have been completely beaten at Azsok Pass in the Carpathians.

STEAMER SUNK ON STRIKING THIRD MINE

LONDON, Oct. 7.—A Reuter's despatch from Ostend says the survivors of the sunken British steamer Ardmount, on arriving there, declared their vessel struck English mines and did not sink until she had struck the third one.

THREE GUNBOATS REPORTED SUNK

TOKIO, Oct. 7.—The belief was expressed at the War Office today that the German cruiser Cormorant and two other German gunboats had been sunk in Kaio-Chow Bay. The Japanese army has occupied the Shantung Railroad as far west as Chinan.

GERMAN LOSS IS ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND

A Petrograd despatch gives the official estimate of the German losses at Augustowo, Sulwaki and Marjampol as one hundred thousand. The Russian capture of Soldau, it is added, is confirmed.

AUSTRIANS WIN A COMPLETE VICTORY

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The Amsterdam correspondent of Reuter's says it is officially announced from Hust, Hungary, that Austrian forces have been heavily engaged with the Russians since Monday at a point near Tecsoe. The Russians retreated. The battle ended near Koerossal with a complete victory for the Austrians.

A GIGANTIC BATTLE CLOSE AT HAND

LONDON, Oct. 7.—A Berlin despatch reports a gigantic battle between the Russians and the reinforced Austrian main army as imminent. The advance guards of the two armies are said to be already engaged.

JAPANESE OCCUPY ISLAND OF YAH

PEKIN, Oct. 7.—It is learned from German sources that the Japanese have occupied the Island of Yah, the chief island of the Caroline group.

BERLIN GERMANS WANT MILITARISM SMASHED

The Canadian Patriotic Fund Branch's Message to Lord Kitchener

BERLIN, Ont., Oct. 7.—Special—Splendid strides were made yesterday the second day of the whirlwind three-day campaign to raise the $75,000 for the Canadian Patriotic Fund. Amounts reported by captains last night total $50,252, as compared with $40,577 last night. There is now no doubt that the $75,000 asked for will be raised and even surpassed.

The following cable was forwarded to Lord Kitchener by Mr. J. S. Williams, President of the local branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund: "Berlin, Ontario, city of eighteen thousand population, of which twelve thousand are German, or of German descent, propose to raise on October 5, 6 and 7 fifteen thousand pounds or more for the National Patriotic Fund. German people want to see militarism in Germany smashed, and the good people set free to shape a greater and better Germany. We feel confident that England has appointed the right men in Churchill and Kitchener to boss the job."

BIG GERMAN PLOT TO SEIZE ALGERIA

TANGIER, Oct. 7.—(Special.—Eight of the principal German merchants of Casablanca, who were arrested and sent to Algeria at the commencement of the war, have been brought back to that town to be tried by court-martial on a charge of espionage and inciting the natives to rebellion. I am informed that the evidence will prove the existence of a plot for a native uprising and massacre of the French and the eventual seizure of the country in the name of Germany.

ECHO OF LAKE STORM NEARLY YEAR AFTER

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Oct. 6.—"November 9, 1913, Steamer Leafield. No hope. Farewell to all. In God we trust." Signed, "Officer."

The above message was found written upon a small piece of discolored paper which was found in a glass flash by two duck hunters upon the shore of Lake Superior, half buried in the sand, and brought here to-day.

The steamer Leafield belonged to the Algome Central S. S. Line and was lost during the great storm of last fall. She was carrying a full cargo of steel rails from Sault Ste. Marie to Fort William, and it is supposed that her heavy cargo without warning carried her to the bottom a few miles outside of Thunder Bay at the foot of which Fort William is situated. The entire crew were lost and no sign as to how they were lost or where has even been found.

BODY OF GIRL WAS FOUND IN THE RIVER

Was One of Six Children of Belle-Isle Lighthouse Keeper

QUEBEC, Oct. 6.—The body of thirteen-year-old Antoinette Richard, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Richard, wife of the keeper of ones of the Belle Isle lighthouses, who with her six children lost her life when the C. G. S. Montmagny sank after colliding with the collier Lingan just below Crane Island in the early morning of September 18, was picked up in the river below Quebec by the crew of the steamer Querida, from Anticosti Island, and brought here late last night. Coroner Joilcoeur held an inquest this morning, when an open verdict of "found drowned" was returned.

SOO TREASURY NOTES

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Oct. 7.—(Special.)—The City Council here decided at last night's meeting to issue treasury notes to the amount of $30,000 to raise funds to continue local improvement work, to assist in providing work for the unemployed. This will be against unsold debentures of denominations of $25, $100 and $500 each.

ENEMY FIGHTING FOR LIFE BELGIUM'S ARMY A FACTOR

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(Special.)—The Standard's correspondent in Paris, wiring last night (Tuesday), says:—The situation to-night continues favorable. The battle on the Aisne is gradually moving northwards of the Somme, and the enemy is now occupying nearly the same ground as he did in the middle of August. The moral position is, however, radically changed, and the German invading army, instead of promenading against a retreating foe, is desperately making what may be its last stand in France. The Belgian army is again playing a role of the greatest importance, and all efforts of Germany to prevent the Belgians from taking the offensive and threatening the rear and the communications of the army fighting for its life against the Allies has failed.

HASTINGS DEANERY IN ANNUAL SESSION

The Chapter of the Rural Deanery of Hastings held its regular Fall meeting in the Parish of Tyendinaga on Monday and Tuesday, the 5th and 6th of October. At 3 p.m. on Tuesday service was held in Christ Church, prayers being said by Rev. J. Lyons and Rev. A. L. Geen. The lessons were read by Rev. A. L. McTear and Rev. Mr. Boulteel. The preacher was Rev. C. E. E. Radcliffe, who took for his text Romans ix:10. There was a good congregation. Immediately after the services Mr. Loft read a very eloquent address, welcoming the Chapter to the Mohawk Parish, in which the loyalty of the band to the Church and the King was declared. The Ven. Archdeacon Carey replied to the address.

At 6 p.m. a banquet provided by the congregation, at the Rectory, was enjoyed by the members of the Chapter and many prominent members of the congregation. After dinner short addresses were given by Rev. R. C. Blagrave, Chief Green, Rev. A. Loft Geen and Mr. J. Loft. At 8 p.m. a business meeting was held, when matters of importance were discussed. On Tuesday morning there was Holy Communion, Rev. R. C. Blagrave being celebrant and Rev. Rural Dean Creegan, Deacon.

FROM A SOLDIER BOY TO HIS MOTHER

On board S. S. Saxonia,
September 30th, 1914.

Dear Mother,—I am sending the last few lines to let you know that we left Quebec to-day at 2 o'clock p.m., and that I am well and getting very fat. I will send you some cards and letters as soon as we get ashore, which will be in about two weeks or more. Give my regards to all and tell them we are having the time of our lives. I have gained about 15 pounds since I left Belleville. It is very cool down in this part of the country. I have to fall in for stable parade, which I have to attend to three times a day, at 6.15 and 10.30 a.m., and 6.00 p.m., and I only do about an hour and a half's work all day. I will close for this time.

I remain,
Your loving son,
GEORGE E. CRONK.

THE CALL OF EMPIRE

England, mother of nations,
  Cries to the native born.
"Have you forgotten your duty?
  Do you your birthright scorn?"
Calls to the sons of the Empire—
  Pale face, dark, and red—
"The richness of your living
  Ye owe to England's dead."

From far-off islands westward
  From the distant lands of morn,
From loyal south and trusty north,
  The rallying cry is borne:
"We hear thy call, Old England dear;
  We hear and we obey
The spirit of our fathers
  Which makes us great to-day."

"We work for thee;
We fight for thee;
If need there be
We die for thee,
Old England, mother of men.
Live for thee, work for thee, fight for thee, die for thee,
England, mother of men.

A WORD OF PRAISE FOR THE FIFTEENTH

Belleville, Oct. 6, 1914.
Editor Intelligencer.

My Dear Sir,—Belleville has many things to be proud of. One of these notable things is the splendid band of the gallant 15th Battalion. Its excellence has not been obtained without a vast deal of labor and study, on the part of the talented leader and his men. At Toronto I heard several times the Guards Band, Creator's and several other bands. I do not pretend to say that the 15th Band equals these world wide celebrities; but what I will says is, that at the concert I attended at the Armouries in aid of the Patriotic Fund by the band of the 15th, that I derived as much pleasure as I enjoyed in listening to the bands in Toronto. Our band has at great sacrifice to themselves given much of their time gratuitously, in aid of charities, and in celebrating public events. By the concert alluded to they raised a very nice sum in aid of the fund. They propose to give a concert upon Tuesday evening next, part of the proceeds to be devoted to the Patriotic Fund, and part to the maintenance of the band. Let our citizens give a bumper attendance and they will be delighted with the entertainment and be doing a good work.

Yours truly,
JOHN J. B. FLINT.

A Verdict of Accidental Death

Such Was the Result of Coroner's Inquest Over the Charles Cooke Fatality

Before Coroner Dr. Boyce last night the inquest to inquire into the circumstances regarding the deplorable accident which caused the death of the call boy, Charles Cooke, was concluded.

A number of witnesses were examined and the evidence showed that the boy jumped upon a freight train going eastward and in some manner fell off, with the result that he was killed.

The jury, after the evidence had been submitted, returned a verdict that the deceased met his death in an accidental manner and that no blame could be attached to the G.T.R. company.

An Easy Way to Stop Head Noises

GOOD ADVICE FOR THOSE WHO FEAR DEAFNESS

Men and women who are growing hard of hearing and who experience stuffy feeling of pressure against their ear drums, accompanied by buzzing rumbling sounds in their head like water falling or steam escaping should take prompt and effective measures to stop this trouble. Head-noises are almost invariably the forerunners of complete or partial deafness and most people suffer from them constantly. Sometimes these head noises become so distracting and nerve racking, with their never ceasing "hum" they drive the sufferer almost frantic and complete nervous breakdown and even violent insanity have been known to result.

Thanks to a remarkable scientific discovery made recently in England it and in a very short time to completesen the severity of these headnoises is now possible to almost instantly lessly and permanently overcome them. With the disappearing of the head noises, the hearing also greatly improves and very frequently can be restored to normal. This English treatment is known as Parmint and can be easily and safely self administered at home. Leading druggists in Belleville and vicinity now have it in stock. Get from your druggst 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength) and mix it at home with ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Stir until dissolved and then take one tablespoonful four times a day until the noises disappear and hearing improves. Parmint is used double strength in this way not only to reduce, by tonic action, the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian tube and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum but to correct any excess of secretion in the middle ear and the result it gives are both remarkably quick and effective.

WILL MAINTAIN TRADITION.

Premier Hearst Issues First Address to People of Ontario.

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Ontario's new Premier, Hon. W. H. Hearst, issued last evening his inaugural address to the people of the province. He makes extended and sympathetic reference to the part which Sir James Whitney played in political life and states that the trail he blazed was broad and worthy enough to provide a path for all succeeding Premiers. If, however, occasion demanded radical action, there would be no hesitation in breaking new ground.

After his tribute to the late statesman, Premier Hearst says:

"We have not yet had time to give thought and consideration to new questions and subjects that may demand attention, but I desire at this, my earliest opportunity, to assure the public that the policy of hydro-electric development, inaugurated under the Whitney Government and carried to such a triumphant success with unexampled energy, zeal and devotion to the public service by Sir Adam Beck, will be carried on with unabated vigor, until the boon of cheap light, cheap heat and cheap power is available to every section of the province and to every class of the community, to the toiler on the farm as well as the dweller in our towns and cities, so far as it is practicable and feasible to accomplish this."

A tribute to the self-sacrificing labors of Hon. Dr. Pyne in his devotion to the late Premier and in his official capacity is followed by mention of the special work of the other members of the Cabinet, including the new Minister of Public Works, Hon. Mr. Macdiarmid, who "brings marked ability and special capacity for work to the service of the province."

Dealing with agriculture, the Premier says:

"An active campaign has been inaugurated, and will be pressed on with increased vigor, to stimulate a greater production of foodstuffs so urgently required now by the Empire as well as for home consumption. Additional efforts will be made to secure for the consumer the products of the farm without any unnecessary advancement in price over that obtained by the producer."

The address touches upon the development of the north, the furtherance of educational work, the financial affairs of the province, social welfare work, and refers in a general way to the stimulation of trade; the relief of unemployment and ends with a personal expression of the Premier's appreciation of his recent appointment.

CANADIAN BONDS GO WELL.

Trading In Dominion's Securities Has Picked Up In London.

LONDON, Oct. 7. — Business in Canadian securities has been carried through with greater freedom during the past few days. Yesterday there were many enquiries on the part of prospective investors for overseas government securities, though the matching of buying and selling orders presented somewhat of a difficulty. Particularly noteworthy was the demand for colonial stocks. Canada four per cent. changing hands at 94 1-2.

Shooting Accident In Woods.

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont., Oct. 7. —While looking up timber woods eight miles from Marksville yesterday morning Alex. McCarty, 38, was shot in the neck by Thomas White, a companion. Dr. Hart of Bruce Mines was hurriedly summoned. Little hope is held that McCarty will live. McCarty was formerly a captain on a tug in the Soo, where he was employed by the Ganly Tug Co. The unfortunate man lost his only child three weeks ago.

Returning To Paris.

LONDON, Oct. 7. — The French Government will return to Paris to-day or to-morrow, according to the Paris correspondent of The Express, who makes this announcement on high authority. The visit of President Poincare to army headquarters is considered a good omen.

GERMANY HAS FOUR MILLIONS READY FOR MOBILIZATION CALL

Army Carries no Tents--Rely on Obtaining Quarters in Towns and Villages--Officers go Days Without Undressing --An Interesting Letter

Six American newspaper men, representing various newspapers and news associations—Irving S. Cobb, Roger Lewis, John T. McCutcheon, James O. Bennett, Harry Hauson and Arnold Dosch—got themselves arrested intentionally by the Germans in Brussels in order to get within the German lines. They have been permitted to follow the German army provided they keep twenty miles away from the firing line. One of the letters smuggled out contains the following interesting account of the thoroughness of the German army organization.

"Before the present war began no one, outside of a few in the army, knew the color of the uniform that were to be worn. Four million new uniforms, made of the peculiar dust-colored gray that blends so completely with a landscape, awaited the men who were to wear them.

"An item in the making of these uniforms illustrates the German ingenuity and thoroughness of attention to minute details. Suspender-buttons were sewn upon trousers in twos instead of singly so that, in case of the bursting of a button under the strain of moving artillery, a soldier simply moves the suspender along to the twin button.

"In four million lockers in barracks throughout the empire were these uniforms, each locker marked with the name of the man who was to use the contents. In each locker was a complete uniform, underclothing, socks, boots, helmet, rifle already loaded and oiled ready for instant use, and a canteen already filled with fresh water. Each day this water has been replaced by fresh water.

"In each locker was a stout paper bag with string attached, and on the bag was written the address to where it should be sent. When the order to mobolize came every man subject to the first call to army duty consulted his badge and found that he was to go at once to a certain locker in a certain place, and in that locker he would find his complete equipment.

"Arriving at the locker, he was to put on his uniform, and in a few minutes he was a soldier, complete from the soles of his heavy boots to his cap. Almost instantly he was ready for the field.

He was then to wrap his citizen clothes in the paper, already addressed, and leave the bundle by the locker, from where it would be collected and sent to his home.

"Even the German reservist in distant countries knows that his uniform is waiting for him in a locker for which he carries the key.

"Every morning the soldiers are given a hot breakfast. They march or fight until noon, when they are given a hot lunch; then they march or fight some more, have a hot supper and then sing for a couple of hours.

"Often in the evening I have heard soldiers singing, even after a long gruelling day on the field or on the march. In the windows of their quarters they may be seen gathered about in groups of singers, while through other windows may be seen the officers poring over maps.

"'These rations,' said one of the officers, 'are placed in little tins, where they remain good for years.' He looked at the date on a box of lintel and said it was packed in 1911. 'It will be good until 1931,' he remarked. It was like vintage soup. From one little tin an excellent soup is made, sufficient for two men at a single meal.

The German Army Supplies the field glasses to its commissioned and non-commisioned officers, but in many cases the officers like to provide their own glasses.

ARMY CARRIES NO TENTS

"The German army carries no tents. Its officers and soldiers are quartered in the houses of the towns and villages through which the army passes. Each house must furnish temporary quarters according to its capacity.

"The German officers during these stirring days never undress. One told us that he had not had his clothes off for three weeks. Not even their boots or leggins are removed, so that asleep or awake the officer is instantly ready for duty.

"Among the men, each wears a ponderous boot, strong and ample in size, and which will fit almost any other soldier."

The Runaways

By W. Werner.

All day Gail had hoped. It was the weather, perhaps. Suddenly one was aware that it was summer even in that close, dim, narrow street of apartment houses, and that the sky was blue even if one could not see it.

It was not Dan's fault he had no work. He was willing enough, but he had never learned a trade. There was no time for that. He had been earning $20 a week when Gail married him, but, within two years he had been reduced to $15. A change in the management had resulted in his losing his last place. He had recommendations as to his honesty, steadiness, and sobriety, but he was not skilled. At 38 he was too old to learn a trade. Every day the little store of money dwindled away with health and hope.

Gail herself had tried to get work, but with no better success. An unskilled woman is less wanted than an unskilled man.

Since she could not earn it seemed that the one thing she could do was to save. She went to school to domestic economy and studied hard. Her aim was to feed Dan well at the least possible cost and she accomplished wonders.

Moreover, she kept up Dan's hope and courage. He never saw her flinch or falter. She sent him away with a smile and received him back with a kiss. She had a thousand aphorisms of hope which she recited to him. Dan never suspected that she had her own trials to bear as well as his trials to share.

To-day, however, she seemed almost glad. "Dan will bring back good news," she thought.

Dan swung off the car at 6:30. He walked all the way upstairs. He had a crumpled newspaper in his hand. When she opened the door and held out her arms to him he simply stood still and looked at her in a kind of terrible dumbness. His cheeks were gray and drawn, his eyes hollow, his collar wilted. He was tired out with his day, and so he had come home.

Gail felt her smile slipping into a sob, but she kissed him, patted him on the shoulder, brushed back his hair, and led him to the couch.

"Lie down, honey. It has been hot to-day and you're a bit spent," she said.

"I did hope," he sighed, "to have good news to bring to you to-day."

Gail laughed. "Oh, my dear! You speak as if it were the last day of all! Isn't there tomorrow—Many tomorrows?"

"Nonsense!" Gail laughed again. "Our rent is paid a whole month ahead. That's half the battle. You will find the better job for wiating. Now, if you're rested enough we'll have supper. I've got something good that you'll like."

Gail pretended not to notice how hungry he was by reading stray items from the newspaper he had brought home. "Listen to this!" she laughed. "'Wealthy young couple tire of society and run away to the country, where they live the simple life, unknown to their rustic neighbors and sought for by distracted relatives.'"

She looked up, merrily. "Let's run away, too, Dan."

"Now you're talking stuff, girlie," he said.

Gail flung the paper away. She leaned forward with clasped hands and looked at Dan with vision-seeing eyes. "No," she said. "I'm talking sense. Listen, dear, tomorrow morning we'll run away. I'll lead. All you'll have to do is to follow. I've felt all day that something heavenly was coming. And it's come!"

There were no plans to be made beyond those of leaving the flat and packing a suit case. Before they went to bed they collected all their money and counted it. There was only a small handful of it all told, and with this they must unlock the doors of their great adventure.

Dan was weary and heart heavy next morning. Gail, too, found that her inspiration was little more than a memory, but she bustled about just as if she were brimful of delight in her undertaking. She packed a little basket of lunch, and with this and the suit case they set forth in the first light of the new day. They found themselves ahead of commuters in a nearly empty train. Midday found them still flying onward into the heart of the real country, where dwellings were rare and there seemed to be land enough. A little flag station wheeled into view from behind a spur of hill. The train stopped and Gail sprang up.

"Let's get off here," she whispered.

The first thing they saw when they alighted from the train was a road that went up a hill and lost itself amid big green trees. It seemed to beckon to Gail, and seizing Dan by the hand she hurried along it. When they got to the top of the hill they found a long stretch of sparse woods knee-deep in brakes. They sat down and ate from the lunch basket.

"Gail, don't you begin to feel that we've been crazy? Our ticket was paid for 10 miles yet, and we've used up all but $5 of our money," Dan said. "No use. We can't get back now."

"We don't want to go back. We're going to stay if we have to hire out on separate farms. Hark!"

Wheels were coming down the road from the unknown somewhere—heavy rumbling wheels that jolted over the stones. Presently two horses came in view—great, brown sinewy creatures, drawing a dray load of furniture. A big, bearded man sat on the front of the load, his boots swinging, and drove.

The man pulled up on the reins and the horses stopped. "Fine day."

"Fine, indeed," said Dan.

They eyed each other. "Just got off the train?" asked the farmer.

"Yes, sir."

"Want nobody to meet you, eh? Well, you're going the wrong way. Pete's folks live down over the bridge. Nothing up this way but my place, that the folks moved off the other day. I've got the rest of their goods here."

"What did they move off for?" asked Gail, with sudden interest.

"The woman got sick. I guess she don't like farming, anyhow. And he done just as she said. Slaving good worker, too, he was. Had his crops and everything. Leaves me middlin' bad off. I can't stay up there and tend things. I've got my own farm to see to."

Dan and Gail exchanged glances. "Let us go there and look after things for you," Dan said. And he told his story.

"Gosh!" said the old man. "I never was so took back in my life. I thought you was some of Pete Crandall's folks that he was expecting to make him a visit. I sort o' like your looks, both of you, and I'm put to it for help. Just wait till I tie the team to a tree and we'll go back and look at the place. 'Taint a mile back by the path."

It was a small place, but a pleasant one.

"If you'll stay here this summer and watch things I'll pay you good wages," said Hiram Benedict. "I can see you ain't farmers, but you look honest and you can learn how things go."

"Yes, we can learn," Gail promised, and she slipped her hand into Dan's and squeezed it hard.

That golden summer. Once Gail went back to the city to collect her lares and penates. She came back more in love with the country than ever.

"It's a 112 in the shade," she said. "You could bake eggs on the pavement anywhere. Oh, Dan I'm so glad I'm out of that close little flat forever."

Hiram was up here to-day" Dan said, "and he wants me to stay right on. He says he'll start in renting me the place on shares next spring. What do you think, Gail?"

"Think!" cried Gail. Her eyes filled, but she laughed quickly. "I will stay if you will, Dan."

To Keep Our Workers Busy

For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.

Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning

We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in non-employment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.

You Reap the Advantage

Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

HOW FARMERS CAN AID THE EMPIRE

Hon. Martin Burrell has been energetically taking up the question of the country's food supply during the present crisis, and has been studying the problem from the viewpoint of what Canada can do to help feed the Empire. As the present indications are that the war will be long drawn out, the question of an adequate food supply will prove to be almost as vital as that of men, and Mr. Burrell has been taking up this question with the same energy Col. Sam Hughes has mobilized Canada's army.

Mr. Burrell, as a result of his study of the situation, has made an appeal to the farmers of Canada on patriotic as well as business grounds to increase this coming year their production of foodstuffs. In addition, the Minister is doing everything possible to assist the farmers, and a circular has been issued explaining the best ways of increasing acreage and production for this coming season.

The Minister of Agriculture, in an interview, points out that approximately twenty million men have been mobilized in Europe, and that a large proportion of these have been drawn from the farms. Even in neutral countries large numbers have been called from the land to be ready for emergencies.

He makes the following stirring appeal to the farmers of Canada to do their duty by the Empire:—

"The area to be sown to wheat and rye this fall in Europe will be seriously reduced. Should the war continue into next summer the food production in Europe cannot approach that of normal years. Looking at the situation in even its most favorable light, there will be, in 1915, a demand for food that the world will find difficulty in supplying. Canada is responding promptly to the call of the Motherland for men and equipment. Britain needs more than men, she must have food—food this year and next. We are sending our surplus now. We should prepare for the larger surplus next year. The Government is strongly impressed with the desirability of increasing the crop acreage in Canada. Growers of fall wheat should endeavor to increase their sowing. The Canadian farmer, earnestly bending all his energies to increase the food supply for the Britisher at home and the British soldiers at the front, is doing his share in the gigantic struggle of the Empire.

"Apart from the practical certainty that wheat and other foods next year will yield large financial returns to the producer, there is the great fact that the Canadian farmers, who, by extra effort, enlarge their wheat and other crop acreages and increase their live stock products, will be doing the best thing possible to strengthen the Empire in its day of trial."

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES

The Grand Duke Nicholas has formally announced to General Juffre the victory of the Russian army at Augustowo and has received the French commander's congratulations. It is apparent, therefore, that the Russians regard their success as complete and important. Commanders-in-chief do not usually make such announcements on the basis of vague or uncertain rumors.

The official German despatch of yesterday, however, stated that the Russian left, comprising one corps and part of another, had been defeated at a crossing of the Niemen near Augustowo. Assuming that this referred to some earlier incident in the ten days' battle, there is no reason why both Russian and German reports may not be true, for the Germans claim success at only one point on a 70-mile line. If the rest of their line were beaten, they would still have to retreat. As in other disputed battles along the eastern frontier, the truth will be finally determined by the positions in which the respective armies are next reported.

If the Russians have gained as great a success as they claim, perhaps its most important feature is the demonstration that Russian troops can stand up successfully against Germans. The Russian victories in Galicia were won against Austrians and Hungarians, who are not supposed to have reached quite the standard of the Germans. Except in the opening engagement at Gambinnen and Insterburg, where the German force was relatively small, the Russians have hitherto been beaten whenever they have come in contact with the Germans, and most of the Russian border fronting on Germany has been kept in German hands. This fact, reinforced by the record of Russia against the Japanese, left some doubt as to the real weight of the Russian factor in the war. Judging by the Grand Duke's telegram, Augustowo has proved that the Russian army can face and overcome Germans as well as Austrians. In that case, the Kaiser will need much greater numbers on his eastern frontier than he has there now.

CURRENT COMMENT

A Warsaw despatch to Reuter's Telegraph Company says that the sale of spirits and wine is prohibited, even in first class restaurants, hotels and clubs, and that Warsaw is now a completely dry city.

By the falling of the roofs of two motor garages at Calgary, Alberta, through the weight of snow, thirty automobiles were smothered in debris and damage to cars and buildings is estimated to be $35,000.

Dr. W. J. Roche, Minister of the Interior, left Rochester, Minn., for his home, after an extended stay in that city, during which time he submitted to a serious operation for kidney trouble. Dr. Roche returns almost completely recovered from his ailment, and, according to his daughter, who has been with him constantly, there is every indication that he will be in time fully restored to normal health.

War Notes

The Italian Government is spending $10,000,000 on winter outfits for troops, including woollen vests and fur coats suitable for campaign in the mountains. The Italian army is now quite ready.

Exclusive of officers, 1,433 lives were lost in the sinking of the British cruisers Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue in the North Sea, September 22, according to a report issued by the Admiralty to-night. The Aboukir lost 510 men, the Cressy 561 and the Hogue, 362.

An Austrian, forty years of age, a worker in a construction camp, at Quesnell, B.C., was found clubbed to death on Monday just across the river. Four Servians with whom he had been seen to leave Quesnell a few hours before, were put under arrest. It is believed the tragedy was the outcome of a quarrel over the war.

Mrs. Harriett Jones, with a family of six sons and one daughter ranging in ages from eight months to eight years, arrived in Toronto from Dunkirk, N. Y. Her husband enlisted in the Canadian contingent because he was unable to find work. Mrs. Jones has received her husbands's first month's pay and will also be taken care of by the Women's Patriotic Fund.

Ten more prisoners of war were brought to Fort Henry during the week, making the toal number here now two hundred. Three Germans were rounded up at Morrisburg, but two managed to make their escape. Evidence that the men like the treatment they are given in the Fort is shown in the case of one fellow who was allowed out on parole. He continued to loaf around in the vicinity of the Fort and wanted to get in again. It was necessary for an escort to take him in charge and see him off on one of the trains.

A despatch from Rome to Reuter says the Pope has personally written to the Austrian Emperor urging him to use his power in an edeavor to shorten the conflict.

A despatch to the London Times from Cape Town states that an intercepted letter addressed to the commander of the German gunboat Eber, which got away from that place just before the outbreak of the war, contained instructions from Berlin, dated June 14, a fortnight before the Sarajevo murders, revealing a complete system for coaling the German navy on the outbreak of war through secret agents in Cape Town, New York and Chicago.

Gratitude for one favor is often a covert bid for another.

Some people talk so much that they have no time to think.

GILEAD

The farmers of this vicinity have been very busy for over a week filling their silos, and will now be making good use of this ideal weather for digging potatoes, which are an abundant crop.

Mr. Philips' men have been packing apples at Mr. Huffman's for a couple of days.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Fairman took in the Fair at Tweed on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Carter spent Sunday at Melrose.

Rev. Mr. Sanderson of Holloway St. Church, Belleville, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church here on Sunday, and delivered a splendid patriotic address, after which a liberal offering was taken up for the Patriotic Fund.

Miss Florence Huffman left on Tuesday to take a course in a business college in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wallace visited at the home of Mr. Ray, in Sidney on Sunday.

Master Kenneth Leavens, who underwent an operation for throat trouble last week at the Belleville Hospital, is getting along nicely.

Mr. Arthur Balcanqual, who has been quite ill is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Lloyd of Frankford, visited at the home of her father on Friday last.

Messrs. A. Martin and T. Coulter were among the exhibitors at the Roblin's Mills Fair on Saturday, both carrying off a liberal share of the prizes.

NOTHING DECISIVE YET

Allies and Germans Are Deadlocked on the Aisne.

French War Office Communique Reports Operations on a Wider Scale Than Heretofore With Gains at Some Points and Retirements at Others—Bodies of German Cavalry South of Lille.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The sixty-third day of the great war of Europe saw a repetition of what the peoples of all the countries have forced themselves to expect, perhaps for months to come—no decisive conflict on land or sea.

From Berlin to London came nothing in the way of Germany's claim to progress or reverses. From Petrograd came what has flowed without interruption for weeks — consistent claims to the progress of Russian arms.

From Paris at the usual mid-afternoon hour was issued the usual communication, so-called, interpreting the situation along the battle line of the western theatre of the war, in the light of those opposing the German invasion. There were in the closely worded communication, cryptic to an extent, as always, hints of a greater diversity of operations than it ordinarily contains.

Above all stood out the presence of what was described as large masses of German cavalry near Lille, as the crow flies, hardly ten miles from the Belgian frontier, and behind them German forces moving on a line between Tourcoing and Armentieres, the latter point right at the Belgian border.

At the same time the official communication makes it plain that the allies have not been idle and have been extending their lines on the left wing more and more widely. Blow for blow around the Arras, the scene of sanguinary fighting recently, is evidently still in order there. The same may be said of the region between the Somme and the Oise, for it is noticeable that the allies have claimed nothing there to-day except a see-saw advance and retirement. They do maintain that they have repulsed the enemy near Lassigny, upon which the Germans made a violent attack.

At Soissons, where the allies recently cleared the German trenches, they have, according to the announcement, pressed their advantage by making a slight advance. It is Noyon which forms the elbow from which the allied line sweeps eastward. Some advance for the allies is also reported at Berry au Bac. From Belgium comes nothing to indicate any change in the situation around Antwerp, except a brief line tucked at the bottom of the Paris official statement asserting that the German attacks along the River Rupel and the River Nethe have failed.

The British press takes occasion to emphasize that while the battle of the Aisne holds first claim in the matter of sentimental interest, the gigantic operations of the Russian, German and Austrian armies in the east may first bring the solution of the war.

The Standard's correspondent in Paris, wiring last night, says: 'The situation to-night continues favorable. The battle on the Aisne is gradually moving northwards of the Somme, and the enemy is now occupying nearly the same ground as he did in the middle of August. The moral position is, however, radically changed, and the German invading army, instead of promenading against a retreating foe, is desperately making what may be its last stand in France. The Belgian army is again playing a role of the greatest importance, and all efforts of Germany to prevent the Belgians from taking the offensive and threatening the rear and the communications of the army fighting for its life against the Allies have failed.

Prussian Diet To Re-open.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Co., from Berlin, by way of Amsterdam, says:

"By special decree issued at Imperial headquarters, the sessions of the Prussian Diet, which have been in adjournment since June 15, will be re-opened Oct. 22.

THE ATHLETICS STRENGTH

Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—Should Geo Stallings' Braves win four straight games in the coming world's series, there will be an army of baseball experts who still will consider the Athletics the greatest baseball machine on earth. The reason is that in a man-for-man analysis the Braves don't even compare.

Connie Mack can turn his batting order upside down; he can put McInnis, who is hitting fifth, at the top; Barry, now in seventh position, second and trail with Schang and Baker and have a better attacking force than almost any other club in either league.

He can submerge Collins, Strunk, Murphy and Walsh and yet present a battlefront that will terrorize the pitchers of any league. Indeed, there is no rest for the pitcher who opposes the champions of Christendom; no let up from the top to the bottom of the batting list.

The Athletics play the hit-and-run with every batter on the team, including their pitchers.

Connie will use two veterans, Eddie Plank and Chief Bender, in preference.

In a seven-game series, the pitching is by all odds the biggest factor. A year ago Connie Mack uncovered Joe Bush at the psychological moment and Joe beat the Giants, after Plank had failed in his first game. This year Connie has a big left-hander named Bressler, who has been winning regularly of late. He also has Wykoff who has been primed for two years and is almost ready for a whirl in the big series, but it is to Bender and Plank that the Athletic players look for the sharpshooting which will land them the winners' end of the big purse this month. And Bender at least seems fit.

"Winning pennants is a chronic habit with me," says Cornelius (Connie Mack) McGillicuddy.

"It wasn't so in 1902, the year I won my first flag. The Athletics came to St. Louis that season four and one-half games in front. Jimmy McAleer's Browns gave us a tremendous scare by winning four straight. McAleer had Burkett, Heidrick, Wallace, Powell, Donahue, Dick Padden, Sugden and Kahoe. The Athletics cleaned up in Dtroit.

"Jimmy Callahan's White Sox gave me a great fight in 1905 and George Stallings' New York Yankees fought the Athletics to a finish in 1910. The Giants whipped the Athletics in 1905. My men couldn't hit Mathewson or McGinnity. I think Matty shut us out three straight.

"All the prophets are predicting that the Boston Braves will clout our pitchers. Counting chickens before they are hatched. I'm not worrying about our twirling department. There are some hefty sluggers in the American League. Nevertheless our boxmen held them safe all year and I can't see Stallings' hitless wonders starting anything with the big stick."

NO CHANGES PROBABLE IN CANADIAN LEAGUE

Toronto, Oct. 6.—The Canadian League met at the Prince George Hotel yesterday. President James P. Fitzgerald was authorized to attend the meeting at Omaha in November and to draw up a constitution and by-laws for submission to the anual meeting.

Messrs. Stevely and Nelson were reappointed auditors.

The appeal of Toronto against the decision of the directors in the Peterboro'-Toronto game of June 3 was dismissed.

The meeting, though the league is just through the worst season in the history of baseball, was satisfied that the future of baseball is decidedly more promising than the sison just gone through and the league is prepared to stand pat for another year.

Delegates present were:—St. Thomas, J. H. Chantler; London, S. Stevely Brantford, T. Nelson; Hamilton, F. Lynch; Peterboro', W. H. Dubam; Toronto, Geo. Lee; Erie, Geo. O'Neil. President Fitzgerald was in the chair.

WORLD'S SERIES FACTS

Dick Rudolph against the Indian Bender are the pitchers named for the opening game of the world's series which starts on Friday between Boston and Philadelphia in the latter city. The schedule:—

First game, Friday, Oct. 9, at Philadelphia.

Second Game, Saturday, Oct. 10, at Philadelphia.

Third Game, Monday, Oct. 12, at Boston.

Fourth game, Tuesday, Oct. 13, at Boston.

Fifth game, Wednesday, Oct. 14, at Philadelphia.

Sixth game, Thursday, Oct. 15, at Boston.

Seventh game, if necessary, to be decided by lot.

In case of a tie game or a game prevented or stopped by rain, the teams will remain in that city until the game is played, and the above dates in that case will be moved forward.

BOSTON ROOTERS WILL GO

Boston, Oct. 6.—Mayor Curley will lead the Royal Rooters, a band of three hundred ball enthusiasts, when they go to Philadelphia to cheer the Braves in the world's series contests there on Friday and Saturday, he announced to-day. The Royal Rooters have followed the fortunes of every Boston team that has taken part in an important series in the past twenty years. They have yet to support a loser.

CHANCE IS CONSIDERING OFFER FROM FEDERALS

Chicago, Oct. 6.—James A. Gilmore, President of the Federal League, last night said his organization had offered Frank Chance, former manager of the New York American club, the management of a Federal League club next year. Chance, he said, had taken a short time to consider the offer. He said if Chance refused, the Federals would make no further effort to secure his services. Chance and Mrs. Chance resumed their automobile trip to California to-day.

THE "TIPPERARY" OF OLD M'GILL

Here's one of the new batch of McGill rooters' songs which is bound to become popular:

So it's good-bye to old Toronto,
And it's farewell to Queen's,
We are sorry we've got to trim you,
But the championship it means,
Shag only turns out winners,
Since he is a bear
And the whole team is made up of lions,
And we are right there.

Grand Trunk Railway System

Mr. E. J. Chamberlin, president of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways, has returned to Montreal after a tour of inspection of the companies' lines. His trip extended as far as Prince Rupert, the terminal of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in British Columbia.

"I found," said Mr. Chamberlin, "conditions in the West very satisfactory. While the crop generally will fall considerably below that of 1913, yet the quality is fairly good and the increased prices will do much to help in the shortage of the yield. Taken all together, the people are very optimistic and are preparing for a very large acreage next season. The crop has been harvested at least three weeks earlier than usual so that a very large amount of ploughing has been done and this will be a great benefit to the crop of 1915. Under favorable conditions I should think the 1915 crop will be far in excess of anything they have ever had in the Northwest, as the acreage will probably be increased at least 25 per cent."

"I found our line in British Columbia in much better condition than I expected, the work done is remarkable considering that 480 miles were graded and track laid in 12 months through the mountains of British Columbia. We now have a first class track as far west as Prince George, B. C., and at least half of the track between Prince George and Prince Rupert is fully finished and the balance of it has a first, and most of it a second lift of ballast compares today favorably with other railroad lines in the Northwest. There is a big force of men at work putting on the finishing touch and we expect before the close of the season the entire line will be in first class condition; we are now running a through sleeping car train twice a week between Edmonton and Prince Rupert connecting with the through trains to Winnipeg, and this is being well patronized and giving very good service to the people. We are also running freight regularly through to Prince Rupert."

"It has not generally been understood that this Company is building a very large and extensive dry dock and ship building plant at Prince Rupert. The dry dock being capable of floating a 20,000 ton battleship. It is now expected that this dry dock and ship yard will be fully completed and machinery installed ready for any class of work which may be offered, by January 1st, 1915."

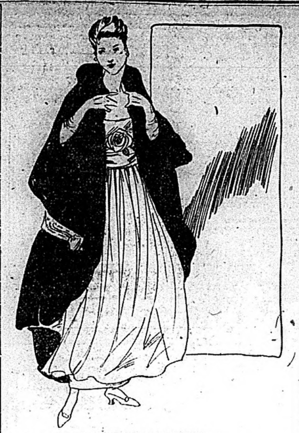
"This Company, so far have not taken any action relative to steamship lines of their own on the Pacific Coast, deeming it advisable for the present to patronize the old established lines which are running between the Pacific Coast and the Orient.'

"The Grand Trunk Pacific line in British Columbia runs for something over 200 miles through the Fraser River Valley, which is a wide valley now heavily timbered. This timber will be marketed and taken East for consumption in the Prairie Provinces. The land where it has been cleared is very fertile and yields heavy crops to the acre. From Prince George to Hazelton, the Line runs through the valley of the Nechaco and the Bulkley Rivers, which are also very wide with much open country and very lightly timbered. Settlers are now pouring in rapidly and within a very short time we will have a large population in that part of the country.

"The opening up of the G.T.P. will be a great boom to the Prairie Provinces as they will be able to have an all year round port for shipment if they desire and they are already getting—which has been very much needed—a supply of fresh fish from Prince Rupert The British Columbia fisheries are located within two or three hours run of Prince Rupert harbor and they are already making extensive shipments to the east from that port, the fish going at the present time as far east as Winnipeg, St. Paul and Chicago and probably shipments will soon be taken to Montreal and Toronto"

"I noticed in passing through Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, a very large increase in stock, which makes it apparent that the farmers are taking up heartily the question of mixed farming, and I have no doubt but what this will be a great improvement for the Northwest. They also seem to be giving more careful attention to the cultivation of their land."

"Up to the present time the G.T.P. has handled about [illegible]000 carloads of grain more than they handled for the same period last year, but this is largely due to the earlier harvesting and we do not expect that that increase will be continued for the full season."



THE NEW SILHOUETTE.

Valcartier Camp to be Dismantled

QUEBEC, Oct. 6.—Valcartier camp is being rapidly dismantled. Only a few hundred men are left taking down the tents and clearing up the debris left after the departure of the largest army ever mobilized in Canada.

It is said now that whether another contingent is sent from the Dominion will depend upon the Imperial authorities. If a second division is required it will be sent. But it is in any case certain that Valcartier will not be used for training during the winter, though it is probable that it will become a permanent summer training camp for soldiers belonging to eastern Canada regiments. Should it be decided to send more troops this winter, whether as a second contingent or as reinforcements for the first contingent, to supply the places of men rendered hors de combat, they will in all probability receive their training at the depots of the Canadian permanent force at Halifax, Quebec, Kingston or St. Johns, Que.

Quebec is Quiet Again

Quebec City presents a strange contrast to its appearance during the five days occupied by the embarkation of the troops, and the city has now returned to its normal aspect

The secrecy with which the arrangements for the embarkation of the contingent were carried out is shown by the surprise received by a batch of officers who had obtained leave to visit their friends at the Chateau Frontenac. The first inkling that there was anything unusual in the wind came when one of the officers received a telephone message from headquarters at the camp asking him to report on one of the transports in half an hour. This was quickly followed by calls to other officers until practically the entire number had gone on board, after hurried leavetakings with relatives and friends.

A sergeant of a western cavalry regiment who was thrown from his horse and had several ribs broken, in addition to a badly damaged head, refused to return to the camp for treatment and insisted on being put aboard ship. He had to be assisted to the wharf by friends, but was determined not to be left behind.

Mayor Drouin, of Quebec, has offered the Quebec Exhibition grounds to the Militia Department for whatever use they may wish to make of it. The grounds are already being utilized for horses, there being good stabling, but it is considered that the men might also be mobilized there. Part of the next troops sent across will probably be mobilized at the Toronto Exhibiton grounds, which can also supply excellent stabling for the horses.

CRA COW.

The Austrians are making a desperate attempt to reach Cracow, where they hope to be joined with a strong German force. That one of the most desperate battles engaged in by the Austrians is expected here, is attested by the manner in which the fortifications are being strengthened. Cracow is one of the strongest fortified cities in the Dual Monarchy. Cracow is the capital of ancient poland. Its fortified Wawel or Citadel (the building in the background with the turreted battlements) stands on a cliff overlooking and commanding the Vistula River.

WHOLE NATIONS COULD BE WIPED OUT BY TURPENTINE

Most Terrific and Most Death-Dealing High Power Explosive Ever Known--Expert Says Only Tests Have Been Made in Present War--Held for Emergencies

There is considerable discussion in London about the turpinite shells which the French are said to be using. This new explosive, according to the Daily Express, is so deadly in its effects that all life is exterminated within a radius of 400 yards of the exploding shells. According to some stories regiments of Germans have been found dead in their trenches, their rifles still in their hands and not a mark on their bodies.

The Daily Express quotes a man who has been known to the editor for years and is well informed in regard to turpinite as saying:

"For special reasons, which it would be unfair for me to divulge at the present moment, I am strongly of the opinion that these shells have not been used to any large extent by French armies in the field. It is probable that an actual test, under battle conditions has been made once or twice, but no more.

"That this terrible explosive will, however, be used in case of such an eventuality as an attempt to take Paris by storm I have no doubt. But I am convinced, despite the thousands of bombs now prepared and the special apparatus cast, this explosive, fifty-six pounds of which is able to kill, to 'petrify', so to speak, every living thing in a space of 400 square yards, will not be used unless in very desperate circumstances and only with the full consent of France's allies."

In describing the new explosive the Daily Express's informant says:

"The new explosive, which was invented two years ago by M .Turpin, the 'parent' inventor of melinite lyddite, is undoubtedly the most terrific and most death dealing high power explosive ever known. Should its use become widespread whole armies, indeed entire nations, would be exteminated in the course of a few weeks. For this reason it probably enters into the list of explosives the use of which is prohibited by The Hague Convention, although M. Turpin says this is not the case."

After telling of M. Turpin's dislike of the French War Office methods and his grievance following that Government's acceptances of melinite and lyddite, the informant of the Express tells how M. Turpin set to work upon a new explosive which he endeavored to perfect so that melinite and lyddite would be practically useless. He worked for years, had a gun made himself, the parts being constructed at different points and then assembled, and directed the making of the shells.

"The merest chance enabled me to witness the early trials of the new explosive," the writer continues. "On a stretch of sand 400 yards square and railed off with wooden hurdles. In this space were a dozen sheep and a couple of worn out horses.

"One of the horses was contentedly munching hay and the other was rubbing himself against one of the hurdles, while the sheep were huddled together in a corner.

"This was what I saw through my glasses when from a ridge some 2,500 yards away there came a sharp, loud thud and the sound of a small shell, just as though somebody had taken a piece of silk and rapidly torn it in two.

"There was an explosion in the open space in the middle of the improvised sheep pen. The sheep were still huddled in the corner; one of the old horses was apparently leaning up against the railing. The one that had ben munching hay lay on his side.

"When, ten minutes later, I reached the pen the sheep looked for all the world as if they had been petrified. They were mostly standing up, one against the other.

"Three or four were lying down, but all were dead, with their eyes open, and lips hanging. It was absolutely ghastly. Yet of all the animals only the old horse that had been munching hay was hit by a fragment of shell. The other horse was leaning against the fence, his foreleg stretched out forward, his hind leg doubled up on the sand beneath him. Both had been killed instantly.

"There was a faint odor in the air which I can only describe as that given off by a methylated spirit, yet mixed with a pungent smell of menthol. The experiments were repeated on a much larger scale at the French permanent camps of Chalons and Mailly."

COAL PRODUCTION HALTED IN GERMANY

Austrian Output Cut by Thirty Per Cent.--Fiume Fears Attack

VENICE via Paris, Oct. 6.—Fearing an attack by the English and French fleets in the Adriatic, the naval authorites at Fiume have ordered all Hungarian ports closed from an hour before sunset until an hour after sunrise. The Austrian Minister of Commerce reports that the production of coal during the month of August dropped 30 per cent. In Germany, it is said, the coal production decreased by half.

ST. JOHN TO BE REMOUNT PORT

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 6.—Special—This port is to be used during the winter months as a remount depot for the British Army. The Exhibtion Association has given the government the use of their cattle sheds and grounds, and the drill shed will also be used. The Barrack Square will be utilized as a breaking-in-ground, as many of the horses that will come from the west will be untrained. Horses are expected to arrive here next month. The Donaldson Line steamers and a number of other steam vessels have been chartered to carry horses from here.

SERIES UNCERTAINTY BAFFLES THE PROPHETS

The situation which confronts the prophets in this year's world's series is difficult and uncertain, inasmuch as the Athletics of the American League outclass the Bostons of the National League very decisively as far as comparisons of past performances is concerned. The angle which increases the uncertainty is that Sallings' sensational Braves are an unknown, untried proposition so far as world's series play is concerned. Their shortcomings so far as facts and figures are concerned, will probably not be borne out in actual play.

While the Athletics outclass the Braves in batting and base running the Boston team has accomplished a remarkable achievement. They have made a meteoric rise from last place to first in the short space of six weeks. The question is "Will this winning habit carry them high and dry through the slugging Mackmen?"

Considering the matter coolly and cautiously on what baseball fans call the "dope" the Athletics should win the trophy with little trouble.

On the other hand, with three really remarkable pitchers like, James, Rudolph and Tyler going at their best, the batting prowess of the Athletics may receive a severe setback. Boston partisans maintain that the Mackmen will not be able to hammer the pitching of the sensational Boston triple alliance of boxmen.

But the same thing was said in 1910 about the Cub pitchers, Brown, Overall and Pfeister. Yet the Mackmen pounded them into oblivion without trouble. They did the same thing in 1911 to the Giant pitching staff, when Mathewson, Marquard and Tesreau were supposed to be at the zenith of their pitching form. A heavy hitting club is always dangerous. It is apt to hit all kinds of pitching at all times.

MAKERS MUST GIVE UP.

British Government Deals Sharply With Woollen Goods Firms.

LONDON, Oct. 6. — According to The Yorkshire Post, the War Office is taking drastic measures to secure an adequate supply of hosiery, underclothes, gloves and other woollen goods for the army and navy. All the manufacturers in Leicester, the chief centre for the woollen industry, have been informed that their entire product of heavy woollen goods must be placed at the disposal of the War Office, and that if a single garment be withheld by a manufacturer, or is supplied to any firm whatever, the War Office will at once take over the factory at which it is made and run it, giving the firm a certain percentage of the profits.

"It is believed the German base was destroyed and that the fortifications, arms and ammunition were seized. A British steamer in port was released. There was no resistance to the Japanese."

POSITIONS EVACUATED

Germans in East Prussia Still Retiring Before Russians.

Petrograd Despatches Say Gen. Von Hindenberg's Defeat Is Due to the Muddling of the Kaiser, Who Has Told Grossly Exaggerated Stories of Victories in the West — Next German Stand at Lyck.

LONDON, Oct. 7. — Petrograd official statements continue to repeat in a general way what has been accepted here as a fact for days—that the German army along the east Prussian frontier has been more or less routed and cut to pieces, but as this is only a small portion of the front it is exceedingly hard to get anything like a clear-cut perspective of the conflict. The Petrograd correspondent of the Havas News Agency transmits the following official statement:

"The German retreat continues along the frontier of East Prussia. The Germans have been forced to evacuate their fortified positions between Wierzblow and Lyck."

"The Russian offensive campaign continues. The fortified positions on the frontier are under a heavy artillery fire. The enemy has received reinforcements from the garrison at Koenigsberg. There has been particularly desperate fighting in the Valley of Dakalargewo.

"Railroads in East Prussia are crowded with troop trains, and our aerial scouts report an uninterrupted movement of Germans in a westerly direction. German columns and German troop trains are withdrawing across the frontier."

A news agency despatch from Petrograd says:

"During the Russian retreat through the Mabur Lake District, in East Prussia, a Russian battery was surrounded on three sides by the enemy's quickfirers. The infantry was on the other side of the lake and the Russian ammunition was exhausted. In order to avoid capture the commander ordered the battery to gallop over the declivity into the lake. His order was obeyed and he himself was among the drowned.

"During an assault on the fortress of Ossowitz, a German column got into a bog. The Russians shelled the bog and the single road crossing it. The Germans in trying to extricate themselves sank deeper and deeper into the mire, and hundreds were killed or wounded. Of the whole column there were only about 40 survivors."

A correspondent of The Daily Mail says:

"The German debacle on the Niemen was due to the mistakes of the Kaiser, who is responsible for the sudden shifting of German forces. It is declared that the Kaiser misled Gen. von Hindenberg with exaggerated reports of German victories. Gen. von Hindenberg, therefore, decided to adopt the offensive, with the result that all he obtained was new losses, new transferences of troops, new vacillations and a new creation of insecurity and mistrust."

The next German stand is expected to be made at Wirballen and Lyck. Gen. Rennenkampf, in command of the Russian forces, is pushing rapidly forward, and it is believed he will soon begin the invasion of East Prussia in earnest.

The town of Marmaros-Sziget, capital of the Hungarian County of Marmaros, has fallen into Russian hands and the seat of local government moved to Huszt, 28 miles northwest of Sziget, where Cossacks were reported to have cut the railway line yesterday.

It is stated that the Russians have met with repulses at Muramaroszige and Tarokocz. Engagements are in progress at Poleno and Aknos. None of these battles are really conclusive but have developed the Russian advance in good shape.

BRUSSELS STREETS MINED.

Ominous Sign Is Reported From the Belgian Capital.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The Times' special correspondent in Belgium wires: German troops are clearing the fields in the neighborhood of Brussels of everything edible—beet root, potatoes, turnips and grain—and running it into Germany by special trains. This action may very well speak for itself. The pavements in front of the Hotel de Ville, the Palais de Justice, and other public buildings have been mysteriously lifted and relaid, pointing to laying mines by the Germans. Heavy barricades of sandbags have been thrown up around the Palais de Justice. Guns now point down the Rue de la Regence quartier, Des Minimes avenue, Louise and Rue Saint Gilles.

Colonists Well Armed.

LONDON, Oct. 7. — The Times prints the following despatch from its correspondent at Cape Town, South Africa:

"An article contributed to The Cape Times by a recent visitor to German Southwest Africa, shows that the Union forces have to meet admirably trained and equipped troops, estimated to number at least 10,000, and armed with numerous machine guns and batteries. The Germans have singularly complete combinations by telephone and telegraph and wireless, the territory is difficult for operations and contains defensive positions of great strength."

London May Try Commission.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 7.—Petitions are being circulated asking the City Council to submit to the people in January next the question of commission government for the city. At the same time the ratepayers will vote upon the abolition of the Board of Control and the matter of reverting to the ward system of electing aldermen.

SECOND FORCE GOING

22,000 TO BE RAISED

Premier Borden In Statement Issued at Ottawa Says Preparations Are Now In Progress For the Equipment and Training of Another Contingent For Service In Europe —Plans For First Corps.

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—Canada intends to have 50,000 men in the battle front, according to an official statement made by Sir Robert Borden last evening. With 33,000 men, accompanied by 7,000 horses and a complement of guns, etc., now on their way to England, Canada proposes further to organize and train forthwith a second expeditionary force of 20,000 men, with a first reinforcement of ten per cent., making 22,000 men in all. This force, the Prime Minister states, will be organised as speedily as possible, and the arrangements for providing the necessary arms, ammunition and equipment are said to be already in progress.

The composition of the second expeditionary force has not been decided upon, but it is expected that it will take the form of the first, though it is scarcely probable that the same number of artillery will accompany it. In view of the many offers of cavalry units, more horsemen will likely accompany this force.

Upon the arrival of the first division in England, it is probable that the force will be organized as follows: Field troops, including a first reinforcement of ten per cent., 26,400 men; line of communication, troops, 2,100; total force at the front, 28,500. This will leave about 4,500 men for training in Great Britain, who will constitute a reinforcement of nearly twenty per cent. for the men at the front.

It is stated that 31 large steamships were required to transport the first Canadian army to England.

In addition to the above organization, preparations are being made to organize and train necessary further reinforcements for both the first and second expeditionary force.

It is probable that the training and organization of these reinforcements will be made in the city armories. It is not stated how the second contingent of 22,000 men will be mobilized, as winter conditions will prohibit the formation of such a camp as Valcartier.

Contrary to previous announcements that Col. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, would leave for a holiday in the Haliburtan woods, it is a matter of general knowledge that the Minister will leave for England probably before the end of this week. It is not known how long he will be away, but the organization of the second expeditionary force will be under the supervision of Premier Borden, in the capacity of Acting Minister of Militia.

CHANGING GENERALS.

German War Office Will Try Some New Strategists For a Change.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—A Central News despatch from Bordeaux says that that following important changes in German army commands have been announced:

Gen. Von Mogen replaces Gen. Von Hindenburg in eastern Prussia; Gen. Eberhardt becomes military governor of Strassburg, capital of Alsace-Lorraine; Gen. Von Gerek is appointed governor Ulm Wuerttemberg, and Gen. Ludinghausen replaces Gen. Von Luckwald in command at Coblenz, Prussia.

Prisoners Should Mend Roads.

KINGSTON, Oct. 7.—Reeve Hawkey, Kingston Township, has a proposition for the utilization of the German prisoners in Fort Henry. He thinks their services should be utilized on the roads in the nearby districts, in an effort to get a lot of work done this fall which is much needed.

Kingston had 140 applications for war relief. They will be provided for out of the $50,000 raised by citizens for the Canadian patriotic fund.

PRISONERS ILL-TREATED.

Advices From Austria Say Britons Have Had Harsh Usage.

VENICE, Oct. 7.—(Via Paris.)—Reports from various parts of Austria-Hungary indicate that British prisoners of war have been subjected in many instances to harsh treatment. They have been insufficiently fed and badly housed amid unsanitary conditions.

Many prisoners have been transferred to various points in the interior. At first they were made comfortable and those with money were permitted to buy all the extra comforts procurable, but later all prisoners were treated alike.

A batch of these prisoners were engaged for a time in building torpedo boats for the Austrian navy at the Montfalcone dockyards, near Trieste, but have recently been transferred to a fortress in Hungary.

The American consul at Trieste is endeavoring to find a way to alleviate the unhappy condition of the prisoners.

MARKET REPORTS

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Notwithstanding that wheat at one time today showed a substantial upturn, the bears had the advantage during most of the session. A heavy total for the stocks in hand in the United States and Canada was made much of against the bulls. Prices closed weak, 1½c to 1⅝c under last night. Other leading staples, too, all suffered a net decline—corn ⅝c to ⅞c, oats ½c to ⅞c, and provisions 5c to 55c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 6.—Winnipeg wheat opened higher on strong cables, general bullish news and a good cash demand, but selling pressure proved too much in the absence of speculative trade and hedging in Winnipeg and Chicago. The close showed a decline of ⅝c for December and ½c for October. Oats were dull to ½c lower.

Cars inspected Monday numbered 1151, and in sight were 200 cars. Cars inspected of all grains during the month of September were 34,526, against 37,943 in September, 1913.

The weather was generally fine and colder, with traces of rain and snow in Southern Alberta.

Deliveries thru the clearing house were: Wheat, 777,000 bushels, and flax, 21,000 bushels.

Winnipeg cash: Wheat—No. 1 northern, $1.06½; No. 2 do., $1.03½; No. 3 do., 98½c; No. 4, 92⅝c; No. 5, 87½c; No. 6, 82⅝c; feed, 79½c.

Oats—No. 2 C.W., 48⅝c.

Barley—No. 3, 65½c; No. 4, 60c.

Flax—No. 1 N.W.C., $1.12⅝; No. 2 C. W., $1.09⅝.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—Considerable grain was offered by local exporters over the cable last night, but the acceptances were few and far between today, as only sales of a few loads of wheat were made. The local market for coarse grain was also quiet. The demand for all lines being limited, but prices show no further change. Business in flour is quiet, both for local and export account and the demand for mill feed is limited. In baled hay the feeling is easier and prices have declined 50c per ton.

Cheese is firm, with a fair demand from local exporters for all offerings.

The butter market is more active, with sales of some round lots of finest creamery to local houses. The trade in eggs is fairly active.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN MARKET.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 6.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.08⅝; No. 1 northern, $1.06⅛ to $1.07⅝; No. 2 do., $1.03⅛ to $1.05⅝; December, $1.07⅝.

Corn—No. 3 yellow, 66c to 67c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 42⅝c to 43c.

Flour and bran unchanged.

DULUTH GRAIN MARKET.

Heroic Gen. Leman Better.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Miss Marguerite Leman, daughter of Gen. Leman, the defender of Liege, has received word, according to an Ostend despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co., that her father, who is now at Magdeburg, has been cured of the wound he sustained from shrapnel during the German bombardment. He still suffers, however, from the effects of inhaling the poisonous gas given off by the picrite of the shells.

Two Vessels Captured.

BREST, France, Oct. 7. — (Via London.)—The German bark Martha Geckahan, from Punta, Costa Rico, and the Norwegian ship Bennestvest, of 1,600 tons, bound from New Caledonia for Hamburg, have been captured by French warships and brought to this port. The Bennestvest has a cargo of nickel.

WARNED TO FLEE.

Antwerp People Told That Bombardment Is Imminent.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Antwerp gives the following official communication issued at 10 o'clock last night:—

"The military governor has informed the burgomaster that a bombardment of Antwerp is imminent, and that the people who wish to flee from the town are requested to leave.

"The bombardment will have no influence on the town's resistance, which will be pushed to the extreme limit."

The Exchange Telegraph Co. adds that the foregoing message has been passed by the British censor for publication.

An official statement issued at Antwerp earlier in the day said:—

"The Germans continue their bombardment of the outer ring of forts. They have utterly failed, however, in their attempts to gain a footing at any point. In a series of sorties the garrison has inflicted great damage on the enemy, who has now abandoned all efforts to carry our positions by storm. Every single fort and redoubt is holding out."

It has been announced that Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty, is now in Antwerp consulting with the Belgian general staff.

FRANCE MINES ADRIATIC.

Austrian Tactics Have Forced the Republic Into Action.

BORDEAUX, Oct. 7—The Ministry of Marine issued the following notice yesterday:

"The Austrian navy having laid mines in the Adriatic, the French fleet has been obliged to do likewise. But in order to avoid damaging neutral shipping as the Austrians have done, the French have laid their mines according to the rules of Chapter VIII. of The Hague Convention of 1907. The danger zone comprises all Austrian water and channels between the islands and the coasts of Dalmatia."

Message From "Leafield."

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Oct. 7.—"Nov. 9, 1913, steamer Leafield. No hope, farewell to all, in God we trust. (Signed) Officer."

The above message was found written upon a small piece of discolored paper which was found in a glass flask by two duck hunters upon the shore of Lake Superior, half buried in the sand.

The steamer Leafield belonged to the Algoma Central Steamship Line and was lost during the great storm of Nov. 9 last. She was carrying steel rails.

The entire crew were lost and no sign as to where has ever been found.

Condensed News Items for Busy Readers.

WHEEL RECOVERED

The bicycle reported lost by Master H. Woodley has been recovered. It was found this morning at the same place where it was taken from the night previous.

PAID FOR HIS DRUNK

Yesterday afternoon a party who resides in the city, was placed under arrest on a charge of drunkenness. This morniniz before the magistrate he pleaded guilty and a fine of $10 and $4.50 costs was imposed. The accused was given 10 days in which to pay his indebtedness to the city.

DOCK WORK PROGRESSING

Work on the new dock which is being built here by Randolph McDonald Company, contractors, on behalf of the Dominion Government, is progressing in a most satisfactory manner. With fine weather prevailing it is expected that the filling in and all cement work will be completed by the end of this month. It is certainly a most creditable job and reflects credit upon those who have undertaken its construction.

RUN OVER BY A CAR

At about nine o'clock last evening an accident occurred on Front street, which fortunately was not of a serious nature. A number of boys were playing freely on the street pavement, when one of the number named Wensley, was knocked down by an automobile which was running at a slow speed. Only one wheel passed over the boy, with the result that he was but slightly injured. The driver of the car, we are informed used every effort to avert an accident and no blame can be attached to him.

FREE TRADE MANCHESTER EXPRESSES HER GRATITUDE

The Secretary of the Board of Trade Col. W. N. Ponton, has received the following grateful acknowledgment. The Manchester Association of Importers and Exporters have placed on record the following resolution:—

The Association representing all classes of the mercantile and manufacturing community of this district hereby give expression to their feelings of gratitude for and admiration of the spirit of loyalty and devotion to the British Empire shown at this crisis by the King's Overseas Dominions and possessions in offering the services of their troops and by giving valuable assistance in other ways.

The united services of the soldiers of His Majesty the King assembled from all parts of the Empire to take part in this great war will further strengthen the ties and interests which already bind together the various sections of the Empire in one united whole.

It used to be said, "What Manchester thinks today, England does tomorrow." Now, however, all think alike, and co-operate and co-ordinate together.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE J. C. ROCKWELL "SUNNY SOUTH" CO., TONIGHT

Smiles are the sunshine of life, it's always smiles and be happy when you attend a performance given by the J. C. Rockwell "Sunny South" company, America's premier colored organization, which will be seen in Griffin Opera House tonight. A word to the wise is sufficient. If you want to see an entertainment away from the ordinary routine of what most colored shows present, come and see the "Sunny South," which has earned for itself the sub-title "The Twentieth Century Coon Show," as in all features that help to create an entertainment at once pleasing to the eyes, the ears and the senses, it is far beyond anything seen in this city heretofore. From the rise to the final fall of the curtain there is nothing said nor done that will bring a blush to the brow of the most fatidious lady in the land. It is absolutely clean throughout, never loud, never vulgar. It is loaded with swirling melodies, crowded with comedy, brightened and vivified until it equalls the cleverest musical comedy or extravaganza company, all good for a good time, undulturated, wholesome evening, with many hearty laughs sprinkled throughout. It is full of comical situations and contagious humor that is clean and bright.

The solo concert band, which accompanies the organization was today seen in the "Koontown" parade, a decided novelty, taking place at noon. The company also carry an excellent orchestra of seven soloists. They will render the latest and poular music of the day. Prices 25, 35, 50c.

WEDDING BELLS

ELLIOTT—THOMPSON

A very pleasing wedding was solemnized in West Huntingdon Methodist church, by the Rev. Mr. Reddick, on September 23rd, when Miss Helen, youngest daughter of Mrs. Robert Thompson, was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Elliott of Mount Zion. Promptly at ten o'clock the wedding party arrived at the church and took their places behind a beautiful bank of white asters. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Harry Thompson, was gowned in white emebroidered net over silk and wore a bridal veil caught up with a wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white asters. Miss Eliza MasInvoy played the wedding march. The young couple were unattended. After the ceremony the immediate relatives of the contracting parties proceeded to the bride's home, where a sumptuous repast awaited them. Immediately after partaking of the wedding breakfast, the bride and groom left amid showers of rice for a trip to Montreal. The bride travelled in a navy blue serge suit with hat to match. On their return a reception was given at the groom's home, where they will in future reside.

LITERARY NOTES.

Although the opening article in the October number of Rod and Gun in Canada magazine published by W. J. Taylor, Ltd., Woodstock, Ont., is descriptive of a notable Canadian Canoe Race in which canoe men racing on the Lievre and Ottawa Rivers covered over two hundred miles in sixty hours the table of contents shows a predominance of big game hunting stories. "How 1913 Turned Out Lucky for One Bull Moose" is the story of a moose hunt in Quebec Wilds; "An Unusual Hunting Trip" describes an American sportsman's outing after Moose in New Brunswick forests; while "Moose Hunting in the Riding Mountains of Manitoba" tells of a winter hunt in that province. "Trapped" is an amusing story of how a Western sportsman outwitted the R. N.W.M.P. representative. Other stories and the regular departments make up an interesting big game issue for Canadian sportsmen.

Educational Value Of Good Books

PRACTICAL EDUCATION TO BE GAINED BY FAMILIARITY WITH ONE'S OWN LIBRARY.

Few there are who realise the extensive knowledge that can be gained through an occasional reference to what might be termed commonplace books. There is probably not a family in Belleville that does not possess at least one such volume that is seldom referred to, or that is possibly concealed in some hiding place where it is not even seen, except at such times as there is a general housecleaning. Run over in your mind the titles of some of these book in your own home. Doubtless you have a copy of the Bible. Do you ever refer to it as a historical work or as a work of reference? You know Abraham Lincoln said: "No library is complete without two certain books—the Bible and Shakespeare; hardly a quotation used in literature that is not taken from one of these works," and Lincoln was a self-educated man—a man of practical learning, whose words of wisdom will be handed down to posterity.

The Bible thus becomes a work of more than ordinary educational value to the everyday citizen; to men and women, boys and girls, old and young alike. The Intelligencer is now offering the New Illustrated Bible, a volume that is unique in that it completely illustrates the subject which each picture accompanies. The illustrations alone cost 50,000. It is possible to embellish a book without actually illustrating it. This Bible is not merely embellished; it is truly and accurately illustrated. Other Bibles there are containing pictures; none other in which the individual texts are actually illustrated, as though by the touch of inspiration. Comparison is impossible, for this new Bible stands alone—there is no other of its kind. Therefore, praise of this superb new book means no disparagement of the many excellent editions published heretofore. Nor is this superiority surprising; for more than 100 of the world's greatest artists, working under the advice of archaeologists and historians of wide renown, have contributed the choicest products of their skill and genius to produce this grand triumph of artistic beauty and perfection in historical detail. These pictures are not mere reproductions of mediaeval frescoes and more or less familiar modern photographs, inserted at random; they have been specially made, in the light of exact knowledge, to illustrate selected texts in accordance with the matured beliefs of the greatest living scientists. It must be remembered that this new Bible also contains every essential special feature that gives peculiar value to the best of ordinary Bibles, such as marginal references, descriptive helps, and beautifully colored maps.

Get this Bible by clipping certificates from The Intelligencer. Today's certificate is printed on another page, and the plan is fully explained there.

MELVILLE

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

PATRIOTIC CONCERT AT THE CARRYING PLACE

Last evening the ladies of the Carrying Place gave a patriotic concert in their town hall in aid of the Red Cross Society. The hall was packed to its capacity from the surrounding country. Mr. Willoughby Anderson, Reeve of Ameliasburgh township, was chairman and filled the position in a very acceptable manner.

After several songs and recitations speeches were delivered by Mr. John Elliott, Manager of the Standard Bank, and Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, President of the Board of Trade. Their speeches were intensely interesting and inspiring and listened to with rapt attention by the large audience present.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holton rendered an instrumental duet in a most pleasing manner, and Mrs. Douglas Holton rendered in fine voice one of John McCormick's popular selections, which brought forth an encore.

The ladies have organized a branch of the Red Cross Society and are now busy at work making comforts for the soldiers going to the front.

TO BELLEVILLE CITIZENS

Would it not look as if we had some love and sympathy for our neighbors who have boys and husbands at the front if there was a special day of prayer appointed for the guidance and protection of those who have sacrificed everything for us and for their country. A day of prayer would show that we still trusted in God for their safekeeping and their return. He has answered prayers in the past and will answer in the future if only asked by earnest and contrite hearts.

From an Old Believer,

For Destitute and Suffering Belgians

A Local Appeal for Aid for the Splendid People of War-scourged Belgium

The Belgian Consul of tOtawa, having made a strenuous appeal to the Canadian people for help towards alleviating the dreadful distress among the Belgian people caused by the German army in Belgium, a very generous and ready response has been made by the people of the Dominion in gifts of money, clothes, etc., and he now appeals to the people of Belleville with their usual generosity for any gifts that they might be disposed to give such as clothes for men, women and children, or even money gifts, but clothes are preferable. He feels that Belleville citizens will recognize the valuable and distinguished services which this little nation has performed for Europe and the world in general in their gallant stand against the enormous armies pitted against them.

To Belgium Canada owes much, and its duty is to show its appreciation in no small way by doing everything possible to help Belgium in its hour of need.

The men, women and children of Belgium are in dire distress for clothes which are impossible for them to get in their war-devastated country. Anything Belleville can do to help them will be for a nobel cause.

Contributions of clothes, boots, etc., will be received by Mrs. P. J. M. Anderson at her residence 64 Queen St., or will be called for if notified by card or telephone; who will forward them to the Belgium Consul, Ottawa, for shipment to Belgium.

Contributions of money can be paid in to Mrs. Anderson and all contributions will be acknowledged in the local papers. Please have donations in by October 21st.

Methodist Hymns Will Be Revised

For First Time in History of the Church the Book Will Contain Ritual

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—For the first time in the history of the Methodist Church in Canada, some ritual will be embodied in the new hymn book for the Church. The General Conference decided on this yesterday afternoon. The ritual will include the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments, the Apostles' Creed, the questions and answers of the Reception Service, and the general confession of the service of the Lord's Supper.

Discussion on the report of the Hymn Book Committee, of which Rev. Dr. S. P. Rose, Montreal was chairman and Dr. A. D. Watson, Toronto, was secretary, absorbed considerable time, and was the feature of the business yesterday.

The conference plans to conclude its business to-morrow and will until midnight if necessary.

The report of the Hymn Book Committee provoked considerable debate. One of the first items to cause discussion was the recommendation that "amen" be sung only at the end of certain or suitable hymns. Some of the delegates favored singing "amen" at the close of all hymns.

Rev. Dr. Salem Bland, Winnipeg, pointed out that some hymns are in nature of a warning. The committee's desire prevailed.

The conference favored embodying in the new hymn book the Lord's Prayer, the Apostle's Creed, the Ten Commandments, the Questions and Answers of the Reception Service, the General Confession of the Service of the Lord's Supper. This is a new departure as there is no ritual in the old hymn books.

There is a feeling amongst some of the delegates that the committee had in selecting hymns for the new book omitted to put in some of the best old tunes.

Rev. Dr. Bland suggested an appendix for the new volume in which some of the old favorites thrown out by the committee be placed. "Some of the old tunes have ben dear to us since childhood,' said Dr. Bland.

W. S. Dingman, of Stratford, Ont., said he has a good deal of sympathy for Mr Bland's suggestion, but he did not favor an appendix. It would be better, Mr. Dingman held, to put the old tunes right in the book.

Rev. A. D. Watson, Toronto, secretary of the committee, appealed for the adoption of the recommendation of the committee.

Rev. W. L. Hall, Revelstoke, B.C., favored a canvass being taken of the different congregations throughout the country. The acceptance of the new book would mean a considerable break from old associations.

An amendment that the new book be sent to the annual conferences before it is approved was lost. An amendment to the amendment that an appendix be added was also lost. The report was adopted.

Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, general superintendent by virtue of being elected head of the Church, will in future reside in Toronto. Two years ago he went to reside in Vancouver, primarily for the purpose of putting Ryerson Theological College on a practical working basis; also to attend to the affairs of the Church in the West, while Rev. Dr Carman, then general superintendent, attended to affairs in the East.

Rev. Dr. Carman informed the conference he would accept the position of general superintendent emeritus

A resolution expressing appreciation for the wood work done in the mission field in the West by Rev. Dr. Jas. Wodsworth, of Winnipeg, retiring superintendent of home missions, was passed, all the delegates standing as a significant mark of respect and approval.

MAUBEUGE STORY REFUTED.

Britain Sent No Ammunition to the Continent Before Declaring War.

LONDON, Oct. 7. — The official press bureau last night issued a statement declaring to be "absolutely untrue" the allegations made by Prof. Harnack and other prominent Germans that Great Britain had stored quantities of ammunition at the French fortress of Maubeuge before the outbreak of the war, which the Germans claimed was evidence that she intended to violate the neutrality of Belgium. The statement adds:

"No decision to send British forces abroad was taken till after Germany had violated Belgian neutrality and Belgium had appealed for assistance. No British ammunition or stores had been placed at Maubeuge before these events. Any British ammunition or stores found at Maubeuge were sent there after and not before the outbreak of the war and the violation of Belgian territory by Germany."

Spain Favors Neutrality.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—The Spanish Ambassador, Senor Riano, yesterday issued a statement in which he said the trend of public opinion in Spain is overwhelmingly in favor of neutrality. He declares that recent copies of Spanish newspapers show that telegrams of enquiry were sent to leading Spaniards in all parts of the kingdom, who decided almost unanimously for neutrality.

THE METHODISTS KEEP THEIR FOUR-YEAR PASTORATE TERM

Committee's Recommendation and Seven Amendments Were Voted Down—Conference was Unruly--Venerable General Superintendent Had Hard Task in Maintaining Even Semblance of Order

According to a report from Ottawa a rather warm two hours' session witnessed the voting down of seven amendments to the recommendation of a special committee that the extension of the time limit of four years for the pastorate be allowed for "special causes" instead of "special missions." at the Methodist General Conference, when it was decided by a big majority that no change be made in the constitution regulating the term of pastorate. This means that the four year period prevails and can be extended only for "special missions."

Throughout the debate Rev. Dr. Carman was busy with his gavel and calling for due respect to be paid to the chair. The delegates were evidently in no mood for calm deliberation after a very hard week. Two delegates tried to get a motion before the chair that the conference adjourn and take up the question under consideration when the delegates were in better humor. The mere suggestion of putting such a motion provoked the conference to give vent to their disapproval of it in loud cries of protest.

Once when the pandemonium was particularly emphatic, Dr. Carman shouted loud enough to be heard:—"Brethren, you must come to arder. Whoever you are and wherever you come from, you must come to order."

As soon as the itinerary committee report recommending that the pastorate be extended for "special missions" as the constitution prescribes, several delegates hastened to point out that if this were adopted, the door would be opened for an unlimited extension of the pastorate.

W. E. Manson, M.P.P., lay delegate from Prince Rupert, submitted an amendment the effect of which was to extend the four year term by two years when necessity demanded. It was voted down by a big majority.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Speer, Toronto, favored a two year extension of the pastorate term for a time at least. He urged that nothing would be jeopardized by the change he suggested. He offered an amendment similar to that submitted by Mr. Manson, but it found few supporters.

The next amendment came from Rev. Dr. S. J. Shorey, of Lindsay, Ont. He wanted each district conference to extend the four year limit in cases where it was deemed advisable and necessary, but it was lost.

No sooner had the vote on Dr. Shorey's amendment been taken than delegates all over the church clamored to express their views on the subject under discussion and the chairman's insistent appeal for order fell on unheading ears for some time. The floor was finally allowed to Rev. C. H. Huestis, Red Deer, Alberta. He wanted the time limit totally abolished.

Mr. Jos. Gibson, of Ingersoll, got the floor in the next tussle. Mr. Gibson said that he had never seen a question so repeatedly put with such little variation. He maintained that a change would not be wise.

Rev. Mr. Philp, of Inkerman, Ont., finally got the floor after trying for a long time. "I want to tell you a little story," he began. The delegates roared "No, no."

"I want the brother to exhaust himself Let him go on," said Dr. Carman.

Mr. Philp tried to get on his story; as a matter of fact he did, but it was to the accompaniment of some derision. The gist of his remarks was that he was opposed to any extension of the time limit.

Rev. Melville Taylor, Gananoque, moved an emendment to empower stationing committees to grant an extension when it is shown such was necessary. It was lost.

Then came the recommendation of the committee. It was voted down. The motion to make no change in the time limit carried by a big majority.

Wife Dead Husband Dying

Murder and Suicide Suspected in Tragedy of Queen Street Shop

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—A tragedy was revealed at 703 Queen street west, when policemen English and Humphrey, on the representations of neighbors broke into the premises and discovered the dead body of Mrs. Carolina Sakowski on the floor and found her husband, Frank Sakowski lying close beside it with his throat cut from ear to ear.

A butcher knife near where the man lay was evidently the weapon with which the woman had been stabbed several times in the body and which had also been used to cut the man's throat.

Sakowski had nearly bled to death. He was hurried to the Western Hospital, where the doctors say he cannot recover.

The police theory is that the man murdered his wife after a quarrel and then attempted suicide.

Stories of the neighbors lead to the inference that the quarrel occurred on Monday night.

Sakowski is about 35 years of age, while his wife was some years his senior. They have been in Toronto for about three years. On Monday night they had a number of friends at the house and it is said that there was some drinking.

USE NEW METHODS FOR THE INFANTRY

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—The now infantry training now used in preparing the second English army for warfare will be introduced here this winter. The chief change is doubling the strength of the companies and turning company drill into a miniature of battalion drill. Instead of 125 there will be, when the new regulations apply, 250 men to a company. These companies will be divided into four platoons and will be commanded by a captain with the usual number of subalterns. The companies will be under the command of a major.

Crisis in Spain Is Approaching

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A cable from Madrid to the New York Tribune says:

"The long-expected crisis, caused by the political parties favoring and opposing war, is at hand. It was unofficially announced to-day that the Government had decided to postpone the opening of Parliament, in order to avoid discussions affecting the neutrality of Spain, which seemed inevitable on account of the attitude of the different Parliamentary groups.

To Force Debate

As soon as the report became known, Count Romanese, the head of the Liberal party, called a conference of the most prominent members of his party, which was attended by several former members of the Cabinet. It was decided at the meeting to urge the Government to open the Parliament without delay, complying with the provisons of the Constitution. It is taken for granted that as soon as the Lower House is in session, the Liberals will force a debate on the neutrality of Spain.

BUYING IN UNITED STATES IS DENIED

British War Office Will Purchase in Canada Where Possible

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Cables received from Canada show the impression is abroad in Canada that the naval and military authorities here are placing extensive orders in America for requirements. Enquiries by the Canadian Associated Press show this impression perfectly unwarranted. The High Commissioner has had interviews with Colonial Secretary Harcourt and others on the subject and find the authorities most anxious that supplies from Canada should be utilized to the fullest extent. The mistaken impression is perhaps due to the fact that certain sub-contractors are fulfilling obligations with American assistance, but even of this there is no direct evidence.

Few Horses Lost At Valcartier

Report of Neglect of Sick and Disabled Animals Were Ill-Founded

Of the 8,000 horses purchased for the Canadian Expeditionary force and kept ate Valcartier camp, only 50 were lost through sickness and accident. The animals were kept in the open and they were in excellent condition when the time for embarkation came.

A despatch printed contained misleading statements concerning the care of the animals in camp, especially during the heavy work of embarking the troops. There was no evidence of neglect at any time. After the troops were embarked the 250 animals unfit to be taken on board ship were sent to Quebec where they are receivng special attention in stalls at the Exhibition grounds.

There was no stampede of the animals at the camp a few days before the time fixed for embarkation. The stampede referred to occurred three weeks previously and was reported in the newspapers at the time. Several animals were so badly injured that they had to be destroyed. The carcasses of these were given away. No injured or sick animals were sold. The fact that the loss of animals by sickness and accident was less than one percent is evidence of the good management by the officers in charge at the camp, and most of the 250 horres now being cared for at Quebec will be available for service later for the second contingent.

TO FORM FOX BREEDERS ASSOCIATION

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 7—Special—Fox men in New Brunswick are enthusiastic over the proposed formation of a fox breeder's association which will have for an object the uniform classification of all foxes throughout the Dominion. The breedrs are evenly united over the proposed organization. At the present time Prnce Edward Island has a breedrs association in which foxes are classified according to their specifications. The New Brunswick Association proposes classifications by pedigree. R. A. March, who is closely connected with the fox industry in New Brunswick has taken the initial step to unite the breeders of the province. A committee has been appointed to work out the plans of the proposed association.

A Real Nice Prince

A Characteristic Story of Germany's King-to-be

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The Standard's Paris correspondent says the story told by Baroness de Baye of the manner in which the German Crown Prince conducted himself while at her chateau may be compared to the experiences of a wealthy resident of Epernay.

"This man last lear," the correspondent says, "happened to be brought into contact with the Crown Prince at Biarritz. Courteous and even friendly relations were established, little presents passed between them and they parted with mutual invitations and the impression on the part of the Frenchman that the prince was a much malignel individual. When the invader arrived in France the Crown Prince showed he had not forgotten his old acquaintences and with an imposing escort presented himself at his house. The Frenchman said: 'You understand there can be nothing between you and me.' This so enraged the Prince that he immediately ordered the house to be sacked, which was conscientiously done by the headquarters staff, who looted everything."

KAISER'S SECOND SON THROWN FROM HORSE

Prince Eitel Freidrich Had Knee Injured in Recent Battle

LONDON, Oct. 7.—A despatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Berlin, by way of Amsterdam, says that Prince Eitel Freiderich, the second son of Emperor William, was thrown from his horse in a recent battle and injured his knee.

The Emperor's youngest son, Prince Joachim, who has recovered from a wound received in battle, is awaiting his father's permission to return to the front.

ALLIES GRADUALLY RETIRING ENEMY

PARIS, Oct. 8.—The following official announcement was given out this afternoon:—

First—On our left wing in the Department of Nord, the German enemy has made no progress at any point. He has been driven back at several points, notably to the north of Arras, where the fighting is developing under conditions favorable to us. Cavalry operations now extend almost to the sea coast on the north. Between the Somme and the Oise, although the enemy is still present in force, we have retaken most of the positions previously ceded by us. To the north of the Aisne the German numerical strength seems diminished.

Second—On the centre between Rheims and the Meuse nothing to report. Between Verdun and St. Mihiel the enemy has drawn back to the north of Hatton Chatel. He still holds St. Mihiel and some positions to the north. In the Woevre district violent attacks delivered by the enemy to the west of Apremont have failed. On our right wing in Lorraine and the Vosges there has been no change.

AIRSHIP DROPS BOMBS ON ANTWERP

ANTWERP, Oct. 8.—The condition of panic among the populace was increased today by the appearance at eleven o'clock this morning and three this afternoon, of German aircraft, which dropped bombs, destroying seven houses and killing a score of people.

ARTILLERY FIRE WAS TERRIFIC

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Admiralty announces that the German torpedo boat destroyer previously reported sunk off the estuary of the river Ems in the North Sea, was torpedoed by the British submarine E9. It was the E9 which sunk the German cruiser Halo some weeks ago. It is announced from Amsterdam that the Belgian Government was moved today from Antwerp to Ostend. A Berlin official despatch says the German forces on the frontier of east Prussia, abandoning the bombardment of Ossowetz, in Russian Poland, have assumed a strategic defensive movement. The fighting at Augustowo and Suwalki is admitted to have been most sanguinary. The slaughter of the German artillery was terrific.

CANADIAN TROOPS ARRIVE ABOARD

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Canadian troops, it is announced, arrived in home waters today.

GERMAN FLAG FOUND UNDER DEAD

At the Battle Front, Oct. 8.—An official announcement made known yesterday for the first time the vast numbers of German forces fighting against the Allies in Belgium and France. They are composed of 23 army corps of the active German army; eighteen army corps of reserves, several divisions of Landewher and large detachments of Landsturm. Under normal condition this number of units make a grand total of nearly 2,000,000, but losses must be deducted. The number of Allies facing the Germans has not been made public, but it is known to be very large.

In abandoned trench opposite the British lines, unvisited since September 15th, was found yesterday a German regimental flag beneath a great heap of dead. The emblem was taken to the headquarters of Sir John French.

ROPE WAS CUT BALLOON FLOATED OFF

TOKIO, Oct. 8.—The following official despatch was issued this morning: At Tsing Tau, the German fire is slackening. During the fighting a rope holding a German captive bolloon was cut and the balloon floated away.

OVER FORTY BUT RECRUITER WINKED

He Put on Sporty Suit, Gave Age as Twenty-eight and Was Passed

"Here's an example of the patriotism shown by some of the English. A man well over forty but erect and rugged, was anxious to serve his King and his country. How to get by the examiner puzzled him as the age limit is forty. But he resolved to make a desperate try. He shaved off his moustache, donned his most "sporty" suit and presented himself.

"Age?" snapped the official.

"Twenty-eight," was the reply.

"Eh," and the official looked up sharply. And then as his left eyelid moved perceptibly he said:

"You'll do."

TURPINITE A HUGE FAILURE

New Explosive Mixture Has Been Definitely Abandoned by French

PARIS, Oct. 7.—M. Turpin's new powder, turpinite, has failed, according to a report current here.

Great things had been expected from the powder, but it is now said to have been definitely abandoned after adequate battlefield trial.

THREATENS TO DESTROY WESTMINSTER

The New York Herald says; "Another Herr doctor is on the rampage. From his soft chair at Heidelbery, Dr. Leonard, President of Physics, cries aloud for the destruction of London. It must be razed. Especially is there to be 'no respect for the tombstone of Shakespeare, Newton and Faraday.

"The Herr doctor is speaking in parables, but his meaning is plain. The special object if his projected attack is Westminster Abbey. It must go the way of the Cathedral of Rheims, while London is meeting the fate of Termonde and Louvain—and all, of course, in the interest of the spread of 'Kulture' throughout the world.

"Germany is clearly to be commiserated upon her plague of professors."

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR LUMBER

CHATHAM, N.B., Oct. 7.—Special—According to Mr. Richard Gill, the well known Barnaby River lumber operator, business will be as good in the woods this winter as in past seasons. The lumber situation, he said, looks brighter than for some time past.

The last span of the New Castle bridge is being placed in position. Sometime, however, will elapse before the bridge is ready for traffic.

DIED PLAYING THE GAME

Rider Haggard's Nephew Met a Heroic Death

LONDON, Oct. 7—A thrilling story of heroism of the late Capt. Haggard, nephew of Rider Haggard, is told in a letter received from Private C. Berry, of the Second Battalion Welsh Regiment. Berry says on September 13, on the outskirts of the—— his company was being subjected to severe German artillery fire, when Haggard ordered his men to fix bayonets and charge. "What an officer; What a soldier! He himself used the rifle. We fixed and were prepared to follow him anywhere, but were checked by a storm of maxium fire. We lost four officers in about 20 minutes.

"At about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, just as our artillery had got ready to cover us, the Germans found our range with artillery. Just near was lying our brave captain, mortally wounded. As shells burst over us he would occasionally open his eyes and call out: 'Stick to it Welsh regiment! Stick to it, Welsh!' Many of us wounded managed to crawl up and down the firing line dishing out ammunition. We were unable to use our guns, though our brave lads stuck at it until our artillery got into action and we won out.

"In the field were strewn thousands and thousands of German dead and wounded. They even piled them up and made barricades of their dead. Captain Haggard died that evening, crying, 'Stick to it, Welsh!' He died as he had lived—and officer and a gentleman."

ZULU FIGHTERS PUT GERMANS TO SHAME

An overseas correspondent who is in Europe seeing the war and its atrocities with his own eyes, has written to a Toronto friend describing some of the horrors he has witnessed: "I was through the Zulu war," he writes, "but the Zulus were gentlemen compared to the Germans.

"The atrocities perpetrated," his letter continues, "are far too horrible to be written. What we read is mild beside the actual things taking place."

An English lady just arrived here tells of seeing Belgian refugees in England. Many of the children had had both hands and feet cut off. One little girl was sobbing and begging to know if her hands would grow on again.

WILL TRIPLE ENTENTE FORCE DARDANELLES?

Russian Foreign Minister Announces that Steps are Being Taken to Secure its Opening--Essential to Russia for Trade

PETROGRAD, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—M. Sazonoff, the Russian Foreign Minister, anounced today that the powers, comprising the Triple Entente (Russia, Great Britain and France) are taking steps to secure the reopening of the Dardanelles.

An earlier despatch stated;—

The President of the Russian Industrial Merchants' Association, M. Avdakoff, has approached Foreign Minister Sazonoff on the subject of the closing of the Dardanelles. In the course of the conversation the Foreign Minister said that the powers of the Triple Entente (Russia, Great Britain and France) were continuing their efforts to have the Dardanelles reopened to commerce. He laid particular emphasis on the necessity which confronted Russian commerce of divorcing itself from German influences.

Owing to the closing of the Baltic and the cutting of her railway communication through Germany and Austria it is imperative for Russia to obtain a trade route through the Dardanelles. As Germany has been supplying Turkey with guns and officers since the outbreak of war, the decision of the great powers comprising hte Triple Entente may be the signal for the active participation of Turkey in the present campaign.

Teachers to Give Handsome Sum

Decide to Contribute One Per Cent. of Salaries Each Month

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—The Toronto Teachers' Institute, representing all the public school teachers in the city, decided last night at a meeting at Convocation Hall, to assess themselves one per cent. of their salaries each month until the present depression was over. This will amount to $10,000 at least and will be used for general relief and disbursed through the Women's Patriotic Fund.

There was a good deal of discussion of the compulsory feature of this scheme, some claiming that the teachers could be depended on to do their best without anything more than a suggestion from the Institute.

METHODISTS CONDEMN LABORING ON SUNDAYS

Feverish Quest for Wealth the Chief Menace

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—Playing golf on Sunday, the Sunday drug store, Sunday business and restaurants and hotels, work done on Sunday by exhibition boards—Toronto and Edmonton being peked out for special mention—social feas on Sunday, Sunday traveling, were all deprecated by the Methodist General Conference at the closing session yesterday afternoon.

The committee on Sabbath observance reported that the Sabbath as a day of rest. and of consequent spiritual opportunity, is menaced at the present time by the feverish quest for material wealth, and a hectic devotion to social duties.

A resolution was also adopted eulogizng the service of Rev. Dr. Carman, superintendent emeritus, to the church.

The conference closed with a prayer offered by Rev. Dr. Carman.

Juggler Arrives After Detention

Eddie Redford Satisfied Immigration That He was "Harmless."

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—Eddie Redford, of the juggling team of Redford and Winchester, will appear at the Orpheum for the balance of the week, as billed.

Redford, who was arrested early Mondon morning at Rouses Point on a charge of being a German spy, because he had a lot of dangerous-looking cannon balls in his trunk, reached Montreal yesterday morning, still in the custody of Immigration officers. The guardians of the border did not leave the suspected one until Manager George Driscoll of the Orpheum, had identified him and made the necessary explanation.

Redford was much ruffled in spirit, most of all because he is an Englishman. He and his partner are just concluding a 27,000 mile tour of the world.

RAN INTO CONSTABLE AND WERE ARRESTED

"Joy Riders" Made Bad Mistake When They Choose Victim

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Four "joy riders" picked the wrong man when they ran into and overturned a buggy on the Lake Shore road last night.

Constable Simpson was quietly driving along the road with his young son, near Salisburg avenue, when the auto, containing the mirthful quartet came down the wrong side of the road. Before Contsable Simpson could turn out of their way, they had collided with him. Fortunately no one was hurt.

The constable then arrested two of the men.

OPENING HIGHWAY TO AID TRADE

CHATHAM, N.B., Oct. 7.—Special—It is expected that business stimulus between Chatham and Bathurst will result from the reopening of the old main highway between the two towns that had been abandoned after the advent of hte Intercolonial Railway had put the mail coaches out of business about 1870. The highway makes the distance from Chatham to Bathurst about 40 miles, where as the former road arolnd the Tracadie coast makes the rip over 120 miles in length. The new road is expected to greatly stimulate business between the connecting towns and to draw the two centres together commercially. The road will also be an excellent made speedway.

The Annual Thank Offering

The annual thank-offering meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of John Street Presbyterian Church was held in the S. S. rooms last evening. The attendance was large and the offering a most generous one.

Mrs. S. Russell, president of the society, presided. A recitation was given by Miss Isabelle Adams and a reading by Mrs. E. C. Currie. Solos from Mrs. Wm. Matheson and Miss K. Thompson were much appreciated.

Mrs. (Rev.) J. W. McIntosh of Kingston, gave an exceedingly interesting and instructive address. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable and profitable evening brought to a close.

The Rexall Stores of Canada

Contribute to

The Canadian Patriotic Fund

THE Rexall Stores of Canada, 400 of the leading Drug Stores in Canada have unanimously agreed to contribute to the Canadian Patriotic Fund FIVE PER CENT. of their total purchases of all Rexall Toilet Goods, Rexall Remedies, and other merchandise manufactured or sold by the United Drug Co., Limited, Toronto, for the months from October 15th to December 31st.

This action of the Rexall Drug Stores of Canada has been undertaken co-operatively, because as a co-operative organization, they realize how much more can be done unitedly than individually, and it has been taken for two reasons—to fulfil a humane duty in raising a fund for Relief Work of the Canadian Patriotic Organization, and a patriotic duty in an endeavor to keep a large staff of Canadian employees busy.

Figuring on the basis of last year's business, this should add several thousand dollars to this humane fund.

The 400 Rexall Stores of Canada make an appeal to your sympathy and support in their doubly worthy cause for increasing the funds of the Canadian Patriotic Organization and for the support of Canadian workmen because:—

The fund that would be raised on the basis of last year's business can be tremendously increased if every man and woman in Canada will help a little by the simple process of purchasing Rexall Goods at the Rexall Stores.

No need to give space in this announcement to emphasize the high quality of Rexall Toilet and Medicinal goods. Sufficient to say that 7,000 of the leading Drug Stores in Canada, Great Britain, and the United States place their personal and collective reputations behind them; that the public in these countries endorse them to the extent of several million dollars worth of purchases a year.

Better goods are not made, and you take no risk in buying, for every Rexall Store will return you your money if any Rexall Product is not entirely satisfactory, and, do it, too, without the slightest objection.

MOREOVER, Rexall Goods will not cost you a cent more than they have in the past, notwithstanding the fact that the cost of the ingredients entering into Rexall preparations is higher than before the war. The extra cost is being borne by the Company and the Rexall Stores who have, in addition, placed upon themselves voluntarily an extra five per cent. to be devoted to the humane work of the Canadian Patriotic Organization.

Why not, therefore, decide NOW that you will help, during the months of October, November, and December, at least, by favoring Rexall Stores and Rexall Goods? There are a hundred different Rexall Products that you can buy and that will give you equal or better satisfaction than similar products of foreign manufacture—Tooth Paste, Talcum Powders, Cold Creams, Toilet Creams, Soaps, Shaving Creams, Perfumes, Toilet Waters, Household Remedies, etc.

Ask for it — kindly pass the word along to your friends. It is the collective purchases of all that will make this Rexall Store Fund for Canadian Patriotic work a big one.

The fund will be collected from each Rexall Store in Canada by the United Drug Company, Limited, Toronto, and will be paid by them direct to the officers of the Canadian Patriotic Organization, and the amount so collected will be published in this paper when paid over.

Rexall Goods are made in Canada and you can procure them in your town only from

Two Brothers Live in Belleville

Messrs. Walter and William Alford, of this city, have received intelligence, through a clipping from the Western Times, Plymouth, England, of September 19th, to the effect that their sister, Mrs. Kerslake, of St. Thomas, Exeter, with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Kerslake, and little son, were the victims of a fire, in which others, including Miss Alford, another sister, were seriously injured. Mrs. Kerslake, sen., was overcome by fire and smoke, her badly burned body being found after the conflagration had been subdued, while Mrs. William Kerslake, the daughter-in-law, and little son Percy were overcome by smoke.

The lengthy sketch made thrilling reading, in which heroic rescues were frequent, and hazardous leaps were made from the burning building. The news proved a severe shock to our townsmen, who have the sympathy of many friends.

Strawberries Picked To-day

Mr. A. W. Buchanan of Frank Street, this city, left a box of fully matured strawberries, of the Americus variety at The Intelligencer, picked this morning, which were a decided treat to those by whom they were sampled. Mr. Buchanan has been picking strawberries for the last month, gathering to date about twenty-five boxes, and finds there are as many more yet to ripen. The strawberries are not supposed to ripen before September, and the reason has been known to last until snowfall, Mr. Buchanan having a picture of two children picking them from beneath six inches of snow. This may seem like stretching the imagination, but the donor of our treat vouches for its truthfulness. Possibly he will appear with another box about the middle of December, when they will be doubly acceptable.

Victim of Accident Consigned to Tomb

The funeral of the late Charles Cooke, the call boy, who met an untimely death on the G.T.R. line in the city, on Sunday morning, took place yesterday afternoon. At the family residence, Emily St., services were conducted by Rev. Canon Beamish, Rector of St. Thomas Church. Interment Belleville cemetery. The bearers were Bateman, McConichy, McLeod and Larmer, call boys who were mates of the deceased. The floral tributes were many and beautiful in design, the contributors being as follows:

Wreaths, from family, G.T.R. motive power department, Mr. and Mrs. J. Tough; sheafs, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Dickens, Dr. Connor, Mrs. Henry Pringle, Mr. and Mrs. E. Morton, Russel Dixie, Mrs. D. Kerr, Mrs. Baldrie, Mrs. G. Taylor, St. George Church Sunday School, Mrs. Jas. Wallace, Mrs. P. Mather, Corbyville; cross, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wickson and family; Anchor, employees of E. F. Dickens & Son, Mr. N. Mason and family.

Amongst those present at the obsequies were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Huffman, of Gilead; Miss M. Conlin, of Gilead, Miss Grace Balcanquel, of Gilead; Mr. and Mrs. P. Mather and Mr. B. Martin of Corbyville.

Red Cross Supply Committee Meet

Treasurer Makes Statement--General Condition of Funds--Instructions Given as to Donations

The fortnightly meeting of the Red Cross and Supply Committee in connection with the Belleville Patriotic Association, was held on Monday evening of this week. Report of the different committees were heard and were most interesting. The camp supply is keeping up its work in giving out material to be made up.

The Finance Committee, under Mrs. MacColl and her assistants, have under development their large entertainment to be held in the Armouries on the 30th and 31st of this month. The ladies look for this to be a huge success.

The treasurer Mrs. (Dr.) Gibson, begs to acknowledge with thanks the following subscriptions and receipts received since the last meeting.

|---|---|
| Mrs. Gordon Smith .. .. .. .. .. | $2 00 |
| Miss Newberry, St, Louis .. .. .. | 1 00 |
| (Signed) Red Cross.. .. .. .. .. | 1 00 |
| Mrs. S. D. Lazier .. .. .. .. .. | 5 00 |
| Miss Smart .. .. .. .. .. .. .. | 5 00 |

| Money box at Jennings & Sherry .... .... .. .. .. .. .. .. .. .. | 5 12 |
| Sale of candy .. .. .. .. .. .. .. | 7 00 |
| Membership .. .. .. .. .. .. .. | 4 75 |
| Total .. .. .. .. .. .. .. .. .... | $31 97 |

Mrs. Gibson asks that any one intending to give donations for the benefit of the Red Cross work to hand it in to her. The committee are handicapped by not knowing what funds they can rely on, and would be pleased if contributions be handed in to their treasurer, so that the work can go on satisfactorily.

As there are several people who would gladly make articles for the Red Cross if they only knew the directions, it has been considered advisable to have the following directions printed in the daily papers. These directions come from the Canadian Red Cross Society, and are as reliable as can be had. Donations of any articles made can be given to Mrs. O'Flynn or her assistants at the Committee Rooms (old Y.M.C.A.) on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 3 to 4:30 o'clock, and on Saturday morning from 10 to 12 o'clock.

WOMEN'S CHRISTAIN TEMPERANCE UNION IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

Fifth Annual Convention of the Counties of Hastings, Lennox and Addington. Held in Trenton, Oct. 1 & 2

The convention opened Thursday morning with a good attendance of county officers and representatives from the different Unions. The President, Mrs. Gibson of Napanee, who was in the chair, conducted the devotional exercises.

After the appointment of plan of work, resolution and courtesy committees, the county officers reported on the work done during the year.

The Corresponding Secretary in her report showed a growth in membership and in pledges and a deepening interest in the work. Total money raised, $178.85. The Supt. of Fruit and Flower Mission gave details of excellent work done in the Belleville "Y" and also in the Belleville "W."

The Supt. of Mothers' Meetings reported having given several addresses showing the importance of the work. The department of Anti-Narcotics (including cocaine and morphine) showed an awakening interest and the report contained many helpful suggestions. One Union gave leaflets to the school children and had essays prepared from them.

After hearing the report of Parlor Meetings, all agreed that this was a particularly good department in which to specialize; many could be reached in this way. The Supt. of Temperance in Sabbath Schools said that Temperance was taken up thoroughly in Napanee with good results.

In the report of the Press Department special mention was made of the work done in the Belleville "Y." The Medal Contest Supt. pointed out the educative value of holding contests and their far-reaching influence.

The work in connection with railroads, sailors, soldiers and lumbermen showed comfort-bags made, literature distributed and money forwarded.

The Evangelistic Supt. emphasized the great need of prayer and urged upon the workers to take more time for devotional exercises.

Mrs. Miller of Frankford led in noon-tide prayer.

At the opening of the afternoon session, Mrs. McKee, Provincial Hon. President, was introduced. Several excellent papers were then given in the School of Methods which led to interesting and instructive discussions. Two of the papers read are worthy of special mention, one on parlor meetings contributed by Mrs. John Williams of Belleville; and one, "Essentials to Success," by Miss E. Farley of Belleville.

A paper, "The Best Bylaws," showed the need of enforcing good laws already on our statute books. This was followed by another paper pointing out where other laws were needed.

The necessity of Loyal Temperance Legions was emphasized—as in this work an opportunity was given to mold the character of the young. It was deemed by some the most important branch. Ninety per cent. of the children who sign the pledge keep it.

At the evening session, the Chairman, Rev. Mr. Foster, conducted the devotional service. The choir rendered an anthem, after which addresses of welcome were given. Mrs. Dr. Goldsmith delighted the audience with two selections. Miss Foster rendered a solo very acceptably.

Mrs. McKee was the speaker of the evening. She impressed upon her hearers the great need of workers and how much there is to be accomplished not only in the fight against the drink habit, but also the increasing use of narcotics, and the social evils claim our most earnest efforts. She spoke of the war and of our interest in our boys in the fighting line; we must take as deep an interest in our boys at home who are fighting greater evils. She gave the quotation, "It is good to die for our country, but it is better to live for our country."

Addressing herself to the girls, Mrs. McKee impressed upon them their responsibility in exerting a helpful influence over young men. The moral standard for both men and women should be the same. Women can wield a great influence for good by wearing the little "Bow of White" the emblem of purity. Although women have no vote, they can use their influence to put the right men in power, men who will fight the evil in our land.

One of the greatest means, Mrs. McKee said, of furthering our cause was through the press. She considered that next to the ministers the newspapers could wield the greatest influence for good.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem and benediction.

Friday morning session was opened by devotional service conducted by Mrs. (Rev.) Rogers of Trenton.

The officers were elected for the coming year as follows:—

Hon. President—Mrs. John Williams, Belleville.

President—Mrs. Gibson, Napanee.

1st Vice President—Mrs. W. S. Miller, Frankford.

2nd Vice President—Mrs. O. N. Rockwell, Napanee.

Cor. Sec.—Miss Lucy Anderson, Napanee.

Rec. Sec.—Miss Edna Farley, Belleville.

Treasurer—Miss Maud Reeves, Belleville.

L. T. L. Sec.—Mrs. O. R. Laidley, Napanee.

The following Superintendents of Departments were appointed:—

Evangelistic—Mrs. T. A. Dunwoodie, Newburgh.

Flower & Fruit Mission—Miss F. E. McClatchie, Belleville.

Moral Education—Mrs. M. J. Bennett, Belleville.

Parlor Meetings—Mrs. A. Ray, Belleville.

Law Enforcement—Mrs. Dafoe, Madoc.

Franchise—Miss Helen Palen, Belleville.

Anti-Narcotics — Mrs. Rockwell, Napanee.

Press—Mrs. Madole, Napanee.

Literature—Mrs. John Williams, Belleville.

Temperance in S. S.—Mrs. Schryver, Belleville.

The question box was then taken up by Mrs. McKee and county work discussed.

The closing session of the convention opened at two o'clock. Mrs. McKee gave another excellent address which appealed strongly to all who were fortunate enough to hear it. A Union was then formed in Trenton with a large membership and full list of officers.

The following plan of work was adopted for the coming year:—

1. That we take up the distribution of literature, doing it in a discriminating and personal way; and that we have a literature depository in our county.

2. That in view of the wide field that is open to us through the holding of Parlor Meetings and the educative influence we can exert through them, we desire to specialize along this line.

3. That considering the evils arising from children being allowed on our streets at night, and attending questionable places we turn our attention to endeavoring to enforce our laws regarding the guardianship of children (especially emphasising the Curfew Bell); and that we take up Loyal Temperance Legion work with greater vigor.

4. That we endeavor to draw attention to the evil effects of Narcotics (including cocaine and morphine) upon both mind and body, and that we urge the authorities to curtail the manufacture and sale of the same.

5. That Provincial Superintendents be advised to write a letter of instructions to any County or Local Superintendent of her department when asked to do so and not to send blank form only.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, that we heartily endorse and will faithfully work for Local Option and license reduction, believing that for the present these methods are the best methods with which to fight the prohibition battle.

Resolved, that as a county we cooperate with the Dominion W. C. T. U. by using our influence toward the passage of the Cigarette Bill now in the committee stage in the House of Commons.

Resolved, that we place ourselves on record as approving of the stand taken by many newspapers of today in their refusal to print liquor advertisements and hope that many others will soon follow their example.

Resolved, that we extend our thanks to all those who in any way have contributed to the success of this convention.

The Rifle Club

The members of the Belleville Rifle Association met at the rifle butts yesterday afternoon for a practice shoot—conditions 21 shots at 500 yards. The scoring was very good, the weather conditions being favorable.

Special attention of members is called to the second annual prize meeting which takes place next Monday, Oct. 12th (Thanksgiving Day) at the butts. Handicap conditions, 21 shots at 500 yards, 2 sighting shots. There will be about 30 prizes shot for. No entrance fee. Shooting will be going on all day, commencing at 9 a.m. All members are requested to compete, and shoot as early in the day as possible to relieve the pressure. Shooting at the butts will continue every Wednesday and Saturday during October, and at the indoor range every Monday and Wednesday night from now on during the winter months. Yesterday's scores were:—

To Keep Our Workers Busy
For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.
Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning
We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build
GERHARD HEINTZMAN PIANOS
represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in non-employment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.
You Reap the Advantage
Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

THE SECOND CONTINGENT

Official announcement from Ottawa that the Government of Canada will raise at once a second expeditionary force of 22,000 men comes in answer to a clear call from the country for further opportunity to send her sons to the present war. While Great Britain is making the call for recruits so insistent that practically every able-bodied man in the British Isles is being asked to respond, Canada can vindicate her right to the high place she occupies in the British Empire only by bearing a larger proportion of the burden of war than she has taken up by sending a first contingent of 32,000 men.

The active militia training that has been carried on in the cities of the country since the war began, with remarkable enthusiasm will furnish a sound basis for the second expeditionary force. The machinery of the Militia Department will also be in better condition to prepare for the efficient handling of the troops. Canada will reap the benefit of meeting so well as she did the first call for recruits.

While, at the moment, the British cause in the field appears to be going well, it is worthy of note that Lord Kitchener and his colleagues are not relaxing their strenuous preparatory efforts. Lord Roberts has been raising a warning voice against under-estimating the latent power of the German military organization, which has not yet been tested to the limit in the field, is by no means shattered, and is capable of further dangerous efforts.

This second call for recruits, therefore, is clearly necessary in the interests of Great Britain and her allies. It is but another opportunity for the people of Canada to put into action what they have been proudly asserting — their patriotism, their loyalty, and their absolute conviction of the justice of the present war against a barbarian enemy. Resolutely, in the spirit of her history and her glorious associations, Canada will rise to it.

WELL PUT ! AN ELECTION

The Toronto News puts the position of parties upon the question of a general election in an ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? war so far as the Liberal party is concerned. It says it "does not venture to speculate as to whether there will or will not be an election. There are arguments in favor of a dissolution of Parliament, and perhaps there are arguments against. Hardly a year ago the Liberal party exhausted every conceivable device in order to force an election because Mr. Borden desired to strengthen the British navy. At least there is greater need since the constituencies were redistributed for an appeal to the country than there was when all the Liberal newspapers and politicians were demanding dissolution.

"If it was necessary to have an election in order to prevent Canada building Dreadnoughts for the Empire, would it be such a shocking thing to ask public approval of the policy which the Government has pursued since the war began and which it must continue to pursue if the war continues? One suspects that the war-made Imperialists of the Liberal party are thinking chiefly of their own personal safety. The masses of the Liberal party are just as loyal to the Empire as are the masses of the Conservative party. But it is easy to understand why the official Liberal leaders should hesitate to face the people under existing conditions in the Empire."

SEIZING CONTRABAND GOODS

The British ambassador to the United States has informed the State Department that his government has no wish to interfere in the slightest way with shipments of copper from the United States, to a neutral country for use by neutrals, but that it is obviously necessary for his government to prevent copper from reaching Germany or Austria-Hungary, where it would be used in the manufacture of munitions of war. Senator Smoot, who called later at the State Department, was told of the situation and it was explained to him that the British government was paying the open market price for the copper it seized and that thus exporters were not losing money.

This appears to be a very simple situation, the reasonableness of which must appeal to all fair-minded persons. It lies mainly with the Dutch government to prevent the re-export of American copper to Germany. The British government will accept a guarantee from the Dutch government and copper shipments covered by a guarantee will not be molested. By inference, others will be seized, but they will be paid for. The American producer does not lose, even if he elects to take the chance of getting copper through to Germany. Germany is the loser, but that is no concern of the shippers. If Germany controlled the seas, thus reversing conditions, the allies would be the losers, but that would be no concern of the consigners, either. The conditions of war cannot be changed by the copper producers or by the members of Congress from the copper states.

NINETY-TWO TO TWELVE

The Weekly London Times of the 25th Sept. last contains the following item showing what has been done since the beginning of the war by the navies of Britain and Germany. The proportion of seizures is just what might be expected:

The Press Bureau announces that the Spreewald, an armed German merchantman, has been captured by H. M. S. Berwick. German merchant vessels to the number of 92 have been taken during the war, while out of upwards of 4,000 British vessels afloat during tat period only 12 have been captured or sunk at sea.

War Notes

The report that General von Moltke has been displaced as chief of staff and General von Hindenburg as commander of the army in East Prussia must be read as a rumor reaching this country from British sources. It would not be at all surprising, however, if his military disappointments had put the Kaiser in a bad temper or if his generals quarreled with him for interfering too much with the conduct of their commands.

The German ambassador called on the Secretary of State on Monday and carried home copies of all of Mr. Bryan's peace treaties for study. It will not hurt the German diplomatic service to become a little more familiar with the doctrine of settling quarrels by arbitration.

Early in the war Portugal stated that the republic would observe strictly its long-standing treaty of alliance with Great Britain. That meant that Portugal would go into the war whenever Great Britain gave the word. Portugal has a peace establishment of 30,000 men and it would not be at all surprising if the intimation that Kitchener is about to call for them should prove true.

BORDEN'S TASK.

From the Brandon Sun.

Since war was declared Sir Robert Borden has remained at his desk and the burden of handling the biggest situation which Canada has ever known has fallen on his shoulders.

He has proved himself the man of the hour.

It was fortunate for Canada that a man of his calibre, his self-sacrificing ability occupied the position of Prime Minister.

To Illustrate Is to Educate

BETTER UNDERSTANDING GAINED FROM SUBJECTS WHERE PICTURES EXPLAIN MAIN FEATURES.

Beginning with the "infant" class in the public schools, the pupils are taught by means of pictures. As they advance to higher grades illustrations are still used as "object lessons," and even in the higher grades the text books are illutsrated for the purpose of more clearly setting forth the intended meanings. College and university courses comprise books in which the subject matter is made plain by pictures, and all scientific and technical everywhere is accurately demonstrated by diagrams and drawings. Almost all of the periodicals, including dailies, weeklies and monthlies' are illustrated and many books of fiction also use illustrations which bring out particular points in the text.

It has been left to the publishers of the Bible which The Intelligencer is distributing to illustrate this greatest of all historical and educational works. The publication of this Bible was undertaken with full knowledge existence a considerable variety of of the fact that there were already in eminently satisfactory editions, some of them possessing a degree of merit that would seem to render improvement impossible. But all of them, superb feature, viz: Direct and helpful illustrations. The New Illustrated the other essentials of perfection have been retained—the typography, mechanical execution, self-pronouncing features, marginal references, colored maps, etc., being unexcelled by any other edition; while the hundreds of original text illustrations give to it a distinctive character that entirely separates it from all others.

This Bible is not a mere picture book. It is a high art production. The 600 illustrations are from original paintings and drawings which constitute a wonderful gallery of art. To this branch of the work were called the greatest of living artists, and it is to their skill in the portrayal of appropriate scenes that the peculiar excellence of this Bible is mainly due. Every picture is a complete study in itself. Events that have been imperfectly comprehended become invested with the charm of living reality; and places that have seemed far off are made familiar, as though we ourselves had trod the hills and valleys with the prophets and disciples of old. This really superb edition has an educational mission to perform, in illuminating and vivifying the Bible narrative and giving it, as never before, a present, living, human interest.

Clip the certificate from another page of this issue and read the Intelligencer plan of distribution which is fully explained thereunder.

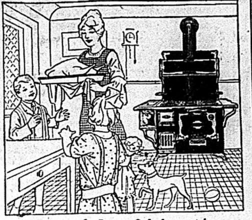
The Gurney-Oxford is a Splendid, Dependable Stove

SUPPOSE you buy a range, and that range is a disappointment.

Suppose it doesn't hold the fire between meals. Suppose it burns too much coal—or that it bakes well to-day and to-morrow "falls down." That is a serious matter—is it not?

If three times a day you have to deal with a stove that is a source of trouble and worry—that fact has an influence on your domestic happiness.

That is a strong statement—but isn't it true?



The owner of a Gurney-Oxford never takes anything from the oven with uncertainty as to results.

So before you buy your stove is the time to investigate. The Gurney-Oxford Stove has a nation-wide reputation for reliability. It's not the cheapest stove. It is impossible to make so good a stove as this and sell it for what a cheap stove costs. But, it's a thoroughly well-made stove. The material and workmanship in it are the very best. It's an economical stove inasmuch as it's durable: it will outlast two or three stoves less well made. And during its long life it never fails to do its work. It's there to cook every meal with no trouble or worry.

The Gurney-Oxford Economizer enables you to keep the fire in perfect control always. The grates are designed for perfect combustion.

The divided flues convey the heat from the fire to all sides and corners of the oven. The owner of a Gurney-Oxford does not know what it means to worry over a fire or to take a roast or a batch of biscuits from the oven with uncertainty.

The thousands of Canadian housewives who own Gurney-Oxfords rely on them without disappointment.

They have proved themselves to be splendid, dependable stoves, and extremely economical in fuel consumption.

We want to show you the Gurney-Oxford, and demonstrate the features that have gained for it first place in everything that makes a stove valuable.

The New Patriotism

There is more than one way of serving your country. We cannot all go forth to fight on the blood-stained fields of France and Belgium, but it is within everyone's power to help crush the monster that threatens Europe.

Modern warfare is a battle of resources, financial resources most of all.

Every dollar you spend for goods "Made in Canada" is increasing the wealth, the resources, of the Empire, it is giving employment to Canadian workmen, it is contributing to Canada's welfare, and it is supplying the sinews of war to Britain, it is helping to fight the enemy.

The new patriotism seizes every opportunity to help—the enlightened patriot insists that everything he buys be "Made in Canada."

PATRIOTISM PRODUCES PROSPERITY

A $5 ILLUSTRATED BIBLE FOR EVERYBODY

COMPLIMENTARY PRESENTATION

A great statesman said: "No library is complete without two certain books---the Bible and Shakespeare. Hardly a quotation in literature that is not taken from one of these books."

Everybody in Belleville will be benefitted by the exceptional educational presentation undertaken by The Belleville Intelligencer. Here is an opportunity for every reader of The Intelligencer to possess this ILLUSTRATED BIBLE (Protestant or Catholic) with practically no effort.

Every home needs a Bible, and one of convenient form. To appreciate this great book, it does not necessarily mean that one must be a church member or a religious man or woman, but it should be available for every one and often referred to, and often read here and there, as the most interesting of all books, as the book under the teachings of which the wonderful development of civilization has been accomplished. It matters not how many Bibles you may have, you will also need this Illustrated Bible which illuminates—i. e.,—"throws light upon"—the particular text selected for illustration, and is beyond doubt the most beautiful edition of the Bible that has ever been published.

OF THE
Belleville Intelligencer

Heretofore the word "illustrated," as applied to a Bible, meant merely a few allegorical "pictures" of Biblical events taken from any source, and conveniently placed in any part of the book, merely as embellishment inserts, but not directly alongside and explanatory of the verse intended to typify or make plain; but our publishers, at an outlay of $50,000, prepared accurate illustration DESCRIPTIVE of the VERSE which they accompany, and placed directly next to the verse of the scene described—the only place it can be looked for or found quickly, the only place the illustration is a help to you—making this the FIRST and ONLY complete ILLUSTRATED Bible.

COMPARISON
S
IMPOSSIBLE

for our new Bible stands alone--there is no other of its kind. Therefore, praise of this superb new book means no disparagement of the many excellent editions published heretofore.

Events that have been imperfectly comprehended become invested with the charm of living reality, and places that have seemed far off are made familiar, as though we ourselves had trod the hills and valleys of these historic lands. It may be truthfully said that this really superb edition of the book of books has an important mission to perform, in illuminating and vivifying the Bible narrative and giving it as never before, a present, living, human interest.

HOW TO GET IT
PRESENT
SIX CERTIFICATES

Printed only in The Intelligencer—clipped on consecutive days, together with the stated amount that covers the necessary EXPENSE items of this wonderful distribution, including clerk hire, cost of packing, checking, express from factory, etc

AND RECEIVE THIS
$5.00 BOOK

This Bible is not a meaningless picture book. The illustrations serve a distinct purpose. They enrich the text, and they do more—they intelligently explain it so that many hitherto obscure passage assumes to thousands a new meaning through these eye-teaching pictures.

YOUR CHOICE OF THESE BOOKS

Magnificent Illustrated $5 Edition of the BIBLE (like illustration) is bound in full flexible limp leather, with overlapping covers and title stamped in gold, with numerous full-page plates in color from the world famous Tissot collection, together with 600 superb pictures graphically illustrating and making plain the verse in the light of modern Biblical knowledge and research. The text conforms to the authorized edition, is self-pronouncing, with copious marginal references, maps and helps; printed on thin Bible paper; flat opening at all pages; beautiful readable type. 6 consecutive free certificates and the $1.18 Amount Expense Items

The $3 Illustrated BIBLE is exactly the same as the $5 book, except in the style of binding, which is in silk cloth, contains all of the illustrations and maps. Six consecutive free certificates and the 81c. Amount Expense Items

Also an Edition for Catholics. Through an exclusive arrangement we have been most fortunate in securing the Catholic Bible, Douay Version, endorsed by Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop (now Cardinal) Farley, as well as by the various archbishops of the country. Illustrations consist of the full-page plates and maps approved by the Church, without the Tissot and text pictures. It will be distributed in the same binding as the Protestant books, and at the same Amount Expense Items, with the necessary Free Certificates.

No Book Like This in the World at Any Price

This Bible is not a mere picture book. It is a genuine high art production, worthy of the Twentieth Century. In addition to the world-famed Tissot pictures in color are 600 illustrations, all exact copies of original paintings and drawings, which constitute the most wonderful gallery of Escriptural art in existence today—to this branch of the work, and at enormous cost, were called the greatest of living artists, and it is to their intelligent conception of the work and to their masterly skill in portrayal of Bible scenes that the superiority of this Bible over any yet produced is mainly due. Every picture is an eloquent sermon on these everlasting truths.

Mail Orders

Every one of our many OUT-OF-TOWN Readers should take advantage of this great presentation. All you need to do is to inclose six consecutive certificates with the amount mentioned, and include 23 cents additional for postage or expressage.

One Hundred of the World's Greatest Artists

Working under the advice of archaeologists and historians of wide renown, have contributed the choicest products of their skill and genius to produce this grand triumph of artistic beauty and perfection in historical detail. These pictures are not mere reproductions of mediaeval frescoes and more or less familiar modern photographs, inserted at random; they have been especially made, in the light of twentieth century knowledge, to illustrate selected texts in accordance with the matured beliefs of the greatest living theologians.

SIEGE NOW A BATTLE

Attack on Antwerp Involves Extensive Field Operations.

Determination of Germans to Capture Belgian Stronghold Results In a Conflict Which Bids Fair to Eclipse the Great Struggle In France — Battle Is Now Raging Along Scheldt, Rupel and Nehte.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Daily News has the following from its correspondent in Belgium:

"The siege of Antwerp is developing into a second Battle of the Rivers (the Aisne battle.) It is raging from Termonde on the west to Lierre on the east, along the banks of the Scheldt, the Rupel and the Nehte, which the Belgian army is defending against odds but with stubborn determination.

"The main attack at the moment is being launched against Lierre, the enemy having apparently determined to cross the Nethe at this point. But vigorous pressure is also being applied along the Termonde-Malines road, in the neighborhood of St. Amand, with the object of forcing the Belgian field army beyond what can best be described as "the elbow of the Scheldt."

It cannot be too clearly understood that there is a vital difference between the defences of Antwerp and those of Liege and Namur. While the 52-centimetre howitzers of the Germans may dispose of a Brialmont ring fortress, it by no means follows that they will be equally successful against a widespread network of flood, mine, and wire entanglements intersected by water courses, such as that which I passed through yesterday afternoon while I was in the western area of the operations.

The Telegraph publishes the following from its correspondent in Belgium:

"There is nothing, as the position stands at the present, to indicate the least possibility of the Germans being able to secure possession of Antwerp, or even to invest it successfully. Everything points in the opposite direction. Comparatively small results have followed the several days' pounding on the advance forts by the siege guns, and failure has met the successive infantry attempts to break through, carried out, as they undoubtedly have been, with bravery and utter indifference to the loss of life involved."

TO DUPLICATE EQUIPMENT.

War Office Ask Canada For 100 Per Cent. of Extra Outfits.

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—The War Office has asked the Canadian Government to provide 100 per cent. extra equipment for the Canadian troops. There had already been provided 70 per cent. The securing of the additional 30 per cent. for the first contingent of 33,000 men and also the double equipment for the second contingent of 22,000 men is giving the Militia Department a busy time, and will keep the mills all over the country going day and night in order to turn out the equipment in time.

The second contingent will consist of regiments organized in the regular way. There will be no regiments organized as independent units.

Many requests are still coming in from members of the Northwest Mounted Police to be allowed to enlist and go to the war.

Men even from the Yukon have asked to be permitted to go, but the Government still holds to its decision made some time ago that no members of the force can be spared.

Pillagers Sentenced To Death.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—Charged with pillaging houses between Chantilly and Senlis, four captured German soldiers were sentenced yesterday by a drum head court-martial. Jewelry, money and watches were found in their possession. Two of the men were sentenced to death, one to hard labor for life and the fourth to ten years' imprisonment.

Two of the men pleaded that their actions were in accordance with an actual official order, and another said: "If I had not taken the things, the officers would."

LOST GROUND GAINED ALLIES RETAKE POSITIONS

Battle of the Aisne Is Almost Deadlocked Except For Vigorous Outflanking Movements on the Northwest Wing, Where Cavalry of Both Armies Are In a Mad Race to Reach the Coast.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—After desperate fighting only nine miles from the Belgian border, French and British cavalry yesterday defeated a large force of German cavalry which was striving to outflank the allies, it is declared in advices from the front. The mounted trops of both armies have been engaged in a mad drive for the past two days, one to reach the French-Belgian coast and the other to prevent it. The advantage gained yesterday by the allies is said to give them a continuous line opposing the Kaiser's armies from Malines to Noyon, and from Soissons eastward in the general direction of Metz.

The official communication issued by the French War Department last night announces that the ground previously ceded by the French between Chaulnes and Roye has been retaken, and that on the centre the French have advanced on certain points.

The text is as follows: "Except on the two wings where the German attacks have been repulsed there has been nearly complete calm along the front.

"On our left wing the German cavalry has been held in check; to the north of Lille it has been driven back.

"Between Chaulnes and Roye the ground previously ceded has been retaken.

"On the centre we have made an advance on certain points.

"There is nothing to report on our right wing."

Gen. Von Kluk is still endeavoring to pierce the Franco-British lines, and Tuesday night repeated assaults were delivered at different points. Although he continues to hold the advantage won on Monday, he has been unable to make any definite impression on the allied front. In fact, the fortified positions of both armies would seem to be almost impregnable, although the German statement o' yesterday acknowledges a retirement at certain points.

This statement says: "Continuous French outflanking movements against our right wing have extended the battle front until it is now north of Arras, west of Lille and west of Lens, nine miles northeast of Arras. Our advance guards are in touch with the enemy's cavalry.

"No decision has been reached in our counter attack along the line between Arras, Albert and Roye.

"The situation remains unchanged along the battle front between the Oise and the Meuse, in the vicinity of Verdun and in Alsace-Lorraine."

The French communique of three o'clock shows a strange agreement with the German statement concerning the battle of the Aisne. It says:

"On our left wing the battle still continues with great violence. The opposing fronts extend into the region between Lens, nine miles northeast of Arras, and La Bassee, thirteen miles southeast of Lille, and are strengthened by masses of cavalry which are in grips as far as the vicinity of Armentieres, nine miles northwest of Lille, and virtually on the Belgian frontier.

"On the front extending from the Somme to the Meuse there is nothing to report.

"In the Woevre district the enemy made a new effort to stop our progress, but his attacks again failed.

The following official statement was issued yesterday afternoon by the British War Office:

"North of the River Oise and Lens there was hard fighting. Elsewhere slight advance or retreat varies throughout the lines. Reports are generally satisfactory. The French army is fighting with great dash and bravery. The Germans attacking Antwerp pushed forward their position against considerable resistance by the garrison."

Everything hangs on the outcome of the action raging in the north. Both armies have brought up tremendous reinforcements, and it would seem that either one or the other must break through. In his effort to effect this end, Gen. Von Kluk is using the protection of night for major assaults. When the Germans advance they turn great searchlights on the allied positions and send up rockets which give a brilliant illumination for 40 seconds. Then the bugles blare and on come the sturdy Teutons. The fighting is desperate and the losses enormous, but the allies are standing firm with proverbial English stubbornness and French gallantry. The two elements are combining to make a marvelous defensive machine. Their offensive qualities have been proven at the Marne, and for the last twenty-six days on the Aisne and neighboring rivers.

Russians Near Budapest.

BORDEAUX, Oct. 8.—A message from Petrograd, via Rome, says that the Russian have occupied Marmaros Gziget after annihilating an Austrian corps, following a battle of six days' duration.

A message from Budapest states that the Russians are now pursuing the offensive, but are six hours by railway from Budapest.

Twin Cities' Large Fund.

BERLIN, Ont., Oct. 8.—When returns were announced last night, although not final, the large sum of $82,781.70 was shown to have been collected for the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

The fund of the Town of Waterloo is reported as $53,000, with the list not closed.

Col. Hughes at New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Canada is willing and able to furnish 500,000 picked men to fight against Germany, if the British Government needs them, according to Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, Canadian Minister of Militia, who sailed for England yesterday on the steamer Cedric.

Col. Hughes follows in the wake of the first Canadian contingent of about 33,000 men, who left Valcartier, Que., for England about two weeks ago.

"They are all crack shots,' 'he said, "and trained to the minute. When we supplement their numbers with the additional volunteers who are now in camp at Valcartier we shall have about 50,000 men at the front, and good men, too—the best in the world."

GERMANS FIGHT HARD.

Russian War Office Reports Tenacious Resistance to Advance.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 8. — The Russian general staff yesterday issued the following statement:

"On the East Prussian frontier the Germans, having brought reinforcements from Koenigsberg, continue to oppose tenacious resistance upon battlefront of Vladislavoff and Ratchka, profiting by the defiles, lakes and marshes in the region of Tchernoganja.

"Beyond the Vistula advance guard battles have occurred in the region of Opatow and Sandomir.

"In the Carpathians, west of the River Sanok an Austrian detachment was defeated and machine guns and prisoners captured.

"At SaXva, 20 kilometres from the city of Munkatch, we have captured an artillery park and numerous convoys."

GERMAN STAFF IN CHARGE.

Kaiser's Officers Have Arrogated Control of Austrian Army.

MILAN, Oct. 8.—(Via Paris.)—A despatch from Vienna to The Corriere della Serra, confirms a previous report that the Austrian army in Galicia has been placed under the control of the German staff, despite the opposition of Emperor Francis Joseph.

The despatch adds that Maj.-Gen. Conrad, chief of the Austrian general staff, has virtually been deprived of all power on account of his alleged condition, resulting from the death of his son, who was killed in action.

Dealing with the removal of Gen. Auffenberg from his command the correspondent asserts this action was taken ostensibly because of the general's ill-health, but that in reality it was due to his move on Lublin, which was considered an ominous mistake, and responsible in great part for the Austrian defeat.

Japs Occupy Chinan.

PEKIN, Oct. 8.—According to advices received here, the railroad station at Chinan, in Shantung Province, west of Kiaochow, has been occupied by 30 Japanese soldiers. One hundred and fifty more are expected today.

A despatch received here by the Associated Press from Chinan says no trains are running over the Shantung Railroad. The rolling stock has been mostly collected at Chinan.

Germans from along the line, including women and children, have taken refuge in Chinan.

The Japanese legation here says siege guns are now ready for an attack on Tsingtau.

Another Lie Nailed.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 8.—(Via London.)—An official statement declares to be "absoluately without foundation" the report from Vienna that a formidable Russian anti-movement was in progress in Persia, and that the Russians had been defeated in a battle there. It is asserted that only insignificant skirmishes with brigands from Turkey have taken place, and that the brigands were driven across the frontier.

Pope's First Encyclical.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—The Echo de Paris is in receipt of a despatch from Rome which declares that Benedict XV. will issue his first encyclical letter on All Saints Day, Nov. 1. It is to follow the general form set by Leo XIII. and Cardinal Rampolla, and it is stated will contain an allusion to the war.

Official Inquiry Under Way.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—An official investigation is being made regarding the movements of a number of vessels which left American ports, carrying coal, presumably bound for ports which have not been reached. While there is no disposition on the part of the British Government to question the efforts of the United States Government to prevent the coaling of German warships by vessels from American ports, it is explained that every effort is being exerted to forestall a repetition of the coaling of the German cruiser Karlsruhe.

Essad Pasha Gets His Desire.

PARIS, Oct. 6.—A Havas despatch from Durazzo dated Oct. 4, says that the Senate has named Essad Pasha, president of the provisional government of Albania. His 10,000 Albanian troops occupy strategical positions in the city.

Essad Pasha was formerly Albanian Minister of War and was also commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces at Scutari in the Balkan war. He was opposed to the rule of Prince William of Weid, who was appointed to the Albanian throne by the powers.

PLOT TO INVOLVE ITALY.

Engineer on Stolen Submarine Chafed at Country's Neutrality.

SPEZIA, Italy, Oct. 8. — (Via Rome.—The authorities have received a letter from the engineer who disappeared with the Italian-built submarine while the vessel supposedly was having her trials in the Gulf of Spezia and later landed her at Bastia, France.

The letter was written before the submarine left her moorings here. The writer says that he considers Italy's attitude of neutrality a mistake and that it is the duty of every Italian citizen to act individually in an effort to ignite the spark which will render Italian intervention in the war inevitable.

It is supposed that the engineer has placed himself in the hands of the French military authorities.

Anti-German League Formed.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—For the purpose of exterminating German thought, commerce and science, an organization has been founded at Marseilles, known as the Anti-German League, which hopes to make it impossible for a German to live in France, either now or after the war. It is planned to completely ostracize the Germanic race.

In the evening a concert was held, the greater portion of the programme being provided by Belleville talent.

DEATH OF FORMER RESIDENT

Mrs. Smith, an aged lady, who was for many years, a resident of Belleville, died at Toronto on Monday, and the remains were taken to Kingston for burial. Mrs. Smith was the mother of Mrs. R. Ham, who formerly resided here. Mr. Smith preceded her to the tomb some years ago.

STOPPED BRIDGE BUILDING

On Tuesday a meeting of the Bridge Committee of the County Council was held here, attended by chairman Gunter and all other members. It was decided not to proceed further this year with bridge construction, but finish up the work on hand. It was intended to build two bridges in Tyendinaga Township, but they will be simply strengthened and will no doubt be rebuilt next year.

THE HIGH SCHOOL WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

A union meeting of Queen Mary School Women's Institute, Queen Alexandra School Women's Institute, and High School Women's Institute was held in the assembly room of the High School, Monday afternoon, at which there was a good attendance. These Institutes have been asked to send in a report of the different playgrounds in the city to the National Council of Women, to be used by them. A letter was read by one of the members of the High School Institute telling of the death of Miss Allison, our first playground superviser.

At our meeting on the first Monday in November, we hope to have on exhibition many new ideas for Christmas gifts.

Mr. McLaurin gave an excellent address on "Our work in the High School", and "What Constitutes a good Education." This address should have been heard by every mother in Belleville, and we hope at some future date to have it repeated.

THE PATRIOTIC GENTLEMAN

(By Victor Hicks)

He's a patriotic gentleman
And wears a Union Jack,
He supports the local volunteers
And pats them on the back;
But he, though inconsistent,
Because he had the power,
Sent word unto his agent
To raise the price of flour.

He's a patriotic gentleman
And speaks in public halls.
He voices loud great sentiments,
And men to duty calls:
Yet from that auditorium
He to his office went,
To reduce the meagre wages
Just twenty-five per cent.

He's a patriotic gentleman
Well known throughout the town
And by his philanthropic deeds
Has won fair renown;
But on the pear of harder times
(It almost brings the tears)
He "fired" his old gard'ner
Who'd served for forty years.

He's a patriotic gentleman;—
Expects to be a knight;
His fortune is colossal,
Untold its power and might;
Yet the sentry failing duty
Or stealing army's plan
Is no more of a traitor
Than this patriotic man!
Edmonton, September, 1914.

Highest Price Paid for Cheese

The regular meeting of the Peterborough cheese board was held yesterday morning. Messrs. Morton and Cook, of Belleville, Flavelle, of Lindsay, and G. A. Gillespie, buyers, were present. The highest figure ever paid on the local market was bid this morning by Mr. Cook. He called a number of factories at 15 1-8 cents, while Mr. Gillespie took the balance of the board at 15 1-16 cents.

Wednesday, September 30th, was the day chosen for the making of the patriotic cheese. Mr. Cook, in the factories he bought, offered an eighth of a cent extra for the cheese donated to the patriotic fund.

1,650 cheese were boarded.

INSURING GOOD DIGESTION

IMPORTANCE OF PREVENTING FOOD FERMENTATION IN STOMACH.

Good digestion usually means good health. So long as the stomach does its work properly disease can find no lodgment in the human system; the liver, kidneys and intestines will perform their work perfectly and remain in perfect health; but permit anything to interfere with the proper digestion of food, an unending train of troubles is set in motion. About the only thing that will upset the stomach and interfere with digestion is an excess of acid, usually caused by food fermentation. Food fermentation is due to chemical action in the food itself. This fermentation causes the formation of gas, or wind, as well as acid, resulting in the unnatural distention of the the delicate lining of the stomach.

Medicine and tonics cannot relieve this condition—they usually make it worse. The fermentation and acid are to blame and these must be overcome and prevented by taking after meals a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. Physicians recommend bisurated magnesia especially because it stops and prevents fermentation of food and neutralizes the acid instantly, making it bland and harmless, without irritating the stomach in any way. Get a little bisurated magnesia from your druggist and try it the next time your food fermits and upsets your stomach. Note how quickly the acid is neutralized and how soon you forget that you have such a thing as a stomach.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

A PLEASING SHOW

At the Griffin Opera House last evening a large audience gathered to witness J. C. Rockwell's "Sunny South" Company present a muiscal farce entitled "The Wrong Johnson." The company is composed of some 20 colored people, and are fairly clever. Whilst some parts of the show, drag as it were, and is not presented in an up-to-date manner, taken altogether it was pleasing. A feature of the performance, that was exceptionally good was the bending and acrobatic work of Boyd and Boyd, who are certainly clever.

High Praise for Canadian Railway

Mr. A. E. Goff, of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, has just concluded a tour of the Dominion. He declares that he has been greatly impressed with the progress made by Canadian railroads, and by the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific, in particular.

The immensity of the Grand Trunk Systems mileage and the unlimited possibility of further extension first impressed him, he says:—

Next, the remarkable engineering obstacles of bridging and tunnelling that have been overcome in linking up so huge a system, apart from the venture of the undertaking at a time when the present rapid development could hardly have been foreseen.

I was particularly struck with the good understanding which exists between the executive and the staff. The result of this mutual confidence was manifest in the local enthusiasm and efficiency of the various departments of work at headquarters in Montreal, as well as elsewhere, and made for a general esprit de corps which is not often met with. Outside the office atmosphere the same spirit was evinced between the travelling public and the staff. The hotels of the Grand Trunk are wonderfully homelike and surprisingly cheap. The "Chateau Laurier," one of the finest hotels in the world, is suitably located and a truly magnificent building. The method of dealing with passengers' luggage strikes me as remarkably simple and effective and is a real time and worry saver. On the commercial side, a grain elevator added to the many things that interested a stranger, and so did the large freight terminal I had the privilege of going over. Another noticeable feature that impressed me not a little was the unsolicited efforts made by one and all to see that traffic, not merely in a concrete sense, but in individual merchandise, was expeditiously transported. This regard for commerce has evolved itself into a system known as the "Manifest freight service," whereby it is within the region of possibility to keep an eye not only on each whole train-load of important merchandise, but on each car load as well, from the moment of despatch from shipping point, as they term it in Canada, to destination."

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorised publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.—30690. dtf

New Version of "O Canada"

The version of "O Canada" by R. Stanley Weir, was at the last annual meeting of the Association of Canadian Clubs held in Vancouver, was officially adopted as the standard Canadian Anthem for Canadian Clubs. Mr. Weir's version is as follows:

O Canada, our home, our native land,
True patriot love thou dost in us command;
We see thee rearing fair, dear land
The true North, strong and free,
And stand on guard, O Canada—
We stand on guard for thee.

CHORUS

O Canada! O Canada!
O Canada! We stand on guard for thee.
O Canada! We stand on guard for thee.

O Canada! Where pines and maples grow,
Great prairies spread and lordly rivers flow:
Thou art the land, O Canada,
From East to Western sea,
The land of hope for all who toil—
The land of liberty.

O Canada! Beneath thy shining skies
May stalwart sons and gentle maidens rise,
And so abide, O Canada,
From East to Western sea,
Where'er thy pines and prairies are,
The true North, strong and free.

The local club holds its first gathering of the season next Thursday at 6.30, when the guest will be Mr. Adam Shortt, C.M.G., of Ottawa.

Suffered Terribly Until She Took "Fruit-a-tives"

ST. JEAN DE MATHA, JAN. 27th. 1914.

"After suffering for a long time with Dyspepsia, I have been cured by "Fruit-a-tives". I suffered so much that I would not dare eat for I was afraid of dying. Five years ago, I received samples of "Fruit-a-tives". I did not wish to try them for I had little confidence in them but, seeing my husband's anxiety, I decided to do so and at once I felt relief. Then I sent for three boxes and I kept improving until I was cured. While sick, I lost several pounds, but after taking "Fruit-a-tives", I quickly regained what I had lost. Now I eat, sleep and digest well—in a word, I am completely cured, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives".

BRITISH TOY INDUSTRY

British Manufacturers Trying to Replace German Products

The English toy-making trade is making a determined effort to establish their industry in the British Empire on such a permanent basis that German competition in years to come will be found to have vanished. At a meeting held recently, under the presidency of David Waterlow, the following resolution was adopted:

"In view of the enormous trade so far done almost exclusively by Germany in the manufacture of toys for British and colonial markets, this meeting considers the time appropriate for a determined attempt to be made to organize the toy industry in Great Britain. It considers this step to be in the interests of the rural workers, the cripples, the weakly, the infirm and the unemployed, or those not fully employed, and the meeting hereby resolves to form the British Toy Association, in order to focus public opinion and to unite the activities of individuals, committees and associations interested in the making of British toys in order that the work may be developed upon sound and national lines."

The fear has been expressed in several quarters that cheap toys are impossible without the employment of child labor and sweating. This question was fully entered into, and a resolution was passed providing that all the necessary steps should be taken by the British Toy Association to safeguard the interests of its workers in this particular. It was decided to make the preliminary organization a matter for voluntary effort and afterwards to develop the operations of the association on a commercial basis.

British Indians Are Surprise To French

Solemn Courtesy and Great Height (Except the Ghurkas) Amaze Latins

PARIS, Oct. 8.—The British Indian army is said to be rapidly becoming acclimatized. French generals who have inspected their artillery, cavalry infanty and engineer and ambulance auxiliary corps describe the army as splendidly equipped. The people of the French cities where the men are quartered are favorably impressed with the solemn courtesy of the Orientals. They never, however, enter the cafes or accept hospitalities. All the men execpt Ghurkas are great men in stature. There is scarcely a man under six feet in height, while some are giants.

More than half the Indian contingent are white troops who are rgarded as the flower of the British army. Transport and artillery supply wagogns were brought with the men from India. Herds of goats that furnish the milk supply are pastured near the camps, but the principal sustenance of the native Indian soldier is wheat cakes which they themselves bake.

TROOPS EQUIPMENT KEEPING MILLS BUSY

Complete Extra Outfit is Required for Each of Canadian Contingents

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—9 great number of requests are still coming in from members of the Northwest mounted police to be allowed to enlist and go to the war. Men even from the Yukon have asked permission to go, but the Government holds to its decision arrived at some time ago, that no members of the force can be spared since it requires to be maintained up to the full standard of efficiency at the present time, and new untrained men would be unable to properly take the place of the men who would go to the front.

The war office has asked the Canadian Government to provide one hundred per cent. extra equipment for the Canadian troops. There had already been provided seventy per cent. The securing of the additional 30 per cent. for the first contingent of 33,000 men, and also the double equipment for the second contingent of 22,000 men is giving Militia Department a busy time and will keep the mills all over the country going day and night to turn out equipment on time.

The second contingent will consist of regiments organized in the regular way. There will be no regiments organized as independent units.

Say Nuns Killed French Wounded

PARIS, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The Matin alleges that gendarmes have arrested a group of German nuns and nurses on one of the first battlefields of the war in France, because, under the direction of a physician with the rank of general, they were injecting chloroform into the French wounded to finish them off quickly.

The prisoners were brought to Vincennes yesterday and distributed to the various prisons in Paris. The nurses, to the number of several hundred, were sent to the Sante Prison. fifteen nuns to the prison of St. Lazare and the general and his aids to the military prison of Cherche Midi.

ASQUITH'S THREE SONS VOLUNTEER

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Three sons of Premier Asquith have volunteered for active service with the British army. Two of them are now training with their regiments. The third who has not completely recovered from a recent serious illness, failed to pass the doctor.

TIRED AFTER TEN HOURS FIGHTING

Man Shot Through Leg and Neck Gives Impression of Fight

LONDON, Oct. 8.—"Men fell like corn before the reaper,' a wounded lance-sergeant in the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry wrote home to his mother from the hospital ship St. David. "Now its over I must say the last few days have been horror, fighting all the time," he continued. "Our last action was the worst. I tell you truly I never expected to get out alive.

"The Germans must have lost thousands, but they were ten to one so we had to retire. The shrapnel and hail of lead and bullets, I see it all now, and I was one of the last to leave the field. I won't say more but I got a bullet in my right leg and kept on for twenty yards or more. I got a great piece of shapnel shell in my neck—laid me senseless. I came to again and as if possessed ran through it all and made good. It's wonderful how you can run with a bullet through your leg.

"I have not been at it long, but fellows say they saw more in the last four days than they did in three years in Africa. That's the truth. Ah, well! I'm not grumbling. I'm not disfigured or maimed like so many poor fellows, so let us rejoice over it all. Some of our engagements lasted thirteen hours and the last—and worst—ten hours. So tired, must sleep."

FINAL VICTORY CERTAIN

Germany and Austria Must Yield Says Czar's Cousin

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Duke of Louchtenberg, cousin of the Czar, who has arrived in Italy from Berne, granted an interesting interview to a representative of La Sampa, at Turrin, in the course of which he said:

"My august relative, William II., and his ally, Franz Joseph, are playing a risky game. They have wrought themselves into fury and still vaunt the certainty of final victory. However, with our nine million Russian soldiers, allied with the heroic sons of Belgium, Britain and France, we shall encompass Germany and Austria in a circle of steel from which they can never free themselves. They will perforce have to yield."

Questioned about rumors of a truce until the coming springtide, the Duke replied:

"These rumors are absolutely absurd. Our Czar has sworn to his allies to destroy Germany and Austria. The Czar's troops are adepts at winter campaigning. Its rigors entail far less suffering upon them than upon the Austro-German troops. It is out of the question that the Czar is going to give our enemies a comfortable period in which to strengthen their preparations. Hence, while I can hazard no opinion about the duration of the war, my belief is that great battles destined to decide the fate of Austria and Germany will be fought during mid-winter."

DRASTIC REMEDY FOR POISONING

New York Broker was Baked as Last Resource, and Recovered

New YORK, Oct. 8.—After being placed in an electric oven with a heat of from 250 to 300 degrees, David R. Beach, a broker, is cured today of accidental bichloride of mercury poisoning.

The cure is considered remarkable inasmuch as the man's kidneys had stopped operation, usually a fatal sign and the baking process was resorted to as a last hope to save his life.

After injections of salt solutions the oven was fitted closely over his bed and the current supplying dry heat, turned on.

PLANTED MINES UNDER ENEMY THEN PRESSED A BUTTON

JARIS, Oct. 8.—The report which has just reached Paris of the blowing up of the German redoubt north of Soissons gives the following details:—

The Germans were so strongly intrenched that the French and British had been unable to dislodge them. Attack after attack was made, but the invaders mowed down the soldiers of the coalition forces.

Finally French and British soldiers dug entrenchments a couple of hundred yards distant from the German lines under the protection of a hot fire. Under the direction of the British engineers, soldiers set to work and dug deep tunnels underneath the German earthworks.

The tunnels were filled with dynamite with electric contacts, so that it could be exploded by pressing a button. The French and British then retired and charges were set off. Every German in the trenches was killed."

GERMAN LEFT WING IN DEFINITE RETREAT

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Reports received here last evening state that the German left wing at the eastern end of the battle zone in France began a definite retreat to the north yesterday, after having been defeated at St. Mihiel. It is stated that the German forces on the centre have been so weakened by the sending of reinforcements to the north that they are apparently incapable of further serious operations in the defensive. A despatch from Amsterdam says Antwerp is now in a serious condition. A fleet of six Zeppelins are dropping bombs into the city. The extent of the damage is not known, and the bombardment continues.

SERVIANS REPULSED LOSE SUPPLIES

LONDON, Oct. 9—Advices come via Amsterdam of an official announcement at Vienna of the repulse of the Servian northern column, with the loss of a supply train, and of an unsuccessful engagement with the Russians.

An official announcement in Berlin yesterday claimed some small progress around St. Mihiel and the Argonne in the French war theatre; places the responsibility for the bombardment of Antwerp on the Belgian military governor; admits damage to an airship hall at Dusseldorf with the destruction of the cover of one airship, and records the arrival at Lyck, East Prussia, of a Russian column.

BOMBARDMENT OF ANTWERP TERRIBLE

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The bombardment of Antwerp has been terrible, says an Ostend despatch to Reuter's. The Germans threw incendiary bombs, the despatch adds, with the result that many parts of the town be twpen the railway station and the Palace of Justice are in flames.

It is rumored that the Germans have been repuked on the right bank of the River Nethe. A Taube aeroplane flew over Ostend at four o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

INNER FORTS NOW BEING SHELLED

THE HAGUE, Oct. 9.—The bombardment of Antwerp's inner forts and outlying parts of the city started at 12.30 Thursday morning. At noon the city was burning in four places.

It is reported that the inner forts, Nos. 4 and 6 have been silenced.

The exodus of panic stricken people continues. It is reported that the dykes have been opened.

ANOTHER AEROPLANE ON ZEPPELIN HANGARS

Amsterdam reports another aeroplane raid on the Zeppelin hangars at Cologne and Dusseldorf, with damage inflicted at the latter point. Berlin announces that the Germans have crossed the flooded areas before Antwerp and continue to progress.

The Australian Parliament will be asked to vote six million dollars for Belgian relief. The Italian Minister of War has resigned.

GERMANS OCCUPY SOUTH EAST SEMICIRCLE

LONDON, Oct. 9.—A despatch to The Exchange Telegraph from Ostend dated Thursday says: "The Germans have occupied the southeast semicircle of the third fortified line of Antwerp. The Belgians have made several sorties on the left bank of the Scheldt. The Belgian government is completely installed at Ostend."

NO CHANGE IN GENERAL SITUATION

PARIS, Oct. 9.—An official announcement this afternoon says, the battle continues along a line through Lens, Arras, Bray-sur-Somme, Chaulnes, Roye and Lassigny, and opposing bodies of cavalry still operating to the north of Lille. There is no change in the general situation.

ATTEMPTS TO INSERT WEDGE

The Central News says a German attempt to insert a wedge between Antwarp and the Allies' left wing has been practically defeated. Fierce fighting continues around Lille and south of Ghent. German prisoners have been taken to Dunkirk and Ostend.

SHELLS FALLING AT TWENTY A MINUTE

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Evening Star's Amsterdam correspondent says shells falling in Antwerp during the bombardment Thursday night at the rate of twenty a minute killed many civilians. Eye witnesses say one Zeppelin was brought to earth by the fire from the forts.

LIEUT.-COL. J. H, BURLAND IS DEAD

MONTREAL, Oct. 9.—A cable from England announces the death of Lieut. Colonel Jeffrey H. Burland, recently appointed head of the Canadian Red Cross organization, at the front. Col. Burland was known throughout Canada for philanthropy as well as for various departments of militia service. He left for England on September 29th.

GARRISON OF PRZEMYSL SURRENDERS TO RUSSIANS

ROME, Oct. 9.—The Tribuna says it has received information that the garrison at Przemysl has surrendered to the Russians. The Russian Embassy, however, denies this report and declares that the investment continues.

JAPANESE MOUNT SIEGE GUNS

PEKIN, Oct. 9.—The Japanese have mounted siege guns on Prince Henry mountain, completely dominating all three of the German forts at Tsing-Tau, and distant less than four miles.

ANTWERP SUBURB BURNING

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Bergerhaut, a suburb of Antwerp, is burning, according to a despatch from Amsterdam to Reuter's Telegram Company.

OPENING OF THE BASEBALL SERIES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9—Weather and all conditions were favorable this morning for the first championship ball game, although the predictions are for rain this afternoon.

REV. DR. CARMAN INJURED BY FALL

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—Rev. Dr. Carman General Superintendent Emiritus of the Methodist Church, is at the home of his son, F. A. Carman, here, suffering from injuries sustained in a fall from a street car. His hip is painfully strained, but it is not serious. Dr. Carman was attempting to board a car on his way to the station, en route home, when it started unexpectedly, throwing him to the pavement.

FIRM REFUSAL TO INTERFERE PRESIDENT'S REPLY TO KAISER

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—President Wilson's reply to the Kaiser, sent some time ago, became known here last night, reaching London via Amsterdam. It is represented in the semi-official Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung of Berlin.

The President says: "I have received your Majesty's important communication and have read it with the greatest interest. I feel much honored that you should apply to me for an impartial judgment.

"While I sincerely wish to learn the truth, you will, I am sure, not expect me to say more.

"I pray that this way may soon be ended and that a day of settlement will come, when, I am convinced, the nations of Europe will unite to end their differences. Whoever has been in the wrong will learn the sequel and the responsibility will fall on the guilty. The nations of the whole world are unanimous in thinking that the final settlement must involve a complete agreement. It would be unwise for a single nation, disinterested in the present war, to express a decided opinion."

The Earl of Fitzwilliam, who was born in Canada, is very active in performing his duties as a transport staff officer of the British army. He controls thousands of motor cars and horse vehicles of every variety, and displays wonderful ability as an organizer. The Earl has been of great service in keeping the field army well supplied. He is greatly liked by his subordinates.

FIGHTING SINCE MONDAY IS FIERCEST OF WAR IN FRANCE

New Forces of German Cavalry and Infantry Have Used Every Resource and Every Effort to Break Through in Vain

ON THE BATTLE FRONT, Oct 8.—The fiercest fighting which has marked the conflict in the French theatre of war has taken place since Monday on the western wing of the allied armies. New forces of German cavalry and infantry which have appeared in front of the allies' lines have used every resource and every effort to attain success. They have thrown themselves again and again at the French and British who have brought equally strong bodies of troops forward to oppose them.

The battle is no longer one of machine-like strategy of two armies but a contest centreing in the powers of endurance of two bodies of human beings each as determined as the other not to give up the struggle before victory is achieved. Here and there the lines have faltered one way or the other under the shock, but have again tightened up and becmoses firm.

At one point the German cavalry even succeeded in breaking through the allied lines, at a place which must remain undisclosed, but not in sufficient strength to make their feat of appreciable importance. The retirement of the allies was, however, fully in acordance with the plans of the general staff.

The breach was at an acute angle and the Germans were placed in a very precarious position from which they were ousted later in the day.

All through last night and to-day the fight proceeded, continuing until this evening when a period of calm set in.

TWO NEEDLES IN POTATO

Italian Priest's Pocket Wireless Receiver

FLORENCE, Italy, Oct. 8.—Father Alfani, director of the Florence observatory, said today he thought that the invention of the priest Domenico Argentieri, of a system to receive wireless messages without the use of poles or batteries was scientifically sound.

He related that after the declaration of war the Italian government forced all private wireless stations, including that of the Florence observatory, to discontinue. The next day Father Alfani obtained from Argentier copies of official wireless messages which the priest had been able to intercept without a wireless installation. There were many ways to do this. Father Alfani explained. One of the most simple made use of the very elemental expedient of sticking two steel needles into a potato.

Pastor Confesses To Hold-Up Story

Told a Sensational $4,500 Yarn to Escape Difficulties at Home

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 9.—Special.—Rev. Isaac Wilson, pastor of Marble Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church Milan, Mich., who Wednesday night staggered out of an alley at the rear of the Grand Trunk depot with his throat cut and bumps on his head, which he claimed he had received at the hands of footbads who stole $4,500 cash from him, today confessed to detectives that he concocted the yarn to save himself from difficulties at home.

His story was that he received $4,500 in a real estate transaction from a George Comstock, who could not be located either in London or Windsor, where he was supposed to have had offices. Detectives Egelton and Down have his signed confession that he was in debt at home, and that he came here to pull the turn that was to have explained away how he last the money he promised his creditors.

Last week he came to this city and obtained four blank Dominion Bank cheques. He made these out to himself and signed them George Comstock. These he showed the folks at home, and declared he was coming to London to cash them. To finish the transaction he jabbed himself in the throat with a penknife. bumped his head against the alley wall, half-swallowed his handkerchief and wailed that his roll was gone.

MILITARY TRAINING FOR STUDENTS URGED

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The gaining of efficiency in military training by undergrads before admission is a recommendation which will be brought before the Senate of Cambridge University by the Council. The proposal was originally made some months ago, in a memorial requesting the authorities of the university to act in common with other universities of the Empire. This proposal seemed to find favor with Principal Peterson, of McGill, in a recent interwiew with a press representative in the corridors of the War Office.

The readmission of Germans at University College, London, was a topic discussed at the general assembly of the staff and students. Provost Gregory Foster said that some German students had signified their intention of being applicants for readmission.

ONTARIO'S PREMIER

Above all, he (Hon. W. H. Hearst) is a man against whom the breath of suspicion has never been directed—a clean, honest, God-fearing gentlemah who conceives his duty to the public to be one of service and not of self-advancement, financially or otherwise. In his several years of office not only has he kept his hands clean, his record untarnished and his character unblemished, but he has earned for himself a worthy reputation as a fearless advocate of the best interests of the public and as a careful, conscientious, progressive executive and administrator—Kingston Standard.

French Soldiers Captured Grass

Each Bundle Had a German Soldier Inside of it, However

PARIS, Oct. 8.—There are some amusing stories being told of the ways in which German soldiers have been captured. In one case a patrol of French troops entered the village of Nanteuil, from which the Germans had retired, heard a mysterious noise coming from the cellar of a villa. With their rifles ready to fire they went down the steps and opened the door. There, all snoring loudly, were seventeen Bavarian infantrymen and a colonel, who had turned into the wine cellar to try the vintages laid down there.

The colonel had even placed himself flat on his back, with his mouth open under the spigot of a cask, from which the claret dripped slowly between his lips. It was impossible to wake the Germans from their drunken slumbers and they did not regain consciousness until they were in a train, disarmed and under arrest, on the way to the south of France.

During the fighting around Meaux a sergeant who was changing the guard on the outskirts of the French bivouac found one of his sentries almost petrified by fright. The man pointed to a field of lucerne in which the crop had already been cut and was lying in heaps. "These heaps, sergeant," he said, "I swear they are moving by themselves." The sergeant watched them for a moment anc saw, too, that the heaps were gradually moving over the ground.

Calling to the rest of the guard to follow him he ran towards the nearest of the uncanny piles of grass. Before he reached it, however, there rose out of its midst, a German soldier with arms outstreched who made signals of surrender. The sergeant arrested him and told his men to fire into some of the heaps around. They had only fired one shot when five more Germans sprang up from the lucerne and threw down their rifles. They were stragglers from the army who had tried by surrounding themselves with bundles of grass to creep away from the French lines unobserved.

FERRY LAUNCHED AT NEWCASTLE

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Special—The ice-breaking ferry steamer, especially built by the Armstrong, Whitworth company, to the order of the Canadian Government, for the purpose of more efficiently linking up the province of Prince Edward Island with the New Brunswick mainland, was launched this week at Newcastle-on-Tyne. The ferry steamer was christened, "Prince Edward Island," by Mrs. G. H. Perley, wife of the acting high commissioner. The vessel, which will carry complete railway trains, both passenger and freight, is comparatively small, but is fitted with propelling machinery of considerable power, having three sets of triple expansion engines, two aft and one forward. At the christening were present Earl Grey and Hin. George H. and Mrs. Peerley. The later, in the christening ceremony, expressed her pride in belonging to a Dominion which is giving such material and moral support to Britain as Canada is doing during the present crisis. Earl Grey said that he had always been interested in the question of ferries for the St. Lawrence and he was glad to congratulate the Armstrong company on attaining the seemingly impossible for Northumberland and Strait.

FRANCE READY WITH WELCOME

PARIS, Oct. 9.—Special—France is preparing an enthusiastic welcome to the Canadian troops. Nothing pleased the French people more than the decision to call Canadian troops to the support of the allies. One who recently arrived from Canada and has seen these men speaks highly of their soldierly appearance.

ANTWERP MUST BE TAKEN TO SAVE TEUTONIC RACE

LONDON, Oct. 8.—All eyes today are turned on the devoted City of Antwerp, the fate of which is regarded here from the standpoint of importance as out of all proportion to the numbers of men engaged in its attack and defence.

Germany must not only have Antwerp to keep an open door into France it is argued here, but she must be prepared to close the back door to Essen a most important German military centre in case the long and stubborn resistance of General Von Kluck, the commander of the German right wing, ends in disaster.

LITERARY NOTES.

OCTOBER CANADA MONTHLY

CANADA MONTHLY is advertising itself widely as "The Magazine That Goes with the Contingent," and the October number consequently is devoted principally to the war.

How the Valcartier camp looks to the men who are learning to march and shoot and harden their feet is told by a member of the Queen's Own Rifles. Madge Macbeth describes the breathless rush of events in the office of the Minister of Militia at Ottawa. Irene Wrenshall in "The Red Badge of Courage, and Captain Robert Foran tell some interesting personal reminiscences of General Sir John French, the hero of the Expeditionary Force. Earl Kitchener also comes in for a biography. And "Kit" devotes practically all the Pedlar's Pack to war experiences.

A new mystery serial, "The Mystery of the Jade Ear-ring," begins in this issue. "Everybody, deep down in their hearts, believes in ghosts," says the doctor, and there is no other than the ghostly explanation of the story, unless a dual personality is more credible.

Betty D. Thornley in "Washing Behind Toronto's Ears" gives a spicy account of the Health Department's activities in the Queen City. Mary Leslie in "The Wallflower" tells the story of Little Cicely and her two lovers, and Rupert Hughes in "Wild Wells" puts a spirited picture of the oil business before the reader. M. Eugenie Perry in "The Corporal and the Girl," tells a story of Frontier, Alberta," anc swift adventure in the dark. There are other articles and fiction.

IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

Condensed News Items For Busy Readers.

PATRIOTIC ENTERTAINMENT

At Melrose to-night a patriotic entertainment will be held, and those taking part will include Col. Ponton, Mr. J. Elliott and Mr. H. F. Ketcheson of this city.

SENT TO JAIL

John Connors on a charge of drunkennes was this morning by Magistrate Masson sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs or 30 days in jail. Not having the funds he was sent to jail.

DISCARDED HIS UNIFORM

Mr. W. P. Meyers, who resides near Madoc Village, last evening brought to the police station here a canvas bag which contained a tunic and a pair of trousers, evidently belonging to a member of the 34th Battery of this city. The articles were found under a bridge near the Village of Madoc which spans Hog Lake. It is surmised the outfit was discarded by a party who had joined the battery.

CHARGED WITH TRESPASS

John Doody, a young man, who claims the United States as his home, was arrested last night at the G. T. R. station here, on a charge of trespass. The accused was this morning brought up before Magistrate Masson and was found guilty. A fine of $20 and costs, or 2 months in jail was imposed. Not being able to pay the fine Doody was committed to jail.

ONLY A SCARE

The police were last night called to Warham street, where it was alleged some parties were endeavoring to effect an entrance into a residence. It proved to be that a party who was under the influence of liquor had wandered near the house and lain down to rest, and was talking to himself, which led the inmates of the premises to believe that some one was attempting to affect an entrance. The clearing up of the affair was a relief to the inmates of the house.

FOR DESTITUTE BELGIUM

The Intelligencer is requested to state that the movement re the contributions for "Destitute and Suffering Belgians," an aricle on which appeared in this paper on Wednesday, is under the auspices of Quinte Chapter Imperial Daughters of the Empire, and articles or money donated will be with that understanding. Contributions will be received by Mrs. P. J. M. Anderson, 64 Queen street, and should be made on or before October 21st.

Patriotic Concert At the Palace

The Palace Theatre was well filled last evening with an appreciative audience desirous of contributing to the Patriotic Fund. His Worship Mayor Wills presided, and addressed those present upon the conditions of the hour, speaking hopefully of the determination of the Motherland, and royal manner in which Canada had responded to the call. He asked all to stand by the colors of the Empire, doing their duty in whatever capacity demanded. Pleasing selections were rendered by Mrs A. P. Allen, Mr. W. H. Wrightmeyer, Mr. Fred Burke and Mr. Ernest Mouck, Miss Edna Wallace presiding at the piano, which, with a liberal series of moving pictures, made up an exceedingly pleasant evening. The receipts will be turned over to the fund.

INTERCOLONIAL WILL HANDLE EMPIRE FUND

MONCTON, N.B., Oct. 8—Special—Premier J. A. Mathieson, has called upon Mr. C. A. Hayes, General Traffic Manager of the Intercolonial Railway, regarding the handling of Prince Edward Island's donation of 100,000 bushels of oats to the Imperial Government. Premier Mathieson requested that some one be empowered on the Island to look after the handling of the contribution and his request was granted; the representative of the Intercolonial Railway in Charlottetown being empowered to perfect all the necessary arrangements.

SAYS KING BLASPHEMED

German Newspaper Wildly Raves at Speech from Throne

LONDON, Oct. 8.—A copy of the Pan-German organ, Deutsche Tages-Zeitung, received here, refers to the Speech from the Throne on the occasion of the prorogation of the British Parliament on September 18. It declares that, without exaggeration, almost every word of the speech can be designated as a deliberate untruth, and says:

"When, finally, the King of England says, 'And I pray that Almighty God may give us His blessing,' this is such repulsive blasphemy that King George can boast of having outdone the traditions of his predecessors on the English throne."

Religious hypocrisy, the paper continues, is unusual in a King of England, and the King is a mere puppet in the hands of his ministers. All this, however, it declares, is no excuse for such blasphemous hypocrisy as the prayer in the Speech from the Throne.

NO OFFICIAL KNOWLEDGE

All Enquiries Regarding Canadian Troops Met With "No Knowledge" by English Officials

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The announcement in London press that the first Canadian contingent was landing yesterday was disowned in all the official quarters. One result of the report was that the High Commissioner's office was deluged by personal and telephone enquiries, but the invariable reply was, "No knewledge," even to one fair caller, who tearfully begged for news.

Major-General Alderson and Colonel Carson were down at Salisbury yesterday to inspect the arrangements, which they report as most satisfactory, the accommodation being much better than that enjoyed by the territorials in many centres. The territorials are sleeping on the ground with blankets, whereas the Canadian tents have wooden floors. No appointment has been made of a chief of staff, in which capacity Colonel Carson is temporarily acting. Hon. G. H. Perley is expected to acompany the officers who will meet the forces on their landing.

BATTLE FRONT CHANGES

Von Kluk Still Resisting Attempt to Outflank Him.

German Right Wing Has Been Forced Back at Right Angles to Centre and Left and If Allies Get Around Flank German Army Is Lost—Invaders In Desperate Need of Antwerp as End of New Defence.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—It is impossible, in view of the latest official statements, to resist the conclusion that the great battle between the Germans and the allies has entered a new phase of far-reaching importance.

The steady extension of operations on the allies' left is having the effect of transforming into a fresh battle front the long line having its southernmost point in the neighborhood of Roye and its northernmost extremity close to the Belgian frontier, on a line which, prolonged, would reach the sea near Ostend.

The importance of this change is enhanced by the allies' recovery of the German lost ground in the region of Roye. While it would be premature to say that this success has detached the operations on the former front from those wherein the chief interest now lies, the tendency is undoubtedly in that direction.

French military experts regard the presence of such considerable forces of the enemy in the north as a mystery. None of the hypotheses yet advanced regarding them are satisfactory. It is possible that they are supplementary troops that have been drawn from the forces around Antwerp. Such a move would point directly to the Germans' recognition of their precarious position in France.

On the other hand, a further movement of troops from the centre may have taken place; but this, seeing that the centre already has been weakened to strengthen the forces of Gen. Von Kluk, would expose the troops on the new front to fresh risks.

If the German troops in the north are largely new formations, as has been suggested, their resistance to the allies is unlikely to be serious. The general impression is one of continued and increased confidence.

One writer says: "To-mororw the battle will be in Belgium." However, this is not an exaggeration. The view taken by optimists is that the position of the right wing certainly remains satisfactory.

Interesting details concerning the slow but steady advance in Lorraine makes it clear that this movement has produced valuable results by clearing the Nancy district of the enemy.

The official communication issued by the French War Office last night says: "On the whole, the situation is stationary, the positions occupied remaining the same, notwithstanding several violent engagements, notably in the region of Roye."

In spite of the gravity attached to the situation at Antwerp, military authorities assert that the vigor of the German attack indicates an inherent weakness of the German position in the west as a whole. With Antwerp in their hands they would be enabled to prepare a new line of defence resting on Antwerp and Brussels and extending east by way of Namur to Metz. This would give them an excellent and not overly extended lines of defence on which to make another stand.

Operations on the German right and the allies' left are becoming more crucial every moment, and, just as Antwerp's fall seems inevitable, the turning operation against Von Kluk is trembling on the point of fruition. Both armies are engaged in a breakneck race in the French departments of the Nord and Pas de Calais, with the cavalry screen thrown almost at the North Sea. Infantry and artillery have been relegated to the rear, while the mounted forces charge each othed incessantly, each endeavoring to drive further north. Both forces are now well into Belgian territory, with the allies holding the most favorable ground. French cavalry is reported at Ypres, a bare 25 miles from Ostend, the new temporary capital of Belgium. To understand the manoeuvres now under way, it must be remembered that at the beginning of fighting on the River Aisne the opposing armies stood on almost parallel straight lines. To-day the German right is perpendicular to the centre, and left, with an unceasing operation under way by the allies to get around the tip of Von Kluk's line. If this movement is effected he must double back on the German centre or fight his way through the enveloping columns. Both eventualities are extremely hazardous, and, according to all standards of warfare, he is a loser.

It is whispered in the highest circles that Von Kluk himself realized the gravity of his danger at least two weeks ago. Then he pleaded with the Kaiser to be allowed to fall back on the Valenciennes line, but the German war lord absolutely forbade another retreat. Von Kluk is said to have pointed out the possibility of annihilation if the Aisne line were maintained, but no counsel prevails with the Kaiser except that Von Kluk should advance or stand firm.

All along the main line of operations great conflicts are raging. Lille is suffering under a disastrous fire from German field pieces, and yesterday Roye was again the centre of surging forces.

The centres of both armies remain quiet, with the French winning steadily in the Woevre region. The Lorraine situation continues in status quo.

Must Preach Charity.

ROME, Oct. 9. — In an editorial The Observatore Romano reiterates that absolute neutrality of the Holy See and warns Roman Catholics, especially priests, to advocate peace and to preach charity instead of contempt and hatred of enemies, thus interpreting the wishes of the Pope.

If we could only borrow money on our good intentions, "poverty" would soon be an obselete word.

To Keep Our Workers Busy

For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.

Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning

We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in non-employment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.

GERHARD HEINTZMAN PIANOS

You Reap the Advantage

Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

Children Enjoy The Illustrations

BUT THESE ARE OF UNUSUAL INTEREST TO ALL READERS, BOTH YOUNG AND OLD.

Nothing will interest a child so quickly as a picture. Art speaks a universal language intelligible to young and old alike, and with no embarassment of moods and tenses. Accurate pictures intelligently conceived and artistically executed, appeal to the intellect through the "windows of the soul," whose portals let in a flood of light alike to the illiterate and the learned—to the child mind no less than to the student of ripe learning. For this reason the New Illustrated Bible which The Intelligencer is offering to its readers will be appreciated by every family in Belleville.

One need not be a member of a religious organization to appreciate this magnificent illustrated work. Everybody who reads needs it; everybody that has occasion to carry on conversation needs it; everybody can use it as an everyday reference work—a historical treatise—a key to familiar quotations. It is an educational volume for progressive people of the present day and age.

This new $5 illustrated Bible is beautifully illustrated, and every picture bears directly upon the accompanying subject, describing that particular subject as words fail to do. Such splendid illustrations appear in no other work. They were specially prepared for this Bible, and the drawings alone cost $500,000—a veritable art gallery of rare educational value to everybody.

For a short time The Intelligencer will present this Bible on the popular educational plan for six certificates of consecutive dates, together with the stated amount that covers the necessary expense items of this wonderful distribution, including clerk hire, cost of packing checking expense from factory, etc.

School Teachers At Home To Guests

An Interesting Programme Provided by Entertainers--Talk by Col. Ponton of Especial Profit

At the High School assembly room last evening, an at home was held. The affair was in connection with the South Hastings Teachers' Convention, which is being held here.

There were a large number present and the programme which was provided was all that could have been desired.

Principal Mott, of Queen Alexandra School, who is the presiding officer of the South Hastings Teachers' Association, occupied the chair and filled that position in a most acceptable manner. In opening the proceedings Mr. Mott extended a hearty welcome to all present, and expressed the pleasure it was to see so many in attendance. He referred briefly to the Teachers' Association and the benefits to be derived by the holding of the convention.

Mrs. A. P. Allen was called upon and gave a solo in her usual sweet and effective manner. She rendered the popular patriotic song "The Sailor King," and also "It's a Long Way to Tipperrary," to which she was compelled to respond.

Miss H. Ketcheson rendered two selections in a manner that demonstrated her abiltiy as a reciter. In both selections she not only received a cordial welcome but was compelled to respond to an encore.

Col. Ponton, chairman of the Board of Education, gave an illustrated talk and it was certainly all that could have been expected. Views of Canada, certain portions of the Republic to the South, New Zealand, Australia, and the Mother Country were shown upon a screen, and were explicitly explained by the Colonel, as only he is able to explain them. This feature of the evening's entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. At the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Col. Ponton for his interesting and instructive picturesque trip through Canada and other countries. Refreshments were served by the local teachers.

March on Front Street Attracts Much Attention--Kilties Band Renders Inspiring Music

The Home Guard Reserve parade last night showed at once the enthusiasim which pervades the members. The kindness of Pipe Major Johnstone and the pipe band in turning out with The Reserve contributed in making the march-out the great success which it was. Colonel Lazier, Colonel Stewart and sixty or seventy members were present and enjoyed the march-out and the drill afterwards in the Armouries. Many compliments were paid last evening to Reserve, which we think were most the steadiness in the march, and the splendid form of the Home Guard deserving.

Thoughts are Sparks

—flashes of the mind that decide for success or failure.

The question is, what kind of sparks, does your brain generate?

The brain, like a battery, must be supplied with certain elements to generate thought properly. These brain elements are water, albumen and phosphate of potash. If any of these are lacking in the daily food, brain and body energy are vitally lessened.

Are any lacking? Listen! Water and albumen are plentifully supplied in ordinary food, but phosphate of potash—together with other mineral elements—is almost wholly lacking in white bread and all white flower products.

Grape - Nuts

—containing all the nutriment of wheat and barley, including the precious phosphates so essential to perfect bodies and active brains, provides a food at once delicious, nourishing and economical.

A morning dish with cream furnishes POWER for accomplishment that many a man has come to appreciate.

Common sense goes a long way toward success. To eat right often means to BE right.

SECOND EXPEDITIONARY FORCE TO BE MOBILIZED

The determination of the Government to stand shoulder to shoulder with Great Britain until the war ends is proven by an announcement which Sir Robert Borden has made that a second expeditionary force will be mobilized at once. Other reinforcements for Canadian troops at the front will be organized from time to time as conditions warrant or call for.

Sir Robert's statement was as follows:—

According to the reports of the Chief Embarkation Officer, the total force embarked at Quebec amounted to nearly 33,000 men, besides 7,000 horses and a proper complement of guns and vehicles with full equipment for men and horses. The transportation of this force required no less than thirty-one large steamships.

It is probable that upon arrival in England the force will be organized as follows:—

|---|---|
| Field troops, including a first reinforcement of ten per cent. | 26,400 |
| Line of communication troops | 2,100 |
| Total force at the front | 28,500 |

This will leave about 4,500 men for training in Great Britain, who will constitute a reinforcement of nearly twenty per cent. for the men at the front.

The Government proposes forthwith to organize and train a second expeditionary force of twenty thousand men, with first reinforcement of ten per cent., making 22,000 in all. This force will be organized as expeditiously as possible, and the arrangements for providing the necessary arms, ammunition and equipment are already in progress. The force at the front will, in this way, be brought up to more than fifty thousand men.

The Government are also making preparations to organize and train necessary further reinforcements for both the first and second expeditionary forces. The arrangements for organizing and training such reinforcements will be announced at a later date.

A PLAN TO RESTORE CANADIAN PROSPERITY

From the Port Arthur Chronicle we learn that the Board of Trade of Port Arthur intends placing before the other Canadian Boards of Trade a plan it is asking the Dominion Government to enter upon to increase the agricultural production of Canada. This plan is to empower the loan of at least $50,000,000 to the township municipalities in Canada on their municipal debentures for five years with interest at five per cent., repayable annually, on condition that such municipalities lend such money to ratepayers to be expended in clearing and bringing additional land under cultivation; the loan to be a first lien against said land by being a tax against it similar to the drainage tax; the advance to any farmer not to exceed $1,000 and to be made to the respective municipalities as the improvements are made.

This scheme is a truly statesmanlike one, and there should be no hesitation whatever in joining our Port Arthur contemporary in earnestly recommending it to the consideration alike of those practical business men who constitute our Boards of Trade and of the politicians who represent us in Parliament. Everybody is wondering how the war will eventually affect Canada. In regard to many schemes of development it is difficult to foresee the outcome. But the future in regard to the industry of agriculture is plain for all to see. The war will cause an enormous shortage in the wheat crops of Europe and of the great Russian Empire. That shortage will cause a great increase in the demand for foodstuffs and an increase also in the price of them.

Canada has the land to produce a far bigger crop of wheat than she does now. She has also the men. What is lacking is the capital to finance the ploughing and cropping of large added areas. Given assistance in this direction, the wheat crop of Canada could easily be increased 50 or even 100 per cent. If we prepare now for such a big crop, next year by far the largest amount of gold that has ever come to Canada will flow into this country — and it will flow here not in the form of loans, but as payment for products. Nobody need be told what a stimulating effect this would have on every town of business activity.

The scheme of assistance proposed by the Port Arthur Board of Trade would not be in the nature of an experiment. The Argentine Republic has loaned $50,000,000 in this way; Australia has loaned over $80,000,000, and New Zealand, beginning with $10,000,000, found the plan so good that it has steadily extended the plan until it has now loaned $65,000,000. Both Australia and the Argentine, the latter country especially, give credit to these loans for a great increase in the number of industrious farmers settling upon the land with consequent prosperity to the country as a whole. Upon a very much larger scale the same general scheme has been worked out by the British Government in Ireland where $330,000,000 has been loaned to the tenant farmers with which to buy and improve their holdings. Canada has a plain duty to herself and to the Empire in this matter.

TRIBUTE TO DR. CARMAN

Before the closing of the General Conference of the Methodist body in Ottawa, a resolution relating to the venerable Superintendent Emeritus contained strong expressions of commendation for his long life of usefulness, of stainless purity, for his superb chairmanship in Pulpit and Conference, and for his intimate intercourse with his people from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

"As General Superintendent Emeritus," the resolution read, "We trust that he will be long spared to promote in various ways the interests of the Church he loves. And it shall be our prayer when the shadows lengthen that the Christ whom he loves and serves will give him light, inspiration, joy and eternal felicity."

The Conference also asked that its Christian greetings be conveyed to Mrs. Carman.

The resolution was moved by W. H. Heartz, and seconded by George Bell.

"No man in this country has experienced such kindness from the people," said Dr. Carman, deeply moved, "such intelligent sympathy from the people as I have. I prize highly the allusion to that faithful woman who has stood by me through trials that have been hard to bear at times. What can I do? What can I say? I must look around and see what can be done for the Church of God. The Church must be strong and faithful."

HEALTH GOOD, BUT SALARY LOW

E. A. Lancaster, M.P., desires it expressly understood that he is not retiring from public life, making a Conservative convention necessary on November 28th, on account of ill-health, but because of insufficiency of sessional indemnity to reimburse a man who devotes the entire time of several of his best years to his country as he has done to the neglect of his own personal business.—Mail and Empire.

Mr. Lancaster has the reputation of being one of the most attentive to his duties in parliament, and worker in the house and on committees. No doubt the same attention and labour given to his profession as a lawyer would quadruple his sessional indemnity; there are scores of others, however, who have not the reputation of earning what they do get. Could not some genius suggest a scheme to pay in proportion to the work done?

THE DOMINION CABINET

Now that the first Canadian contingent has left Canada and the mobilization of a second division arranged for, it is probable that there will be a considerable relaxation of administrative work in the departments chiefly affected by the outbreak of the war.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN

who has given his personal attention to all preparations for Canada's participation in the Empire's defence, as well as to other questions arising out of the war, will likely take a brief holiday within the next fortnight. He has got through an enormous amount of work during the last five or six weeks.

COL. HUGHES

left yesterday afternoon for New York, and sails for England today. He goes for a rest, and will probably spend a week or ten days in the Old Country, visiting the training camp of the Canadian expeditionary force.

HON. FRANK COCHRANE

left last night for Quebec for his inspection of the National Transcontinental line from Quebec west to Superior Junction. The line is now completed, and will be ready for operation by November. It is doubtful, however, whether the final arrangements for the taking over of the line by the Grand Trunk Pacific under the contract will be completed till the spring. The Minister intends returning over the new line of the Canadian Northern.

CURRENT COMMENT

Montreal Mail: "Perhaps the most interesting 'turning movement' is the one Bismarck has been carrying on—in his grave—ever since the Kaiser jumped into this war."

Montreal Mail: "A crowd of lunatics were given a dinner by the State of Illinois as an experiment. No doubt, the after-dinner speeches were well up to the average."

The newspapers print an open letter sent by the Freemasons of Italy, inviting their colleagues in Spain to start a campaign in favor of France. Although the Freemasons in Spain do not form a strong organization, the appeal will be accepted by the progressive element.

Hamilton Herald: "Japan hastened to explain that her warlike operations would be confined to the neighborhood of the China Sea. But she has already taken the capital of the Marshall Islands and now it is reported that Japanese troops have landed in the chief island of the Caroline group. Japan seems willing to work overtime in this war."

London Free Press: "The new Ontario Premier has youth on his side. Our public men are young at fifty-one. Mr. Hearst is the youngest member of the Ontario Government, save Hon. I. B. Lucas, who is forty-seven, and Hon. Finlay Macdiarmid, who is forty-five. The ages of other members of the Government are as follows: Hon. J. J. Foy, sixty-seven; Hon. A. R. Pyne, fifty-nine; Hon. W. J. Hanna, fifty-four; Hon. J. S. Duff, fifty-eight; Hon. R. F. Preston, fifty-four.

War Notes

London Express: "India may be assured that Great Britain will never forget. The ambition of British rule in India has always been to secure the well-being of its people. There have been blunders and there have been misunderstandings, but India has shown us that, with the fine instinct of a highly intelligent and highly civilized race, she appreciates the good intentions and that, with an equally fine chivalry, she forgets the blunders. Now we stand together for all time, two races made as one by loyalty to the same Throne and to the same ideals of progress and honor."

London Chronicle: "You cannot transport cathedrals, and if you could, one cathedral would not replace another. But there are works of art which are movable, and Germany possesses notable collections of them, mostly not by German artists. It has for some time been clear that if the Allies dictate peace, some substantial toll of these must be taken for Belgium; it is now impossible to dispute that France also has claims."

The London Daily Mail correspondent in France gives a new version of the reason for the German retreat from Paris. He says that the moment Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, decided to arrest his retreat and face the Germans on the Marne, the French General, Foch, who was retiring south of Chalons, discovered by an aeroplane reconnaissance that two German armies had failed to make a junction and had left a considerable gap in the neighborhood of Vitry-le-Francois. Gen. Foch thrust a large wedge of men supported by strong artillery into this gap and had them well established before the Germans discovered their oversight, with the result that there was a German panic and retreat, in which the Germans suffered very heavily.

Weak Heart

Many people suffer from weak hearts. They may experience shortness of breath on exertion, pain over the heart, or dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals or their eyes become blurred, the heart is not sufficiently strong to pump blood to the extremities, and they have cold hands and feet, or poor appetite because of weakened blood supply to the stomach. A heart tonic and alterative should be taken which has no bad after-effect. Such is which contains no dangerous narcotics or alcohol.

It helps the human system in the constant manufacture of rich, red blood. It helps the stomach to assimilate or take up the proper elements from the food, thereby helping digestion and curing dyspepsia, heart-burn and many uncomfortable symptoms, stops excessive tissue waste in convalescence from fevers; for the run-down, anæmic, thin-blooded people, the "Discovery" is refreshing and vitalizing.

Great Event in Methodism

New Wesleyan Theological College Opened in Montreal Before Dignitaries of the Church

One of the greatest events in the history of Methodism in the Province of Quebec was celebrated Saturday night when a gathering of the prominent Methodist ministers and laymen of Montreal district, and some of the principal heads of the church in Canada as well as representatives of the sister colleges in Montreal assisted Principal Smyth, the staff, and students and the Board of Governors of the new Wesleyan Theological College in opening in an adequate manner the splendid new building which has been provided through the liberality of Methodists for the teaching of those who will be their religious leaders in days to come.

Before the meeting in the fine new hall with its draped flags over the small platform, and the pictures of early principals, Rev. Dr. G. Douglas, 1873 to 1894, and Rev. Dr. W. I. Shaw, principal 1894 to 1911, and professor since 1874, Rev. Principal Smyth with members of the Board of Governors and their wives received the large and representative gathering of guests. As each in turn received a genial and wholehearted welcome, enthusiastic students took the visitors on a tour of the college so that they could see for themselves the new hpme. From the gymnasium and the baths in the basement to the students' rooms in the second, third and fourth stories, everything was planned on the amplest scale to meet not only the needs of the present, but the expanding calls that the future will make upon this college for generations.

MR. McCONNELL OPENS

At nine o'clock all the guests gathered in the large hall to the left of the entrance, where Principal Smyth took the post of honor as chairman, introducing each speaker with a few words relative to the part he had played in helping on the new college. The college was formally opened by an address, delivered by Mr. J. W. McConnell, who referred to the courage, determination and perseverance of the Methodists in Montreal district which had brought through the great project of a new college suitable for modern needs against the misgivings, doubt and little faith of very many who did not think it possible. Chief amongst the factors contributing to this great result he placed the indomitable perseverance of Rev. Principal Smyth. He defended the building committee against the charges of extravagance brought by those who had thought the quality, appearance and comfort provided, greater than was warranted. The building was certainly second to none in the Dominion in these respects, but, in providing the quality they had, the object had been as well to secure a low cost of maintenance for the building. The manner of construction was such that the insurance rates would be very low and the cost of general upkeep be reduced to a minimum.

PRAISES PRINCIPAL SMYTH

As did every succeeding speaker Mr. McConnell paid a high tribute to the outstanding ability and Christian character of Rev. Principal Smyth, saying that the Board of Governors were proud to have a man capable of such wholehearted and energetic leadership at the head of the college. The college in the future would turn out thirty graduates a year, and it was hoped that under such leadership and in such a building every decade would see added to their ministry three hundred Christian cultured gentlemen.

Mr. G. F. Johnston, representing the Board of Governors, after thanking those who had come to help in the opening, gave a short history of the college under such men as Douglas, Shaw, Findlay and Ferrier, finishing with a strong eulogy of Dr. Smyth's work.

BOTH PREACHER AND TEACHER

Speaking of the educational ideals for which the college stands, Mr. Johnston said:—"I think I am safe in saying that the Governors are in sympathy with a ministerial education of the broadest type consistent with the conservation of the great fundamental truths upon which our religion is founded. Our aim will be to turn out men who will appeal to the head as well as to the heart, men who will be something more than mere pulpit orators, who will not only be preachers, but teachers.

"We trust we shall turn out men with a passion for righteousness, flaming evangelists, but we desire also that their evangelism shall be founded on knowledge—that their religion shall be the religion of sound mind and properly trained powers.

"This is the principle behind our work here and I am persuaded it is endorsed not only by our ministry generally, but by our Educational Society. We stand for the welding together into one harmonious whole the two greatest factors in Empire building, religion and education. If we can [illegible] right lines and achieve the most beneficial and permanent results."

NATIONALIZING CHRISTIANITY.

Mr. W. M. Birks, chairman of the joint board of governors, brought fraternal greetings and sincere good wishes from that body, expressing his gratification that such an institution had been added to those in Montreal for fearlessly seeking after the truth, and mediating between modern thought and the old gospel of the cross of Jesus Christ.

VON KLUK MAKES GAIN

German Wing Administers Temporary Check to Allies.

French War Office Says Left Wing of Allies Has Been Obliged to Cede Ground at Certain Points But Does Not Divulge Place—Confidence of Victory Is Expressed by Experts In London.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Gen. Von Kluk has at last delivered a successful attack, and the German right wing yesterday gained ground. The points lost by the allies are not known, but it is believed that the principal assault took place in the region between Roye and Arras, where both sides are reported to have massed great bodies of troops in the past few days.

The French official statement yesterday afternoon acknowledged a temporary check on the left wing of the allies. It is worded as follows:

"On the left wing, to the north of the Oise, the battle continues with great violence. The result remains indecisive. We have been obliged, at certain points, to cede ground.

"Along the remainder of the front there has been no change.

"In Russia, after a battle which lasted ten days, the German army which was operating along the eastern Prussian front and the Niemen river has been driven along the entire line and made its retreat, abandoning a considerable quantity of war material.

"This army has evacuated completely the territory of the Russian provinces of Suwalki and Lonja."

This change in the situation comes after several days of desperate fighting on the part of the allies, endeavoring to pierce the line of German communications and complete the enveloping movement begun on the Marne. This line centres at Aix-la-Chapelle and Cologne, extending northeast from Compeigne through Tergnier, St. Quintin, Maubouge, Liege, and thence to the two first-named points. The allies have taken and held a railway line running from Amiens to Arras, where it diverges east and cut into the territory held by the Germans. This line has proved of immense value in bringing troops to vital points.

The town of Douai reappears constantly in reports from the front. It is said that heavy reinforcements have been rushed to that town, and that the fighting in the vicinity is of the most sanguinary character. Douai is situated 15 miles northeast of Arras, midway between that town and Valenciennes, on the railroad route to Mons. This indicates a progressive advance north. The allies are in touch with Belgian troops in the southwestern section of that country, and by means of a branch road, which runs from Arras via Douai and thence to Lille, Courtrai and Ghent, will be able to push ahead.

The opinion is held that a severe blow to the German lines of communication would completely tie up the German defensive. For this reason Von Boehm and Von Kluk are making superhuman efforts to turn back their enemies, which they have done with some success. Until the points lost are made public, no conclusion can be given as to the true situation.

Both in London and in Paris there is the greatest confidence, although some surprise is displayed at the success of the Germans in preventing the outflanking movement. There is a feeling, however, that the Germans cannot extend their line much further north without weakening it at some point.

Naturally progress by either side must be extremely slow, for after every advance, no matter how slight, the troops making it must entrench themselves for protection against the shells from the enemy's guns posted in strong positions from one end of the line to the other.

The Daily Mail's correspondent in France reports fighting in and around Douai, and considers that if the French have reached Douai in force that the situation of the German general, Von Kluk, must be desperate.

"Gen. Von Kluk," the correspondent says, "has had all the reinforcements which could be spared him and yet finds himself outnumbered at every point. There are many indications from German prisoners, from French officers and from members of the British transport service, the combined testimony of whom it is difficult to disbelieve, that the German army is becoming demoralized.

"The timidity of the German outposts, who surrender when surprised is strong evidence of their demoralization."

CANAL GUARD KILLED

St Catharines Youth Shot by Fellow Soldier After Dispute.

Theodore Burgoyne, a Bank Clerk, Is Dead and Frank Hartley, an American who Claimed British Birth, Is Charged With Murder—Foreigners In Toronto Dead After Debauch—Young Farmer Slain.

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 8.—Pte. Theodore Burgoyne of the 19th Regiment was shot dead while on guard duty on the Welland Canal last night, in full view of several comrades, by a fellow-member, of the same detail, known as Pte. Frank Hartley, aged 25 years, who was immediately placed under arrest, brought to this city and lodged in the police station on a charge of murder.

The victim is a son of the late E. W. Burgoyne, and a nephew of Ald. Burgoyne, proprietor of The Daily Standard. In private life he was a clerk in the St. Catharines branch of the Bank of Toronto, 19 years of age, and a great favorite. Of Hartley little is known. He joined the regiment a few weeks ago, since the guard had been placed upon the canal, and as far as can be learned, has no relatives here. He came to St. Catharines from some place in the United States and gave his birthplace as England.

The tragedy took place just outside the lock shanty at lock 9, near Merritton, neither of the men being on sentry-go at the time. An altercation over some trivial matter took place between Burgoyne and Hartley, according to other members of the guard who were close at hand, but very few words of the discussion appear to have been heard. All however agree that with an imprecation, and with no visible provocation, Hartley raised his rifle, pointed it hurriedly at Burgoyne's face, and discharged it before Burgoyne, who was standing just a few feet away, could brush the weapon aside, the bullet passing through Burgoyne's eye. The shot was fired at 7.05, and the victim was dead in seven minutes. Four comrades who witnessed the tragedy, surprised and enraged, sprang upon Hartley before he could again use the rifle, wrenched it away from him, bore him to the ground and handled him rather roughly before he was formally arrested.

Island of Yap Taken.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—At the Japanese embassy here yesterday the seizure by the Japanese Pacific squadron of the Island of Yap was said to be only one development in the general plan agreed upon by the British and the Japanese to seize all of the German naval stations in the Pacific. This is regarded as necessary in order to terminate the activities of the German cruisers, which have inflicted serious injury upon British commerce.

Young Man Murdered.

HAMILTON, Oct. 8.—Andrew Richardson, a single man, 31 years of age, who gave up his work on the farm of William Nash in order to come to the city to enlist for the second contingent, died in the central police station about 7.30 o'clock last night as the result of a razor gash on the left side of his throat, said to have been inflicted in the Bethel Mission, a cheap lodging-house across the street from the police station. Thomas Brown, 48 years of age, well known to the police, is held in connection with the crime.

The dead man was a son of Mrs. D. Richardson, 172 Cardigan street, Guelph, and was born there. He bore an excellent reputation.

Outlook Is Not Serious.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech yesterday to a deputation of the workers' national committee, said it was not at all sure that they were not premature in anticipating a very considerable amount of unemployment as the war progressed. The demands on the industries in this country, the Chancellor said, would be enormous, but in the cotton trade the distress undoubtedly would be severe. This was the only trade, he added, which had completely broken down so far.

Sir Alfred Thompson Dead.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Sir Alfred Thompson, formerly of the Dominion Line, is dead at his Belfast home. Sir Alfred had latterly been in private practice at Cape Town and he returned to Britain three months ago to seek medical advice. An operation became necessary and it had a fatal issue.

ZEPPELIN PLANS RAID.

Inventor Busy Preparing For Descent of Fleet on England.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—In a despatch from The Hague the correspondent of The Daily Express says that German newspapers reaching there indicate that Count Zeppelin is now at Wilhelmshaven, on the North Sea, with his staff.

Wilhelmshaven is the point from which the great air raid on the British Isles is to start. One of these papers publishes an interview with the count, in which he is quoted as saying that he had not forgotten England and would prove it very soon.

It is also reported, the correspondent of The Express continues, that Count Zeppelin was summoned recently by Emperor William to Mainz.

The Emperor said to the count that he relied on him for a great work, and offered to make him commander-in-chief of the German air fleet. The count smilingly refused, but said he would accept the title when he returned from England.

"E9" SINKS DESTROYER.

British Submarine Torpedoes One, Possibly Two.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Admiralty announces that the British submarine E9 has returned safely after having torpedoed and sunk a German torpedo-boat destroyer off the estuary of the River Ems, between the Netherlands and East Friesland in the North Sea. An earlier report of the sinking of the destroyer, from Amsterdam, said that the vessel had struck a mine.

The British submarine is commanded by Lieut.-Commander Max K. Horton, and this was her second successful raid in German waters. Earlier she sank the German cruiser Hela in the North Sea.

The action took place at 1 o'clock Tuesday and was witnessed by the Dutch coastguards on the Dutch island Schiermonnikog, in the North Sea, off the province of Friesland.

The weather was clear and the sea calm, and the destroyer could plainly be seen cruising before the mouth of the Ems. Suddenly the observers saw a column of water rise near the bow of the destroyer. The vessel immediately turned over and sank in three minutes.

Shortly after the explosion the periscope of the submarine came above the surface of the water for a moment, but as soon as those on board the plunger saw that their torpedo had struck its mark the vessel was again submerged.

A German cruiser and torpedo boats came quickly to the rescue of the crew of the ill-fated destroyer who could be seen swimming about in the vicinity of the disaster or clinging to the wreckage of their sunken ship. As Schiermonnikog is close to the Island of Borkum, where the Germans have a naval base and within 60 miles of Heligoland and the naval arsenal at Wilhelmshaven, the dash of the submarine is considered here a particularly daring one.

A despatch to the Central News from Harwich, England, says that a rumor is in circulation there of the sinking of a German cruiser in addition to the German torpedo-boat destroyer.

VANDALISM

Germans Sacked Monastry and Stole Holy Virgin.

Despatch to the Lor[illegible]d Standard from Petrograd—The following declaration has been [illegible]e, and sworn to be representative [illegible] the Roman Catholic monastery [illegible] Czenstochowa, Russian Poland [illegible] the head of the Roman Cathol[illegible] Union of Churches.

"After making themselves complete masters of the town, the Germans entered the monastery at Czenstochowa and demanded an exorbitant sum of money from the keeper. On being refused the Germans removed the Holy Virgin, a gold ornament decorated with diamonds, which was prsented to the monastery by the Pope of Rome and also a valuable cross, the gift of Pope Sigismund.

"The day following this outrage a rumor spread among the Poles residing the town that German troops had [illegible] which is regarded as the most precious religious institute in Poland."

"Fearing a repetition of this ungodly act, a few Polish volunteers of Czenstochowa patrolled the monastery the following night and came in conflict with a party of five German soldiers, who were about to break into the holy institution once more. Three ermans were killed outright, and the remainder, reinforced by a contingent of German troops, who immediately came on the scene in respone to the shooting, in vain attempted to retaliate, for the gallant defenders of the faith galloped away on horseback, but the Germans, bent on finding the offenders, scoured the neighborhood and, failing to trace them, instituted a relentless revenge and opened an indiscriminate fire throughout the town, killing a number of innocent persons."

Great Event in Methodism

New Wesleyan Theological College Opened in Montreal Before Dignitaries of the Church

One of the greatest events in the history of Methodism in the Province of Quebec was celebrated Saturday night when a gathering of the prominent Methodist ministers and laymen of Montreal district, and some of the principal heads of the church in Canada as well as representatives of the sister colleges in Montreal assisted Principal Smyth, the staff, and students and the Board of Governors of the new Wesleyan Theological College in opening in an adequate manner the splendid new building which has been provided through the liberality of Methodists for the teaching of those who will be their religious leaders in days to come.

Before the meeting in the fine new hall with its draped flags over the small platform, and the pictures of early principals, Rev. Dr. G. Douglas, 1873 to 1894, and Rev. Dr. W. I. Shaw, principal 1894 to 1911, and professor since 1874, Rev. Principal Smyth with members of the Board of Governors and their wives received the large and representative gathering of guests. As each in turn received a genial and wholehearted welcome, enthusiastic students took the visitors on a tour of the college so that they could see for themselves the new home. From the gymnasium and the baths in the basement to the students' rooms in the second, third and fourth stories, everything was planned on the amplest scale to meet not only the needs of the present, but the expanding calls that the future will make upon this college for generations.

MR. McCONNELL OPENS

At nine o'clock all the guests gathered in the large hall to the left of the entrance, where Principal Smyth took the post of honor as chairman, introducing each speaker with a few words relative to the part he had played in helping on the new college. The college was formally opened by an address delivered by Mr. J. W. McConnell, who referred to the courage, determination and perseverance of the Methodists in Montreal district which had brought through the great project of a new college suitable for modern needs against the misgivings, doubt and little faith of very many who did not think it possible. Chief amongst the factors contributing to this great result he placed the indomitable perseverance of Rev. Principal Smyth. He defended the building committee against the charges of extravagance brought by those who had thought the quality, appearance and comfort provided, greater than was warranted. The building was certainly second to none in the Dominion in these respects, but, in providing the quality they had, the object had been as well to secure a low cost of maintenance for the building. The manner of construction was such that the insurance rates would be very low and the cost of general upkeep be reduced to a minimum.

PRAISES PRINCIPAL SMYTH

As did every succeeding speaker Mr. McConnell paid a high tribute to the outstanding ability and Christian character of Rev. Principal Smyth, saying that the Board of Governors were proud to have a man capable of such wholehearted and energetic leadership at the head of the college. The college in the future would turn out thirty graduates a year, and it was hoped that under such leadership and in such a building every decade would see added to their ministry three hundred Christian cultured gentlemen.

Mr. G. F. Johnston, representing the Board of Governors, after thanking those who had come to help in the opening, gave a short history of the college under such men as Douglas, Shaw, Findlay and Ferrier, finishing with a strong eulogy of Dr. Smyth's work.

BOTH PREACHER AND TEACHER

Speaking of the educational ideals for which the college stands, Mr. Johnston said:—"I think I am safe in saying that the Governors are in sympathy with a ministerial education of the broadest type consistent with the conservation of the great fundamental truths upon which our religion is founded. Our aim will be to turn out men who will appeal to the head as well as to the heart, men who will be something more than mere pulpit orators, who will not only be preachers, but teachers.

"We trust we shall turn out men with a passion for righteousness, flaming evangelists, but we desire also that their evangelism shall be founded on knowledge—that their religion shall be the religion of sound mind and properly trained powers.

"This is the principle behind our work here and I am persuaded it is endorsed not only by our ministry generally, but by our Educational Society. We stand for the welding together into one harmonious whole the two greatest factors in Empire building, religion and education. If we can conserve this harmony, giving no ex-right lines and achieve the most beneficial and permanent results."

NATIONALIZING CHRISTIANITY.

Mr. W. M. Birks, chairman of the joint board of governors, brought fraternal greetings and sincere good wishes from that body, expressing his gratification that such an institution had been added to those in Montreal for fearlessly seeking after the truth, and mediating between modern thought and the old gospel of the cross of Jesus Christ.

VON KLUK MAKES GAIN

German Wing Administers Temporary Check to Allies.

French War Office Says Left Wing of Allies Has Been Obliged to Cede Ground at Certain Points But Does Not Divulge Place—Confidence of Victory Is Expressed by Experts In London.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Gen. Von Kluk has at last delivered a successful attack, and the German right wing yesterday gained ground. The points lost by the allies are not known, but it is believed that the principal assault took place in the region between Roye and Arras, where both sides are reported to have massed great bodies of troops in the past few days.

The French official statement yesterday afternoon acknowledged a temporary check on the left wing of the allies. It is worded as follows:

"On the left wing, to the north of the Oise, the battle continues with great violence. The result remains indecisive. We have been obliged, at certain points, to cede ground.

"Along the remainder of the front there has been no change.

"In Russia, after a battle which lasted ten days, the German army which was operating along the eastern Prussian front and the Niemen river has been driven along the entire line and made its retreat, abandoning a considerable quantity of war material.

"This army has evacuated completely the territory of the Russian provinces of Suwalki and Lonja."

This change in the situation comes after several days of desperate fighting on the part of the allies, endeavoring to pierce the line of German communications and complete the enveloping movement begun on the Marne. This line centres at Aix-la-Chapelle and Cologne, extending northeast from Compeigne through Tergnier, St. Quintin, Maubouge, Liege, and thence to the two first-named points. The allies have taken and held a railway line running from Amiens to Arras, where it diverges east and cut into the territory held by the Germans. This line has proved of immense value in bringing troops to vital points.

The town of Douai reappears constantly in reports from the front. It is said that heavy reinforcements have been rushed to that town, and that the fighting in the vicinity is of the most sanguinary character. Douai is situated 15 miles northeast of Arras, midway between that town and Valenciennes, on the railroad route to Mons. This indicates a progressive advance north. The allies are in touch with Belgian troops in the southwestern section of that country, and by means of a branch road, which runs from Arras via Douai and thence to Lille, Courtrai and Ghent, will be able to push ahead.

The opinion is held that a severe blow to the German lines of communication would completely tie up the German defensive. For this reason Von Boehm and Von Kluk are making superhuman efforts to turn back their enemies, which they have done with some success. Until the points lost are made public, no conclusion can be given as to the true situation.

Both in London and in Paris there is the greatest confidence, although some surprise is displayed at the success of the Germans in preventing the outflanking movement. There is a feeling, however, that the Germans cannot extend their line much further north without weakening it at some point.

Naturally progress by either side must be extremely slow, for after every advance, no matter how slight, the troops making it must entrench themselves for protection against the shells from the enemy's guns posted in strong positions from one end of the line to the other.

The Daily Mail's correspondent in France reports fighting in and around Douai, and considers that if the French have reached Douai in force that the situation of the German general, Von Kluk, must be desperate.

"Gen. Von Kluk," the correspondent says, "has had all the reinforcements which could be spared him and yet finds himself outnumbered at every point. There are many indications from German prisoners, from French officers and from members of the British transport service, the combined testimony of whom it is difficult to disbelieve, that the German army is becoming demoralized.

Despatch to the London Standard from Petrograd—The following declaration has been made, and sworn to be representative of the Roman Catholic monastery of Czenstochowa, Russian Poland, to the head of the Roman Catholic Union of Churches.

HOW SHIPS WERE SUNK.

Defeat of Austrian War Vessels Described by British Officer.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—An officer in the British Mediterranean squadron writes to The Times as follows, describing recent fighting in the Adriatic Sea: We got wind of the Austrians blockading Antivari, so we planned an attack at 3.30 next morning. A cruiser squadron consisting of Frenchmen and British patrolled one side of the Adriatic during the night. We turned so that we might be off Antivari at 3.30 next morning, and the French squadron turned so as to be to the westward of us. We intended to look in at Durazzo on the way up, but we were late. We increased to full speed, but the Austrians sighted us coming from the southward, and at once steamed north. The French fleet were in such a position that as the enemy went northward they ran right into the arms of a huge fleet.

The Austrians were very inferior, having only two small cruisers, four destroyers and certain heavy ships. We opened fire, and the destroyers sank immediately. The enemy's cruisers returned the fire, but in about three minutes both ships caught fire, and were a burned mass. Suddenly there was a huge mass of dense, black smoke, followed by an explosion. The ships could be seen with their bows at right angles to the water. In less than a second both ships sank with all hands. Cheers went up from the lee. We did not open fire, but followed closely in the rear, and then turned southwards, steaming out at full speed."

FIRST TRANSPORTS ARRIVE.

Three Ships Carrying Canadians Anchored at Southampton.

SOUTHAMPTON, Oct. 9.—Three ships belonging to the Cunard Line are anchored in port here with the first contingent of Canadian troops. Other vessels with Canadians are expected.

The city is full of staff officers and steamship officials, who will supervise the transportation of the troops on the next stage of their journey.

The people here are enthusiastic over the arrival of the Canadians, and are preparing to give them a hearty welcome.

Borden Going To England?

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—It is stated on good authority that Sir Robert Borden will go to England shortly to discuss matters of Dominion-wide concern with Hon. Geo. H. Perley and Premier Asquith. No confirmation of this could be obtained last night, but leading Conservative members of Parliament who are in the city declared that the Prime Minister finds it necessary to go to England at the present time.

SUPPLIES FOR BELGIANS.

Nova Scotia's Ship Will Also Sail With Ontario's Contributions.

TORONTO, Oct. 9.—Within a few weeks a ship will sail from Canada bearing supplies contributed by citizens of the Dominion for the relief of the Belgians who have suffered in the war. The bulk of the material thus forwarded will be contributed by the provinces east of Ontario, and attention is now called to the necessity of collecting all intended supplies and putting them in the hands of the shippers. Word to this effect came from Nova Scotia to the Parliament Buildings last evening.

The message was written by Premier Murray, who stated that Nova Scotia had taken advanced steps in the way of relief for Belgium, and that the Admiralty had placed a ship at their disposal to leave on or about Oct. 23 for Antwerp.

Mr. Murray states that he will be glad to arrange space in the ship for the Ontario contribution. The railways have announced that they will carry supplies to Nova Scotia free of charge, and the shipping to Antwerp will also be provided gratis.

Loss of Destroyer Admitted.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 9.—A telegram from Berlin says that the evening papers of the German capital announce that on the afternoon of Oct. 6 the German torpedo boat destroyer S126 was sunk by a British submarine and that nearly all the crew was saved.

The sinking of the German destroyer was announced by the British Admiralty Wednesday, but the designation of the craft was not given. The S126 was built in 1904-5 and was 210 feet in length. She carried three 4-pounders and three torpedo tubes. Her crew was fifty men.

Released on Bail.

MONTREAL, Oct. 9.—After a private sitting before Judge Lanctot yesterday morning it was decided to release Robert H. Reid, New York financier, on bail. Mr. Reid appeared before Judge St. Cyr Wednesday on a charge of obtaining $750,000 worth of stock from John McMartin by false pretences, and was arrested later on a second charge, that of presenting a forged note for $100 at Halifax.

Soldier's Body Found.

QUEBEC, Oct. 9.—The body of a soldier belonging to the Princess Patricia Regiment was found floating yesterday near the wharf of the Canada Lines, Limited. It was identified as that of Corporal N. Lindblad, who wore No. 750 and belonged to the second company of the Princess Patricia Regiment.

It is not known where Lindblad comes from.

Dried Apples For Belgians.

OTTAWA, Oct. 9.—Through an appeal to Western Ontario women to dry apples by the old-fashioned method, Hon. Martin Burrell expects to obtain 20,000 bushels for shipment to Belgium for the suffering people there. The apples are to be forwarded to H. Prudhomme of Montreal, who has charge of their shipment abroad.

If you would be regarded as wise, all you have to do is to hand people the advice you want.

MAKING LAST STAND IN RESISTING GERMANS

Eyes of the Nations Are Now Turned on Belgian Fortress, Which Is Still Withstanding Assault—King Albert With Remnant of Troops Has Marched Out—British Are Assisting In Operations.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—While the immense armies of the belligerent powers of Europe are engaged in death struggles along lines hundreds of miles in extent, in battle which for the numbers engaged, fierceness and stubbornness, have no precedent in history, the intrepid little army of Belgium is making a last stand behind the forts of Antwerp, one of the strongest fortified positions in the world.

The bombardment of Antwerp has been so violent that the houses at Rosendaal, a Netherlands town more than 20 miles distant, have been visibly shaken, according to a telegram from that town to the Central News by way of Amsterdam.

Some wounded civilians have arrived at Rosendaal, and the Dutch Government has ordered all trains to proceed to that place, to be held in readiness to transport the refugees and injured. Thousands of refugees have already arrived.

Throughout the entire night, the message adds, a red glare illuminated the sky.

The intensity of the German attack on the city is taken in some quarters to mean that the Germans are preparing a second line of defence stretching from Antwerp to Brussels, Namur and Metz, upon which they can fall back in the event of reverses on their present line in the north of France.

KING ALBERT OF BELGIUM.

King Albert has appealed to all male Belgians between the ages of 18 and 30 years to rally to the support of the colors for the crisis which may involve the independence of the country.

News has been received here that the King of the Belgians marched out of Antwerp yesterday at the head of a portion of his army. This portion of the Belgian army is probably retiring to the west and southwest. At Ghent it will come into contact with the Belgian forces holding West Flanders.

Several reports that strong reinforcements, presumably of British troops, with heavy guns, reached Antwerp during the day are not officially confirmed, though references to reinforcements have been allowed to pass the censors.

The condition of panic among the populace was increased yesterday, says another Antwerp despatch, by the appearance at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and three yesterday afternoon of German aircraft, which dropped bombs, destroying seven houses and killing a score of people.

An earlier despatch said: On account of the Zeppelins' successful attack of Antwerp the large avenue leading to the railroad station quickly became black with a struggling mass of people eager to escape from the city. Seized with an unreasoning, terrible fear of a bombardment or of a charge of German cavalry, the people are transporting invalids, cripples, and even the occupants of lunatic asylums. It was a pathetic sight to see the poor people, some carrying on their backs their hopelessly maimed or idiotic relatives, who were crowded into railroad vans and transported northward to remain in some cattle shed or railroad platform until rooms can be found for them in Dutch asylums and institutions.

The situation, however, quickly changed again. While at 2 o'clock even grown-up men were weeping with terror and were fighting for places around the railway station, at six o'clock everybody was again certain that the —— forces would be able to hold out against the Germans and even throw them back across the River Nethe, while everybody was telling his neighbor how far superior the —— guns were to the German heavy artillery. The people who are remaining in the city are taking to the cellars, prepared to hear the first German shell in the morning.

The Belgian Ministers are trying to reach Ostend through Flanders and via Holland. The Belgian army is marching into the city, tired out, leaving the guarding of the forts for the night to fresh —— troops.

The blanks are given to denote words cut out by the censor. Evidently they relate to forces and guns brought to Antwerp by the British.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

The keeper of his Majesty's purse, Lt.-Col. Sir William Carrington, was found dead in his bed yesterday morning. He was born in 1845.

It is reported that Rear Admiral Story, who is on the retired list, and a resident of Guelph, has been sent for by the Imperial Government, and has left for Ottawa.

Col. Septimus Denison, who is in command of the Montreal military division, was appointed yesterday to the headquarters' staff at Ottawa as acting adjutant-general.

The sum bequeathed by Mrs. Frank Leslie, of New York, who died recently, to Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the American suffrage leader, is in excess of $800,000.

Another milestone was passed in the history of hydro-electric power in Ontario yesterday when Sir Adam Beck pressed the button which turned on hydro power in the village of Beaverton.

The second session of the third Legislature of Alberta was convened yesterday with the usual ceremony. The speech from the throne gave but little indication of the business that will be considered.

There was a great gathering of Masons at Read's Cemetery in the Township of Augusta, near Brockville, yesterday at the unveiling of a monument to the memory of Dr. Ziba M. Phillips, a pioneer Mason of Eastern Ontario.

The Ontario Government has sold another township of timber. This went to Manley Chew, of Midland, former member and defeated Liberal candidate for East Simcoe, for $8.50 per thousand feet and $2 per thousand feet timber dues.

ket purposes and greater safety in transportation use tin cans.

Remove husk, silk, shank, tips and injured or defective places. Blanch corn in boiling water or steam chest for from five to ten minutes. The time depends upon the stage of ripeness, size of ears and degree of freshness. Remove the ears and plunge quickly in cold water.

Assassination Trial Begins.

BORDEAUX, Oct. 9.—(Via London.)—The Neues Weiner Tagblatt, a copy of which has arrived here from Vienna, says that the indictment, alleging high treason and covering 7 pages, has been read to 25 prisoners, who are charged with having been concerned in the murder of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the heir-apparent of the Austrian throne, at Sarayevo. It is expected that their trial will last three weeks, according to the newspaper.

Would Dive For Mines.

TOKIO, Oct. 9.—Hundreds of women shell divers of Shima Province offered their service to the navy to clear the mines from Kiaochow Bay. The offer was declined, as the law prohibits the employment of women in warlike operations. These divers are accustomed to remain in the water for a long period. Their idea was that unseen by the enemy, they could dive for the mines near Kiaochow and remove them to the Japanese warships.

South Africa Not Disloyal.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Cape Town correspondent of The Morning Post says that despite the activities of German spies and rumor-mongers, there is no evidence to suspect active disloyalty in South Africa. Gen. De Wet and a number of the Hertzogites continue demonstrations against the Government; although the number of Hertzog's party are solid for Botha. The correspondent adds that the Boer commandos in German S. W. Africa, who have been raiding union police posts are not, as reported here on Saturday, led by a nephew of Gen. De Wet, but by an adventurer with an inglorious record from the Boer war.

Huge German Losses.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—An official list, published in Berlin, says a Rome despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. gives the German losses in killed and missing up to Sept. 1 as 117,000. The authorities admit, the despatch adds, that the total losses to date are at least 300,000.

THIN PEOPLE CAN INCREASE WEIGHT

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weight and measure again It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all the new flesh stays put Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats sugars and starches of what you have antee of weight increase or money back. eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. J. S. McKeown's Drug Store and other cinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

PACIFIC COAST TO SUPPLANT EUROPE AS TOURIST MECCA

A telegram received by the local Grand Trunk Railway Officials to-day confirms the opinion already held by transportation experts that the European War is likely rather to increase travel to the Panama Pacific International Exposition, opening in San Francisco on Feb. 20th, next year, than reduce it. The floods of American and Canadian tourists to Europe will be far less than in ordinary years, and the inquiries flowing into headquarters in San Francisco prove that the thousands of travellrs who ordinarily flock to the various pleasure resorts of the Continent, will turn their faces towards the Pacific Coast in 1915.

"Under worst possible conditions," wired Mr. G. H. Perry, Director of Exploitation for the Exposition, "we shall lose only about 6 p.c. of our promised exhibits from Europe, and we have the assurance, from all participating nations now involved in the struggle, that their plans will not be seriously interfered with. We have hard from Exhibitors' Committees in German and Great Britain within the past few days, requesting that the space originally reserved for them be held and in the case of the German Committee an intimation was given that increased space might even be asked for. Requests for space and for additional space from manufacturers and producers in this country and South America and of European nations not at war show marked increase since war broke out."

A SORE WHICH WOULD NOT HEAL

POLICEMAN'S TESTIMONY TO ZAM-BUK.

Constable R. B. Nunn, of Vernon B. C., says: "I would like to bear testimony to the wonderful healing properties of Zam-Buk. For ever two years I suffered acutely with a sore on my leg, which, despite all treatment, turned into an open ulcer. I tried of kinds of medicnes, ointments, liniments, etc., but notwithstanding, the wound seemed only to get wodse. Finally it became so bad that I was on the point of going to the hospital, when a friend persuaded me to try Zam-Buk I did so, and the first few applications made the ulcer less painful. By degrees the inflammation went down and there were traces of healing. To cut a long story short, from the time of first commencing to use Zam-Buk the ulcer improved and twelve boxes of Zam-Buk effected a complete cure.

"Althought the ulcer was healed, I was still afraid that the healing would be only temporary, and that in a very short time it would break out again. To my extreme delight such has not been the case. It is close on a year since Zam-Buk healed the ulcer, and as there is not the slightest trace of any further troubl, I can safely speak of my case as a complete cure."

The above is but one of many instances where Zam-Buk has proved effective in healing old and obstinate sores after other preparations have completely failed. For eczema, piles, cuts, burns, bruises, chapped hands, cold cracks, and all skin diseases or injuries, and as an embrocation or rheumatism sciatica, stiffened muscles, etc., nothing can equal Zam-Buk. All druggists and stores, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price; 50c per box. Refuse substitutes.

A LONG WAY TO SIBERIA

Marching song of the Austrian army—

"It a long, long road to Siberia,
It's a long way to go.
It's a long road to Siberia,
And it's mostly ice and snow;
Good-bye, dear old Prezmysl,
Farewell, Bosnia-Herzegovina,
It's a long road to Siberia,
But we have to travel along.

Col Sam Hughes

Tells a Receiver What Canada Has Done, and What She will do

Col. Hughes, Minister of Militia, is on his way to England to see that the 33,000 Canadian Boys are well looked after.

A telegram from New York of Oct. 7th, tells us what the Col. had to say:

"He would not discuss the object of his visit, other than to say he would have a conference with the British War Office, and return to Canada in a few weeks. He said it was about time to hear of the contingent being in action.

"They are all crack shots," he continued, "and trained to the minute. When we supplement their numbers with the additional volunteers who are now in camp at Valcartier we shall have about 50,000 men at the front, and good men, too—the best in the world."

"How many soldiers will Canada send to the front?" he was asked.

"That," he replied, "depends upon what the British Government wishes of us. We could send enough men to add the finishing touches to Germany without assistance either from England or France. Or, to set down a definite figure, we can supply the Government with 500,000 picked men. This number will not be required of us, however, nor anything like this number, but they are available. Why, we have been turning men away from the recruiting offices—good men, too.

"When the call for the last expeditionary force of 22,000 men was issued we were fairly swept off our feet. We had to throw them off the trains. There were too many of them. We didn't even allow them to come near us. As it was, while calling for 22,000 men, we were simply obliged to accept 33,000. Besides that, we have sent 1,000 men to Bermuda to relieve the garrison there, and we have 8,000 trained men on guard duty."

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

Great Event In Methodism

Rev. Dr. Sparling, president of the Montreal Conference, one of the Governors of the college and an old graduate of the institution when it was in humble quarters, told of those days and the men who had presided over the education of the young ministers, and his feeling that only men capable of creating an inspiring atmosphere should preside over the college destinies.

Mr. William Hanson, treasurer, said that $300,00 had been the amount set before them when they started out on the project, $200,00 for building, and the rest for endowment. Of this sum, $257,200 had been subscribed by 1,117 Methodists in sums varying from 25 cents to $50,000. Completed the building would cost $220,000, and $118,000 had been paid already. $98,000 of the amount subscribed had been paid in, and the balance of the amount paid had been borrowed. Under present conditions interest charges were very high, and the sooner the amount was cleared off the better. Not a single accident had occurred while the building was going on.

Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, in praising the self-denial which had raised such an edifice, told them that Methodists all over the Dominion were doing the same thing, the value of the Methodist Church's investments in educational institutions in Canada having risen in four years from three million dollars to nearly seven million dollars' worth.

WAITING FOR PRESBYTERIANS

Referring to Church Union, Dr. Chown said that he thought the church had done the right thing in leaving the doors still open for the Presbyterian church as he did not think that the feeling for union in that church had been adequately represented at the last meeting of the General Assembly. Co-operation was already taking place in the West so that in nine hundred localities they had stopped duplication of energies.

Principal Smyth extended his thanks to the principals of the other Protestant theological colleges in Montreal, who were present, and to Dr. Symonds who was present as chairman of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners. He agreed with Mr. Birks that the duty of the leaders of Christian thought in this generation is to mediate between modern views of the extreme type and the evangel that their fathers loved to preach. Their church was faced with a difficult situation with so many members harking back to the old dogmas and shibboleths that are obsolete, and clinging to old forms and ways of expressing their religious conviction which they mistakenly believed to be essential, important parts of the doctrines on which the church was founded, and others moved with the spirit of modern rationalism and craving for demonstration which in spiritual things could not always be found. The wise course was the safe course, the middle course. They had to take into account the marvellous progress of modern thought in order that in their preaching they could commend themselves to the intelligence of the best people in their congregations. Since he had come to the college the number of resident students had increased from thirty to the seventy with which they were starting the new term. They had also a number of art and medical students in residence, an experiment which they hoped would be of benefit to both.

The Faithful Wife Remains By Leper

Tragic Circumstances of a Wilkesbarre Man and His Family

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 8.—In one of the two homes which they own Joseph Norman, aged thirty-two, are shut completely off from the world. The wife and children are prisoners because they chose to risk leprosy to be with the afflicted husband and father. For experts have declared Norman to be a leper. Already the skin on his face bears unmistakable evidence of the dread malady.

When convincing proof had been obtained that Norman was a leper the door of his home was opened for the escape of his wife and children. Mrs. Norman was instructed to cut away from her husband forever. She left the house because she believed she must. Next day she took her little sons and with them went to the city officials and begged to be allowed to return. They endeavored to dissuade her.

THE WIFE'S PRAYER

"I cannot live without my husband," she cried, falling on her knees, "I was happy as his sweatheart. I was happy when he made me his wife. I have been happy during the eleven years that we have lived together and struggled to lay aside a little money for a rainy day. My love has been fanned into a big flame by his goodness and care of me. I became his wife for better or for worse. I have tried to be kind, dutiful and loving wife, I have borne him children, whom we both love.

"When doctors told me that he was a victim of leprosy I fully realized that it meant a life of exile for him. But I determined at once that his fate should be my fate and as his wife it was my duty never to desert him until death do us part. I thought that perhaps I might be allowed to live in exile with him, but I feared that the children will be taken from us. But while my heart will break at separation from my children I cannot see my husband go into exile alone. With him I will go."

BEGAN EIGHT MONTHS AGO

Eight months ago Joseph Norman lived happily with his wife and children—Leo, six, and George, two—in their home in Blackman St. He was employed in the Hazard Rope Works, and out of his earnings he paid off a mortgage on one of the buildings he had bought.

Then he was stricken with a peculiar disease. He was able to keep up work now and then, but finally he had to quit altogether. Doctors were puzzled. Some of them diagnosed it as eczema. He gradually grew worse, and a few weeks ago doctors here suggested that he go to Philadelphia for treatment. He went to Philadelphia and to a hospital there. The doctors diagnosed his case as leprosy and the health authorities were notified. Norman was placed in an automobile and hurried back to Wilkes-Barre. They took him to his own home and then notified the Wilkes-Barre officials that "your leper is out in his home."

FAMILY PRISONERS

Incidentally there was consternation. The house was roped off and guards were placed about it to prevent escape of the family and keep all friends away.

Then it dawned upon city officials that the care of a leper was a heavy financial burden. Appeals were made to Uncle Sam to have Normal placed in a Government leprosy colony, but the Government refused to take the case. The Poor Board, asked to care for the man, agreed to supply him with provisions.

Mrs. Norman has been allowed to return to the house. Now they are awaiting word that they are to be sent to an isolated colony.

GERMAN CHARGE REFUTED

British Mine Fields do Not Close Free Ways

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Daily Chronicle, referring to the German official wireless statement of British mine fields in the North Sea, says.—

"This is deliberately false. The British mine field does not close the channel or free way to any sea route. It leaves open the whole space from Ramsgate to the Goodwin Sands, including Downs and Roadstead. It leaves the route free to the Belgian coast to Acheldt, and, of course, to all ports of the Netherlands, to all English ports and from the north to the south between the Straits of Dover and the whole of the North Sea west of the Kentish Knock and the whole ocean parallel 51.40, nearly opposite Burnham-on-Crouch."

Four Thousand To Be Raised In Quebec

Will be This Province's Share of Men for the Second Contingent

MONTREAL, Oct. 9.—The first intimation of the make-up of the second Canadian epeditionary force names 4,000 infantry men as the quota expected from the Province of Quebec, the largest number assigned to any one province. Local dealers are accordingly jubilant. An army service detachment will probably be raised as well as artillery. The Fourth Company, Canadian Army Service Corps is back from Valcartier and the men were paid off yesterday after their seven weeks of active service. Major H. Ross Matthews, who is in command, will likely be in charge of recruiting of the Army service unit from the fourth division.

The second largest contingent will be taken from Ontario from which province it is suggested to draw three thousand infantry and 500 cavalry. The West will be called on to supply most of the cavalry while the East will be relied on for the infantry. It is thought that the mobolization regulations of 1913 making each division staff responsible for recruiting within its area will be followed.

The armories of the various regiments will still be the recruiting centres. The commanding officers will report to and be responsible to the division commanders. Much detail work will thus be absorbed by the general staff.

War's Desolation

Gruesome Scenes in the Battle-wrecked Province of Lubin

PETROGRAD, Oct. 9—An eye witness describes the state of affairs existing in that portion of Lublin Province which was the scene of recent severe fighting between the Russian and Austrian troops.

In Kransostav and in Zamost a few dozen houses remain unscathed. The remainder form a mass of impenetrable ruins. There is not a trace left of the neighboring villages. Once fertile and blossoming fields are now cemeteries.

Along the whole road one sees nothing but improvished graves decorated with modest wooden crosses. Among them figure conspicuously the large common graves of Austrian and German soldiers with projecting black and yellow flags. From quickly excavated, hurriedly filled pits one sees here and there hands and legs sticking out.

On the River Wepre the Russian soldiers destroyed the bridge by setting fire to it unobserved while Austrian troops were crossing it. As a result many thousands perished, some in the flames, some in the water. Corpses floating in the river in hundreds looked like a long, endless raft.

The banks of the Wepre are littered with countless crosses, silently telling the awful tale that at its bottom is a colossal grave. On the road there are thousands of Austrians rifles and knapsacks scattered on the blood-stained soil. The fields are sown with guns and cartridge.

GERMAN SETTLER KILLED HIMSELF

After Severely Wounding Neighbor and Shooting at Neighbor's Wife

SHELLBROOK, Sask., Oct. 9.—Last night a homesteader named N. Pfloff, according to reports, shot August Kasner, severely wounding him in the groin, and then blew off the top of his own head with a shot gun. Pfloff is said to have awaited Kasner's return from Shellbrook and then fired at him near a stable. Kasner fell and Mrs. Kasner, hearing the shot, came out, and was also fired at several times, but not injured. Pfloff then made off. Pfloff was recently turned back at Regina when trying to make his way to Germany.

Soldier's Wife Urged Him to Slaughter Women, Humanely Cared for

BORDEAUX, Oct. 9.—A sub-lieutenant at the front found a letter in the pocket of a wounded German from the latter's wife. One sentence read: "I hope you will spare neither women or children."

The letter has been returned to the writer with this note: "Madam: This letter was found in your husband's pocket. He is wounded and is now being humanely cared for."

TEACHERS IN CONVENTION AT QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

Helpful Addresses Delivered at Each Session--Theories as Successfully Put Into Practice in United States and Else-Where Explained--The Convention Resulted in Great Profit to those Who Attended

The South Hastings, Belleville and Trenton Teachers' Institute opened on Thursday morning at 10 a.m. in the spacious assembly room of the new Queen Mary School, with a fair representation of the teachers present.

After a few introductory remarks by Mr. M. W. Mott, president of the association, in which he welcomed the teachers to the various sessions of the Institute, Rev. E. C. Currie conducting the opening exercises.

Following the opening exercises the minutes of the previous year's Institute were read and adopted, and after the reading of the Treasurer's report it was submitted to the auditors.

During the morning session the reports of the delegates to the Summer School were read. The first paper was given by Miss Nichols on the conference of rural teachers held in Guelph August 3-7 This was the first conference dealing entirely with rural school problems ever held in Canada. Rev. J. McDougall, author of "Rural Life in Canada," delivered an able address on "Ontario's Rural Problems," and "Rural Reconstruction," pointing out that rural depopulation was becoming a serious problem in Ontario. Industrial evolution and the exploration of the land were largely responsible for this and our rural schools really tend toward city life.

H. W. Foght, specialist in rural education, gave a splendid account of the schools of Denmark, where they educate the children especially for farm life. He contrasted the intensive farming of this, where a man supports a family on ten or twenty acres, with our own wasteful methods.

Professor McCready, Director of Elementary Education, showed that agriculture is gradually but surely taking its proper place in our rural schools despite the fact that its introduction is opposed by the very people it is designed to benefit. The ideal rural school should be the school of all the children of all the people, educating in terms of country life. It should be the local beauty spot and it should

CHAOS IN A MENAGERIE

Curious Situation Created by War at Hagenbeck's

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Standard says a well-known showman of London has received some curiously interesting news from Hamburg concerning the famous Hagenbeck Menagerie. It is rumored that two of the brothers have been killed in battle. A large number of the keepers and trainers were called to the war, and difficulties of the gravest kind have gradually arisen in the picturesque jungle colnny. n

In short famine is threatened. When the meat supplies failed, according to the yarn, certain of the less valuable specimens of deer and mountain goats were shot to supply the lions and tigers with fresh meat. An English keeper has succeeded in sending a letter to London which says that elks worth hundreds of marks are being slaughtered to feed the tigers while the lions, jaguars, leopards, and other meat eaters were receiving daily chunks cut from the carcases of costly springbok and equally valuable sheep from Tibet.

There were numerous tragedies in the reptile eggs, it is said, before it occurred to the head keeper to separate the families of snakes. They missed their weekly rabbit or hare or small sheep. One large boa constrictor was discovered digesting his female companion. Prior to meeting her fate, she herself had halted her appetite on a younger and less lengthy sister. the third inhabitant of the glass-fronted lair.

Brave Act of Sergeant in the Royal Engineers is Told.

HAVRE, France, Oct. 9.—The individual bravery of the British army Engineers is being lauded here by prisoners and wounded coming from the front. An instance of the courage of these bridge-builders is shown in the gave his life to save from annihilation who were protecting the bridge. a small body of English Engineers

The odds were against them, and the Germans were on the point of crossing the bridge when the sergeant darted out under the German fire, set a quantity of high explosives under the first span and destroyed it. Forced to use a short fuse he had no time to escape and was blown to pieces.

RECRUITS FROM INTERCOLONIAL

Railway Employes Furnished Big Quota and are Ready Again.

OTTAWA, Oct. 9.—Probably no branch of the public service has answered the call for volunteers better than the employes of the Intercolonial Railway. From their ranks no fewer than 149 men joined the first contingent, and many more will volunteer with the second force of 22,000 now about to be raised. As in the case of all others in the Dominion Government service, they will have their salaries paid in full during their absence and their positions will be kept for them.

FIVE ARE ARRESTED WHEN POLICE RAID APARTMENT

Seven American Jews are Now Held on Charge of Pocket Picking--Two Were Arrested on Street and Third Man Tracked to Apartment Taken on Wednesday

MONTREAL, Oct. 9.—Seven American Jews who arrived in the city on Wednesday, and rented an expensive partment on Sherbrooke street, were arrested yesterday on suspicion of being pickpockets.

A complaint that $200 and a number of cheques had been "picked" from a man's pocket was received at the detective office, and City Detective Lepage and F. C. Gorman, Superintendent of the Canadian Detective Agency were put on the case. The two officers saw three men acting in a suspicious manner on Anderson street, one of them tearing up some papers into fine scraps and throwing them behind a fence. As soon as the trio moved down the street, Lepage and Gorman collected the scraps and pieced them together as best they could. Deciding that the papers answered to the description of the missing cheques, they followed the men and arrested two of them—John Charles Cohen, of New York City, and Lewis Manning, of Albany, N.Y.

The third man was allowed to escape, but was followed by Gorman to a large apartment house on Sherbrooke street west. A short time later, the apartment the shadowed man had entered was raided. Five men were found in the place, sitting around an opium outfit, and four of them are said to have been under the influence of the drug. When arrested they gave their names as David Ross, of Buffalo, N.Y.; George Fuller, alias Hoffman, of Chicago, Ill; Samuel Lubin, of Milwaukee, Wis.; and Max Miller of New York City. They were taken to the St. Catharines street , west police station, and from there to the cells at headquarters. They wil appear in court on a charge of picking pockets; a charge of smoking opium, and having it in their possession, may also be brought.

The proprietor of the house they were found in said that some of the men arrived on Wednesday and some yesterday morning, and that they engaged a furnished flat at the rental of $70 per month.

OCCUPYING A TRADE VACUUM.

The withdrawal from the Canadian market of much merchandise that prior to the war came from Continental Europe left, as it were, a trade vacuum, and a vacuum is abhorrent alike to Nature and to business.

The ceaseless effort on the part of business to expand itself has already led many a Canadian manufacturer to attempt to fill the void caused by the stoppage of imports from the countries at war.

The spinners and weavers of cotton are finding new and surprising uses for cotton as a substitute for jute. Manufacturers of electrical equipment are fast finding substitutes for materials and parts hitherto obtained from abroad. The growing of sugar beets and the making of beet sugar will be stimulated in Canada as a consequence of war. Yarns, hosiery, underwear, gloves and garments for women and children, aforetime imported, will now be produced in Canada. And so one could go on and on illustrating the triumph of human energy and genius over disabilities and disorders.

Watch the advertising columns of the public press for proofs that Canadian manufacturers are making efforts to fill the trade vacuum.

Panic In Hungary

Inhabitants Flee to Budapest on Russians' Approach

MILAN, Oct. 9.—According to news received by the Corriere della Sera, from Vienna, the Russian invasion of Hungary has caused a panic among the inhabitants. Two thousand five hundred refugees from Maramaros-Sziget have arrived at Budapest in a destitute condition. The last train left Maramarox-Sziget Wednesday night, and although of immense length it could only accommodate a small fraction of the vast crowd of fugitives. The state archives and the funds of the banks had been removed the day before.

When the first sotnia of Cossacks appeared, the mayor, who is a rabbi, and forty notables went to meet them and begged them to spare the town and inhabitants. The promise was at once given. On entering the town, however, the Cossacks fired their carbines in the air as a sign of jubilation and this caused panic among the population, many of whom fled from the town, abandoning all their possessions.

According to a Berlin telegram, German troops are taking part in the operations in Hungary.

GOOD BUSINESS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

OTTAWA, Oct. 9.—Business conditions in British Columbia are in good shape, declared Sir Richard McBride, who arrived in Ottawa yesterday. The Premier of the coast province said that with the opening of the Panama Canal and the completion of the C.N.R. main line, British Columbia was looking forward to an era of unequalled prosperity which the war could not check.

Speaking of the rumored presence of German cruisers off the western coast, Sir Richard said that if these ships attempt to cause any trouble, the people of British Columbia would be found prepared to meet any emergency.

"Great enthusiasm prevails," said Sir Richard, "and British Columbia will respond handsomely to the call for a second contingent of Canadian troops, particularly in regard to cavalry units. The response to the call for naval volunteers was overwhelming and great disappointment was shown when it was ascertained that all who had volunteered could not be trained".

ANTWERP FORCED TO RUN UP WHITE FLAG

German Forces Gain Entrance After a Terrific Bombardment –British Troops Rushing to Relief--General Outlook on French Territory Favorable to Allies

Canadian Press Special To The Intelligencer.

WHITE FLAG RUN UP OVER ANTWERP

THE HAGUE, Oct. 10.—Antwerp surrendered to the Germans at 2 30 p.m. on Friday. The war flag was removed from the Capital and the white flag raised in its place at 9 a.m. The actual surrender took place five and a half hours later.

It is said here that the Cathedral of Notre Dame has not been damaged.

The Germans delivered one of their last furious attacks between six and seven o'clock Friday morning. The Belgians resisted valiantly in their trenches and desperate fighting resulted in very heavy losses on both sides.

During all Friday night Zeppelin airships directed the firing of the German heavy artillery, the results of which were appalling. The fighting has been indescribably sanguinary.

ENGLAND OBJECTIVE OF GERMAN ARMY

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Express correspondent in Paris telegraphs that the immediate objective of the German army is no longer Paris, but the Channel ports. The first blow at Paris having failed, the second blow must be aimed at England. The new line up of the opposing forces means that northern France is destined to suffer dissolution similar to that already visited on Belgium. All the cities in the north have been marked for certain destruction and ruin. The French general staff is still confident of victory, but it is recognized that no decisive success can be achieved while the masses engaged are so enormous. There must be a constant stream of reinforcements.

FIGHTING CONTINUES FAVORABLE TO ALLIES

PARIS, Oct. 10.—An official announcement issued this morning says the fighting continues under satisfactory conditions. Our entire battle front has been maintained in spite of violent attacks of the enemy at several points.

On our left wing in the region included between La Basse Armentieres and Cassel there has been fighting between opposing forces of cavalry. To the north of the Oise our troops have attained real advantages at several places in their zone of action. In the region of St. Mihiel we have made material progress.

PORTUGAL ON POINT OF DECLARING WAR

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. says the Bureau Weinsehr semi-official news agency asserts that a declaration of war on Germany by Portugal is expected in Berlin at any moment.

MARCONI TELLS OF ANTWERP'S FALL

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The following official announcement of the fall of Antwerp was given out at the German general headquarters late last night and transmitted here via Marconi:—

"This forenoon several forts of the inner line of fortifications of Antwerp have fallen. The town since midday has been in our possession.

"The commander and the garrison evacuated the fortifications. Only a few forts are still occupied by the enemy and this is without influence on our position in Antwerp.

FORTS AT ANTWERP BADLY WRECKED

ANTWERP, Friday, via London, Oct. 10.—The bombardment has temporarily stopped. It is rumored that German infantry has penetrated into the suburbs through a breach at Fort Berchem.

COURTRAI OCCUPIED BY 5,000 GERMANS

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of The Times at Ostend reports five thousand Germans have occupied Courtrai, twenty-six miles southwest of Ghent.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—12.17 p.m.—The British War Office announces that Antwerp was evacuated by the Belgians yesterday.

ANTWERP HAS FALLEN

LONDON, 5 a.m., Oct. 10.—A Central News despatch from Amsterdam says an official message from Berlin states that Antwerp has fallen.

Finds Private Guilty Of Murder

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Oct. 9.—A verdict of wilful murder against Private Frank Hartley ,who shot Private Burgoyne on the Welland Canal, was returned last night by the coroner's jury.

Sergeant Burgoyne, a brother of the victim, a few minutes previous to the shooting had sent Hartley to his tent because he answered roll call late and was improperly dressed. Hartley complained of the sergeant's treatment of him.

Private Burgoyne defended his brother. Hartley boasted that he was an Englishman and could lick anybody on the canal. Burgoyne replied that he was a Canadian and was proud of it. "I will shoot you." remarked Hartley, to which Burgoyne, drawing himself up to "attention" with his hands in the pockets of his sweater coat, which he wore, said "Shoot." Hartley then fired the fatal shot.

THE FEELING IN BERLIN THAT DEFEAT IS NEAR

Delayed Decision of Battle in France Unfavorable to Germans--Demand War on England--Papers Announce Navy Will Get Busy After the "Fall of Antwerp"

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The gravity of the situation in France is admitted by the German general staff, and Major Morath, the Tageblatt's military expert, says that the delayed decision of the present battle is unfavorable to the Germans.

An official announcement says that the German progress at Antwerp contnues and that the German forces already are over the flooded area along the river Néthe.

It is reported in Berlin that King Albert has been seriously wounded.

The war against Great Britain, according to the newspapers, will commence at the end of October, after Antwerp has fallen. Belgium then will become the base of operations against Great Britain, the newspapers say. They add that Admiral von Tirpitz, the Minister of the Navy, who is now at general headquarters with Emperor William, has announced that he will go aboard the flagship of the German fleet and direct the operations of the navy.

Berlin correspondents at the front report that the French at Verdun are supplying their deficiency in heavy artillery by rapidly shifting the positions of their field artillery. Aided by a knowledge of the gronud, the German correspondents say, the French stimulate retreats, hiding sharpshooters in trees. When the German advance they are killed like flies. The Germans are fighting with courage and desperation from early morning until late at night.

Eighty Enrolled In New Regiment

Recruiting for French Canadian Organization was Opened To-day

MONTREAL, Oct. 9.—Recruiting for the new French Canadian Regiment, which is to volunteer for active service with the second Canadian Expeditionary Force, opened to-day at La Press Office, and by noon nearly eighty names had been sent in by men willing to go to the front.

It was announced to-day that a mass meeting will be held on Thursday evening next at Sohmer Park for the purpose of securing recruits. Ten minutes speeches will be made by the Hon. Mr. Pelletier, Hon. Mr. Nantel, Hon. Mr. Coderre, T. Chase Casgrain and others on the Conservative side of politics, while the Liberals will be represented by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Hon. Rodolph Lemieux, Sir Lomer Gouin, Senator Dandurand and others.

"Any English people who think we cannot organize a French Canarian regiment will be heartily welcome," said Mr Lorenzo Prince, one of the chief organizers of the regiment today. Dr. Arthur Mignault, who is a major in the new regiment will preside. Following the meeting, those willing to enlist may hand in their names. As soon as several hundred names have been received, the work of medical examination will begin.

STRUGGLE TO DEATH IN A LONELY SHACK

FORT WILLIAM, Oct. 9.—A coroner's jury last night returned a verdict of death from a gunshot wound inflicted by an unknown assailant, on the body of William Leihtenen, who was found lying dead at the Finnish settlement near Dona, on the Grand Trunk Pacific, last Monday.

Leihtenen lived with his wife and family at Port Arthur but owns a farm at Dona. When he went out there he carried with him $75 with which to purchase a horse, and when his dead body was found this money was missing. The interior of his shack showed signs of a terrible struggle, and the walls, even to the ceiling, were splash with blood.

A bullet fired at close range had entered the back of the neck, severed the jugular vein and came out of the mouth. No arrests have been made. An unknown Italian who was seen talking to Leihtenen during the day, and was seen going towards the shack a short time before the shot was heard is suspected of the crime.

PRAY TO ANCESTORS FOR JAPANESE WIN

Ceremonies at Shrines of Dead Emperors Important Preliminary to War.

TOKIO, Oct. 9.—For the past two weeks, a large part of the Japanese officialdom has been busy anonuncing to the spirits of the many Imperial ancestors the declaration of war on Germany.

The most important of these ceremonies was held at the Imperial sanctuary in the palace of Tokio, conducted by the Emperor himself. Special messages were dispatched to the Grand Shrines and the Tambs of Emperors Jimmu and Meiji.

The Japanese firmly believe that these ceremonies make them invincible in war owing to the aid given them by their ancestors. Most Japanese books dealing with the Russo-Japanese war give the Imperial Ancestors credit for Japan's victory in that conflict.

King Edward Is Slurred By Foe

And Highlanders Called Uncivilized Because They Don't Wear Trousers.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Refugees from Berlin say that German hatred of England is almost indescribable. The late King Edward and Sir Edward Grey are commonly execrated as authors of the war. Popular gossip credits King Edward with diabolical preparations for the destruction of Germany by creating the Entente Cordiale.

The flood of abuse which has descended upon British heads includes the epithet of "uncivilized" applied to the Scots because "they don't wear trousers."

"English soldiers take so long to eat their marmalade and brush their teeth that they have no time for fighting.

Tyendinaga Takes Action

Practical Addresses at a Largely Attended Patriotic Gathering In Melrose

At Melrose last night, in the Township Hall some very practical, and at the same time inspiring addresses were delivered to a large audience which gathered in this centre of the prosperous Township of Tyendinaga to complete the organization of the Township, begun at Shannonville, a short time ago, for the purpose of putting Tyendinaga in the first rank among the municipalities contributing to the Red Cross, the Patriotic and the Belgian funds. Reeve Maclaren occupied the chair and addresses were delivered by Mr A. MacFarlane, Mr. Hill and the Reverend Mr. Shaw, representing the Township. The Women's Institutes were represented by the ladies in full force. Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, President of the Belleville Board of Trade gave a striking picture of conditions in Belgium and France, as they were before the war from his own knowledge and observation as contrasted with the desolation wrought by the barbarian invaders, who have destroyed homes, churches and human beings alike, with their engines of destruction and malignant hate. Mr. Ketcheson spoke of the profoundly stirring scene in London on the night when war was declared and the calm determination of the British people. Mr. John Elliott, Treasurer of the Board of Trade, graphically described how the Irish trouble, on which the Kaiser had through the report of his Ambassador relied was immediately merged in the greater Empire issue as soon as Germany attacked Britain and Belgium, to whom she was in honor bound. Mr. Elliott depicted the power of the Navy, not merely in battle, but in keeping clear the trade routes by which alone it was possible (as one instance) to export Canadian cheese and Canadian wheat. We owe everything commercially, to the British fleet and our present prosperity would be exchanged for disaster if it were not for the market and the security afforded by Great Britain. Mr. Elliott eloquently described the conditions in Ireland and Scotland, and held up to scorn the work of the German spies, who to the number of 30,000 had circulated backwards and forwards through the British Isles during the past summer before the outbreak of war.

Colonel W. N. Ponton appealed to Tyendinaga to furnish not merely money and materials but also manhood. The living fighting power of the Empire is now called upon as well as the wealth of the Empire. We are working not merely for our own locality, not merely for Canada, but for our own Empire and civilized humanity and liberty. Colonel Ponton described the scene when the transport "Cassandra" with the Belleville and Hastings boys on board first met the Admiral's ship of the convoying squadron and burst out singing "Rule Britannia." The engines of the battleship were at once slowed down and the ensign dipped in courteous, loyal recognition of the Canadian's lusty patriotism and the tars cheered the Canadians to the echo. This was the first greeting which the old Atlantic had ever seen between 31,000 soldiers of the son going home to the aid of the mother. Truly an Imperial spectacle.

A collection of bout $60 was taken up and an organization was perfected to visit the home on every concession, and there is no doubt but that the Red Cross fund, the Duke of Connaught's fund and the Belgian fund will be largely augmented by Tyendinaga's generous response.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Sir.—If I may trespass upon the space of a few lines in your paper I shall feel obliged for the courtesy.

I was watching the parade of our Home Guard last evening with deep interest and feeling. The few men did well, and it would be a most encouraging sign were a larger number to join their ranks. It is a shame and reproach to the male portion of our town (pardon, city) that we possess so few men on whom to depend should the army of Germans to the south of us elude the authorities holding them in check and invade Canada. The silly creatures walking our streets with hands in their pockets and pipes or gum in their mouths would be useless, even more so than at present. I was proud of those few men and wished I had some one belonging to me who could join their ranks. We do not need Carpet Knights who join for "social position." We need a few men of courage. Every man who could shoulder a rifle should join our Home Guard.

To Keep Our Workers Busy
For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.
Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning
We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build
GERHARD HEINTZMAN PIANOS
represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in non-employment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.
You Reap the Advantage
Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

Teachers in Convention at Queen Mary School

have a small experimental farm in connection. There should be a rural High School managed by country people. His belief is that the rural school is on the verge of a tremendous metamorphosis.

Mrs. Hutchinson followed this address by reporting on the remaining lectures given at the conference. She said many helpful hints were given the teachers on "School Ground Improvement," by Professor Hutt of the O. A. C. Mr. Statten, secretary of the Boys' Work, talked on "Recreation and Play for the Country." He stated that play is necessary for natural development and that of late years it is beginning to have a recognized place in education. The teacher should play with the pupils, for on the playground they are free from the conventions of the schoolroom.

Miss Field, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., New York, who is known as the "Corn Lady" throughout America, delivered two excellent addresses on "How a Country Teacher can give Through Leadership" and "Giving the Country Girl her Chance." She said, in Iowa they have corn contests lasting ten days, simply for boys. They also have "Road Teams." The boys build a piece of road and the children compete in school, county and state fairs.

Dr. Jas. Robertson was the last speaker. He talked on the "Needs of Rural Communities," and said the schools should be more for "lessons" than "books." There should be more play in the school and more linking of the real with their work.

With this address the conference ended, but the imeptus given to the science of agriculture can never be properly gauged. The teachers attending this conference returned to their schools to further this great work and the time will soon be here when agricultural education will have a recognized place in our schools.

Following a discussion of the papers given the morning session was adjourned.

The teachers again assembled at 2 p.m. for the afternoon session.

The president gave a short but interesting address touching on the teaching of some of the subjects of the curriculum. He spoke of the length of time given to spelling and said that if a few words were learned properly each day there would be fewer mistakes in spelling and the child would acquire a more extended vocabulary.

A very interesting address was given by P. C. MacLaurin, B.A., of Belleville High School in "Nature Study in the Public School." He advised the bringing of pet animals to the school by the children. With young pupils, to get them interested in pets for Nature Study lessons they must have pets of their own or the lessons are useless practically for them. Mr. MacLaurin emphasized the plan of the pupils not being required to make notes but led to look upon the pleasures of Nature Study without knowing that they must prepare written accounts of the lesson. The benefits of Nature Study as given by Mr. MacLaurin were: (1) It teaches the child to make research; (2) Teacher can get better acquainted with pupil than in any other way; (3) It does away with the pupil's timidity.

A general discussion followed and all seemed to be of the opinion that more attention should be given to Nature Study.

The next speaker was Dr. Walker, B.A., Principal of Peterborough Normal School. His address was on "General Discussion of Place, Method and Material in Teaching Arithmetic." Dr. Walker said there was no reason for teaching arithmetic because it had always been taught, but that it was taught for its practical and cultural value, its practical value particularly.

The cultural value belongs to writing and not arithmetic, as the cultural value is neatness. If we were to study arithmetic for its cultural value it would lose much of its prominence on the curriculums. The only purpose of teaching arithmetic, then, is for its every-day value. The teacher's duty is to show the child that he needs arithmetic. When the child sees this the best results are sure to be obtained. The teacher should teach arithmetic that is of use to the child and see that the pupil does use it. Dr. Walker pointed out that problems in arithmetic should suit the community in which the school was situated, and that if we would teach successfully, keep in mind its usefulness and the cultural value will come. Arithmetic should be begun early in childhood when the memory is the most tenacious, but we should expect no complex reasoning from a child under ten years of age. Arithmetic can be taught in the afternoon as well as in the forenoon. As to methods in teaching this subject Dr. Walker said there was no royal road to mathematics. Every review should bring out something new. He said it is not best to start a new class on old work, but to start them on new work, keep them moving on and review also at the same time. In the imperial stage teach number work, tables, etc. He said that a child likes to use symbols and that it was just a case of first making a discovery and then it was pure memory. In the rational stage the pupils should begin to work problems. Dr. Walker said that arithmetic is easy because it is only one step at a time and referred to many type of problems. There are three types of solutions; (1) written, (2) mental arithmetic solution, (3) business men's type. He said that two things were to be developed: (1) accuracy, (2) rapidity. In order to do this drill is necessary but it should not be long or should the problems be long. The material to be used is (1) the text-book which is used for a guide, (2) problems to interest each child in the community. He then closed his address by stating that arithmetic was the easiest subject in the curriculum at the present time. A general discussion fololwed after which the afternoon session was adjourned.

In the evening a very eloquent address was delivered by Lieut.-Col. Ponton, K.C., after which refreshments were served and an enjoyable evening spent.

For the next session they assembled at 9 a.m. The opening exercises were ably conducted by the Rev. A. R. Sanderson after which the auditors' report was read and approved. Then for the coming year the following officers were elected:—

President—Miss Phelps.
Vice President—Mr. L. Ross.
Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. C. F. Simpkins.
Executive Committee—Mr. C. F. Simpkins, Mr. P. W. Fairman, Mr. A. H. Whiting, Miss A. Fox, Miss B. Ross, Miss S. McCullough, Miss A. Williams.

Delegates to O. E. A.—Urban—Miss Drury; alternative, Miss Nurse. Rural—Miss F. Simmons; alternative, Miss W. Reid.

After the election of officers Dr. Walker delivered another excellent address on "Results the pupil has a right to expect." He first told how a child was educated at home in the former days. Then came the development of education. The child was taken out of the home and taught work which was fitted for his mental capacity. He was made part of the social unit and by this improvement he looked for the betterment of his life. He said that the home virtues should be cultivated, and pointed out that freedom associated with careful directions was one of the most importance of these virtues. Another of these virtues was activity or play, which develops into work and the love for work. Then get the child to love the work as part of himself, and associated with this would be honesty. Then he brought out that the fraternal spirit should predominate and that the child was not only living for himself but for others. Along with this should be associated economy, which is being established by means of school banks. Last of these virtues, but by no means the least was the development of artistic individuality and patriotism. Dr. Walker said that patriotism could not be taught at a more opportune date than at the present time, and that the true spirit should be inculcated, which is the love of an individual home and school. Dr. Walker then closed his address by saying that a teacher should look upon a child as the man he is to be and the great name that he might strive for through life.

A general discussion followed after which reports were read by those teachers who were sent as delegates to the O. E. A. The first of these to be called up was Miss L. Roblin. At this association Dr. Seath delivered a very able address upon (1) education and the course of study; (2) the work in rural schools. He emphasized clearly that agricultural education together with the study of nature was of the utmost importance concerning the rural schools. He spoke of the farmers, especially the retired farmers' unfavorable attitude towards this and said that it was the teacher's duty to remedy this.

The next speaker, Mrs. Muller stated strongly that singing should be taught to everybody and that agricultude should at least be taught to the boys and domestic science to the girls.

Following Miss Roblin's report came Mr. Mr. W. Mott. In his report he mentioned chiefly the address given by Dr. Merchant in "The Advantage and Weakness of State-Controlled Education." One of the greatest, or perhaps the greatest retarding factor in the progress of the schools he said was "The irregular attendance in the rural school and overcrowding the Urban Schools. He also stated the Development of a Religious Education in the Light of the New Day. Following Dr. Merchant was Mr. Putnam, whose subject was "The Inspection of Urban Schools," which he said, should consist of inspection of the registers desks, note-books, text-books, etc., With this report of Mr. Mott, there followed a rather warm, but interesting discussion of "Examinations."

It was suggested by some that the composition be made shorter and easier in succeeding years than in proceding years. Arithmetic also should undergo the same change. This discussion was closed by the adjournment of the meeting until the afternoon session which opened at 2 p.m.

The first speaker was Inspector H. J. Clarke, B.A. His subject was "Literature in the Public Schools. In this he dealt with the more modern ways of teaching Literature. He stated that highly colored picture books should be used for the small children, then should come story telling, and after story telling should come reading of stories by the children.

He gave an excellent list of books which could be used in supplimentary reading for children from the ages of one to fifteen. A general discussion followed, after which Mr. A. D. MacIntosh, of Stirling High School was called upon. By Mr. MacIntosh's address it could be seen that he is working very enthusiastically towards the betterment of the Schools of Hastings County, along the lines of Agriculture. He emphasized strongly the benefits derived from the School Fall Fairs, at which numerous amusments for the children take place, and by mans of these Fairs the Agricultural spirit is developed very rapidly in both the children and parents. He also suggested the organization of a Progressive Club in each of the schools of the county, which might bring the children in closer touch with the Agricultural department.

Following Mr. MacIntosh were the short addresses given by those who attended the short courses at Summer Schools "On the Benefits Derived Thereof."

The first speaker was Mr. A. E. Thrasher, who had taken up Upper School work, and ably brought out the opportunities derived from them.

Then came Miss Vanderwater, who had taken a course in art. It was chiefly picture study and rapid drawing. The chief result being the development of the artistic powers of observation which are lacking in many.

Miss H. Bailey followed, who had taken a course of Physical Training, which consisted of games, dances, swimming etc., which resulted in the muscular development of the child.

Miss Roblin, who attended the O.A.C. at Guelph, stated that the course greatly developed her powers of observation towards the birds, flowers, insects, etc., and felt much better prepared to teach the children nature study than before.

Following came Mr. Dockstader, who had taken up cadet drill and told very vividly some of his most exciting experiences while there.

Last came Miss Bell, who had also taken the course in Art. She told of the Egyptian and Grecian art, which she took up and most of all the accuracy with which it had to be done.

But the prevailing feeling in the reports, despite the heat of July and August was the extreme Social Spirit which is developed at these schools, and the intentions of many, who heard these reports, are that they themselves shall attend the summer schools next year, if possible.

Then came the reports of the Committees and the general business was attended to, after which the convention closed by the singing of the National Anthem. Every teacher went away resolving to carry out many of the benefits, which were so clearly stated by the different speakers.

METHODIST CONFERENCE ---NO POLITICS

From the report of the proceedings of the Methodist General Conference, which has just closed its sittings in Ottawa, it is learned that the Hon. W. H. Hearst, Premier of Ontario, is a leading official in the Methodist Church in the locality in which he lives, and that some of the members of the Conference desired to congratulate him, by resolution, on his elevation to the Premiership of the Province. As might be expected, objection was taken to such a course, on the ground that the passage of such a resolution would be looked upon by those not of the Conference, as well as by some of the Conference, as political, which should be avoided. This view of the question being realized, the motion of congratulation was at the suggestion of the Rev. S. D. Crown, General Superintendent of the Church, withdrawn; not, however, until a somewhat lively exchange of opinion between Lay and Clerical representatives had taken place, during which the Chairman, Dr. Chown, displayed good sense in recommending an avoidance in their deliberations of subjects which might bear a reference to or have a semblance of party leanings, as in assemblies, though of a religious character, there were sure to exist differences of opinion, politically, no matter how they might agree upon doctrinal points and good Church government, hence a resolution having a semblance of extolling a Premier, no matter how worthy he might be, was not, in the interest of harmony, advisable, hence it was withdrawn.

The resolution of congratulation, was moved, the report says, by the Rev. Mr. Hunt of Calgary and seconded by Mr. E. Starr of Whitby, which, as might be expected, raised the ire of Lay delegate Patrick of Victoria, who, the report says, jumped to his feet as soon as the motion was read, and declared that the resolution was political.

"I think we should with very tender and conservative hands convey this resolution to the waste-paper basket," said lay delegate George Bell, Victoria.

Rev. W. B. Smith of Oakville then reminded the assembly that Mr. Hearst is an official member of the Methodist Church, and declared that a resolution of congratulation to one of their own people would not be political.

"Mr. Hearst's appointment to the Premiership does not affect the Methodist Church from coast to coast," declared another delegate. "If Mr. Hearst deserves congratulation, so does Mr. N. W. Rowell for his great stand last June."

"In the judgment of the Chair, this motion had better be withdrawn," said Rev. Dr. Chown. "It might cause a suspicion of a tinge of political partisanship in this Conference." And it was withdrawn accordingly.

Sensible Chairman. Though the mover and seconder may not have had the slightest thought of politics in moving the resolution, they would not get credit for it from those who were Rowellite supporters. As to the "great stand last June," of Mr. Rowell, sensible men of thought declare his and his party's action in dragging the question of temperance into a political fight did more to retard its advancement than the next ten years will recover.

The Intelligencer's position upon the question of dragging temperance into political contests by Clergymen is well known, hence it gives its cordial approval of the action of Dr. Chown in the course he pursued, though in full accord with any resolution complimenting Mr. Hearst upon his selection as Premier.

THE GERMAN COLONIES

The fate of the German colonies will not be decided on the Pacific or in Africa, but on the European battlefields is the assertion of Dr. W. S. Solf, German Secretary of State for Colonies and one-time Governor of German Somoa. Germany fears England's sea power is another statement by the same authority. His argument really means the victory in isolated territories must be only a temporary advantage if defeat is the result where the mighty armaments, sea and land, are congregated.

The German colonial secretary is not alone as an advocate of such a view; with him are the British Government and the Canadian Government, while opposed to this view is only Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his shattered following in Canada. Victory for Britain in Europe places the German colonies at the mercy of Britain; but a triumphant Germany would soon regain any lost possessions and in additon take from the Empire what it desired. Canada's future is being decided in the North Sea.

It was for this reason that an all-powerful Imperial navy was known to be a necessity for the Empire's preservation, and any menace to Britain's naval supremacy in Europe was an even greater menace to the Dominion's British connection than if they had been directly attacked. Colonial navies could of themselves be but commerce protectors, and only even that while the Imperial navy maintained its supremacy. Loss of the Imperial naval supremacy and the necessarily minor colonial navies would be swept aside as easily as "a scrap of paper" was in Europe two months ago.

It is for such reasons that the German colonial secretary says that the fate of the colonies will be decided on the battlefields of Europe. It is for the same reasons that the British Admiralty and the Canadian Government earnestly desired, two years ago, the immediate strengthening of the British navy at once, to be followed when any danger to its supremacy was removed by commerce protectors designed and maintained by the several dominions. New Zealand listened to the urgent call and is represented where the fate of the colonies will be decided, but, unfortunately, the desire of Canada to do likewise was thwarted.

WHERE TIME IS PROFITABLE

It is fully conceded, by those who are in a position to know, that the German economy cannot withstand the strain of a prolonged contest, and, quite apart from the military side of the matter, it is equally certain that unless the nearly seventy millions of German people are prepared to face the most extraordinary privations, they cannot endure, as British can endure, the strain of a protracted war. Each month that passes will make the British position stronger both in a military and an economic sense, which makes the German position weaker. The sum of the whole matter is, therefore, that it is highly improbable that this war will be a long one. It could only be that if the Germans were successful in repelling the Russian invader, while continuing and enlarging the invasion of France, that they could bring such influence and pressure to bear upon neutrals as to secure the means of economic continuity. And there is nothing in the military situation to make that a likely prospect. Nevertheless are we well advised in so great a matter to prepare against the worst possible prospect, and the greater the force we prepare the shorter the road to the certain end.

Rotten Pole Falls; Lineman Injured

PERTH, Ont., Oct. 9.—Mr. R. Homer, a Bell telephone lineman, was at work on a pole at the market square yesterday when the pole, which had rotted at the base, suddenly gave way, throwing him to the ground. One arm was broken in two place and he was cut about the face. The injuries are painful, but it is likely Mr. Homer will recover. Dr. Dwyre looked after the injured man and sent him to his home in Smith's Falls on the 4.20 train.

Montreal Mail: "Perhaps the most interesting "turning movement" is the one Bismarck has been carrying on—in his grave—ever since the Kaiser jumped into this war."

SHORT SHRIFT IN FRANCE TO THE GERMAN SPIES

Concealed Sentry Watches Their Attempt to Destroy a Telephone Line—Execution on the Spot—His Rifle Accounts For Both in Presence of a Horrified Civilian Spectator

(Special Correspondent on The French Firing Line.)

A soldier comes out from behind a pine tree with rifle and fixed bayonet.

"Ou allez-vous?" he says, stepping before me and dropping his bayonet point a little toward me.

"Je vais me promener," I reply, smiling, and anticipate his next demand by pulling out my case and displaying my special permit, also various other papers and an officially stamped photograph, which proves my identifcation with the name upon the special permit.

"Monsieur, permit, me," says the soldier suddenly in very fair English. "Monsieur is ze man that writes? I shake you by ze hand with ver' great pleasure. It is to me an honor"

We "shake" with enormous empressment, and I compliment him upon his English.

He smiles, gratified, and disclaims with great modesty. He beckons me back among the trees.

"One comes!" he says. "Ssh! Ze woods here have been many times set in flames. We have suspect these be done with intention."

"How? Why?" I ask, whispering to his whisper.

"Ze forts", he says, softly, staring keenly down the narrow path among the trees. "Ze trees have act as a mask. We have suspect zat spies have set ze lights. We watch, mooch * * * One comes ver' near. Hark him! You stay here when I go challenge."

"Right!" I whisper.

"You see him?" he asks a moment later. "Zere by ze coulver". * * *

He ceased his whisper abruptly and we both bent forward together. A hundred yards down the narrow path, among the pines, a man in a workman's blue blouse is standing, looking quietly in every direction.

Suddenly, he takes a couple of steps in among the trees, and for a few moments I cannot see him; but the soldier turns to me and signs for absolute silence, laying his forefinger on his lips, his eyes shining.

He begins to tiptoe down among the trees keeping a few paces away from the path. I am following. As we go down, a step at a time, noiselessly on the pine needles, there sounds a very soft whistle below, which is answered immediately from somewhere to the left and further down the slope of the pine-covered hill.

We take a few more steps in utter silence, then pause and listen. The soldier makes a queer excited gesture, throwing up his left hand to make sure that I do not move. I hear the sound now, a soft and cautious scraping of earth.

The sentry begins to go forward again, and suddenly we open out a vista, long and narrow, among the trees. Seeming far away, perhaps two hundred and fifty yards down hill, a figure is lying on its stomach, its face close to the earth. Near to the head there is what appears at this distance to be a small box.

"Arre!!" mutters the soldier under his breath, and slips down onto his face behind a big pine, waving frantically with one hand to his rear for me to do likewise.

The sound of something scraping softly at the earth continues. It is now on our right front, and, suddenly I see the man we have already seen. He is about forty yards away, kneeling down. He is lifting something which looks like a narrow slab of stone. He is stooping now into some cavity which he has just laid open. He takes a pair of wire cutters from his pocket, and I hear the snick distinctly as he cuts through something in the cavity.

The sound catches the hearing of the soldier, and he glances to his right swiftly.

I hear the half hissed "arre!" again as he sees the second man. Then suddenly he pushes his rifle forward and there comes a slight snicking sound.

I thrill with a vague sickness, for I know that I am going to see a brief glimpse of the war horror there among the hushed sunlight and the shadow of the tree holes.

Far down the hillside at the end of the narrow vista among the trees, the second man has suddenly risen. So utter is the silence that I can hear him plainly as he coughs. He begins to haul on something, and I realize suddenly the meaning of the whole incident that I am watching. The two men have located the underground telephone wire going up to the fort. They have been tapping it for any news they might pick up, and now they are removing a couple of hundred meters of wire bodily; after which, no doubt, they will replace the slabs which cover that roof in the underground channel and smooth back the earth and pine needles over the two disturbed places. Then it may be a matter of a week before the trouble is located and remedied; and much may happen in a week.

The soldier is methodical. He takes the distant man first. Kneeling there behind him I watch with a growing thrill and tension of tragedy and sickness his sunburned cheek cuddle against the stock of his rifle. Then, very slowly, it seems to me, in that quiet, dreadful moment, his stubby, cigarette-stained forefinger crooks back gently, gently on the trigger. It is horrible to kneel there behind him and realize that the slowly crooking of that cigarette-stained finger is literally the crooking finger of Death to the man down the long vista of trees.

"Cr-rack!" comes the sharp, snapping bang of the weapon, and the man down the vista of trees gives a queer little jump, and then turns right around quickly and looks behind him. And, thus looking, and seemingly unaware that he is the person who has been shot, his heart stops, and he rolls over quite easily and gently on his side—a merciful enough death, as these violent deaths go. For some of them are so dreadful.

And then, as I start, the rifle goes "cr-rack" again, and I jump; for I am still looking at the silent figure down the visita of trees.

But the soldier has been attending to his business and has snapped off a second shot (less well aimed than the first because of the sudden need for haste) at the nearer man, for the man had started to bolt. And because the shot was hastily aimed the second death is as cruel as the first was merciful. I cannot go into detail; but the soldier has to use a third cartridge before the end comes, and the man lies there quiet, his terrible screaming ended.

There is nothing beautiful in war; nothing, is my feeling. But the thing had to be done.

An examination of both bodies shows that the men were German spies, in possession of "ciphered" information that would no doubt, prove very helpful to our enemies. They were also armed each with Mauser automatic pistols.

"Espionage is become ver' difficult professon in France, Monsieur," says the soldier with a smile as he rolls a cigarette.

I nod, but I find it difficult to say anything just at the moment.

There seem to be more blockheads in the world than wooden legs.

It's awfully hard for some of us to find thoughts to fit our words.

CURRENT COMMENT

Calgary Herald: "W. H. Hearst, Ontario's new Premier, it not related to that other Hearst who prints "yellow" newspapers across the border and who hates everything British."

Kingston Whig: "A financial man, in Kingston, said he gathered from the people in the towns he had visited, that money matters were becoming easier. "We are again selling municipal securities," said he, "and that is always a promising sign."

With the flag of Drake and of Nelson flying in the North Sea and the old lion fighting the great fight for the Empire's safety, would it not have been a proud thing for Canada to have been able to say, "Here are three great ships of war. Take them."

In this hour of supreme trial for the British people the world over the Lauriers, the Pugsleys, the Carvells and the rest of that brood have come to realize that there is no room in Canada for the man who seeks to stand between Canada and the Empire.

St. John Globe: The best service the Canadian can render Canada at the present time is to buy made in Canada goods. By so doing the wheels of industry will be kept turning and the Canadian workman continued in his employment."

Kingston Standard: "Sweden has decided to incorporate Sir Edward Grey's speech on the causes of the war as a part of ordinary school curriculum, holding it to be an authentic page in the history of the world. We would suggest that Canada should follow this excellent example."

The New Yorker Staats-Zeitung announces the Canadian Government has barred the newspaper from the Dominion. The sale of the Fatherland was recently prohibited in Canada. Apparently these German-American papers had forgotten the President's injunction to be neutral, of which American papers are so often reminded by German readers.

An Easy Way To Stop Head Noises

GOOD ADVICE FOR THOSE WHO FEAR DEAFNESS

Men and women who are growing hard of hearing and who experience stuffy feeling of pressure against their ear drums, accompanied by buzzing rumbling sounds in their head like water falling or steam escaping should take prompt and effective measures to stop this trouble. Head-noises are almost invariably the forerunners of complete or partial deafness and most people suffer from them constantly. Sometimes these head noises become so distracting and nerve racking, with their never ceasing "hum" they drive the sufferer almost frantic and complete nervous breakdown and even violent insanity have been known to result.

Thanks to a remarkable scientific discovery made recently in England it is now possible to almost instantly lessen the severity of these headnoises and in a very short time to completely and permanently overcome them. With the disappearing of the head noises, the hearing also greatly improves and very frequently can be restored to normal. This English treatment is known as Parmint and can be easily and safely self administered at home. Leading druggists in Belleville and vicinity now have it in stock. Get from your druggst 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength) and mix it at home with ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Stir until dissolved and then take one tablespoonful four times a day until the noises disappear and hearing improves. Parmint is used double strength in this way not only to reduce, by tonic action, the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian tube and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum but to correct any excess of secretion in the middle ear and the result it gives are both remarkably quick and effective.

COSTS $55 PER SECOND BOTH DAY AND NIGHT

What Britain is Contributing to Crush the Berlin Lunatic

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—"This war is costing the country £11 ($55) per second, day and night," said Sidney Webb, well known as a political economist, in a lecture to-day at the School of Economics and Political Science, of which he was the principal founder.

The war, Mr. Webb added, was equivalent to a species of economic arthquake, which was upsetting everything and presenting everything in a new light. Nobody could predict to what degree of good or evil the world would be changed by the war, the speaker said, but the change undoubtedly would be colossal.

BLOOD RELATIONS

The facts regarding the blood-relationship of King George V. of Great Britain, Emperor William II. of Germany, and Emperor Nicholas II. of Russia are just now of special interest. George V. and William II are first cousins; both being grandsons of the late King Christian IX. of Denmark. George V. is the son of Edward VII and the Prncess Alexandra of Denmark; Nicholas II. is the son of Alexander III, and the Princess Dagmar of Denmark. William II. is the son of the late Princess Royal, Queen Victoria's eldest child. The relationship of the Emperor Nicholas and King George is made closer by the fact that the wife of the former, Princess Alix of Hesse, is first cousin to King George, being also a granddaughter of Queen Victoria. It is interesting further to note that King Constantine of Greece is first cousin to King George V., being the son of Queen-mother Alexandra's brother, the late King George of Greece. There is frequently a black sheep in a family. In this royal household the Kiser is the black one, and a savage as well.

Montreal Herald-Telegraph: "In surveying the new fields of business opportunities opened up by the war, Russia has been left out of account by the people on this continent. As a matter of fact, Russia is issuing a pressing invitation to the people of the British Empire and the United States to come and sell their goods to her 170,000,000 customers.

Fine Old Gentleman Suffered 40 Years With His Kidneys

He even had Hemorrhages from the Kidneys, so you may know how bad he was. Yet today, at 67 years, Mr. Allen is able to do a good day's work or enjoy a long drive without the least pain. This is what Gin Pills did for him. They will do as much for you if you have any Kidney or Bladder Trouble.

Port Elgin, N.B. November 12th.

"I feel it my duty, for the sake of those afflicted with similar troubles, to send you these few lines about Gin Pills. I am about 67 years old and have been troubled with Kidney Trouble since I was 25 years old. This was brought on by my getting over-heated and then sitting on cold steps in a draught.

At last, I had Hemorrhages of the Kidneys. I went to three doctors and tried most everything on the market but got no relief. I got very weak, had pain and lameness in the Back; often, I had to lie down during the day and it hurt me to be on a waggon. I began to think there was no help for me. The bleeding continued for 16 months until I just happened to try Gin Pills which has now put an end to the trouble.

Now I can look back over 15 months at my relief from suffering and anxious care. I can do a lot of chores, drive all day, have no pain, although I am still taking 2 pills a week as they seem to make things easier."

FRAMES BILL TO PREVENT MAKING PEACE TERMS WITHOUT CONSENT OF ALL.

IMPORTANT LUMBER INDUSTRY FOR NOVA SCOTIA

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 9—Special—An event of unusual importance to Nova Scotia's lumber interests is the appointment of a special commission by British colliery owners and the British Board of Trade to investigate the possiblity of securing a supply of timber props for British coal mines. In the past these props have been supplied from Baltic ports from which the traffic has been interrupted by the war. According to the Canadian trade commissioner in London, England, the value of this trade is $20,000,000 annually, and it is therefore of great importance to Canadians who should make an effort to obtain a good share of this business. The commissioner has expressed some fear that Canadian exporters may make their prices prohibitive, thinking that Great Britain is wholly dependent on Canada during the war for these products.

He states that suitable timbers can be produced from the south of France and Portugal. Moreover, Russian Baltic ports have been supplying about half the imports of props up to the present, and Russia, being an alley, the trade would probably revert to these ports after the war unless Canadian prices are made attractive. The commissoner algo pointed out that another reason why the Canadian quotations should be kept at a moderate figure is that the Atlantic freight rates are considerably higher than those from the Baltic ports, and therefore the Canadian dealers should make this a consderation if they wish to obtain and retain the trade. Some importance is also given to the question which the commission will be called upon to decide as to whether he Canadian timber is suitable from the standpoint of endurable strength. Nova Scotia has a great amount of small timber very suitable for this purpose of pit props, and the province is looking to securing a large share of the trade. Nova Scotia is the nearest point in Canada to England, and in Halifax, there is an all-the-year round shipping port with very great facilities for assemblng the timber and exporting it promptly. The Lumber Corporation of Nova Scotia is making enquiries on behalf of British buyers for timber owners who can supply pit props to be delivered in Halifax.

The five special commissioners are W. Windham, representing the British Boarrd of Trade; N. Cummings and D. B. Harrower, of the Timber Trade Federation of the United Kingdom; E. B. Whalley of the Mining Association of Great Britain, and R. Gomme, secretary of the Board of Trade. The commissioners may visit Newfoundland before their return to England.

CANADIAN GLACIERS

Face of Illecillewaet Glacier
Mount Sir Donald and Glacier
One of the Swiss Guides
Crevasses Illecillewaet Glacier

First it was thought that if one would enjoy really fine mountains he must go to Switzerland, the Mecca of all mountain climbers, but now the Alps have come to be the yardstick by which we measure the Rockies of our Westrn world. Apart from their grandeur and beauty as masses of bare rock and verdure, the Rockies have superb and everlasting snow fields and mighty glaciers, making a combination of color and light effect which is seen only in regions of lofty mountains. The magnificent scenery of the Canadian Rockies and Selkirks, which are now asily reached by th Canadian Pacific, is becoming better known each year to tourists. Those best qualified to judge, are unanimous in the opinion that all things considered, this new Alpine region is greater and more beautiful than that of the old world.

The first questions that naturally present themselves are, What are glaciers, and how are they formed. Broadly speaking, the definition is that a glacier is an accumulation of ice of sufficient size and weight to flow down from a snow covered elevation. It is a river flowing from a lake, the latter up near the summit of a great range or peak, the former pouring down into the valley below, only, it is a lake of snow and a river of ice. The thickness of the ice was vary greatly according to local conditions, and when these are favorable may be as much as 1,000 feet or more. Frequently glaciers extend far below the snow line of the region, because their great masses of ice are so thick that they are not entirely melted during the warm summer months.

In the Canadian Rockies the traveller finds them threading their way down from almost every peak. Here the mountain chains are narrower than further south, aggregating a total width of less than five hundred miles. Where the railway traverses them, there are four principal parallel ranges, th Coast Range, the Gold Range, the Selkirks and the Rockies. The last two are the highest and most rugged, and it is among their heights that the snow fields and glaciers are seen to greatest advantage.

When subjected to pressure ice yields and will change its form readily, but under conditions of tension it is brittle and will crack and splinter. This property is one of the causes of the great cracks or crevasses which appear in nearly all glaciers. Owing to an uneven bed change in course or even the more rapid central flow, great crevasses will form. At times these may be hundreds of feet in length.

The meltings from the glacier often flow on the surface for some distance till a crevasse is reached, down which they leap to the rock bed below. In many instances beautiful waterfalls are seen. Sometimes deep wells or moulins are formed, filled with water, or at the bottom of which the sounds of running water may be heard.

When the bed of the glacier is steep the surface of the ice becomes very much broken, and where lateral and transverse crevasses intersect, ice towers and pinacles (seracs) are found. These often rise to a height of many feet and are most beautiful, apparing in the sunlight as though made of exquisitely banded white and blue marble.

The power to transport rocks and other material over great distances is one of the most interesting characteristics of glaciers. The rocks which fall on the glaciers from the cliffs above are soon buried under a bed of snow. This is changed to ice as we have seen, and begins its slow but sure journey to the lower valleys, bearing its burden of rocks. A large part of the melting takes place at the surface of the ice where it is most exposed, so that stones once buried in the neve region gradually come to the surface as the ice above them melts. Here they ride along till deposited at the side or at the end of the glacier. In this way long regular heaps of moraines are formed, from which it is often easy to trace many changes in the glaciers. Moraines are designated by their position as respects the glacier, as medial, lateral and terminal. Individual glaciers vary greatly in the amount of material they thus carry down, owing to the priximity and condition of the cliffs above.

From the Chalet at Lake Louise, the Victoria Glacier is prominently visible. It rises on the great white summit of Mt. Victoria, and following down the upper portions of the peak finally avanlanches over the rock cliffs to the lower glacier. Paradise Valley lying to the east of that in which Lake Louise is situated, has at its head the Horseshoe Glacier. No visitor to Lake Louise, who can spare a day or longer, will fail to visit Moraino Lake and the Valley of the Ten Peaks, the next valley further east than Paradise Valley. This great glacier extending down almost to Moraine Lake, has been steadily advancing, and it is most interesting to observe how the heavy forest is being destroyed by its resistless force.

The glacier on the side of Mt. Stephen, high above the railroad as the train descends the Kicking Horse Pass to Field, is a source of much interest to and comment by tourists. At places it appears to overhang the track and at times great pieces of ice, which break off from it, roll down the mountain side. The principal glaciers that are visited from Field are those of the Yoho Valley. The Yoho Glacier at the head of this valley, is the source of the Yoho River.

The glacier which is undoubtedly most frequently visited of any in British Columbia, is the Great or Illecillowact Glacier, familiar to overyone who has been so fortunate as to be a guest at Glacier House. Since the summer of 1867 it has been observed with more or less care. At that times it covered the great bed moraine of boulders which now extends from the edge of the ice to the fringe of alder bushes.

Lying at the head of the valley of the same name, the Asulkan Glacier is also favorably located and possibly no valley in the immediate vicinity is more beautiful than this one. The glacier itself has a very fine ice fall. Its upper portions are buried deep in snow, but are easily reached under the direction of one of the Swiss guides. This glacier is also retreating in recent years with considerable rapidity. Measurements made upon its rate of decrease indicate that it is moving less rapidly than th Illecillawact.

Rheumatic Misery

Can Only Be cured Through the Blood Liniments of No Use.

In no diseaess does the blood become thin so rapidly as in rheumatism Not only does it become thin but it is loaded with impurities—rheumatic poisons. Without the proper treatmen these poisons increases, the inflamed joints swell and the patient becomes a cripple. There are a number of methods of treating rheumatism, most of them aiming to keep down the rheumatic poisons until nature can build up the blood sufficiently to overcome them. But unfavorable conditions of cold or dampness may give the disease the advantage and a relapse or renewed attack follows.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People build up the blood and enable it to cast out the rheumatic poisons with the natural secretions of the body. Thousands have tried this treatment with the most beneficial results. That every sufferer who does not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is neglecting the most helpful means of recovery is shown by the following statement. Mrs. Emeline Smith, St. Jerome, Que., says: "I was attacked with what the doctor said was inflammatory rheumatism. The joints of my hands, feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I suffered the most excruciating pain. Notwithstanding medical treatment the trouble became so bad that I could not go about. My appetite began to fail me and I was growing physically weak. A neighbor who had been benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advised me to try them and I decided to do so. In the course of a few weeks I noted some improvement, and my appetite began to return. Then the swelling in my joints began to disappear and it was not long before I was perfectly cured and I have had no return of the trouble."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for 2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Value of The New Educational Helps

EVERY USEFUL FEATURE IS SHOWN IN A MOST UNUSUAL AND UNIQUE MANNER

Find the best way to do a thing and then do it that way. This is indeed a good motto for anybody to follow. It seems to have been an established rule with the publishers of the New Illustrated Bible which The Intelligencer is now presenting to its readers.

The wonderful new educational helps contained only in this great work comprise exactly what everybody most needs and should have in a volume of this kind. Most of the topics are of purely historical character, taking up the peoples and the land of those days and touching upon geographical data and historical events of that time. These original instructive helps constitute a complete educational course that can be had from no other source.

The correct pronunciation of every proper name is indicated by a system of accents and discritical marks which will enable you to read with absolute certainty of pronouncing, with the utmost accuracy, even the most puzzling Scriptural names of people and places. The marginal references and variant readings are more profuse than in other editions.

The superb maps, in brilliant colors, were engraved especially for this edition and are not procurable elsewhere. They are remarkable for their accuracy and mechanical execution, being artistically printed from perfect new plates. The colors are tasteful and artistically blended.

Then besides the unique feature of illustrations printed in with the type where they belong, there are all of the best of the world-famous Tissot pictures. These are full-page plates in colors, and go to make this volume a rare work of art in every respect.

On the whole, this New Illustrated Bible which The Intelligencer presents to its readers is a modern volume in every respect, and the splendid illustrations alone make it superior to all other editions. Present six educational certificates and get this great work at once. To-day's certificate is printed on another page, where the entire plan is fully explained.

FOUR KILLED IN RAILROAD SMASH

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 9.—Four men were killed and four others injured when a railroad handcar upon which they were riding was demolished by a fast Anarbor freight train twenty-two miles northwest of Toledo last night. The dead were Roumanian section-hands. One of the injured men was carried all the way to Toledo on the pilot of the locomotive because of the trainmen's ignorance of the collision.

MARY GARDEN A NURSE

Operatic Singer Going to Front With Red Cross

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Mary Garden has abandoned the stage for time being and is going to the front as a Red Cross worker. Miss Garden, who passed the summer in Scotland, is now in London looking fresh and fit for any eventuality and, after seeing her mother and sister off for America on Saturday, will proceed to Paris to take up her new duties.

"I may never sing again," said the fair operatic singer today. "I am intensely interested in my new work and impatient for real action. Having had no experience in nursing, I shall help to remove the wounded from the battlefield. It is dangerous, yet, but what does it matter? I am not afraid. I am a fatalist, and I might as well die through a bullet as in any other way.

"At least, I will be doing something useful. I expect to be at the front with the French troops next week. If I come through it with a whole skin perhaps I will be able to sing better than before. The experience will, at least, be broadening."

CANADIAN ICE-BREAKER GOES TO WAR ZONE

OTTAWA, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Count Medzikhovsky, attache to the Russian Embassy to the United States was a visitor in Ottawa yesterday, and called upon the Under-Secretary of State, Sir Joseph Pope. Count Medzikhovsky recently purchased for his government the Canadian icebreaker J. T. Horn and he goes from here to Montreal to inspect this vessel. The J. T. Horn will be sent to the northern waters of Russia to facilitate navigation in and out of Archangel in connection with the military operations of Russia.

The Count expressed himself as well pleased with the progress of the war to date, and is confident in the ultimate triumph of the allies. He stated that just prior to his departure from Washington the Russian Ambassador received despatches confirming reports of important Russian successes in the eastern theatre of the war.

TO RELIEVE ANTWERP BRITISH RUSHING TO AID

Fate of Belgian Stronghold Is Still In the Balance and Persistent Rumors of Its Fall Are Denied—Fighting on Large Scale Is In Progress Around the City—Refugees Arriving In England.

LONDON, Oct. 10. — The Daily Telegraphs Rotterdam correspondent, telegraphing Friday, says:

"A more hopeful view prevails here regarding Antwerp. Refugees from that city declare that not a single German soldier has yet entered Antwerp."

Count de le Laing, Belgian Minister to Great Britain, says he has received no confirmation of the reported fall of Antwerp, a report that was persistently circulated here last night. The Official News Bureau said they had no confirmation of it.

A Central News despatch received in London declares that a new British army is marching to aid Antwerp from the north of France, where it has united with a French force. Desperate assaults of the besiegers on the Antwerp forts are laid to the knowledge of the approach of this aid and a desire to accomplish the city's downfall before succor arrives.

From Rotterdam comes a despatch dated Friday saying that fires in Antwerp caused by German shells have now assumed tremendous proportions.

The Morning Chronicle has a despatch which says that the German soldiers have entered Antwerp. The inhabitants are quite calm, most of those who wished to leave the city having done so before the bombardment commenced. There is no objection from the censor to publication of this statement, which is unconfirmed.

The Daily Mail has been informed on good authority that Antwerp has fallen. Neither the official press bureau nor the Belgian Minister can confirm the report.

The Daily Chronicle's Rosendaal, Holland, correspondent, under date of Friday, says the situation in Antwerp is critical, and that the town is virtually deserted, except for the Belgian troops.

"Every house here," the correspondent continues, "is packed to the roof with refugees, and other refugees are camping around the railroad stations. Antwerp's civil guard was disbanded Wednesday."

"Stubborn fighting is proceeding before the Antwerp fortifications," says The Daily Mail's Ostend correspondent, telegraphing Friday. "Four assaults have been repulsed at No. 4 fort at Vieuxdieu. The bombardment of the town appears to be somewhat diminishing in intensity."

The Ostend correspondent of The Daily Mail has sent the following despatch, under date of Thursday: "According to the latest advices, the Belgians made a successful sortie from Antwerp, which resulted in the capture of 3,000 Germans and forced the enemy to recross the River Nethe, abandoning their guns at Linth."

The Daily News' correspondent, Hugh Martin, at Ghent wired Thursday:

This afternoon the left wing of the German army besieging Antwerp succeeded in forcing the passage of the Scheldt at Schoonarde, fifteen miles east of this city. It is now moving slowly northward towards Locheren and St. Nicholas. The Belgians are fighting a severe rearguard action. The object of this movement is to get astride the main road from Ghent to Antwerp, which is also the main road from the coast and the railway which follows the same general line, thus striking at the main land communications of the pro-capital and its garrison.

To the east the crossing of the Nethe has been effected at Lierre, and to the south heavy guns have been brought into action against the forts at Puersboom and Willebroeck. The besieging army is closing in on all sides, but the game is not up. I have just come from the scene of the retreat from the line of the Scheldt. It has been a harrowing experience, standing out even from among many of the painful ordeals of the past weeks. For three days and a greater part of three nights the guns have never ceased to speak from bank to bank of the river, along a fifteen mile line of winding waterway between Termonde and Wetteren.

The places in Antwerp which thus far have suffered the most severely in the bombardment of that city are the southern station, the Palace of Justice, the Avenue de l'Industrie and the quarters in these vicinities. This statement is made in a message from the Ostend correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co.

"Thousands of refugees are arriving here, and the steamers for England are packed," says Reuter's Ostend correspondent.

"In the siege operations against Antwerp the Germans are using no less than 200 guns, of 11, 12 and 16-inch calibre, some of them having a range of over eight miles.

"The bombardment of Antwerp Thursday began at 9.30 p.m. and stopped at ten, only to be renewed with increasing violence at midnight.

"The British, French and Russian Ministers were the last of the diplomatic body to quit Antwerp. They departed by boat at 11 o'clock last night."

Przemysl In Flames.

ROME, Oct. 10. — (Via London.) —The Russian Ambassador while denying a report that the garrison of Przemysl, in Galicia, had surrendered to the Russians, added: "However, the whole town is afire, and its capitulation is now inevitable."

MARKET REPORTS

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Belief that advancing prices had checked the European demand resulted today in a downward swing for wheat. The market closed nervous, ½c to ⅝c under last night. Corn lost ½c to ⅝c net, and oats ⅛c to ½c. In provisions the outcome varied from 20c decline to a rise of 2½c.

Three Thousand Captured.

OSTEND, Oct. 10.—It appears that in the course of yesterday's bombardment of Antwerp a sortie was made which proved eminently successful, according to information received last night from the besieged city. Three thousand Germans were taken prisoners. The enemy, it is thought, may now have to retire from Lierre, to which it had brought up heavy artillery. Courtral has now been occupied by 5,000 German troops.

70,000 German Prisoners.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—The Government is assembling exact information regarding the identity of 70,000 German prisoners now in French hands, with the object of exchanging this data for similar facts regarding French prisoners with the German authorities.

Allies Victorious in Six Big Battles on French Line.

In Order to Prevent Anglo-French Armies From Going to the Aid of Antwerp the Germans Renew Heavy Fighting on West Side—Cavalry Raid at Lille Is Repulsed With Heavy Loss.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—At least six separate battles of great magnitude were fought in France yesterday along the northern firing line and to the east in the Woevre district. Sensing that the allies' object was raising the Antwerp siege, the Germans at many points attempted to find a weak link in the chain of steel which lies between them and their goal.

The cavalry raid of Germans in northwestern France, near Lille, was met by a counter raid of the British and French troops. A severe engagement occurred at Bethune, 17 miles north of Arras. The Germans were defeated, and said to have been driven over the Belgian border. Many prisoners were taken in this action, and already have arrived at Ostend and Dunkirk, at both of which places the allies have concentrated large forces. Other conflicts are reported from Lens, Arras, Bray-sur-Somme, Roye and Lassigny. At the two latter places Gen. Von Kluk's right renewed its efforts to escape from the encircling manoeuvre which, despite all official reticence, is still being slowly consummated.

Yesterday, as for every day in the past two weeks, these attempts ended in failure and troops sent forward were thrown back on the main line of intrenchments.

In the Woevre district, where the French have been progressing without a halt, but too slowly to be called a triumph, for more than a week, the Germans made a stand in force yesterday, being aided by a most terrific bombardment from their heavy artillery. Unofficially it is said that they were again forced to give ground before the bayonet charge.

On the east end of the line the Germans continue their northward movements from Hattonchatel. This movement is undoubtedly the result of weakening the line to aid General Von Kluk and through sending large detachments to join the siege of Antwerp.

In Lorraine and the Vosges a comparative lull prevails with the exception of the fortified cities. Practically all of Alsace is held by the French, and they are in undisputed possession in many important places in Lorraine. On the centre of the Oise and on the Meuse only minor actions have occurred, the result of which is without important bearing on the larger plan.

Reinforcements of several army corps were sent yesterday to northeastern France, near the Belgian border. The allies are straining every effort to gain control of the railroad lines into Belgium still held by the Germans. The Germans retaliated yesterday by sending a strong force of Uhlans to attempt to cut the lines of the French north of Arras. This brought on the severest engagement of the day, in which the Germans were defeated.

New German Headquarters.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A despatch to the Reuter Telegram Co. from Amsterdam says that the Berlin correspondent of The Telegraaf reports that the German army headquarters are now at a French town 50 kilometres from the front, to which they were removed from Luxemburg. A special courier service has been arranged between Berlin and the headquarters, and messengers make the round trip in three days.

Archbishop Hamilton Resigns.

OTTAWA, Oct. 10.—The Anglican house of bishops in session here yesterday accepted the resignation of Archbishop Hamilton of Ottawa, both as head of Ottawa diocese and metropolitan of Canada. The Bishop of Algoma presided, and the resignation was accepted only after the archbishop had firmly declined to reconsider it.

The retirement will take place on Oct. 18 and a successor will be appointed a month later.

Captured Cargo of Coal.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The following official statement given out in Berlin, has been received here by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co.:

"The Norwegian steamer Modig, carrying 1,800 tons of coal from England to Russia, has been captured by a German torpedo boat and brought into Swinemunde."

Steamer India Aground.

CARDINAL CANAL, Ont., Oct. 10.—The steamer India of the Montreal Transportation Company, bound for Montreal and loaded with 60,000 bushels of wheat, went aground at Galop's Canal at 3 p.m. yesterday. The vessel is supposed to be leaking. Wreckage tugs will attempt to float her to-day.

Raid on Paris Failed.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—One of the light blue German aeroplanes, which have been nicknamed the "still doves," approached Paris between 8 and 9 o'clock yesterday morning. It was sighted by a French air sentinel, who gave chase in his machine. The German airship disappeared to the north.

German Guns For Turkey.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Co. from Athens says it is asserted that that German officers have placed some 42-centimetre guns in the forts on the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

Possibly the exploding of the theory that two can live as cheaply as one is responsible for a good many divorces.

Here's What a New York Paper Says About Velvets

One of New York's leading Fashion Papers, in its October issue, has this to say regarding the Velvet Season:—

"Velvet is the leading fabric of the present Fall Season, giving second place grudgingly to Broadcloths of a high sheen and to dull Velour, or finished suede-like fabrics. As Velvet leads, so its twin sister, Velveteen, is well to the fore, being almost preferred as a fabric for a street costume or smart walking and street suit. Velvet and Velveteens are worn noon, afternoon and evening — Velvet Coats, Velvet Wraps and Velvet Dresses have first place for the present Fall and Winter season."

In this connection we would add that, in Plain and Fancy Velvets and Velveteens, we have a stock of more than Two Hundred pieces to select from. Prices 50c. to $5.00 yard.

KAISER'S PROPERTY SAFE.

British Government Has No Intention of Seizing B. C. Holdings.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Emperor William is popularly supposed to have large investments in the timber and minerals lands of British Columbia, and it has been rumored in London that the British Government was considering the confiscation of the Emperor's property in Canada.

It can be stated on the authority of a high official in the Foreign Office that the Government has no thought of confiscating the property of alien enemies within the confines of the British Empire.

The German Emperor is supposed to be heavily interested with Alva Von Alvensleben in Western Canada properties. However, the British Government has not even made an investigation of the titles of the properties in question and disclaims any curiosity as to the Emperors' reported investments.

Defeat of Servians Claimed.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Austrian War Office made the following official announcement under date of Oct. 8, says a despatch to the Retuer Telegram Co. from Vienna, coming by way of Amsterdam:

"To the already announced successes against the Montenegrin troops now is added a decisive blow against the Servian troops who invaded Bosnia at Vishegrad. Their northern column from Srebrenitza, moving against Bajnaa and Basta, already has been repulsed and driven across the Drina with the loss of their supply train."

Belgian Deputy Mayor Shot.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Bordeaux correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Co. has sent the following:

"It is rumored that M. Basly, a Socialist deputy mayor of Lens (in the French Department of Pas de Calais), has been taken as hostage by the Germans and shot.

"According to another unconfirmed rumor the Germans have destroyed the Town Hall in Arras (capital of the Department of Pas de Calais). This building contained priceless art works."

Power Line Nearly Ready.

CORNWALL, Oct. 10. — The 45-mile transmission cable, to carry 85,000 horsepower electrical energy from Cedar Rapids through Cornwall and Massena, is expected to be completed by Nov. 1. It is stated that so far $700,000 has been expended in construction. There are 321 towers, 600 feet apart, 15 feet square, and 45 to 200 feet high. There are about 5,000 pounds of galvanized angle iron in each tower.

NEARLY READY NOW.

German Fleet Will Begin War on Britain Soon Say German Papers.

ROME, Oct. 10. — (Via Paris.)—The war against Great Britain, according to German newspapers, will commence at the end of October, after Antwerp has fallen. Belgium then will become the base of operations against Great Britain, the newspapers say. They add that Admiral Von Tirpitz, the Minister of the Navy, who is now at general headquarters with Emperor William, has announced that he will go aboard the flagship of the German fleet and direct the operations of the navy.

French Fleet Is Active.

BORDEAUX, Oct. 10—The following official statement was given out yesterday: "The French fleet, commanded by Admiral Boue de la Peyrere, after provisioning at Antwerp, cruised among the islands of the Adriatic between Cattaro and the island of Lissa. Later the French fleet appeared before Ragusa and Garvosa.

"The Austrian authorities and other notables at Ragusa fled on two special trains as soon as the battleships were sighted. The Italian and Slav population remained calm. The French squadron destroyed the lighthouses and the wireless apparatus at Garvosa. The torpedo boat destroyer Sabretache made a few prisoners at the Putini lighthouse.

"The Austrian warship remained hidden in the harbors at Pola and Cattaro."

The Germans have recommenced the bombardment of Campigny, a village 14 miles south of Verdun, in which is President Poincare's residence. Forty-eight shells have dropped on the president's country home.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

A German fishing vessel has been blown up by a mine in the Langeland belt, north of the coast of Denmark. The captain was killed, but the rest of the crew were saved.

Miss Julia Brown, of Somerville, Ont., was assaulted yesterday morning by an unknown young man. Miss Brown is 65 years old, and was brutally beaten and robbed of a small sum of money.

Hogs valued at thousands of dollars were slaughtered yesterday in Malden township by special Government experts sent to check the worst outbreak of cholera that has occurred in twenty years.

Belgian King at Selzaete.

LONDON, Oct. 10—An Amsterdam despatch to Reuter's Telegram Co., dated Friday, quotes The Nieuws Van Der Dag of Ghent as saying that King Albert left Antwerp yesterday morning and has arrived at Selzaete, a village near the Dutch frontier town of Sas Dan Genet.

A Fair Example

The following letter tells of the promptness with which this Company settles its claims. It is a fair example of our methods:

Gentlemen,—

It is with much pleasure that I am able to write you instructing you that I have received today payment in full of $1,000, for the risk held on my late son, Freddie Clayton Gerow, who lost his life on the 13th of September through an unfortunate accident in the Bay of Quinte near here. The proofs of loss were prepared by my solicitors on Saturday the 26th inst., and I received payment this 30th day of September. You can readily understand the relief that payment of this amount affords me at this very critical time and goes a long way to relieve the anxiety which I otherwise would feel if payment had been delayed.

Yours truly,
MRS. EMILY GEROW.

Front St. Block Partially Gutted

Two Families and Two Business Places Burned Out—A Stubborn Fight by Firemen —Origion Unknown

Shortly after nine o'clock last night a fire broke out in a brick block on Front street, known as the Elvin's block, and adjoining No. 2 Fire Station. When discovered the flames were at the rear of the building and soon had found their way to the third storey. The fire brigade had a stubborn fight for over three hours, but were successful in saving the building from destruction. The ground floor was practically untouched by the fire, but the rear portion of the second and third floor was gutted, and the flames broke out in certain parts of the roof.

In the block were two places of business, namely A. Melchoir & Son fruit store, and Mr. O. Wardhaugh's second hand store, which contained a large quantity of new goods. The latter also had stored in the premises a considerable portion of his household effects, including a valuable piano.

The apartments on the second floor were occupied by Mr. A. Melchoir and Mr. Jason Thompson, both of whom lost heavily, as they were unable to remove any of their belongings. The effects were insured, but we understand that in both cases the loss will be in excess of the insurance.

The building is the property of Mrs. John N. Pringle, of this city. The damage sustained to the block is in the vicinity of $2,000, which is covered by insurance. The roof being of tin confined the flames, hence the blaze was not of a spectacular nature. How the fire originated is not known, and when discovered it had gained considerable headway.

During the progress of the fire hundreds of citizens were in the immediate vicinity watching intently the work of the fire fighters.

Mr. O. Wardhaugh had no insurance upon the contents of his place of business, and his loss will be considerable. His household effects were, however, insured.

Melchoir & Son had a considerable quantity of fruit destroyed by the fire.

How I Made My Hair Grow

Woman with Marvelously Beautiful Hair Gives simple Home Prescription Which she used with Most Remarkable Results.

I was greatly troubled with dandruff and falling hair. I tried many advertised hair preparations and various prescriptions, but they all signally failed; many of them made my hair greasy so it was impossible to comb it or do it up properly. I think that many of the things I tried were positively injurious and from my own experience I cannot too strongly caution you against using preparations containing wood alcohol and other poisonous substances. I believe they injure the roots of the hair. After my long list of failures, I finally found a simple prescription which I can unhesitatingly state is beyond doubt the most wonderful thing for the hair I have ever seen. Many of my friends have also used it, and obtained wonderful effects therefrom. It not only is a powerful stimulant to the growth of the hair and for restoring gray hair to its natural color, but it is equally good for removing dandruff, giving the hair life and brilliancy, tc., and for the purpose of keeping the scalp in first-class condition. It also makes the hair easier to comb and arrange in nice form. I have a friend who used it two months and during that time it not only stopped the falling of the hair and wonderfully increased its growth, but it practically restored all of his hair to its natural color. You can obtain the ingredients for making this wonderful preparation from almost any druggist. The prescription is as follows:

Bay Rum, 6 oz.; Menthol Crystals, ½ drachm; Lavona de Composee, 2 oz. If you like it perfumed add one drachm of your favorite perfume. This however, is not necessary. Apply night and morning; rub thoroughly into the scalp.

DERELICT VESSELS

To be Removed from Toronto Harbor—"Dunburn," well Known Here, To be Rebuilt.

The Toronto Harbor Commissioners have issued instruction that three derelicts, Juno and Dunburn of the Canada Steamship Company and the abandoned Erie Belle, which have for some time been in the astern section of the harbor near the National Iron Works, be removed at once. The commissioners say that they are interfering in the carrying on of the harbor development.

The Dundurn and the Juno will be takn to Picton and fitted up as lighters by the Canada Steamship Company. Last fall the Dundurn was taken out of the freight service and her engines and boilers removed and installed in a ferry in Montreal. When the steamer was stripped of its steel plates it was found that her planking was in a bad state of decay. The boat was completely dismantled. Her decks and cabins were removed, till nothing but the hull was left. She was then beached at the eastern end of harborbor. The Juno was one of the oldest wooden hull freighters on the lakes, and she was hauled up beside the Dundurn.

FIGHT FOR YOUR LOVED ONES AT HOME

Save Them from Drink and Unemployment.

Many men drink who desire to stop the habit. Whiskey, however, has undermined the constitution, inflamed the stomach and created a craving that cannot be denied. He must have help.

Samaria Prescription will stop the craving, steady the nerves, build up the general health, and makes drink actually distasteful and nauseous. It is tasteless and odorless, and can be given with or without the patient's knowledge, in tea, coffee, or food. It has cured thousands in Canada, and restored happiness to hundreds of homes.

Read what Mrs. ——, of Hull, says:

"It is four months to-day since I started to use your remedy. I followed the directions and had the best of results. One week after I started using your remedy the patient stopped drinking, and has not drunk a glass of liquor since. I hope you will accept my heartfelt thanks. Hoping God will bless your remedy wherever tried, I remain,

"Mrs. G——, Hull, Que."
(Name withheld by request.)

Now, if there is any one in your town who needs this Remedy, tell them of it. Practical philanthropy can take no better form. If you have a husband, father, brother or friend who drinks, help them help themselves. Write to-day.

A FREE TRIAL PACKAGE of Samaria, with booklet giving full particulars, directions, testimonials, price, etc., will be sent in a plain sealed package, on request. Correspondence sacredly confidential. Write today. The Samaria Remedy Co., Dept. 90 142 Mutual Street, Toronto, Canada.

BIG FISH CAUGHT THIS SEASON IN ONTARIO WATERS

The Bristol Steel Rod fishing competition for the largest fish taken in 1914 in Ontario waters, has brought forth many claims for the angler's championship honors. A beautiful fish weighing 28 lbs. won premier place in the grey (lake) trout class. This was taken by Mr. Fred E. Ringwold, of New York, in the South West arm of Lake Timagami. Second place went to Mr. Frank J. Barber, Georgetown, Ont, with a 20 lb. trout, caught in Ragged Lake, Algonquin Provincial (Ontario) Park, while the third prize was secured by Mr. Lawrence Brown with a 17 lb. trout from Buck Lake, Algonquin Park.

The largest entry of small mouth black bass was that of Mr. C. C. Fox, of Kensington, Pa. This fish weighing 4 lbs, 4 oz. was caught in Rock Lake, Algonquin Park, on Sept. 3rd.

All the prize fish, it will be noted, were taken out of waters in the magnificent sporting districts opened up by the Grand Trunk Railway.

BELLEVILLE TALENT SHINES AT TWEED

Speaking of the successful concert, which closed the Tweed Annual Agricultural Fair, the Tweed News pays the following compliment to the talent from Belleville, to whom its success was largely due:

The programme was given by the Excelsior Male Quartette of Belleville, assisted by Mrs. A. P. Allen, Soprano and Mr. Abe Wheeler, Humorist. The work of these artists was very greatly enjoyed.

The Quartette was fine. Mrs. Allen's numbers caught right on and the audience would have welcomed more.

Abe Wheeler did some good dancing stunts that called for loud applaus. He got rid of some fairly good jokes and some thought he was a little too hard on the peaceful and harmless Moira river—it could have done with a few less of those imaginary dams.

The Concert was an all round success and its patrons went home declaring they had full value for their money.

"EMINENT COIFFURE SPECIALIST IS COMING"

Prof Dorenwend of the Dorenwend Co'y. Toronto will be at the Hotel Quinte, Belleville on Tuesday, October 13th when he will be in consultation with their many patrons in this vicinity. The Dorenwend Co'y is well known throughout the Dominion and their visits here are always signalized by activity in their line. During the visit their will be shown a sample stock of the most fashionable hair-goods and the latest modes in everything pertaining to the hair. A specialty will be the Dorenwend Sanitary Patent Toupee, an invention which should be examined by every man who is bald. A cordial invitation is extended to the people to call and inspect these goods.

Patriotic Concert At The Armouries

Come to the Benefit and Patriotic Concert at the Armories on Tuesday night, Oct. 13th to hear the 15th Regt. Band play and sing "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," the song that the British soldiers are making famous on the battlefields of Europe. Pipe-Major Albert Johnstone, who appeared by command on several occasions before the late King Edward, will give a bagpipe solo. Tom Bowie, who has no equal as a national dancer, will give English, Irish and Scotch Dances. Professor Dan Cameron will again sing "Soldiers of The King," as only this accomplished artists can sing it.

The bell solos played by "Billy" Grant were much commented on at the last concert, and will be repeated.

Albert Wheeler, (our one and only Ab.) whose singing and dancing has made him famous the country over, will give one of his old time specialties.

Our band, which is now on a par with the leading military bands of the country will render a number of patriotic and concert selections. Admission 10c, reserved seats 25c.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST LAND REGULATIONS.

The sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency) on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

W. W. CORY, C.M.G.,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

DESERONTO H.S. vs. O.S.D.

On Friday afternoon a hard-fought game of soccer was played on the grounds of the School for the Deaf between the teams of the O.S.D. and Deseronto High School. By virtue of their fine combination playing the silent boys had the better of the play, but so well did the Deseronto lads defend their citadel that the Deaf boys stormed it in vain, the game ending with the score 0-0. The match was well played and hard fought on both sides but, as in all previous contests between these elevens, the best of good feeling prevailed throughout and the match was a very interesting one from the spectators point of view.

After the game the Deseronto boys enjoyed a refreshing shower bath and then had lunch with their manly young deaf opponents.

The return game will probably be played in Deseronto on Friday next.

The teams lined up as follows:

Dereronto—Goal, S. Gammon, backs A. Mallery, C. Mallery; half backs, T. Large, H. Harvey, J. Alexander, forwards, W. Armitage, C. Brennan, L. Whiting, H. Thompson, C. McKenna.

O.S.D.—Goal, S. Nurse; backs, C. Ford, A. Forrester; half backs, T. H. Harvey, J. Alexander; forwards, T. Brown, A. Martin, P. McDougall, C. Dorschner, W. McAdam.

Referee—M. Marrigan, Deseronto.

A VALUABLE REMINDER

The pot full of scalding water that is carelessly left on the stove or table where the youngster can reach it is every year the cause of hundred of painful accidents, many of which result in death. A forcible reminder of this fact is found in one of the illustrations of the October number of the "Canada Life Echoes." This well-known little periodical this month takes the form of a number for women and both in the reading matter it contains and the large number of especially interesting pictures with which it is illustrated, it likely to appeal strongly to women readers. The cover is handsomely designed and incorporate a reproduction of a timely photograph of a party of Canadian ladies at rifle practice. A feature of the booklet that is likely to have a permanent value for those who receive copies is to be found in a comprehensive series of directions for the application of first aid in accidents that is always more or less likely to happen in the home. The booklet s published by the Canada Life Assurance Co., and a supply has been sent E. H LaLRocue, General Agent, Belleville, who will send out free copies in answer to enquiries as long as they last.

A signal feat in modern railway enterprise was achieved when the new Lake Shore Line of the Canadian Pacific was completed thus practically "double-tracking" the Company's route between Montreal and Toronto, the Dominion's two great centres in population, industry, commerce and trade. The Lake Shore Line cost for construction $2,000,000 and opened for passenger and freight traffic in June, 1914.

Prior to that date the Company's main line was double-tracked only as far as GlenTay, 16 miles below Smith Falls. From Glen Tay to Toronto, a distance of 298 miles, the Company's main line was single track. It required only time and money to complete, by a parallel line, double-tracking between these two points. Why was it not done?

Because if it had been done, the Canadian Pacific would have had no connections with several of the most thriving of the minor Ontario towns and cities between Perth (four miles above Glen Tay) and Toronto. Accordingly, with an eye to the value of direct connections with these minor centres of industry, commerce, and trade, the Company wisely planned and constructed their new Lake Shore Line.

This line, which has beautiful vistas of natural scenery all along the route, begins properly at Glen Tay, rns, first, southwest through a score of pretty villages in a fertile territory to the nestling picturesque town of Belleville; then, turning southeast continues through a series of the most active and prosperous Lake Ontario towns and cities, such as Trenton, Colborne, Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanvill,e Oshawa and Whitby, joining the main line again at Agincourt, 15 miles from Toronto, the Queen City of Canada.

The paramount importance of the new Lake Shore line will be realized when it is understood that the epithet "new" is meant to apply not solely to the section between Glen Tay and Agincourt. Rather, the idea is that the practical double-tracking of the Canadian Pacific's route between Montreal and Toronto, and between the other "live" towns and cities on Lake Ontario, constitutes, virtually, a complete alternate route, with grades lower than the old line, thus enabling the Company to run passenger and freight trains over the new line more expeditiously and more cheaply for the public. As an instance of this, the new route avoids the inconvenience of the old Bus Transfers which long obtained at Belleville, Trenton, Colborne, Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Whitby and elsewhere.

In short: the Lak Ontario Line from Montreal to Toronto, including as it does, the chief thriving Lake Ontario towns and cities, will not only create, at is already has done, new business, but also will facilitate the handling of the enormous freight and passenger traffic that passes through this enlarged territory. To the Company the Lake Shore Line means efficiency in service; to the Captains of Business, Industry and Trade, expeditious handling of exports and imports; and to the travelling public unexampled accommodation, comfort and economy.

PREMIER SENDS FIRST MESSAGE TO CITIZENS OF THE PROVINCE

Trail Blazed by Sir James Whitney Will be Followed, But New Ground May be Broken in Developement of Natural Resources

Hon. W. H. Hearst on Tuesday issued the following statement, his first message to the people of Ontario as Premier of the Province:—

I desire in the first place to express my deep appreciation and that of my colleagues, of the sympathy so generously extended by the people of Ontario, and indeed of Canada generally on the death of our late beloved and gifted leader, Ontario's most honored and trusted citizen.

Sir James Whitney passed away genuinely mourned by the people of the province after distinguished and successful career such as it is given few men to enjoy. But while he has gone from us, he has left record of good deeds, and of legislation for the development of the Province and the betterment of its people that will be an inspiration for generations to come.

Follow Splendid Traditions.

It will be the aim, object and determination of the new Government to carry out the splendid traditions of government Sir James has bequeathed to us, to maintain unimpaired the many great works he has accomplished, and to carry to completion the works inaugurated, and the plans devised by him for the benefit of the people of the Province and the development of its resources. Above all we will maintain unsullied and unimpeached the high standard of clean, honest administration of public affairs set by him.

The legislation enacted under the guidance of Ontario's late Prime Minister has been so beneficial, and the works carried out under his direction so ample and complete, that his successors might well be satisfied to follow the trail that he has so well blazed out for them.

Develop Our Resources

But complete and beneficial as the legislation and works of the late Government have been, a Province blessed with such limitless resources of field and forest, of mine and river, of lake and waterfall, and people of such a splendid type of manhood and womanhood as ours constantly requires new measures and new laws for the development of its resources, and the comfort and happiness of its people, the present Government will strive to meet these requirements to the full, and we will not hesitate to break new ground when the needs of the Province demand.

By earnest consecration to the interests of the people, by the efficient discharge of our trusteeship, and by wise and progressive legislation suited to the needs of this much-favored Province we hope to retain the confidence, respect and support of the people of Ontario which were enjoyed to so marked a degree by the late Government of Sir James Whitney.

Hydro Policy Continues.

We have not yet had time to give thought and consideration to new questions and subjects that may demand attention, but I desire at this, my earliest opportunity, to assure the public that the policy of hydro-electric development inaugurated under the Whitney Government and carried to such a triumphant success with unexampled energy, zeal and devotion to the public service by Sir Adam Beck, will be carried on with unbated vigor, until the boon of cheap light, cheap heat and cheap power is available to every section of the Province and to every class of the community, to the toiler on the farm as well as the dweller in our towns and cities, so far as it is practicable and feasible to accomplish this.

I must not let this opportunity pass without making public acknowledgment of the great debt of gratitude owed by the Government, the Conservative party, and the Province generally to Dr. Pyne, the Minister of Education for his selfsacrificing devotion to and untiring care for our late Premier during his illness, and also for the splendid service rendered by him during the many trying weeks when as acting head of the Executive Council, the responsibility for the administration of the affairs of the Province devolved upon him.

Personnel of the Cabinet.

Mr. colleagues, Mr. Foy, Dr. Pyne, Mr. Hanna, Mr. Duff, and Mr. Lucas will preside over the same departments as heretofore and the public may depend upon these gentlemen continuing to give that splendid conscientious service in the administration of these departments that so largely assisted in making that proud record achieved by the late Government. Mr. Macdiarmid, who becomes Minister of Public Works, and successor to Dr. Reaume, brings markee ability and special capacity for work to the service of the Province.

The splendid work carried on in the past by Mr. Hanna in the treatment of prisoners and in the care of the insane and mentally defective, will be maintained by him, and it is our confident hope that Ontario will continue to lead the world in humane and business-like treatment of these classes.

Agriculture, the great basic industry of the Province, will always receive the best consideration of the Government. An active campaign has been inaugurated, and will be pressed on with increased vigor, to stimulate a greater production of foodstuffs so urgently required now by the Empire as well as for home consumption. Additional efforts will be made to secure for the consumer the products of the farm without any unnecessary advancement in price over that obtained by the producer.

Open Up the North.

The work of developing our great heritage in Northern Ontario will proceed with added zeal and energy.

Education, alike primary and secondary, and in its higher branches will receive the same careful attention as in the past, and no effort will be spared to equip in the best manner possible our boys and girls with that knowledge that will best fit them for the battle of life.

The management of our finances at this trying time in the financial history of the world will receive most thoughtful care and consideration. Stock is now being taken of the value of our natural resources, particularly of our timber, from which a very substantial portion of our revenue has been derived in the past, and it is expected at an early date we will have as complete information as possible with reference to the natural resources of the Province, so that we may be the better able to determine the value of these resources from a revenue-producing standpoint for the future and the best means of conserving and dealing with them, so as to secure the most beneficial results, as well for ourselves as those who come after us.

Welfare of Citizens

The welfare, comfort and happiness of the people will always have our care and consideration, and all such measures will be taken and legislation enacted as circumstances may require and experience and investigation commend for the social and moral welfare of all classes of our citizens.

We feel it our duty to aid the Motherland in whatever way we properly can while she is engaged in her present titanic struggle on behalf of humanity.

And we will do all in our power to stimulate trade and to minimize, so far as we can, the suffering caused by unemployment.

Conscious of our many failings and of our liability to err, we will give to the service of our Province the very best that is in us, following the light of duty as we see it, with singleness of purpose, seeking such commendation and support as duty, faithfully done to the best of our ability, may merit.

Just a personal word in conclusion. I am deeply grateful for the opportunity I have been given of serving my native Province, of which I will endeavor to prove worthy, and I am thankful for the many evidences of confidence and support that I am receiving daily from all sources.

GERMANS CUTTING PRICES FOR CANADIAN TRADE

The Council, of the Montreal Board of Trade has received from two prominent shipping and forwarding firms in London, letters calling attention to the fact that German shipping and forwarding houses are prosecuting a very energetic campaign in Canada and other British Dominions with a view to securing business between Great Britain and the Oversea Dominions. The representations made show that German houses, who have their head offices in Berlin and branch offices at different ports in Great Britain are, through their agents in Canada, circularizing business houses in Canada, offering to attend to the shipments which they make from Great Britain at a charge for shipping and looking after the consignments very much below what is reasonable and fair figure for such services. These German houses are offering to make contracts for a year or more with Canadian houses on these low rates.

The Council while believing that Canadians generally are patriotic enough to refain from giving their custom to German houses, fears that the circumstance that the parties soliciting this business represent German houses is not always made known and hence it is desirable that enquiry should be made by all Canadian firms as to the nationality of firms represented by parties soliciting their shipping and forwarding business.

QUEEN'S RECRUITS

KINGSTON, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—No 5 Company, Royal Canadian Engineers, of Queen's University, on their arrival back from Valcartier this morning went into quarters at Artillery Park Baracks. The engineers may be needed for second contingent work, and are likely to remain in the barracks for some time. It is understood that Queen's University will recruit a company for the second Canadian contingent.

DESOLATION AND RUIN IN BELGIUM BEYOND PICTURE

Though Boston Cleric Paints Terrible Scene of That Unhappy Country--Found Brussels Crushed--Mourning Women, Many With Babes in Arms, Beg Alms in Streets, Victims of German Horde

The Rev. Albert R. Williams, of East Boston, Mass., gives this account of his observations in Belgium:

"I have just returned to England after having traversed Belgium from one end to the other. No one can quite picture the ruin and desolation which has fallen to the lot of this country. I have seen burned and bombarded towns; houses destroyed by the Belgians themselves because they were in front of the Antwerp forts; flooded fields around Malines; pitiful scenes of refugees fleeing from their homes, and general desolation wrought everywhere.

"The material losses are terrible, but a particular experience has just made me realize the accompanying moral and spiritual decay. I have spent two days and one night in a German torture-chamber in Brussels tried on the charge of being a spy. The experience I went through, in company with hundreds of others, gave me an insight into what these people must be suffering, which, although not so patent to the naked eye as blasted homes and towns, must be even more terrible. The fear of falling into the clutches of the military authorities at any moment, under the slightest charge; the horrible, helpless feeling that one is entirely dependent upon the whim or caprice of an alien enemy, and the disintegration of character which comes from suspecting every man of being a spy, until a man can scarcely trust his own brother, makes a loss that is not visible but very real.

"I left Antwerp on Saturday morning with the American vice-consul at Ghent, Julius A. Van Hee, and another American. Pell-mell we met Belgian cavalry galloping toward the front with their lances, swords and rifles ready, shining in the morning sun, followed by artillery and fully equipped for the fray; a priest to administer extreme unction to the dying, who came along in the rear, completing the military retinue. They all smiled at us and cried, 'Wive l'Amerique!' and dashed away to the battle at the front as cheerfully as though they were going to a dress parade.

Brussels City of Dread

"As a battle was imminent, we had to make a great detour to get through to Brussels. We met all sorts of Belgian patrols heading toward the battle front, but on this roundabout way there were no Germans encountered until we got to within five miles of Brussels. Nor did we see many as we drove through the gloomy streets of the Belgian capital. What a change has come over the city since I was last there on August 12. At that time although a battle was raging only a few miles away, the streets were crowded with people, and the cafes overflowed on to the pavements, ablaze with Belgian colors. But the Germans have changed the city of life and color and joyous hospitality and kindliness into a city of stillness and desolation, a city of rife with rumors and filled with deep dread and suspicion. The atmosphere has changed from the warm light of noonday to that of some damp, dark, raw morning.

"The bright suits of the Belgian soldiers have been replaced by the gray green of the German, who singly or in groups of eight or ten, with drawn swords, walk up and down the thoroughfares. Poverty-stricken people, the advance guards of the hordes of victims that advancing winter will claim. were in sad evidence. Mothers with babes in their arms and ragged children asked alms. Mourning women in deep black take the place of the gay parades of former days and add to the sombreness of the disquieting spectacle. And when the lights are turned off, between nine and ten o'clock, one feels that, not so spectacularly, perhaps, as at Louvain, but slowly, surely and relentlessly the German machine has clutched its iron finger and crushed out the life of the city.

"Whether it wiii wreak the same material havoc upon Brussels as upon other cites depends upon whether the people can muster up still more self-control and self-restraint and not protest against the acts of tyranny which are practiced upon them. I have seen things which, were I a Belgian, would have made me willing to join a posse and avenge myself upon these uniform perpetrators of outrage. I know full well that this would not be a wise thing to do, but I say this because I can understand any outbreak which the Belgians may make against the rulers. If there is any outbreak or series of reprisals we know full well what will happen to Brussels—it will suffer the same fate of Louvain and Termonde."

Wisdom is merely common sense in an uncommon degree.

Most Disheartening.

Stewart Edward White tells of his greatest disappointment. It happened when he was five years old.

"I understood that those who maintained perfect deportment in school during the week would be given their choice of sweetmeats. I therefore behaved myself with extraordinary propriety. When the time came and I demanded my sweetmeats I found that it was my choice of a seatmate that had been offered. I never quite forgave that teacher and shall always consider the week of good conduct one lost out of my life."—Exchange.

Witty Retort.

"I tell you, Pat, my boy," the big man of the town confided, laying a patronizing hand on the young Irishman's shoulder, "I wish I had your tongue."

"Sure, sor," grinned Pit, "but it would do yes no good without me brains."—Woman's Home Companion.

Good Family.

"My daughter appears to have married very happily," remarked a lady. "Her husband has not wealth, it must be admitted, but he has family."

"Yes. I heard he was a widower with six children!" a neighbor sniffed acridly.

HOW I CURED MY CATARRH

TOLD IN A SIMPLE WAY

Without Apparatus, Inhalers, Salves, Lotions, Harmful Drugs, Smoke or Electricity.

HEALS DAY AND NIGHT

It is a new way. It is something absolutely different. No lotions, sprays or sickly smelling salves or creams. No atomizer, or any apparatus of any kind. Nothing to smoke or inhale. No steaming or rubbing or injections. No electricity or vibration or massage. No powder; no plasters; no keeping in the house.

Nothing of that kind at all. Something new and different, something delightful and healthful, something instantly successful. You do not have to wait, and linger and pay out a lot of money. You can stop it over night—and I will gladly tell you how—FREE. I am not a doctor and this is not a so-called doctor's prescription—but I am cured and my friends are cured, and you can be cured. Your suffering will stop at once like magic.

I AM FREE—YOU CAN BE FREE

My catarrh was filthy and loathsome. It made me ill. It dulled my mind. It undermined my health and was weakening my will. The hawking, coughing, spitting made me obnoxious to all, and my foul breath and disgusting habits made even my loved ones avoid me secretly. My delight in life was dulled and my faculties impared. I knew that in time it would bring me to an untimely grave, because every moment of the day and night it was slowly yet surely sapping my vitality.

But I found a cure, and I am ready to tell you about it FREE. Write me promptly.

RISK JUST ONE CENT

Send no money. Just your name and address on a postal card, Say: "Dear Sam Katz: "Please tell me how you cured your catarrh and how I can cure mine." That's all you need to say. I will understand, and I will write to you with complete information, FREE at once. Do not delay. Send postal card or write me a letter today. Don't think of turning this page until you have asked for this wonderful treatment that can do for you what it has done for me.

LIFE IN THE LONG AGO.

When Huts Were Homes and Beds Were Shakedowns of Straws.

For centuries the common people of England made their home in wooden huts of one room. When a family increased in numbers or wealth another hut was built beside it, or, rather, a lean-to was added and then another and another, as need required.

Sometimes they followed a straight line. At other times they were built out from the central hut at various angles. The roofs of these huts were thatched. An opening was left in the center for the smoke to escape. The fire was always built in a hollow in the center of the room. Beds were made of straw. Often they were merely shakedowns in the corner. Occasionally the straw was held in a little frame resembling the ribs of a ship.

Houses built by Saxon knights were much more pretentious. They were big halls, like the Roman atrium, with a lofty roof thatched with slate or wood shingles. The floor was of hard clay. In the middle was a great fire of dry wood. The thin, acrid smoke from the fire escaped through an opening in the roof directly above the hearth.

Round the fire were long benches, on which hearthsmen and visitors sat when not fighting or at work, and talked and drank the hours through. The tables were long boards on trestles. At night the floor was strewn with straw, and, like the less prosperous folk, host and visitors slept together.—Youth's Companion.

CURIOUS MEXICAN TREES.

One Whose Fruit Is the Counterpart of the Green Parrot.

Mexico probably has a greater range of remarkable vegetation than any other country in the world. The parrot fruit tree produces an odd shaped fruit, bearing a close resemblance to green parrakeets. When the parrakeet is frightened it makes a dash for the parrot tree, where it assumes a position which makes it look like the fruit itself. So close is the resemblance that their enemies, the hawks, occasionally fly by a tree on which a dozen or more of these birds are sitting, apparently unaware of their presence.

Another remarkable tree is the arbol de dinamite—dynamite tree—whose fruit, if kept in a warm place, bursts with considerable force and a loud report, scattering its flat seeds to a surprising distance.

One of the most interesting fruits in Mexico is known as the melon zapote, or papaya. It contains considerable pepsin, which reacts against both acid and alkaline conditions of the stomach, and it is said that a diet which includes papaya precludes dyspepsia. Both the fruit and the leaves possess the singular property of rendering tough meat tender. When the pulp of the fruit is rubbed over a piece of tough meat the juice attacks the fiber and softens it.—National Geographic Magazine.

Mexico's National Pawnshop.

One of the most remarkable institutions in the City of Mexico is the Monte de Piedad, or national pawnshop. The monte is one of the oldest buildings in the capital, having been built for the private residence of Cortes in 1520, and it has been fortunate enough to escape the hands of restorers. It was acquired in 1744 by Count de Regis Terreros, who laid out $300,000 in organizing the Monte de Piedad, with the idea of saving the needy from the usury of the ordinary pawnbroker. Its success is attested by its long history, and Mexicans today can get one-third value on their goods at a rate of interest seldom exceeding 3 per cent per annum. If any one fails to keep up his payments the deposited goods are sold, and any balance over the sum advanced is handed to the depositor.

A Monstrosity Among Newspapers.

Those who object to the widespread newspaper may see the apotheosis of their bete noire in the museum at Aix-la-Chapelle, the only existing copy of the Illuminated Quatruple Constellation, published in New York in 1859. Happily this monstrosity did not survive the first issue, for its pages measure eight and one-half feet by six feet, and each contains thirteen columns forty-eight inches long.

By way of comparison it may be mentioned that the smallest newspaper in the world is the Mexican El Telegrama, with pages four inches square.—London Chronicle.

Stoats Hunt In Packs.

In some years stoats appear to be more numerous than in others, and they are seen not in ones and twos, but in dozens, hunting together in small packs. Stoats will hunt together from scent and in full cry like a pack of hounds, one always keeping the line and followed closely by the others. This sight has been recorded by different observers who have also seen weasels hunting in the same way.

Valuable Services.

"I have indeed done a service," the orator declared. "I have given the people cause to think."

"That was something at least."

"Yes, oh, yes. But I have done a further service. I have told them just how to think."

Silent Service.

"Don't you like silent service in the house?"

"Sure. That's one reason we put in a dumb waiter."

Making Connections.

Knicker—Life is hard. Bocker—Yes. By the time your mother stops forbidding you to eat jam the doctor begins.—New York Sun.

Don't worry today; put it off till after tomorrow.

By the way, did you ever hear of a man complain because the sermon was too short?

A NIGHT OF TERROR

Peculiar Experience With a Deadly Mexican Tarantula.

PENNED IN A DARK BEDROOM.

The Trying Ordeal Through Which a Woman Tourist Passed in a Hotel at Vera Cruz—Awaiting the Bite That Meant Madness and Then Death.

The tarantula is much larger in Mexico than in Italy. His four pairs of fuzzy legs, his speckled bulging belly, his abnormally fat head, armed with vicious nippers and equipped with eight eyes arranged in transverse rows, suffice to fill you with a wholesome desire to give him the right of way without ado.

Owing to the fact that he has an unwelcome habit of leaving his own realm in the tropical vines to make sociable little visitations to the corners of your bedroom it had always been my custom to search every nook and crevice of my sleeping room before retiring for the night. Twice had I seen native laborers, peons, in the agony of death due to a tarantula bite. So it was not surprising that this creeping thing headed my list of the many dangers to be shunned in Mexico.

I had just reached Vera Cruz from Mexico City, very tired, and decided to seek my room early in the evening, which, indeed, is the only safe and proper thing for an unaccompanied woman in Mexico to do. That part of the diligencias in which my room was located was evidently undergoing repairs, for a pile of timbers was included in the furnishing of my apartments.

No particular reason occurred to me why I should investigate this lumber, and, little realizing that it might shelter lurking danger, I flung my weary head on the dirty pillow. But as I lay quietly dozing off to sleep I suddenly heard a soft little noise, which one might describe as a cross between a hum and a hiss.

As a precaution against the many venomous things that creep and crawl even in the well beaten paths of Mexico I had made a careful study of the arachnida, to which class the tarantulas belong. I recognized that soft unostentatious warning that announced a roommate as undesirable as one could well wish.

Cautiously I stretched out my hand to see if by chance there were some matches on the little stand near my bed, with the result that I knocked the unlighted candle upon the floor. That was enough for my mettlesome roommate; he had been personally insulted by the noise, and suddenly in the utter darkness, that black stillness which one feels in a strange room, I detected a sickening odor, the warning of the angry tarantula.

I strained my ears to detect the soft, characteristic click that the male, the deadliest of the species, employs as a fancy frill to his malicious song. My blood chilled as I heard his muffled hum-click, hum-click, hum—apparently not three feet away. I held my breath, incidentally my nose, and lay wondering how long it would be ere I should feel his big fuzzy feet sneaking up the side of my neck or before his soft, woolly body would light upon my face. It was not at all comforting to remember that one of a tarantula's eccentricities is to find his way to a point on the ceiling directly over the object of his anger and then to drop unceremoniously upon his victim.

It was the only time in my life when I longed for the bliss of ignorance. Would to heaven I had not studied this hideous horror of the tropics! But I had. Moreover, I had seen the awful effects of his worse than fatal bite, whose work of destruction was mercilessly long drawn out.

If the bite of a male tarantula infects a large artery it throws the victim into a dreadful state of crazed nerves. The incipient stages of the poisoning are accompanied by accentuated melancholia, followed by a shattering of the mentality. On gradually absorbing the venom the unfortunate subject reels and raves in a mad whirl until he swoons from pure exhaustion. The tarantella, the graceful Italian dance so often described in musical literature, derives its name from this hideous poisoning.

All this and more darted through my mind as I lay there in the darkness wondering if I, too, were doomed to die like a dervish. As the night wore on the buzzing grew less sedulous. I lay motionless during the thousand years till dawn, which came at last, a divinely soft, blue, shimmering shaft of light, which made things faintly visible. Cautiously I drew myself up to a sitting posture and craned my neck in a searching survey about my chamber of horrors.

There, in torture worse than mine, hung my roommate, four of his legs pinioned beneath the timbers. There he sprawled, a maimed but angry prisoner. His eight eyes winked me a militant "Good morning," and I forthwith returned the compliment with the slender shaft of my hatpin.—New York Sun.

The Easiest Way.

"I want the wages of a man; that's all I'm asking," said the "Votes For Women" orator.

"Then," said a man as he arose to speak, "I contend it isn't a vote that the lady wants. All she has to do is to get married."

Flesh of the Beaver.

The flesh of the forequarters of the beaver has something of the flavor of beef, while that of the hindquarters has a fishy taste.

Laughing draws the corners of the mouth up; crying pulls them down.

The fashionable ball gown represents one kind of weather strip.

Ruse of a Noble Scot.

William Carstairs was William III.'s chief counselor in ecclesiastical matters. What a noble man this sturdy Scot was! An Episcopalian curate who had been ousted from his parish and was a thorough irreconcilable called upon him one day by appointment. He was then principal of Edinburgh university. He found Carstairs in a rage. His tailor had sent in a misfitting suit. He threw the clothes about the room and then, looking at his visitor, thought that they would fit him. Would he not take them as a sort of atonement for the ill temper which he had shown? The next day the visitor came back to restore a ten pound note which he had found in the coat pocket. "No," said the principal. "When you took the coat you had a right to all that was in it." Carstairs had planned the whole affair.—From "The Scot of the Eighteenth Century," by John Watson, D. D.

Cut It Short.

While building the Panama canal Colonel Goethals knew exactly what he wanted done and would brook no arguments. One morning a rather fidgety subordinate came into the colonel's office.

"I got your letter, colonel," he began, "and I came to"—

He got no further, for the colonel, with uplifted eyebrows, cut in:

"Letter? Letter? There must be some mistake. I have written you no letter."

"Oh, yes, colonel," repeated the man. "I've got it here. It's about the work down at Miraflores. Now, you see"—

Again the colonel cut in:

"Oh, I see! But you misled me. You spoke of my letter. You meant, of course, my orders!"

The colonel's blue eyes stared coldly at the argumentative man, who, suddenly feeling that the conversation was at an end, "faded away."

Two Views of the Self Made Man.

A pathologist of standing inveighs against the "self made man" in terms that will be surprising to many. "The self made man," he says, "is often in the process of degeneration, and the first evidence of degeneracy in a family is the selfishness and meanness or the cunning, avarice and moral guile by which the self made man succeeds in amassing a fortune for his still more degenerate children to spend in gratifying their selfish desires."

There is another side to the matter, and Thoreau saw it when he said that the man who had acquired wealth would insist on having his sons educated, and thus he would become the real founder of a family.—Springfield Republican.

Windsor Castle Kitchens.

The kitchens at Windsor castle are perfect in all their arrangements. The chief kitchen is a fine lofty room lined with white tiles. It contains a marvelous collection of copper saucepans that vary in size from the dimensions of a tub down to that of a tiny breakfast cup. Another feature is the huge steel table used for serving. It is brilliantly polished and has hollow legs through which steam passes upward, heating the whole table. Another apartment is called the "green room," and is set apart for fruit used at dessert, and there is also a room assigned to the "table deckers," whose sole duty it is to attend to the floral decorations of the royal dinner table.—London Express.

Where Dr. Johnson Worked.

Dr. Johnson's house in Gough square, London, is a noble old piece of Queen Anne architecture, and in stripping the walls of their surfeit of paper and canvas and stuff the restorers came across several quaint old cupboards, and these have all been preserved with their original handles and mountings and add enormously to the domestic verisimilitude of the place. At the top may be seen the spacious garret, where the doctor kept his six clerks slaving away at the dictionary which first brought him fame; and alongside the house and the caretaker's lodge is the tiny garden which Carlyle in his essay on Johnson describes as rather larger than a bedquilt.

Saint Simon's Poverty.

St. Simon, the celebrated French author who wrote "The Reorganization of European Society," was twice driven by want to attempt his own life, and, although he died a natural death in the end, it was among the most lamentable surroundings. "For fifteen days," he says, writing to a friend just before the end came, "I have lived upon bread and water, without a fire. I have even sold my clothes."

Feminine Courage.

"Don't you think women are naturally more courageous than men?" challenged the champion of her sex.

"Of course," said the horrid cynic. "No man would ever dare to get off a car the way the average woman does."—New York Globe.

Otters as Fishers.

In some parts of India otters are used by the natives to catch fish for them. So rapid is the speed of the otter under water that no fish can escape them. When not working the otters are tied to stakes, like chained dogs.

Egypt's Flood Time.

June 15 is in Egypt an anxious time, for then it is that there comes the first indication of the annual flood. The amount of the rise has been accurately recorded every year from 3600 B. C. to the present time, for there is only a foot or two between starvation and plenty, and between plenty and devastation. The rise is recorded by the nilometer constructed by the Caliph Mutawakhul more than ten centuries ago, on the island of Rhoda, opposite Cairo. A square well, from the water of which rises a marble column, is connected with the river by a canal. As the water rises more of the pillar is hidden. When the "eighteen cubits" mark is passed the starvation specter vanishes, the "nineteen cubits" mark awash stops the grumblers, and twenty-two cubits completely satisfies the optimist. But if the twenty-four cubit mark goes under devastation is at hand. But the Assuan dam has mitigated the anxiety of 5,000 years.—London Chronicle.

Tactfulness of Old Sam.

The stout lady struggled with difficulty into the railway carriage.

"Ah," she gasped, "that door might ha' been made by Old Sam."

She paused for breath, and then, says the Manchester Guardian, proceeded to explain herself.

"You see, Old Sam was one of them chaps 'oo'd getten on. Went from a three an' six cottage to a big 'ouse. But 'is missis wasn't used to a big 'ouse and spent all 'er time in kitchen wi' t' servants. Old Sam didn't like this, but 'e never argued wi' wimmen. Now, she was stout, like me. So he takes her away to Blackpool, and while they was away he'd the kitchen door built up narrer, so 't' servants could get in and out, but not t' misses. That did 'er, that did."

"'E'd what I call tac'," said a man opposite.

Longevity of Birds.

In ancient days it was the general belief that ravens lived longer than any species of birds, and it was said that their age frequently exceeded a century. Recent studies of the subject indicate that no authentic instance of a raven surpassing seventy years of age is on record. But parrots have been known to live one hundred years. There is also a record of a golden eagle which died at Schonbrunn at the age of 118; another was kept in the Tower of London for ninety years, while a third died at Vienna aged 104 years. Geese and swans are tenacious of life, and extraordinary accounts exist of the great age to which they have attained. Buffon and other naturalists have credited them with eighty and one hundred years of life.

Eyes That Shine at Night.

The gleam of a cat's eyes when a light catches them in the darkness appears to be due to reflection from a layer behind the retina called the "choroid tapetum." This layer includes numerous flat cells packed with crystalloid bodies, which act like a mirror. In some beetles and moths the eyes shine like rubies when they are obliquely illumined at night. Professor Bugnion has recently studied the eyes of one of the hawk moths and finds that the retina is very thick and infiltrated with a rose colored pigment, "erythropsin." Part of the retina forms a tapetum, and the reflection is due to a network of silvery air tubes, or tracheae, helped to some extent by movement of the retinal pigment.

What the Robin Eats.

In the northern and southern parts of the west the robin is among the most cherished of native birds. It is an omnivorous feeder, and its food includes many orders of insects as well as earth worms, but 53 per cent of its food is derived from vegetable matter, the principal item being fruit. The general usefulness of the bird is such, however, that protecting orchards and fruit should be tried before the policy of killing them is determined on.

Oyster Divers.

Oysters are obtained in various ways. At Minorca, in the Mediterranean, the fisherman simply dives to a depth of seventy feet, with a weight in one hand to carry him down. With the other hand he picks up as many oysters as he can carry and brings them to the surface.—London Telegraph.

Betrothals In Germany.

There are many curious betrothal customs in Germany that are found in no place else in the world. As soon as a German girl is betrothed she is addressed as "bride" by her fiance. The betrothal is a more serious affair than in England, and is not so easily broken. The girl is called "bride" until the wedding, when she assumed the title of "wife." Immediately upon the betrothal the lovers exchange rings, which, if the course of true love runs smooth, are to be worn ever afterward. The woman wears her betrothal ring on the third finger of her left hand until she is married, and then it is transferred to the third finger of her right hand. The man continues to wear his ring just as the wife wore hers when she was a bride.

Men and Fools.

A man can be as big a fool at thirty as he can be at twenty or, for that matter, at sixty, with this difference, that at twenty he doesn't know that he is a fool. He thinks that he is a god and enjoys the experience. At sixty he knows well enough what he is and thanks his stars that he has yet another chance before going down to the grave. But at thirty-five he has neither the illusions of youth nor the consolations of age. He is young enough to feel foolish and old enough to know better.—"Curing Christopher."

The Split Infinitive.

Mme. Sarah Grand writes to the London Express:

"The split infinitive is a somewhat sore subject with me, for I believe it is to be found in my own early work, with other errors of my youth of which I have long repented. When I come across the 'split' in my reading now it pulls me up with a horrid jar, and I believe that must always be the case once the ear has been tuned to the rhythm of the best English authors."

Early in the war Portugal stated that the republic would observe strictly its long-standing treaty of alliance with Great Britain. ### Pride of the Peruvians.

The Peruvians are a proud, imperial race, living amid the grandest scenery of the western hemisphere and holding high ideals of what is best in education and the unbought grace of life. On the great country estates there is much of the fine tradition and chivalrous sentiment that came from the best people of Castile and Aragon. The Indians of the high plateaus are a unique reminder of a civilization that bourgeoned centuries before the face of the white man had blossomed like a flower in the western forests. The immemorial records of a civilization that vanished in the midst of man's earliest recollections are faintly suggested in splendid ruins among sublime scenes. The name and fame of the brilliant men who built the walls and temples of Cuzco are lost, and all we know of the wonder and the charm of that forgotten culture in the Andes is found in the pathetic ruins of cities that are half as old as recorded time.—Peter MacQueen in National Magazine.

Unwritten Law of the Sea.

Here is one of the unwritten laws of the sea which we think could be repealed to advantage. It is that which requires the captain of a ship to stay on the bridge during fog or very bad weather, no matter how long it continues. It is a fairly common thing to read in dispatches that the captain of this or that ship had been on the bridge for twenty-four or forty-eight or even sixty hours at a stretch because of storm or fog. Why should this be practiced? The most rugged man alive cannot be as alert, mentally and physically, after twenty-four hours of exposure as he was when he went on duty. He cannot be as competent to render quick decisions—such, for instance, as an impending collision might call for—as a man who was unfatigued. The average transatlantic passenger, we fancy, would much prefer to trust his life in an emergency to a fresh chief officer than to a jaded captain.—Marine News.

A Queer Punishment.

The Slovaks (Hungary) are a very peaceful, law abiding community, but there are probably black sheep among their number, and in front of a church at Postyen may be seen an ancient stone pillar, reminiscent of the days when punishment was meted out in much the same way as it was in England in those days. Fastened to this pillar in the center is a large iron clasp, and at the base two smaller ones close together. These clasps fitted around the waists and ankles of the offender, and when a man or woman had stolen something he or she was locked to this post on a Sunday and compelled to hold in the hands whatever had been stolen. Every Slovak attends church on Sundays, from which it may be gathered that this public exposure was no small ordeal. The post bears a terse inscription, the translation of which is: "I do not ask you to come, but if you come I receive you."—Wide World Magazine.

Britain's Standing Army.

The British standing army is a much more modern institution than most people imagine. It dates from 1646, when the famous "new model" was established by act of the long parliament and maintained in existence until the restoration. This army, which was organized by Cromwell, consisted of some 80,000 men and was probably the most effective army that England has ever possessed. But the cost was so great that on his restoration Charles II. agreed to its abandonment, except a bodyguard or household brigade of 5,000 sanctioned by parliament, which included Monk's Coldstream regiment and two troops of cavalry raised by Charles himself, which formed the originals of the present Life guards.—London Standard.

Church—What is rhetoric? Gotham—Why, I believe it is something a man has to use when proposing marriage to a Boston schoolteacher.—Yonkers Statesman.

Do but half of what you can and you will be surprised at your own diligence.

Beggars on Horseback.

Horses are cheap in Chile. According to Francis J. G. Maitland in "Chile: Its Land and People," you can buy a horse in Santiago for $25 or $30 and for less in the country. In illustration, he quotes a little happening witnessed by Miss May Crommelin in Mendoza:

"Up rode a gaucho, dressed in white, if I remember rightly—no worse than his fellows, at any rate. He bestrode a nag, sorry enough, yet still capable, and wore a medal round his neck. Off came his hat with a bow of much grace, but he stretched out his hand toward the window grating imploring alms. 'It's all right; he's one of our beggars. The town has so many licensed ones who are allowed to come round,' said my hostess, looking out over my shoulder. So, instead of dismissing him with a little 'Pardon, little brother, for not giving you anything,' some small coins were placed in his palm. 'Dios lo pagara' (God will repay it), was the dignified response, and with a farewell bow of perfect politeness this beggar on horseback rode on."

Carlyle's Amenities.

Carlyle had his flings against science, but they were not very virulent. Nevertheless in regard to literature he placed himself in the position of the ill bird that fouled its own nest, as witness the following amenities: Keats is a "curried dead dog," whatever that may mean; Shelley is "a ghastly object;" Coleridge, "a puffy, obstructed looking old man talking in a maudlin sleep an infinite deal of nothing;" Lamb, "a puir cratur, with a thin streak of cockney wit, nothing humorous but his dress;" Walter Scott, "a toothless retailer of old wives' fables;" Brougham, "an eternal grinder of commonplace;" Wordsworth, "stooping to extract a spiritual ketchup from mushrooms that were little better than toadstools;" Sir Robert Peel, "a plausible fox;" J. W. Croker, "an unhanged hound;" Lord John Russell, "a turnspit of good pedigree;" Lord Melbourne, "a monkey."

If they can have a lot to do
Is all some people ask.
They couldn't pass away the time
Without a steady task.
I'm glad I am not built upon
Dimensions of that sort.
For I can thoroughly enjoy
A task that's sweet and short.

I love to sit around the house
And let the moments flee
And think what loads of work there are
That do not fall to me.
Some for the asking I might have,
But no such beastly luck
I'll guarantee will come if I
Have but a chance to duck.

TIME IN PALESTINE.

It Is So Erratic That Making a Train Is Quite a Feat.

In Jerusalem town time and train time are different, forty minutes different, and both are variable. Train officials say the train leaves for Jaffa at 6:40 o'clock in the morning, but 6:40 o'clock by train time is 7:20 o'clock by town time. One morning when we were starting for Egypt we ordered our carriage for 7 o'clock. Arriving at the station at 7:15 o'clock, we found the train gone and the station empty. At last was routed out an official.

"Where's the train?" we demanded.

"Gone, messieurs."

"Gone? You've changed the hour of the train, then?"

"Non, non, messieurs. The train leaves at the same hour always, but the time has changed. Yesterday 6:40 o'clock train time was 7:20 o'clock town time. Today 6:40 o'clock train time is 7 o'clock town time. No, no"—and he smiled patronizingly—"the train always leaves at the same hour; our trains never change—it is the time that alters itself, not the train, messieurs!"

We sought the telegraph office.

"To the steamer agent to Jaffa," we dictated. "Missed train. Cancel passage on boat for Egypt. Wire date of next sailing for Port Said." This was turned into flowery Turkish and sent. A reply came soon.

"Plenty of time. Your boat will wait till tomorrow afternoon, for the water is so rough she cannot land her passengers and cargo today. Plenty of time if you take the train tomorrow."—Atlantic Monthly.

Impudent Thieves.

The lepero of Mexico is reported to be one of the smartest and most impudent thieves in the world. Brantz Meyer tells of an English traveler, who, within an hour or two, in the principal streets of Mexico, had first his hat hooked from his head by a line from an upper window, and was then accosted by three leperos who divested him of his coat. The three bade him wait, and within a few minutes one returned and handed him a pawn ticket.

"We wanted $30, not the coat," he explained. "Here is the ticket with which you can redeem it for that sum."—London Mail.

Surprise For Both.

John Burns once paid a visit to a London lunatic asylum. He was taken all over the establishment, and finally arrived at the gardens, where a number of patients were working. Mr. Burns espied among them a man with whom he had some slight acquaintance and was about to speak to him when the lunatic suddenly exclaimed:

"Well, I never! You, too! The very last person I thought to see here."—London Citizen.

DO YOU USE FACE POWDER?

If You Do Be Careful to Keep It From Getting In Your Eyes.

Face powder has its dangers the same as gunpowder. For several years occasional cases have come under the observation of oculists in which the patients, invariably women, complain of vision being blurred, inability to use the eyes for any length of time and severe itching of the lids. The slightest rubbing of the lids produces a marked redness of the eyes and only aggravates the itching. In severe cases the lids are frequently swollen from constant rubbing. There is a sticky, elastic secretion which, when being removed, pulls out in long strings.

Microscopic examination of the secretion reveals masses of what appear to be crystals. Until recently no satisfactory explanation of the presence of these crystals in the eye has been given. Secretions taken from the eyes of two sisters suffering from this peculiar complaint were submitted to the professor of pathology of one of the university medical schools, who found that the crystals came from face powder. Seven other patients in which the same symptoms and microscopic conditions were found all used face powder.

When the powder is applied to the face with a puff a part of the fine dust is driven upward and lodges on the moist eyeball. The powder in the presence of the tears then becomes mucilaginous in character and is not washed from under the eyelids. The powder produces the irritation, which is aggravated by rubbing. Those who use a chamois skin in applying the powder are less liable to cause the fine dust to arise, which probably accounts for the condition not being found in every woman using face powder. The condition is quickly relieved by flushing the eye with boric acid solution. The irritation rapidly disappears when the eyes are kept washed out with a soothing eye wash.—From Journal of the American Medical Association.

Cancelling a Moslem Divorce.

It is well known that under the Moslem religion divorce is made remarkably easy and that there is no need for any legal or religious formalities—a man being able, so to speak, to divorce his wife by word of mouth. This facility often gives rise to unpleasant results, as when a man in a burst of anger will divorce his wife and then bitterly repent of his rashness. One such incident happened recently in upper Egypt. It is related that a fellah appealed to his omdeh to help him to regain his wife, against whom he had pronounced the fatal words.

The omdeh told him to traverse the streets of his village for two hours braying like an ass and to eat chopped straw as an ass does, when he would be absolved from his divorce, without needing to go before the cadi. The fellah carried out the order to the letter and then returned to his wife, fully convinced that he had done ample penance for his impetuosity.—Boston Transcript.

Built Upon Cotton.

When the Leasowe lighthouse, England, was built on the sandy Wirral shore the builders were puzzled by the lack of a suitable foundation for the masonry tower. An ingenious way out of the difficulty was effected. In the vicinity an incoming ship, laden with a cargo of cotton, had gone ashore and had become a total wreck. The cotton was useless for its intended purpose, so the bales were salvaged and dumped into the sand at the point where the lighthouse was to be erected. The fleecy mass settled into the sand and under compression became as solid as a rock, while its permanency was insured by its complete submersion. The stability of this strange foundation may be gathered from the fact that the tower erected thereon stood and shed its welcome light regularly every night for about a century and a half, being extinguished only a few years ago, as it was no longer required.—Argonaut.

Corsica and De Paoli.

While the island of Corsica derives its fame from being the birthplace of Napoleon, the name of Pasquale de Paoli is more dear to the natives, for it was under the leadership of this patriot, in 1755, that they escaped from the yoke of the Genoese. For fourteen years he wisely administered the affairs of the island. In 1769 France bought the island from Genoa and landed an army of 22,000, which Paoli met with a few thousand Corsicans and fought until his army was reduced to 537 men; yet he cut his way through and escaped to England, where he remained twenty years. At the outbreak of the revolution in France he returned to his native land and became military governor, but he could not get on with his old enemy, so he returned to England, where he died in 1807.

The Earwig.

There is no insect which has puzzled naturalists as to its proper classification more than the earwig. Some have asserted that it belongs to the beetles, of which it is an "aberrant type," others that it is connected with the grasshoppers. Even about its very name there has been endless discussion. Some have thought the name earwig is the result of the creature's supposed habit of getting into the ears, while others are equally certain that it is derived from the original name, which they say was earwing, from the fact that the wing when spread resembles the human ear. At all events, one thing is certain—the earwig as we know it now is a survival of an early type of which almost every other member has become extinct.

Many Uses For Old Leather.

Old leather material, which finds its way into the waste pile, is extremely valuable and returns to our homes in many other shapes. It is soaked in water to remove the dirt, all the nails and threads are picked out, and the leather is reduced to a thick pulp, from which wall papers, screens, etc., are made. The finer the original quality of leather the better it takes the bronze and old gold of the designs which make these hangings things of beauty. Bookbinders and framemakers also know the value of this pulp, and carriage builders press it into sheets.

Got an Answer.

Professor (discussing organic and inorganic kingdoms)—Now, if I should shut my eyes—so—and drop my head—so—and remain perfectly still, you would say I was a clod. But I move, I leap. Then what do you call me? Bright Pupil—A clodhopper, sir.—Boston Transcript.

Pat and the Lava.

An Irishman, having returned from Italy, where he had been with his master, was asked in the kitchen, "Now, then, Pat, what is the lava I hear the master talking about?"

"Only a drop of the crater," was Pat's reply.

Perfectly Valid Reason.

Owner of New Auto—I passed your house yesterday. Old Friend—Why didn't you stop? Owner of New Auto—I didn't know how.—Indianapolis News.

Unshrinkable Material.

"Isn't that lawyer a rather extravagant man?"

"By no means! I've known him to make one suit last for several years!"

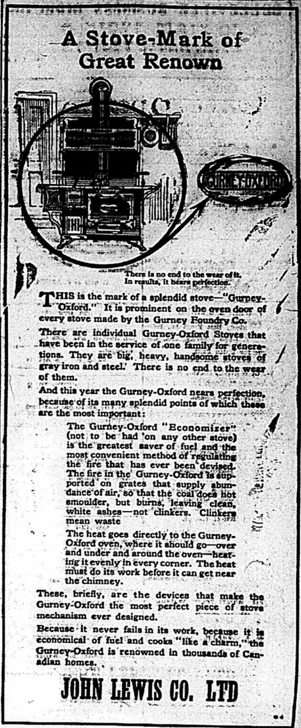
Boss—Are you the boss in this office?

Clerk (scared)—N—N—no, sir.

Boss—Well, then, don't act like a driveling idiot.—London Opinion.

If we could only borrow money on our good intentions, "poverty" would soon be an obsolete word.

Everything has a bright side—even a dark lantern.



A Stove-Mark of Great Renown

GURNEY-OXFORD

There is no end to the wear of it. In results, it nears perfection.

THIS is the mark of a splendid stove—"Gurney-Oxford." It is prominent on the oven door of every stove made by the Gurney Foundry Co.

There are individual Gurney-Oxford Stoves that have been in the service of one family for generations. They are big, heavy, handsome stoves of gray iron and steel. There is no end to the wear of them.

And this year the Gurney-Oxford nears perfection, because of its many splendid points of which these are the most important:

The Gurney-Oxford "Economizer" (not to be had on any other stove) is the greatest saver of fuel and the most convenient method of regulating the fire that has ever been devised. The fire in the Gurney-Oxford is supported on grates that supply abundance of air, so that the coal does not smoulder, but burns, leaving clean, white ashes—not clinkers. Clinkers mean waste

The heat goes directly to the Gurney-Oxford oven, where it should go—over and under and around the oven—heating it evenly in every corner. The heat must do its work before it can get near the chimney.

These, briefly, are the devices that make the Gurney-Oxford the most perfect piece of stove mechanism ever designed.

Because it never fails in its work, because it is economical of fuel and cooks "like a charm," the Gurney-Oxford is renowned in thousands of Canadian homes.

The report that General von Moltke has been displaced as chief of staff and General von Hindenburg as commander of the army in East Prussia must be read as a rumor reaching this country from British sources. It would not be at all surprising, however, if his military disappointments had put the Kaiser in a bad temper or if his generals quarreled with him for interfering too much with the conduct of their commands.

The German ambassador called on the Secretary of State on Monday and carried home copies of all of Mr. Bryan's peace treaties for study. It will not hurt the German diplomatic service to become a little more familiar with the doctrine of settling quarrels by arbitration.

If you would be regarded as wise, all you have to do is to hand people the advice you want.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

THIS may be said about a quick temper—you have a chance to catch it a dozen times while the other fellow is heating up.

Probably the bark that held the prince also scared the cat.

Feeling the need of a thing doesn't help you the least little bit to get it.

The less hair a woman has the more she has—in the box.

Getting the best of it isn't always getting the most of it.

Having good sense is neither a science nor an art, but just a matter of everyday practice.

It is no doubt a good thing to have confidence, but sometimes we are really puzzled where to get and how to place it.

If you never have any money yourself you probably are something of a gold mine for some one else.

Humor and Philosophy

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

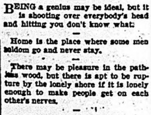
BEING a genius may be ideal, but it is shooting over everybody's head and hitting you don't know what.

Home is the place where some men seldom go and never stay.

There may be pleasure in the pathless wood, but there is apt to be rupture by the lonely shore if it is lonely enough to make people get on each other's nerves.



"SAY, BILL! HAVE YOU HEARD THIS ONE?"

We pray to be protected from the man who thinks a funny story is a balm for all troubles.

Just being what you seem to be fools lots of people sometimes.

Geodetic Survey.

A geodetic survey means mapping large areas by methods which take the curvature of the earth's surface into account as ordinary surveys on a small scale do not. The United States coast and geodetic survey, now attached to the department of commerce and labor, is charged with the survey of the coasts of the United States and coasts under the jurisdiction thereof and the publication of charts covering said coasts. This includes base measure, triangulation, topography and hydrography along said coast; the survey of rivers to the head of tidewater or ship navigation, deep sea soundings, temperature and current observations along said coast and throughout the gulf and Japan streams, termination of latitude and longitude, etc. It is one of those branches of the public service which we do not hear much about, but which is constantly and quietly engaged in producing scientific results.—Philadelphia Press.

Girls With Boys' Names.

Girls with boys' names and boys with girls' have received them in many instances no doubt by accident. It was so in the case of George Anne Bellamy, the famous eighteenth century actress, who played Juliet to Garrick's Romeo. Born on St. George day, she was to be called Georgiana, but somebody's blunder at the time of her christening split this into George Anne. The "corn law rhimer," Ebenezer Elliott, had a daughter named Noah, whose passport is said to have given her much trouble abroad. But here, as in the case of other girl Noahs, it was only other people's Biblical ignorance that was at fault, for turn to Numbers xxxvi, 11, and you will find that Mahlah, Tirzah, Hoglah, Milcah and Noah were the daughters of Zelophehad.—London Graphic.

Flowers on Icebergs.

Flowers blooming on icebergs would certainly be a rare sight, but travelers in the northern portions of the Pacific and sometimes in the north Atlantic have witnessed this strange but very beautiful spectacle. It appears that some animals carry on their feet a growth of moss, which is deposited on the ice while it is attached to the mainland in polar regions. In time this decays and forms a shallow soil, in which the seed of buttercups and dandelions often find a lodging, borne by currents of wind that doubtless caught them up in some southern clime. These take root and bloom when the great gleaming iceberg floats out to sea and is carried southward, where the soft winds melt the surface and give the plants the moisture they need.

His Wrestling Match With English.

Charlie Conrad, a business man in the national capital, employed a Turk as a servant in his house after having been discouraged by numerous experiments with the average run of servants. The Turk was exceedingly industrious, and devoted his spare time to the study of the English language.

One day Charlie received this letter from him:

> Dear Sir—In this little time at today I saw a good positions against me. I am very far of my country but I not felt that among your family. I can't forget this politeness. I am very grateful but my money weekly it is not sufficient for me because I pay my room and electric car and with rest I can't live. I ask $7.50 per week of the next week. I believe you will find this same lines in my sincere sensation.

A Bavarian Apple Pie.

One of the most delicious ways to use apples in cookery is in a Bavarian pie. Line a deep dish with pastry. Fill it with breadcrumbs and bake it until the pastry is done. Then remove the crumbs and fill the cavity with chopped apples and nuts and some stoned raisins. Sweeten with sugar and flavor with nutmeg and cinnamon. Sprinkle with cake crumbs and bake till it is brown on top and the fruit within is thoroughly cooked. Spread over the top a lemon flavored meringue and let it become a light brown in the oven. Set the pie away to cool before serving.

One Taunt Barred.

"Peggy says you are clever," said the girl.

"Why?" asked the man.

"Because you tried to guess her age."

"Oh, I didn't try to guess her age; I only tried to guess the age she'd like to be."—Yonkers Statesman.

Always.

"When do you think a wife is justified in taking money from her husband's pocket?"

THE SUMMER COIFFURE.

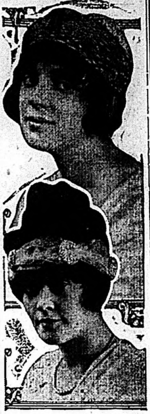
Its Beauty Depends on a Fastidious Care of the Hair.

The hair is apt to become musty and matted in very little time during the hot weather unless it is carefully treated. The reason is apparent. The scalp perspires more freely than any other part of the body. During the hot weather all rats, switches, curls and puffs should be put into storage. The present style of hairdressing has no need of false hair anyway.

Even if the style called for much and elaborately dressed hair it would be foolish to follow fashion's call, at least during summer months, for there is nothing quite so harmful to the head as false hair in hot weather. It is very heating, causing incessant perspiration; then it shuts out all air which might reach the scalp under ordinary circumstances.

A woman should never omit the nightly brushing and airing. Before retiring she should let down her hair and sit in the open windows where the wind can blow away every vestige of the odor of perspiration. Ten minutes' airing is not too much and can be easily spared.



ATTRACTIVE HEADDRESSES.

Once every week during the hot weather the hair should be shampooed. If the scalp is inclined to be oily it may be necessary to give the head a dry shampoo during the week. A massage with orris root will work wonders. The orris root should be well rubbed into the scalp so that every bit of oil and moisture is absorbed. Then the powder is all brushed out, leaving the hair as fluffy as after a washing.

The tango cap of knotted gold cord illustrated here is worn over a sheer foundation. The bandeau of tulle caught by the pearl ornaments is also an attractive ornament for evening wear.

Fireless Cookers That Are Not Fireproof

One would think one were safe from fire with a fireless cooker, but a friend of mine came near having a conflagration from hers, says a writer in Good Housekeeping. She smelled something burning in the kitchen and hurried in to find, to her astonishment, that volumes of smoke were rolling from the fireless cooker. The latter was not in use at the time and, moreover, the lids were all standing open. The cause of the trouble was spontaneous combustion of the "stuffing" between the compartments.

It seems that the cook had not been careful in wiping out the moisture after the food had been cooked, and the metal lining had rusted and so holes had come at the bottom. The heat from the radiators got through these to the "stuffing," and when enough had been stored up in this interior spontaneous combustion occurred, just as it sometimes does with a bale of cotton. The insurance company made good to my friend the destruction of the fireless cooker, and she has purchased the latest model, which is porcelain lined, and, therefore, may not be subject to the same danger. But still we have now got to watch our fireless cookers lest they catch afire.

Cookers which are not seamless lined must be kept dry and open to air when not in use or rusting will inevitably result. Given this care they will not rust out.

Facing the Problem.

Father—What! You want to marry my daughter? Why, sir, you can't support her. I can hardly do it myself. Suitor (blankly)—C-can't we chip in together?—London Opinion.

It's too bad that we can't live long without getting old.

Possibly the exploding of the theory that two can live as cheaply as one is responsible for a good many divorces.

Rednersville ,, ,, Wednesdays

The London Daily Mail correspondent in France gives a new version of the reason for the German retreat from Paris. He says that the moment Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, decided to arrest his retreat and face the Germans on the Marne, the French General, Foch, who was retiring south of Chalons, discovered by an aeroplane reconnaissance that two German armies had failed to make a junction and had left a considerable gap in the neighborhood of Vitry-le-Francois. Gen. Foch thrust a large tillery into this gap and had them well established before the Germans discovered their oversight, with the result that there was a German panic and retreat, in which the Germans suffered very heavily.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER PROUD OF CANADIANS

Confident That They Will do Brilliant Work in Europe--Compensations of War--Served Imperial Purpose by Ending the Irish Trouble

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Among numerous Canadians anxiously waiting definite information of the arrival and landing of the Canadian troops none is moer eager than Sir Charles Tupper, who has two grandsons and the husband of a granddaughter in the contingent.

"We are all proud of the forces which Canada is sending and we know they will fully maintain the brilliant records of the past," said the veteran statesman to-day. "While the action of the Dominion Government is only what I expected, I cannot help feeling proud of this generous and prompt respon to the call of the Motherland in this time of stress."

The discussion of the war naturally led to a reference to recent political history in which connection Sir Charles expressed the opinion that the action of the Canadian Senate upon the Premier's proposal to contribute three Dreadnoughts to the Imperial navy had strengthened the Kaiser's hope that Canada would stand aloof from the struggle.

Sir Charles commented on the compensations of the war arising from the dropping of the Irish trouble and other internal problems. He had, he said, never doubted the loyalty of the Irish when put to the test.

When the correspondent called at "The Mount," Bexley Heath, Sir Charles was giving a sitting to a sculptor who is engaged in executing bust to the order of certain Montreal friends. He is in a good condition of health, and chatted over the tea cups with another Canadian caller, who brought up events of thirty years ago, leading the last surviving father of Confederation into some interesting reminiscences.

HOW TROOPS WILL RECEIVE THEIR PAY

Twenty Thousand Cheques Issued Each Month End for Expeditionary Force

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—Twenty thousands cheques are being sent out by the Militia Department monthly for the soldiers of the Canadian expeditionary force, states J. W. Borden, the paymaster general. There will be a base paymaster in England, who will forward funds regularly to the paymsater with the force in field. The soldiers will get their pay regularly in cash, that is, those who desire it so. Most of the men, however, have assigned their pay, or a certain portion of it, to their relatives or to banks in which they have accounts. Twenty thousand have made such an assignment, and the cheques are being sent from headquarters at Ottawa. The same arrangement applies also to the nurses.

CARNEGIE RAPS KAISER

Says He is Surrounded by a Clique --Blames King-Rule

CLINTON, N.Y., Oct. 12.—In receiving his degree of doctor of laws at the hands of the trustees of Hamilton College here to-day, Andrew Carnegie spoke of the war and said the trouble in Europe arose from hereditary rule.

"Get rid of kings," he said, "and let the people govern. The man who comes to the throne by inheritance comes to think himself appointed by God, and the only one appointed. He carries with him to the throne a group of friends and thus a clique grows up about him. The German Emperor is surrounded by such a clique, and he cannot get out of it. Thank God, this is the land of free and equal. You cannot exalt your country too highly."

SAW EXECUTION OF SPY

Ghent Goes Back to Capital Punishment After 40 Years

GHENT, Oct. 12.—(Disptach to the London Daily Standard)—In peace time the Ghent station is one of the busiest in the country. Now it is deserted. When I arrived there to-day there was, however, something like liveliness at the station. Travellers were thronging around a motor car into which some gendarmes had pushed a spy who had been caught between Antwerp and Alost. He was a mere boy, about 20, dressed as a gentleman. With an insolent look he stared at the people; then, amid the hooting of the bystanders, was taken away by his captors to meet the dreaded penalty.

A few days ago I visited the execution of a spy in the park. Although it took place at an early hour, a large number of people had assembled there. After having received spiritual comfort, the condemned man was blindfolded and placed against the wall of the old cathedral. A company of gendarmes was ordered to fire, and the man sank to the ground dead.

So, without meetings or discussions, without referendum, without any weighty articles in the periodical press, the war has reinstituted capital punishment here, which had never hitherto been abolished, but had not been applied for forty years.

Ghent is the place of refuge for thousands of fugitives. In the course of a few weeks the population has increased from 160,000 to 250,000. By the bombardment of Alost its thirty thousand inhabitants were robbed of all they possessed and they have come to Ghent. The city is doing its duty. All refugees have found food and shelter and words of compassion and love.

With the male milliners of Paris off to the war, American women will have to devise their own models.

SHEDDING OF BLOOD MUST FOLLOW DRAWING OF KNIFE

Girls of Paris Now Regard a Bandaged Finger as a Badge of Honor--Interest in the Indian Troops--Spirit of French Peasantry--Sister Implores Brother to Avenge Falling of Eight of Family

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The presence of the Indian troops in Paris is exciting the greatest interest. Wherever they pass, soldiers, civilians, and girls all want to see the famous Ghurka knife. They are somewhat appalled when the little dark-skinned warriors solemnly declare that their religion forbids them to draw the weapon without shedding blood.

What seems an insurmountable difficulty is overcome when British soldiers, who have seen service in India, tell the curious that the knife will be shown by the Indians if the spectators will allow the top of their fingers to be gently cut.

In this way the Ghurkas fulfil the spirit of their law. The girls of Paris now consider a bandaged finger a badge of honor.

The wonderful spirit of the French peasantry is shown by the following letter which a sister wrote to her soldier brother:—

"Dear Edward—We have just heard that Charles and Lucien are dead, and Eugene mortally wounded. Louis and Jean are also dead. All of the brothers Rose have disappeared. Mother is crying, but says you must go to avenge Jean, the head of our family, and the holder of the Cross of the Legion of Honor. You must earn it now. Eight of us hava been killed. Do your duty."

END OF WORLD'S GREATEST BATTLE IS APPARENTLY FAR AWAY

Fighting Inncessant, With no Decision Reached as Yet--Allies Massing on Belgian Soil--Ostend Objective Point for the German Army

(Canadian Press Specials Exclusively to the Intelligencer)

ALLIED FORCES HAVE RESUMED OFFENSIVE

PARIS, Oct. 13.—This afternoon's official announcement says the Allied forces have resumed the offensive in the regions of Hazebrouck and Bethune against the enemy's forces, largely composed of cavalry. The town of Lillie, held by a Territorial detachment, has been attacked and occupied by a German army corps. Between Arras and Albert the Allies have made notable progress and there has been similar advance all along the line except in the Vosges and Alsace, where there is no change.

BELGIAN GOVERNMENT MOVED TO FRANCE

BORDEAUX, Oct. 13.—It has been decided to transfer the Belgian Government to France in order that it may have full liberty of action. This was announced officially here today. Several Belgian Ministers accompanied by officials left Ostend this morning for Havre, where the French Government has prepared temporary offices for them. King Albert remains at the head of the Belgian army.

THE BATTLE MAY LAST ALL WINTER

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—The Herald's military critic says not even a Napoleon could evolve a decision out of the condition of stalemate in which the opposing armies in France are now placed, and that they will probably maintain approximately these relative positions throughout the winter.

WINSTON CHURCHILL ROUNDLY CRITCIIZED

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Morning Post attacks Winston Churchill for sending a small naval force to Antwerp. A large force should have been sent or none at all. The Post claims the British losses were greater than was admitted. Churchill's advice resulted only in loss of life and the hampering of the Belgian retreat.

GRAND DUKE CONSTANTINE DEAD

PETROGRAD, Oct. 13. — Prince Oleg, son of The Grand Duke Constantine, died yesterday of wounds received in action. An official despatch from Petrograd of Oct. 11th said the Prince had been wounded in a cavalry engagement at the front. He was carrying a Russian standard at the time he was shot.

FRENCH AND BRITISH ARE WELL SITUATED

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Daily Mail correspondent behind the French left in France says the Allies, which last Thursday experienced a change for the worse, were on Sunday better than ever.

GERMANY NOW HOLDS ALL POLAND

LONDON, Oct. 13.—A German War Office official communication via Amsterdam claims that Germany now holds all Poland west of the River Vistula; the Russians occupying only Warsaw.

NORTH SEA CLOSED TO ORDINARY TRADE

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Kaiser Wilhelm Canal, telegraphs the Amsterdam correspondent of Reuter's, between the Baltic and the North Sea, has been closed to ordinary traffic for the duration of the war.

CAPETOWN UNDER MARTIAL LAW

CAPETOWN, S.A. Oct. 13.—It is officially announced here that the command under Col. Martiz has rebelled in the northwest of Cape Province. Martial law has been proclaimed throughout the Union.

EARTHQUAKE KILLS 3000

(Canadian Press Despatch)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.— More than 3,000 were killed in an earthquake in the province of Konia, Turkey on Oct. 5th, according to a cablegram today from Ambassador Morgenthau to the State Department. Thousands of buildings were destroyed, rendering countless numbers homeless.

STOP RIFLE ISSUE TO CIVILIANS

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—The latest militia orders state that the issue of Ross rifles and service ammunition to Civilian Rifle Associations is suspended until further orders. Notice is also given that letters to members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force should be addressed so as to give the rank, name in full, and regiment or corps, after which add "Canadian Expeditionary Force, England."

Don't have too little confidence in yourself or too much in others.

Fatal Accident To a Brakeman

Slipped in Jumping from a Train and Fell Under the Moving Wheels--Terrible Injuries Inflicted

Mr. Samuel Burd, a G.T.R. brakeman, who resided in this city, was yesterday the victim of an accident which terminated fatally. It appears that Burd was braking upon a freight train and at Colborne station when the train was moving slowly, not more than five or six miles an hour, he made an effort to jump to the platform, but failed to do so. In some manner he slipped, with the result that he fell under the moving train and was frightfully injured. The unfortunate man, after receiving temporary medical aid at Colborne, was brought to this city and taken to the hospital. It was then apparent that his injuries were of such a nature that he could not survive and about three o'clock he passed away. One leg and arm were atmost severed from the body, and the other leg and arm were crushed. Other injuries were also inflicted upon the body. Despite these injuries Burd was conscious and was able to relate how the accident occurred.

Deceased, who was 47 years of age, was unmarried. He was a son of the late Mr. John Burd and was born in Hungerford Township, but had lived here for several years. Mr. Burd had been in the employ of the G.T.R. for some time and was popular with his fellow employees. Deceased was a member of St. Michael's Church and was also a member of the Brotherhood of Trainmen. Four brothers and six sisters survive.

Last evening at Thompson & Co.'s undertaking establishment an inquest was commenced, presided over by Dr. Boyce, Coroner. The jurymen empaneled were Messrs. L. R. Terwilligar, H. Logue, C. Rathman, J. Barnum, W. Wilkins, W. H. Day, J. Warham and F. Walsh. Mr. Terwilligar was chosen foreman. After the jurymen had taken the oath of office they viewed the remains.

The only evidence taken was that of Sergt. Naphin as to summoning the jury, and a brother of the deceased in reference to identification. The body was then given over to the relatives and prepared for burial.

The inquest will be continued tomorrow evening at the police court room. Mr. Anderson, County Attorney, represented the Crown at the inquiry.

ITALY'S CRACK TRIPOLI ARMY ORDERED HOME

The Movement is Universally Accepted in Italy as Another of the Steady Preparations for War

PARIS, Oct. 12—A Naples despatch says that twenty Italian transport ships, heavily escorted by an Italian Naval fleet left to bring back Italian troops now in Tripoli and Cyrenica. Their place will be taken by a volunteer corps just formed in Italy.

Although the return of troops from Lybia is ostensibly due to the fact that their term of enlistment has expired, the movement is universally accepted in Italy as another one of the steady perparations being made by the Italian Government for eventual participation in the present war. Should Italy take possession of Trieste and Trient, as it is confidently expected she will do if she joins with the Allies, she will thus have 100,000 more trained soldiers than otherwise, the troops being brought from Tripoli being still subject to military duty under a general mobilization.

Italy's "precautionary mobilization" now consists of about 500,000 soldiers. These comprise all the military units that would be employed in a war against Austria.

It is not considered likely that, with this preparation, Italy will order the mobilization of any more troops until the actual moment that the Italian military strength may be called out for active participation in war.

Everybody Pleased When They See It

READILY SHOW APPRECIATION OF THE GREATEST OFFER EVER MADE TO ANY NEWSPAPER.

Those who started to clip certificates from The Intelligencer a week ago can now testify to the true merits of the great offer, for the Bible distribution started off with immediate satisfaction to all concerned. All who got their Bibles are proudly showing them to their friends, and commendations and congratulations are already pouring into this office.

The limp leather volume with overlapping covers is the most popular, although the one bound in silk cloth is just as serviceable and contains all the beautiful illustrations printed in with the type as well as the colored plates. There is also a Catholic edition, which contains the full-page colored plates, approved by the church, without the Tissot and text pictures, and this is being distributed in the same bindings as the Protestant books.

It makes no difference how many Bibles you may now have, you will want this one, anyway, for it is illustrated as no other Bible in the world is illustrated. The picture for each particular verse or subject taken up is inserted with the type, so that it corresponds with the accompanying text matter. The publishers expended $50,000 for this work alone, and besides they selected the most appropriate of the famous Tissot collection, and these are reproduced in colors and inserted in their proper places throughout the volume. The result is a grand work of art which cannot be surpassed.

If you have not yet started to save certificates, begin to-day and lose no further time, for you will never have another opportunity like this, and at the rate they are now going the supply will soon be exhausted.

To-day's certificates is printed elsewher. Clip it at once or somebody else will get ahead of you.

There is a medical authority who believes that a man's internal organs can be patched or replaced with rubber. Maybe he can be fed with a bicycle pump.

ANTWERP FORTS MANNED BY GERMAN SPIES

Destruction of Water Works Due to Treachery in City--All Plans Frustrated--Every Move of Garrison Known Beforehand to Enemy

LONDON Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Five thousand marines who aided in the defence of Antwerp have returned, and from many of them it was learned that the commander of one of the forts was a German spy.

The Belgians shot him and four of his staff officers. The marines say that the work of defence was greatly hampered by spies, who were everywhere. The escape of the marines is considered a miracle.

It is officially admitted that treachery aided the German artillery in ruining the defence of Antwerp. The commandant and his staff in one of the forts were German spies. German spies blew up the magazine of Fort Wavre-St. Catherine at a critical moment in the fighting; cut off the water supply of the city; sent news to the German commanders of every plan and movement, and effectually neutralized the resolution and valor of Belgians and British. And at Duffeld a ruse enabled the Germans to overpower or destroy most of a force of 2,000 Belgians. Late at night the Belgians soldiers saw what they took to be British soldiers approaching along the north bank of the Nethe. To a challenge the oncomers shouted "We are friends. The pseudo British rapidly overpowered sentries and swarmed into the Belgian trenches, where most of the soldiers were asleep. When the attack was over only 800 were left out of a force of 2,000.

ST. JOHN A REMOUNT SHIPPING DEPOT

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 13.—(Special)—It has been announced by General Sir Frederick Benson, K.C.B., that St. John will be the remount shipping port for the British Army. Regarding the plans of the remount department, Sir Frederick said that it had been decided to establish a depot at St. John, but that it had been thought advisable to use Halifax also. This would give the department the advantage of having two ports at its disposal, and in the event of any outbreak of sickness among the horses at one place, it would not mean that the entire operations would be in danger of being affected. When the shipments commence Sir Frederick expects to see a total of about 3,000 horses a week handled at the two ports. It is against the policy of the department to say anything about the dates of the shipments, but it is understood that the work may commence at this port soon and that it will last for a considerable period of time. Sir Frederick said that he found the arrangements at the exhibition grounds which have been placed at the disposal of the British Government, admirably suited for the work and that the modern live stock buildings were quite the best he had ever seen. Some improvements will be required to convert the summer buildings into winter quarters but this can be easily done. The common council is also dealing with the preparations for the shipments of the horses and has agreed to give the use of the agricultural hall, which is partly municipal property. The spirit of the council is that not only should all be done to favor St. John as a remount port, but that any sacrifie should be undertaken for the sake of the needs of the Imperial Government. It is understood that the department hopes to have about 1,000 horses here at a time and that the first batch will be due at the exhibition grounds on October 15.

All the preliminary arrangements have been made by Captain Parker and all that is needed is to put the work in active operation. There will now be no further delay. Water is to be supplied to the grounds by the water and sewerage department, and the machinry hall is to be at once fitted up to receive the animals. Loose boxes will not be used, but some arrangement will be made to keep the horses from injuring themselves in transit. A large number of men who understand horses will be employed in the feeding and handling of the animals. Major-General Sir Frederick Benson K.C.B., who has selected St. John for a shipping port, is one of the many British officers on the retired list who have offered their services to the war office. He is also Canadian born. Captain Parker, aid to Sir Fredrick also responded to the call of the Empire at the outbreak of hostilities.

During the South African war, Sir Frederick was on special service as acting adjutant general when he was mentioned in despatches and giveen the commandership of the Bath and holds the medal with three clasps. In 1903-4 he was inspector-general of remounts which he held until he was appointed major-gneral in charge of administration 190711909, when he retired only be recalled to duty that once again brings him so closely in touch with his native Dominion.

Publicity is a great thing nowadays Recently an actress smoked ten cigarettes in a New York hotel lobby and received several columns of gild edged advertising.

The German Black Maria

British Captain Doubts Efficacy of the Big Howitzer

Despatch to the London Standard). —It will be satisfactory when some indisputable authority has judged the question of the relative efficaciousness of the German's big Howitzers, the approximate mortal range of action, and if they do as much damage as the noise they make warrant. The testimony of a British captain who has actually observed the operations of these guns is of interest and importance. He says:

"I was standing with a sergeant watching a German sniper climbing up a church steeple. Black Marias had been dropping around us more or less all morning. When one pitched not a yard from us nobody saw any more of the sergeant. I found myself, after a while, lying in a hole it had made, about six feet deep. I felt in a fearful state of indescribable pain all over for perhaps five minutes and then suddenly thought I was all right again. I walked a few paces and tumbled into the arms of a corporal. Since then I have not walked, having several pieces of shell in my leg and three bits in my head.

"About the Black Marias, you may take it from me—I have seen a good deal of shell fire and a good deal of them—that they do very little harm except exactly where they pitch. If they come among men standing, of course, they blow them to bits, and the first effect of the shot is very bad. But you see my own case. After a day or two I was very little the worse for the splinters. I should say that at thirty yards there was no danger for men lying down, though, of course standing you might get hit.

"How I came to be in the hole and so little damaged I cannot imagine. There was nothing left of the sergeant at my side.

"I then reckoned that these shells cost about $5,000 each, and can be fired only at the rate of about one every quarter of an hour. It would seem that they are by no means so formidable or so practicable and business-like as the quick-firers."

NOVA SCOTIANS HELP BELGIANS

Donated Shipload of Clothing and Provisions Which Will go Direct

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 12.—As a result of the appeal made by Hon. G. H. Murray, the people of Nova Scotia have donated a shipload of clothing and provisions for the relief of the distressed Belgians. The British Admiralty has placed a ship at the disposal of the committee to transport the gifts to Belgium direct. The ship will sail from Halifax during the week beginning October 19th. A number of cities outside the province are taking advantage of the opportunity to send their contributions on the Nova Scotia ship.

Thanksgiving in Local Churches

Sermons and Music Appropriate to the Day--Especially Fine Music Provided

Thanksgiving was generally recognized in the Belleville churches on Sunday last by sermons and music appropriate to the day.

AT ST. ANDREWS.

In St. Andrew's Presbyterian church special preparation had been made by the large chorus choir under the leadership of Mrs. A. P. Allen. While the neat surplices add much to the appearance of the singers, the real pleasure lies in the well trained voices and exquisite rendering of anthems, quartettes and solos, the result of thorough work on the part of the leader. The large congregation enjoyed to the full the musical treat provided, the programme being made up of hymns and anthems, a beautifully rendered solo, "The Lord is My Light," by Mrs. Allen, "Calvary," finely executed by Miss Lillian Sharpe, and "Blue Galilee," by a male quartette, composed of Messrs. Wrightmeyer, Stallworthy, Vermilyea and Dulmage.

A practical sermon by the pastor, Rev. A. S. Kerr, with Cain and Abel for his subject, depicting the mechanical offering of the sinful man, the heart-offering of the righteous brother,

Germany As The School Master

(By John J. B. Flint)

Germany is the school master who is teaching us lessons we must learn. The time has come when the English army must be made to have the strength which Kitchener demands. If it is not supplied, hated conscription will follow. It is inevitable. What lessons has the fall of Antwerp brought. Here was the strongest city in the world, with its rings of forts, and everything which modern engineering could supply, defended by a large army, wire entanglements charged with electricity so that a touch would kill; guns of immense calibre; yet her forts crumbled from the tons of iron and steel hurled against her by a foe so far distant that the strongest binoculars could not discover it. The lesson we learn is that our great fortified cities and forts might as well be built of paper. Two frightful dangers menace England and France, one danger the Zeppelins, one the submarines. The monster Zeppelins fly 50 or 60 miles an hour. Immense in size, they can carry tons of bombs. It was thought that guns would destroy them; but six of them hovered over Antwerp dropping bombs which fired and destroyed large portions of the city and gave the range to siege guns for accuracy. If these harpies of the air can do these things with comparative safety, what protection have the great cities of the Allies against them. It is true that the Allies possess armored airships which might do something towards their destruction, but if so, why did they not save Antwerp from the Zeppelins? England well knew of the construction of these ships, but apparently did not consider it important to build them. What is to prevent bombs being rained upon our great Dreadnoughts? One large bomb falling upon the deck might fulfil its mission. Practically, it seems to me, that our great cities, iron-clads and shipping are very much at the mercy of these air fleets. We have submarines and destroyers. If one little submarine could hurl into the air in twenty minutes three cruisers, what might not a fleet of them do to our warships. Nets protect the ships at anchor; when moving they cannot be raised. We cannot send our submarine into German ports without great danger from mines. Now that England is sowing mines they will form some protection to our ships. Germans are brave and desperate. They will send their submarines against our fleet and take chances. Lives are not considered by German officers. While we need men, we also need large airships. Beyond question, in a few days Count Zeppelin will launch his fleet in the air, and it will be accompanied by the submarines. Never was England in such peril as she is now. Twenty years of preparation by Germany, and 46,000 men working at Krupp's night and day, have rendered Germany, for many reasons, the most powerful nation upon earth, from a military point of view. Men may fight against men; but when you place men against Zeppelins and all manner of artillery and submarines, then it becomes a different matter.

England now needs every available man if the Allies are to win. It is not any longer a question of what we may do, but what we MUST do to help our grand old Mother, and the Lion's whelps.

To Keep Our Workers Busy

For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.

Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning

We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in non-employment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.

You Reap the Advantage

Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

Belleville High School at Trenton

Make Themselves Felt Among the Up-Bay Students -Exciting Features Mark the Competitions

Last Friday the High School students of Belleville competed in the Field Day sports at Trenton. The students not only did themselves credit but also the school to which they belong. The boys did well in the competitions. In the quarter mile race open for seniors, Allan Meagher, although a junior, took first place. In the quarter mile race Earl Wheeler came first in the juniors in the 100 yard dash, also in the hurdle race, he received second place.

Two of the most exciting features of the day were the basket ball games played by the Belleville and Trenton girls. The first game was between the Juniors of Belleville and Trenton. The game was very evenly contested, being a tie. It was played off, resulting in a goal for the Belleville girls. Hygiena Manley and Stella Collins played excellent games as forwards for Belleville. However, all the girls acquited themselves nobly.

The Senior game of basket ball was also well played. Especially brilliant was the work done by the forwards and centres of the Senior team, while the guards made a truly British defence. The team play in both cases was excellent. Score of Seniors:—Belleville, 27; Trenton, 20.

The hospitality and cordial good spirit of the Trenton teams showed them to be real sports, out for the game, whether victory went to them or to their opponents. We hope for the pleasure of a return game with them in Belleville in the near future. Much credit was given the referee, Miss Templeton, for her fairness and skill in the management of the game.

The Rife Club

The largest attendance ever seen on the rifle butts were there yesterday, when the Belleville Rifle Association held their second annual shoot. There were 26 prizes to be competed for and a record number of 56 members took part. The day was very unfavorable for accurate shooting, the wind being very gusty, and the light bad, but some remarkable scoring was done. The conditions were 21 shots at 500 yards; highest possible score 105. Handicap conditions.

WHAT BRITAIN'S NAVY MEANS TO CANADA

Britain's participation in the European conflict brought Canada, for the first time to a realization of the position of this country in the Empire. Three courses were open to Canadians: (1) neutrality, (2) separation, or (3) participation.

The neutrality policy had for years found advocates among the leaders of the Liberal party. Some went so far as to say that unless Canada was menaced this country should not participate in the defence of the Empire. The war has proved the neutrality doctrine impossible, for Canada is either in the Empire, and, therefore at war, if Britain is at war, or this country must sever all connection with the Motherland and the other Dominions. Even if a possible position, Belgium's fate indicates the uncertainty of peace for this country if we had sacrificed national honour in a hope of national security.

Separatists are few in Canada, and even the treason of these few is today clouded by protestations of loyalty. Therefore, the second course found no public advocates.

There only remained one position—that of participation—a position in keeping with our national honour, political relations and imperial aspirations. The adoption of this course has brought forcibly home to the Canadian people what a triumphant British navy means to Canada and the Empire. The navy is the great commercial insurance policy of the political, industrial and agricultural life of the Empire.

Canada is at war, and yet our commerce has been uninterrupted. The products of our farms, factories, mines and seas are going to the world's markets as in the time of peace. Our importations, except from hostile countries, have suffered no delay nor interruption.

Why is this?

Britain is powerful enough to police the seas and Canadian commerce has the protection of that safeguard. If the opposite had been the case what would Canada's position have been today? Britain, our great market, would have been closed to us, as would France, Belgium and other countries beyond the seas, while the hostile nations, Germany and Austria, would not be purchasers, but destroyers of our commerce.

It is true that we could probably have found a market in the United States, but at ruinous low prices, for Britain's market would also be closed to the United States. Prices in the United States and Canada would reach the lowest possible point if the great export market had not been kept open by the British navy.

The "Naval and Military Record" publishes an interesting calculation showing what would have been the cost to Great Britain had prices risen owing to any failure of the British navy to control the enemy's fleet. The average expenditure per head per week is reckoned at $2 and the probable rise at $1, which is thought to be a moderate estimate. With a population of 45,000,000 the increase would represent an extra expenditure for food, manufactured goods and clothing of $60,000,000 a week. Therefore the navy has saved the nation about $420,000,000.

The navy has saved to Canada a proportionate amount, and saved, in addition, thousands of our producers from actual bankruptcy. The saving to this country in the nine weeks of the war is estimated at $72,000,000. Defeat of the British navy would mean the farmers would see their products deteriorate or waste without a market; our fishermen would be kept from the seas; our miners and lumbermen would have to cease operations, and our manufacturers would be bankrupt; artisans and laborers would be able, and the whole commercial structure of the country disastrously disorganized.

Canada realizes the value of the navy. A war for nine weeks and twice the sum proposed to be given to aid in keeping the navy supreme has been saved to this country. If the war lasts a year Canada will realize still further the value of a supreme navy. An insurance premium of $35,000,000 was all that was required to prevent commercial bankruptcy and general unemployment and distress in this country for all time. We defaulted, but the Mother Country is keeping the policy good. Even if it is late, is it not time that Canada paid the premium?

CURRENT COMMENT

Fighting Joe Martin proposes to start a campaign out west in favor of free trade; but he says he doesn't intend making any speeches while the war lasts, thus affording a check to the peace movement.

Brockville Times: "Premier Hearst's first message to the public is just what might be expected of him. He announces adherence to the Whitney policy, and progressive action by his own Government. And Ontario will soon realize that Premier Hearst will perform what he promises. Premier Hearst is a man with a punch."

Kingston Whig: "It is charged that the manufacturers of Canada are sleeping. Some of them are. They have failed to perceive their opportunities. What is to be done? Some one suggests "dynamic efforts." Better that than dynamite effects." A suggestion from The Whig to its own people might be in order.

Wealth may not bring happiness, but it saves the bill collector many steps.

War Notes

Westminster Gazette: Canada is sending nearly 10,000 more men than she originally intended—31,200 men instead of the 22,500 provided for in the original plan. This will enable the firing line to be 22,500, the rest of the force being kept in reserve. We note that Colonel Hughes, in making the announcement, adds that the services of 100,000 men can be obtained just as easily as the services of the 31,200 now in camp. This is a heartening message, but we hope that the Canadian farmer who may fidget at not having his services accepted will remember that

They also serve
Who stay behind and sow.

We are proud of the troops which Canada is sending us, but we also look to her for the wheat which next year will be more than ever wanted for our national security.

Boston Globe: If Russia should seek to add to its ice-blocked harbors more harbors, giving easy access to the North Sea and the Mediterranean Sea, and to add more territory, making it a connected empire stretching almost from the Pacific to the Atlantic, would not England feel that the fabric of her Empire is threatened? Could France and England refuse Russia? Or would there be a new Triple Entente, without Russia and Germany?

WHAT IS TO BE DONE WITH THE KAISER

The Montreal Star quotes from its London namesake an answer to this question, but without comment. The latter, apparently, gravely suggests that the theory of divine right of Kings and the Kaiser's cousinship to the Czar, and King George, put dethronement or exile to St. Helena out of the question, and that although he ceases to be Emperor he must remain King of Prussia. The stupidity and hypocrisy which have always been with us wherever in late years the German peril has been discussed, one would have expected to find among the first victims of the present war. The above quotation however is conclusive that one at least is, and probably both are, as vigorous and insolent as ever. For years the Kaiser, his statesmen, soldiers and sailors, assisted by politicians, professors, and press preached a war whose ultimate conquest was England. A few wise Englishmen like Lord Roberts, Lord Charles Beresford, Robert Blachford and lately Winston Churchill, had the sagacity to see and the courage to warn their countrymen, but the first who led the way received little but ridicule from the great majority of their hearers. Statesmen and politicians were more concerned over the political than the national peril and so did not see or pretended they did not see the impending danger. Had a few bright honest minds in France, Belgium and England not foreseen and as far as they could provided for the crisis the last two months would have told a very different tale and the opposing trenches might have been dug in old England. Is it possible that we have not yet learned our lesson? Are stupidity and hypocrisy to be enthroned as national gods as the Kaiser is practically the German diety? If so, when the war has run its course, when countless millions have been slaughtered, when sorrow reigns in every home, when starvation and suffering stalk through the war stricken lands and the very name of Christianity has become a mockery to the heathen, then let us kneel in solemn service in Westminster Abbey before the altar of our new found gods and exchange the Kaiser's imperial diadem for the kingly crown of Prussia as a fitting sacrifice to the manes of the millions he has murdered. Surely there is an alternative, and we venture to suggest it. There are innumerable stories apparently abundantly corroborated of murders, mutilations, arsons, thefts and offences against women by the Kaiser's troops. Bombs are said to have been dropped in unfortified towns and it is even said that London is threatened. Why should not the allies at once notify the Kaiser that as by the law of nations these are crimes a full investigation will be held at the close of the war of all charges, and that he and every officer from the Chief of Staff down to the humblest Lieutenant shall be held responsible for every offence he could have prevented or forbidden and punished in the same prison or on the same scaffold as the savage he let loose. This would be done within the law of nations, it might put a stop to some atrocities, it would teach the world that Kaiserism is forever dead, it would comfort the sufferers to know that justice would finally be done and it would not blaspheme the Almighty by suggesting in a civilized land that He had selected and anointed the Kaiser and his two lunatic uncles in Bavaria to govern their respective lands. Can as much be said for the Star's suggestion? Let us be honest and truthful in the face of our appalling danger. Isn't the genuine Kaiserism with all its debasing consequences superior to the stupid or hypocritical counterfeit that the Star suggests?

REFUSED LATIN TELEGRAM

German Clerk Suspicious of Bishop McDonnell's Dispatch

ROME, Oct. 12—Mgr. Chas. E. McDonnell, Bishop of Brooklyn, N.Y., who is the first American Bishop to be received by the new Pope, has seen something of the war.

He came to Rome last June to pay his visit "ad limina" to the late Pontiff and afterward left here with the intention of going to one of the "cure" resorts. He chose Nauheim after various places had been suggested.

Later the Bishop wished to come back to Rome to present his homage to the new Pontiff, and discovered that it was hard to leave Nauheim. However, through the assistance of the American Consul and after considerable trouble, he succeeded in obtaining permission to board a train. It was full of wounded soldiers who were being taken to hospitals.

To be in Germany at this time and to speak only English is not usually a pleasant experience, but Bishop McDonnell had pinned on his cassock the Stars and Stripes, and this, added to the kindness which he aided in the care of the wounded, made him popular from one end to the other of the long train.

When the Bishop heard of the election of Pope Benedict he wrote a dispatch in Latin to his Vicar General and took it to a telegraph office. The telegraph clerk flung it back, saying, "You must send it in German." The Bishop explained that it was in Latin, and that he was an American and a Bishop; but all his arguments were useless. The clerk said it had to be in German no matter who he was or what he said, so he went back and had it put into German by the porter of his hotel.

MRS. W. ASTOR TELLS OF CRUELTY CHARGES

Writes from England of Stories Related to Her by British Soldiers

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 12—Writing from Briar Tor, Yelverton, South Devon, England, to a friend here, Mrs. Waldorf Astor, formerly Nannie Langfield, of Virginia, says:

This war came so suddenly that it simply knocked everybody off their feet and when once we found our feet, we had so much to do that we couldn't look around. This dreadful war is almost unbelievable, but these Germans must be licked once and for all now.

We have come here and taken this little house, nine miles from Plymouth. It is just on the moor. We took it so that the children could get moorland air and we could work in Plymouth most of the day.

We have had 100 of the wounded at Plymouth for the last fortnight. They were wounded at Mons those first three days. A great many of them saw the horrors of German brutality and the stories they tell are almost unbelievable, only they tell them quite simply and told them to me the first day they arrived before they had seen or heard of a newspaper.

One poor creature was absolutely shattered he said, not from fear of the war or the guns, but at seeing two Belgian women with both hands cut off.

I know that the Germans are doing what they can in America to deny these things, but I have got it from the men themselves—plain, uneducated soldiers, a great many of them. The Coldstream Guards regiment was nearly wiped out, because the men refused to fire on the Belgian women and children whom the Germans had put in front of their guns at Mons. This soldier was wounded there, and told me this himself.

TO ASSIST FUND BY GIVING DAY'S PAY

BROCKVILE. Oct. 12.—At the Brockville Dairymen's Board of Trade, which met yesterday afternoon, a communication from Senator George Taylor, of Gananoque, honorary president of Leeds County Patriotic Society, was read, asking that the board grant one day's pay of milk from patrons in Leeds to the Patriotic Fund.

There was a diversity of opinion on this suggested line of action. John Webster, M.P., took the view that it did not cover a large number of farmers, who were non-patrons of cheese factorieis because of shipping their milk across the line.

He concluded with a brief appeal for action, which was deferred for one week to give the salesmen an opportunity of consulting with the patrons.

WHO STARTED THE WAR?

Who started the war?
Not I, says the Kaiser,
I've been an adviser
Of peace from the start
I would'nt depart
From my paceful position
On any condition,
A fight I deplore
I am dead against war.

Who started the scrap?
Not I, says Franz Joseph,
This war I'd oppose if
They'd listen to me:
But they will not, you see,
These war-loving Serbs
Are the class that disturbs
My peace-loving nap!
I detest a vile scrap!

Who started this muss?
Not I, says the Czar;
It gives me a jar
To think of the shooting
And burning and looting,
And sacking and pillage
Of city and village
I'm the kind of a Russ
That despises a muss

Who started the fight?
Not I, replies France;
Would I force the occasion
For German invasion.
What though Alsace-Lorraine
May become mine again——
It doesn't seem right:
And it grieves me to fight.

Who started this row?
Not I, says John Bull:
Lud, they just had to pull
Me into the rumpus.
Sit still while they thump us?
Well, that isn't our game.
But we're grieved just the same.
It's a thing we abhor.

Who started the war;
Though none will admit it,
On thinking a bit it
Seems certain to us
That some onery cuss,
Some kaiser or king
Must have started the thing.
Let us know, we implore!
Who started this war.

A LARGE AND BITTER WAR SAID TO BE AHEAD

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Earl Curzon of Kedleston, formerly Viceroy of India, in a speech made at a war meeting at Harrow School last night, said that the taking of Antwerp was a deliberate part of the German plan.

"Germany has taken Antwerp to fortify it, to keep it, to make a great naval port of it, to use it as a great jumping-off place for her future attempts upon this country. It is no temporary occupation unless we make it so."

The speaker added that by fortifying Antwerp Germany would secure a grip on the whole of Belgium, make Holland play her will, and then settle down to her main object — the destruction of this country. He said Britain was in for a long war, and declared he was shocked that some people should think the hostilities would be over by Christmas. In his opinion more than one Christmas would roll by before the ending of hostilities. In conclusion he advised his hearers not to begin to divide up the German Empire "before you have got hold of it."

Britain's need of more fighting men was emphasized by the announcement last night that the infantry standard, which had been raised to check the great rush of recruits at the outbreak of the war, has again been lowered. The minimum height for recruits, which formerly was 5 feet 6 inches, has been placed at 5 feet 4 inches, and chest measurement from 35 1-2 to 34 1-2 inches.

An appeal has been issued in Glasgow for 2,000 recruits to replace the naval men interned in Holland.

PARIS BOMBED AGAIN.

Second Raid In Twenty-Four Hours Terrifies Citizens.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Paris was attacked again yesterday by a German bomb-dropping aeroplane, the second aerial raid over the city within twenty-four hours, and as a result of the flight the population is in terror and is demanding that the French aerial blockade be strengthened.

The ease with which the German aviator penetrated to a point over Paris and dropped two bombs on the Northern Railroad station, so soon after Saturday's raid by two machines which scattered twenty bombs, killing three and wounding fourteen persons, has roused the people to a realization that their overhead danger is constant and unprevented by the French Aviation Corps.

Following Sunday morning's raid by two German aeroplanes, when the Cathedral of Notre Dame was struck by one of the falling bombs, all of the aerial craft defending Paris was made ready for instant action. Despite these preparations a German aeroplane swooped over Paris at 9.15 yesterday morning and dropped two bombs between two crowded railroad trains which were leaving the Northern Railroad station.

SAN GIULIANO DYING.

Italian Foreign Minister Has Received Last Sacraments.

ROME, Oct. 13.—Minister of Foreign Affairs Di San Giuliano has received his last sacrament and the attending physicians say death is imminent.

Marquis Antonio Di San Giuliano was born in Catania, Dec. 9, 1852. He was appointed senator March 4, 1905. He has served as ambassador in London and Paris several times. He was postmaster-general from May of 1899 to June of 1900 and was Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Cabinet, headed by Fortis, from Dec. 24, 1905, till Feb. 8, 1906. He was again Secretary of Foreign Affairs from the date just mentioned until March 31, 1911, this time in the Cabinet headed by Luzzatti, and again Secretary of the same Department from the last mentioned date till March of the present year in the Cabinet headed by Giolitti, and was again appointed Secretary of Foreign Affairs in the present Cabinet, headed by Salandra.

San Giuliano is strongly pro-German and his death may result in a sharp change in Italy's position.

Ghent Citizens Flee.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 13. — A despatch from Ghent states that the skirmishing which took place Sunday was more southerly and westerly than it was on Saturday. A Zeppelin appeared over Audenaarde Sunday and proceeded in the direction of Brussels.

Five hundred Germans encamped at Sottenhem have destroyed the railway bridges at Audenhove, St. Marie, Lierre and Grammont.

Three Lives Lost.

MONTREAL, Oct. 13.—Three men were killed and two injured in an accident which occurred about eleven o'clock Sunday morning on the National Transcontinental construction work northwest of La Tuque. The scene of the accident is remote from here, the nearest communication point being Harvey Junction, where the National Transcontinental line crosses the Canadian Northern on the way to Quebec. One of the men killed was Mr. A. H. Johnston, a railway engineer, of Westmount.

Issue of Rifles Suspended.

OTTAWA, Oct. 13.—The issue of more rifles and service ammunition to civilian rifle associations is suspended by the Government until further orders, according to a headquarters announcement.

FOUGHT HARD TO KEEP HIS JOB

Indiana Man All Run Down—Had No Strength—No Energy Left—Blood Poor—How Vinol Helped Him.

Shelbyville, Ind. — "I was all run-down, had no energy, my blood was so poor I felt badly all the time and my face was covered with pimples. I am a clerk in the hotel and had to put up an awful fight to keep at work.

"I tried Beef, Iron and Wine, and other remedies without benefit. I learned of how Vinol had helped others and decided to try it. After taking the first bottle I noticed a great improvement in my condition. I continued taking it and now I am rid of all my troubles and cannot say anything too good for Vinol."—Roy F. Bird, Shelbyville, Ind.

For all run-down, weak, devitalized conditions of men and women, nothing equals Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil.

Vinol is a constitutional remedy. It creates an appetite, aids digestion, makes pure, healthy blood. In this natural manner it builds up strength and vitality.

Try a bottle with the understanding you can get your money back if Vinol does not help you.

EXODUS OF REFUGEES.

Stream of Miserable Belgians Fills Roads Into Holland.

LONDON, Oct. 10. — The London Times' special correspondent at Rotterdam says:

I have just returned from the Belgian frontier, where I witnessed the most pathetic spectacle it ever has been my lot to behold. I left Rotterdam yesterday morning, in company with two Dutch journalists, via Dordrecht Breda, for Roosendaal. The previous night thousands of refugees had arrived at Rotterdam from Antwerp.

The advance guard of the fugitives was encountered at Dordrecht, straggling little bands of men and women trudging along the wayside, with children clinging to their hands and skirts. The number increased when Exada was reached, and as we approached nearer the frontier little knots of these unfortunates grew more and more frequent. Our motor car stopped at Gundert for a moment. Instantly a weeping Belgian girl approached and begged me to tell her whether a certain Antwerp fort, in which her brother was serving, had been blown up, as reported. From this moment onwards there was no cessation in the stream of wretchedness.

We were assured 25,000 fugitives passed along one road, and that not a main road, from Antwerp to Holland. For many hours I watched the pitiful procession. Every conceivable species of conveyance was utilized for this Belgian exodus, and the roads were encumbered with the Belgian cows and calves in droves. It is said 200,000 cattle thus entered Holland. These are the source of milk supply for the homeless wanderers. Intermingled with them were people of both sexes and all ages, afoot. Large country wagons were loaded with little children. Young as the children were, they realized the tragic character of the occasion, and journeyed in unchildlike silence.

ANOTHER AERIAL RAID.

Allies Have Again Inflicted Damage on Dusseldorf Hangars.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—According to a Central News despatch from Amsterdam another aerial raid has been made by the allies on Cologne and Dusseldorf, both important German Zeppelin airship bases. The telegram follows:

"A despatch from Cologne states that hostile aeroplanes threw bombs at the Zeppelin hangars at Cologne and Dusseldorf on Thursday afternoon. The former was uninjured, but damage was inflicted at Dusseldorf."

The previous aerial raids on Cologne and Dusseldorf was made by British naval airmen from Belgium on Sept. 23.

The Evening Star's Antwerp correspondent, telegraphing by way of Amsterdam, says that eye-witnesses of the Zeppelin flights over Antwerp insist that they saw one such craft hit by shells from the forts and fall to the earth.

The British official statement says:

"The secretary of the Admiralty announces that Squadron Commander Grey reports that, as authorized, he carried out with Lieut. R. L. G. Marix and Lieut. S. V. Sippe, a successful attack on a Drusseldorf airship shed. Lieut. Marix's bombs, dropped from a height of 500 feet, hit the shed, went through the roof and destroyed a Zeppelin.

REASON FOR ANXIETY.

German Military Expert Worried By Failures at Verdun.

LONDON, Oct. 10. — The London News has a despatch from its correspondent, R. Mackenzie, at Rome, dated yesterday, saying: The following censored telegram has been received by The Tribuna from Berlin:

"German correspondents at the front say that the French is defending Verdun are rapidly shifting the positions of their field guns to simulate retreat in one quarter while they advance in another. Their knowledge of the ground, which comprises hills and woods, favors these tactics. They contest every foot of ground, and compel the Germans to adopt extensive movements and advanced explorations by means of captive balloons, necessitating rapid shifting of telephone communications, heliographs and aeroplanes.

"Major Morath, the military expert of The Berliner Tageblatt, says that the serious anxiety felt is now fully justified."

Hogs.

Selects, $8.25, fed and watered; $7.90 f.o.b. cars, and $8.50 weighed off cars.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, west end market, the feature of today's trade was the weaker feeling for cattle, and prices declined 25c per 100 pounds, which was attributed to the increased receipts. There was a fairly good demand from packers and butchers for good to choice steers, and a fair trade was done in these grades, full loads of the former selling at $7.50 to $7.75, and of the latter at $8 to $8.25. The demand for medium and lower grades was somewhat limited, as buyers seemed to be well supplied. Sales of round lots of bulls were made at $4.65 to $5, and cows at $3.65 to $3.85 per 100 pounds.

The weak feeling which has characterized the market for live hogs for the past few weeks still continues to be the main feature of the provision market, and prices have declined 25c to 50c per cwt. since this day week. The supply was smaller than a week ago. The demand from packers was fair and sales of selected lots were made at $9, cows at $7 and stags at $4.50 per cwt. weighed off cars.

The feature of the small meat market was the weaker feeling in sheep, and prices declined 25c per cwt., which was attributed to the increased supplies coming forward. Lambs were firm. Ewes sold at $5.25 to $5.50, and bucks and culls at $4.75 to $5 per cwt. Lambs sold at $7.25 to $7.50 for Ontario and $6.75 to $7 per cwt. for Quebec stock. The supply of good to choice milk-fed calves was small, for which there was a good demand, and prices ruled firm at 7c to 9c per pound, live weight.

EAST BUFFALO LIVE STOCK.

EAST BUFFALO, Oct. 12.—Cattle—Receipts 6000; slow; prime steers, $9.50 to $10; shipping, $8.50 to $9.25; butchers, $7 to $8.75; heifers, $6 to $8; cows, $4 to $7.25; bulls, $5 to $7.25; stockers and feeders, $6 to $7.50; stock heifers, $5 to $5.75.

Veals—Receipts 1200; active; $5 to $12.

Hogs—Receipts 19,200; active; heavy and mixed, $8.50 to $8.55; yorkers, $8.35 to $8.50; pigs, $8.25; roughs, $7.25 to $7.40; stags, $6.50 to $7.25.

Here's What a New York Paper Says About Velvets

One of New York's leading Fashion Papers, in its October issue, has this to say regarding the Velvet Season:—

"Velvet is the leading fabric of the present Fall Season, giving second place grudgingly to Broadcloths of a high sheen and to dull Velour, or finished suede-like fabrics. As Velvet leads, so its twin sister, Velveteen, is well to the fore, being almost preferred as a fabric for a street costume or smart walking and street suit. Velvet and Velveteens are worn noon, afternoon and evening — Velvet Coats, Velvet Wraps and Velvet Dresses have first place for the present Fall and Winter season."

In this connection we would add that, in Plain and Fancy Velvets and Velveteens, we have a stock of more than Two Hundred pieces to select from. Prices 50c. to $5.00 yard.

RUSSIANS TAKE LYCK

Army on East Prussian Frontier Presses Germans Back.

Official Statement Says Offensive Is Being Pushed Energetically Against the Two German Forces and Heavy Losses Have Been Inflicted on Troops at Wirballen—Przemysl Is on Fire.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 10.—The following official statement has been given out by the general staff:

"On Oct. 8 our troops on the East Prussian border continued to press the enemy who had formed two fighting groups.

The first group was operating in the region of Vladislavoff and Wirballen (both towns in the Government of Suwalki, Russian Poland). Our troops dislodged them from Vladislavoff and surrounded them on the north. On Oct. 8, however, this group still maintained its position east by southeast of Wirballen. All its attempts to take the offensive at that point failed, the enemy sustaining heavy losses.

"The second group of the enemy, a very strong one, commenced an energetic attack in the vicinity of Ratchka and Bakalarzewo (East Prussia). Towards morning on Oct. 8 we assumed a vigorous offensive against their front. The enemy, covered by strong rear guards, tried, it seems, to get out of the sphere of the battle. Our troops captured, by successful assaults, the positions which the enemy were trying to hold. We finally occupied Lyck (East Prussia).

"Our offensive all along the front continues energetically."

Emperor Nicholas returned yesterday to Tsarskoe Selo from his trip of inspection of the Russian armies at the front. While at Rovno and Vilna, his Majesty made a personal inspection of the military and Red Cross hospitals and spoke with the wounded.

Thousands of Priests Engaged.

ROME, Oct. 10.—(Via Paris.)—According to reports received at the Vatican more than 63,000 ecclesiastics are now serving in different capacities with the armies in the field, especially with the Belgian, French and Austrian forces. Most of these clergymen are engaged in hospital work.

To Assist Industries.

CORNWALL, Ont., Oct. 10. — On Wednesday, Oct. 14, the ratepayers of Cornwall will vote on bylaws to exempt from taxation other than school taxes the property of the Canadian Cottons, Limited, known as the Dundas Mill, for a period of ten years, and to extend the franchise of the Cornwall Street Railway Light & Power Co. for a period of twenty years.

Italian Socialists Excited.

ROME, Oct. 10. — (Via Paris.)— The arrest by Italian police of Austrian subjects of Italian nationality who had crossed the frontier to escape military service in the Austrian army has caused considerable excitement among Italian Socialists. Some radical members of the Italian Chamber of Deputies have interrogated the Government on the question.

Barn Destroyed By Lightning

This section was on Saturday evening visited by a severe electrical storm, which left in its wake evidence of its destructive powers. A barn belonging to Mr. Isaac Mayze, situated in the 4th Concession of Thurlow Township, was struck by lightning and consumed. Some 1,500 bushels of grain, farming implements, etc., were burned. Fortunately at the time there was no live stock in the barn. The loss to Mr. Mayze is serious, as we are informed the insurance was slight.

In the city no particular damage was done. The lightning was vivid, the thunder heavy, and rain fell for a time in torrents.

ANOTHER BRANT GONE

That troubles never come singly is borne out in the Brant family. Following closely upon the tragic death of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Brant on Saturday night, Sept. 26, came the death of Mr. Brant's brother, William C., on Thursday, Oct. 1. Mr. Brant had been in very indifferent health for some time, but he was only confined to his bed for a couple of weeks immediately preceding his death. A widow and several children are left to mourn.—Deseronto Post.

West Huntingdon

Last Sunday will long be remembered by the people of West Huntingdon. Rev. Mr. Sharpe of Sidney, preached two interesting sermons for their anniversary. The church was crowded and decorated beautifully. In the afternoon they held their Rally, which was a decided success. Addresses we e delivered by Rev. Mr. Sharpe, Mr. G. A. Kingston of Campbellford, and Mr. Smith of Toronto. The singing throughout deserved much praise, especially by the Sunday school.

Mr. Herbie, Misses Lillian and Mary Jane Gay of Sidney, spent Sunday in this village. We all welcome Mary Jane home from the West, after spending four months in Saskatoon.

Miss Pearl Sharpe spent Sunday here.

Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Scott in her sad bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Cadman of Holloway spent Sunday here.

GATHEHRING OF HOME GROWN FLOWER SEEDS

Owing to the war in Europe, flower seeds may not be so plentiful next yar or the year after, in Canada, as a large quantity of the flower seed that is sold in the Dominion is grown in Germany, and the operations of growing and harvesting the seed there must have been much interrupted this year, and may be carried on with difficulty next year.

Canadian grown seeds has been found to give very satisfactory results and we should advise every one who has a garden to be on the safe side and save some seed this year. Even if there is an abundance of imported seeds it will be interesting to compare this home grown with that from abroad.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST LAND REGULATIONS.

The sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency) on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

NEURALGIA SETTLED IN HER LUNGS

No Relief From The Pain Until She Took "Fruit-a-tives"

CAMPBELLVILLE, ONT., May 5th. 1913.

"I cannot speak too highly of "Fruit-a-tives". For over thirty years, I have suffered from chronic Neuralgia and Constipation, experiencing untold agony. The Neuralgia settled in my lungs and I took bottles of medicine without relief. The doctor told me I would not get better but "Fruit-a-tives" proved that the doctor was wrong by giving me quick relief and finally and completely curing me.

"I would not have my present health if it were not for "Fruit-a-tives" and I am glad of this opportunity of giving you this letter about such a splendid remedy as "Fruit-a-tives".

How Stomach Prevent Acid Stomachs And Food Fermentation

BY A STOMACH SPECIALIST

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is excessive acid in the stomach, aggravated by food fermentation. Hyperacidity irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind, which distends the stomach abnormally causing that full bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy, and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—and they comprise over 90 per cent. of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonfuls of bisurated magnesia, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrective known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. Be sure to ask your druggist for the bisurated magnesia, as I have found other forms utterly lacking in its peculiarly valuable properties.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT

Notice to Employers.

Employers throughout the Province are hereby notified that 1st January, 1915, has been fixed by official proclamation as the date on and after which workmen will be entitled to compensation under the new Workmen's Compensation Act (Chap. 25, 1914, Ontario) and that under section 78 of the said Act every employer in the industries included in Schedule 1 or mentioned in section 75 of the Act is required (without notice and subject to penalty in case of default) to transmit to The Workmen's Compensation Board, not later than 31st October, 1914, a statement of his pay-roll for the year ending September 30, 1914, and an estimate of his pay-roll for the calendar year 1915.

Forms for making the required report and circulars showing what employers come under the Act, or copies of the Act itself, will be supplied on application to The Workmen's Compensation Board

Thankgiving In City Churches

and the attitude of God toward each, was of great profit to the congregation in general.

The service was in every sense an appropriate ending to Thanksgiving Sunday, and thoroughly appreciated by all who were present.

AT HOLLOWAY STREET.

"Impressions which I received in some of the great cities of Europe," was the subject discussed on Sunday evening by Rev. A. R. Sanderson, Pastor of Holloway Street Methodist Church. A large congregation was present to hear the discourse of the Rev. geneltman, who with Mrs. Sanderson recently returned from a trip to the countries where war is now raging. The pastor referred to the war and the countries engaged in it, and there could be no misunderstanding as to which army he was in favor of. The brotherhood of man was being truly exemplified by the allied forces for all colors and races were fighting side by side for the right.

AT BRIDGE STREET.

The sermons of the day, and particularly that of the evening, by the Rev. H. S. Osborne, were appropriate to the day, with a fine musical programme made up as follows:

Anthem—Thou, O God, Art Praised in Zion . . . . . . . . . Maunder
Solo—The Penitent . . . . Vandewater
Dan A. Cameron
Solo—The Fulfilment.
Miss Price.
Tenor Solo—From "The Flower of Thanksgiving" . . . . . . . . . .
Mr. Staples.

AT THE TABERNACLE

Rev. W. G. Clarke, B.A., preached two excellent sermons, the evening's discourse being a resume of the Conference at Ottawa. The choir, under the leadership of Mrs. James Grant, provided excellent music, composed of Anthem, "All the Works of the Lord Are Good"; mixed quartette, made up of Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Nicholson, Mr. Schryver and Mr. Moorman, rendering "Saviour, When Night Involves the Skies," and a duet by Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Nicholson.

The services at St. Thomas' Christ, John Street and Emmanuel Churches were on the topics of Thanksgiving.

BELLEVILLE CITY COUNCIL IN REGULAR SESSION

Business in General of a Routine Nature--An Electrical Engineer Named

At a regular meeting of the City Council held last evening the business transacted was of a routine nature.

The members present were: Mayor Wills, Aldermen Panter, Woodley, Smith, Platt, Duckworth, St. Charles, McFee, Wallbridge.

After the reading and confirming of minutes of the last meeting, the Council went into committee of the whole on reports, communications, etc., Ald. McFee in the chair.

The accounts recommended to be paid by the various committees were passed and the following recommendations were disposed ...

That, having considered the resolution of the Children's Aid Society, we desire to express our willingness to transfer the property now used as a Shelter to the Society provided it be continued as a Children's Shelter, and that the location of said Shelter shall be approved of by the City Council.

Ald. Wallbridge desired to have the resolution referred back for further consideration.

The recommendation was amended so as to read that plans and location of the Shelter shall be approved of by the Council.

The following recommendations from the Board of Health were considered:

That all property owners in the municipality of the City of Belleville residing on or owning property on streets on which sewers have been constructed, must make proper connections therewith when requested to do so by the Medical Health Officer for said municipality.

That all outside closets be prohibited where sewer connections are available.

The committee passed the following recommendation relative to the above:

Recommended that the recommendation of the Board of Health be submitted to the City Solicitor, and that a bylaw be prepared in accordance with the wishes of the Board.

A communication was read in reference to the dangerous condition of a wooden sidewalk on Lime Street.—Referred to Public Works Committee.

Mr. H. A. Thompson applied to be appointed electrical inspector.—Referred to Bylaw Committee.

A request for a cement sidewalk on a portion of Cedar and Bettes streets was referred to the Assessor and Committee of Public Works.

City Engineer Evans presented a report showing that it would cost $225 for a tile drain placed down on a portion of Geddes street.

Mr. R. McCreary, who was present, stated that the drain proposed to be built by the Engineer would be a permanent job. Water lays in the present ditch. The drain proposed was simply for carrying off surface water.

The matter was referred to the City Engineer and the Chairman of Public Works to ascertain what could be done.

The committee rose and reported. The report was received and adopted.

ENQUIRIES.

Ald. Smith asked if the Public Works Department intended to repair a portion of a cement walk on Victoria Avenue which had been injured by the roots of trees.

Mayor Wills—There are other parts of the city where the same thing exists.

It was decided to leave the matter with the Public Works Committee.

Ald. St. Charles—When is the mud hole on Victoria Avenue at the junction of Front street going to be filled in?

Ald. Platt—It will be attended to.

Ald. Panter asked if Mr. Looker's name was still on the pay sheet of the Public Works Department.

Ald. Platt—I believe so.

Ald. Duckworth—Is it necessary to continue the services of the City Engineer?

Mayor Will—I think so.

Ald. McFee—We need an engineer all the time.

INTRODUCTION OF BYLAWS.

Ald. Panter introduced a bylaw to appoint an Electrical Inspector for the city.

The Council went into committee of the whole on bylaws, Ald. Woodley in the chair.

Mr. Harry A. Thompson was appointed electrical inspector, and his remuneration is by fees.

The committee rose and reported. The report was received and adopted.

The bylaw was given its first and second readings and then referred back to the committee.

MOTIONS.

Ald. Panter moved, seconded by Ald. Wallbridge, that as the heavy part of the engineering work is completed for the year that the services of Mr. Looker be dispensed with.—Carried.

Ald. Panter moved, seconded by Ald. Woodley, that a concrete crossing be built on South John street, just south of the railway track.—Carried.

Ald. Wallbridge moved, seconded by Ald. Smith, that the granolithic walk in front of Dr. Clinton's residence on Bridge Street be repaired.

The matter was referred to a special committee composed of Aldermen McFee, Platt, Wallbridge and Woodley, with power to act.

Ald. Woodley moved, seconded by Ald. Smith, that a cement walk be built on Charles street at the end of Forin street.—Referred to a special committee to report upon.

Council adjourned.

All Paris is Knitting

Women Rich and Poor, Ply Needle for Militaire

PARIS, Oct. 13.—In all the transformation brought about here by the war no greater change is noticeable than that which has occurred in the last few days in the city's most beautiful thoroughfare, the Avenue des Champs Elysees. While khaki has taken the place of silks and satins at Maxim's that restaurant now being patronized by officers of the headquarters staff, instead of by chorus girls, and while the Montmartre resorts have been long since closed, such changes were to be expected when the entire nation shouldered arms. But the change in the Champs Elysees was slower, more indefinite, subtle and surprising. This street, where the fashionable set were rivals in glorious display, continues to be the parade ground of the city, but instead of a procession of motors, containing dainty Parisiennes wrapped in costly furs and moving slowly, so that the world afoot might admire, there is now another, but swifter, procession of motor vehicles. They fly two kinds of flags—one the pennant of Service Militaire, the other the Red Cross. As the majority of these cars now requisitioned, once formed a part of that anti-bellum procession, the change is not so noticeable.

At first the fashionable folk still occupied chairs under the trees lining the walk, always in beautiful toilettes—last year's styles not nearly worn out. But with the first breath of real autumn during the last week they found a new occupation. One can now see them in scores sitting under the trees bending over their hands, for they are knitting.

All feminine Paris is knitting, from the Champ Elysees through the big department stores, where half the clerks are thus employed, to the heights of the workmen's quarter in Beleville. Shirts socks, and mufflers are being prepared for the soldiers in the trenches. All the output, when delivered at headquarters, is promised to be delivered to the regiments withing the next twenty-four hours.

WHITE FLAG TREACHERY

Germans Killed Red Cross Wearers Under Its Cover

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Lady Randolph Churchill, in referring to the Germans in a speech today at a Red Cross meeting, said: "They have committed treacherous acts under cover of the white flag and have killed persons wearing the Red Cross. They are despicable Huns!"

Lady Randolph is chairman of the hospital committee of the American hospital at Paignton. Referring to it she said: "The hospital is now full. It has room for two hundred, and that is the number of patients on hand. The accommodation may later be increased, but it requires at present all the care of the doctors and nurses to look after the patients still there."

Lady Randolph expressed the highest praise of the Red Cross contingent.

FRENCH TROOPS OCCUPY YPRES

PARIS, Oct. 14.—An official communication given out this afternoon says after some encounters with Germans in Belgium Monday night and Tuesday, French and English forces have occupied Ypres. Progress in the direction of Berry-au-Bac continues. On the rest of the line there is nothing new.

An official announcement contradicts specifically the German report of the destruction of two divisions of French cavalry in engagements in Belgium. This did not occur. The losses on both sides were about equal.

Discredit is also thrown on the German announcement that they are about to undertake the investment of the fortress of Verdun. German attempts in that direction have been confined to operations against the French field forces in that vicinity, which ended in failure in every case, involving in one instance the annihilation of two German battalions.

PORTUGAL DECLARES WAR

Cabling from Lisbon a correspondent of the Central News says it is reported that the German Minister to Portugal and other Germans residing in Lisbon are about to leave for Madrid. As a result of a Cabinet meeting and conferences between leaders of various Portuguese parties and the President of the Republic, the correspondent continues, it has been resolved to convoke Congress on Friday, October 16th in order to pass a vote for the mobilization of the Portuguses troops.

POSITIONS TAKEN AT POINT OF BAYONET

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A despatch from Paris this evening says British forces captured several German positions at the point of the bayonet and gained much ground south of Lille. A despatch from Amsterdam says German cavalry have been seen fourteen miles east of Ostend.

ADVISES SURRENDER OF TSING-TAU FORTS

A Tokio despatch says the Kaiser has sent word to allow the surrender of Tsing-Tau.

MILITARY CRITIC'S OPINION OF WAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—The Herald's military critic today says:—

The Germans have chosen and the Allies have been compelled to disregard Napoleon's paramount maxim in tactics to "hold in reserve a substantial and efficient force."

At the decisive moment, therefore, when the Allies appeared fatigued, the Germans were not able to deliver the necessary smashing blow, and the Allies occupied in confronting the Kaiser's enormous force with a steel barrier, shutting it off from Channel ports, did not have the reserve when their turn came.

Military authorities agree that Germany held through the winter means Germany beaten in the spring, and for that juncture Kitchener is forging the substantial and efficient force in the shape of the largest and best trained army that will have ever left England.

SIX HUNDRED GERMANS KILLED

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A despatch to Reuter's from Ostend dated Saturday says:—

"Following violent engagements near Matrecht and Melle more than six hundred Germans were killed and a large number of others wounded. The French marines and fusiliers charged with bayonets and took four hundred German prisoners. The enemy was obliged to retire in the direction of Oordegem. Battle was engaged in again this morning in the neighborhood of Lyde.

PREPARING FOR SEIGE OF FAMOUS FORTRESS

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A Central News despatch from Copenhagen says the Germans are preparing with the largest force they can collect to lay siege on Belfort, a French fortress counted almost impregnable, which in 1870 sustained a siege of three months.

PORTUGAL WILL MOBILIZE ARMY

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Central News says Portugal has declared war against Germany. The report lacks confirmation.

VON KLUCK TAKES REFUGE IN LILLE

LONDON, Oct. 14.—There is nothing today indicating an immediate German advance on Ostend, while farther south the Allies have been strengthened and have assumed the offensive. The occupation of Lille by the Germans, it now transpires, means that Von Kluk has thrown his entire army into that city, which has been within the German lines since an early stage in the hostilities. The enemy has been checked in attempts to reach Amiens, which they particularly tried to occupy to control the railroad and to centre there.

ASKS WOMEN TO LEAVE CONSTANTINOPLE

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A despatch from Amsterdam to Reuter's says the Frankfurter Zeitung has received a communication from Constantinople which says the British Ambassador to Turkey, Sir Louis Mallet, asked the women of the embassy last Monday to leave the city. Questioned by one of his hearers whether this was absolutely necessary, the ambassador replied, "You must accept the situation without asking the reasons."

RUSSIANS HAVE EVACUATED LEMBERG

LONDON, Oct. 14.—An Exchange Telegraph Company despatch from The Hague says the Austrian Legation there announces that the Russians have evacuated Lemberg, Galicia, after a fierce fight. Lemberg had been in the possession of the Russians since shortly after the beginning of their Galician campaign.

Hungarians Burn Villagers Alive

Archbisop Tells of Hideous Deeds Committed Throughout the Countryside

PETROGRAD, Oct. 13.—(Dispatch to the London Standard)—Prelate Anastasia, Archbishop of the Chelmski Union of Churches has made the following telegraphic declaration to the Holy Synod:

"I have just returned from the frontier parishes of the Chelm, Russian Poland district, and hasten to inform the Holy Synod of the appalling horrors that have been perpetrated by the Hungarian troops on the orthodox population of the invaded territory.

"On Ascension Day a number of parishoners entered the Chapel of Chodivintzi through the sacristan's door in order to shelter from the enemy's bullets and to pray before an icon of the Holy Mother. Breaking open the door, the Hungarians soldiers pipes in mouth, and without removing their caps, rode horseback into the Holy institution and began firing recklessly. As a result the church warden and his wife were killed on the spot, the wife of a priest Lievitski, was wounded in the head and his daughter in the hand, which was subsequently cut off. The priest, Lievitski, himself, who had left the previous night for a parish church in the neighborhood, was seized on the way and pulled by a rope for a considerable distance, until rescued by a detachment of Cossacks.

"At Shliatin Hungarians fired at an icon posted on the external wall of the church. The village of Yoorov has been utterly and wantonly destroyed by fire, the wheat that had been gathered likewise being reduced to cinders. Thirty-nine persons who had concealed themselves in pits in the hope of escaping the enemy's savage fury, were burned alive. Among them were three whole families. Even those who endeavored to leave the blazing pits were ruthlessly shot. More than eighty persons, consisting of graybeards, old women, and young mothers bearing children in their arms, tormented by hunger, were sent away into the interior of Austria. In the universal destruction it is remarkable to record that wooden churches, and Sunday schools attacked thereto, have remained unscathed.

"From the adjacent village of Vereshtchizki, ninety orthdox individuals of various ages of both sexes were seized and seventeen of the most prominent personages of the locality were shot. A few yards from the frontier an old Russian peasant, before being riddled with bullets exclaimed: "I am dying for Holy Russia, and hope to God that the Czar will annihilate his enemy!"

LUMBER SHIPMENT TO BRITISH PORTS

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 13—Special—While still somewhat behind last year's shipments of lumber from St. John to British ports, September's record cut down the difference materially. St John sent across the Atlantic last month 8,258,294 feet of spruce, and 1,367,769 feet of birch plank as compared with 6,271,622 feet of spruce, and 474,498 feet of birch plank in September 1913. The total for the first nine months of 1914 is 61,973,940 feet of spruce, 7,139,130 feet of birch plank and 1411 tons of birch lumber, compared with 68,701,625 feet of spruce, 4,961,966 feet of birch plank and 1,589 tons of birch timber in the same period of 1913.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND INTERESTS JAPAN

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Oct. 13.—Special— A visit as been paid to Charlottetown, by Mr. T. Noyori, of the firm of Mitsiu & Co., of Japan, which firm was established in the beginning of the 17th. century and which has branches through the entire world. The visitor was especially delegated by his firm to investigate the Island's fox industry. While in New York preparing to return to Japan he received a despatch from the headquarters of the firm to go to Prince Edward Island and thoroughly investigate fur farming. Before leaving the Japanese merchant was taken to a number of the Island's principal fox ranches.

HOLLAND TELLS GERMANY WHERE TO GET OFF

Is Believed to Have Informed Kaiser She Would Resist the Use of River from Antwerp by Declaring War

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—(Special.)—The Government of the Netherlands has again been officially notified by the German Government that the status of the River Scheldt, the waterway which leads to Antwerp will be regarded by German as heretofore. There will be no question of forcing the Scheldt or using it for purposes not santioned in treaties with the Netherland. The notification to this effect was sent this morning.

This message means that Holland has notified Germany that the use of the Scheldt would be followed by a declaration of war by Holland. The latter country does not intend evidently to imperial the safety of its colonies, which would at once be attacked should Holland join with Germany.

GARIBALDI IRREPRESSIBLE

Flouts all Difficulties and Leads Italian Volunteers

ROME, Oct. 13.—Peppino Garibaldi is commanding in France a large body of Italian volunteers. He is well known in America, where he lived for several years, taking a prominent part in the war in Mexico at the time of the Madero ervolution.

Peppino Garibaldi has written to his father describing the difficulties he encountered in the formation of his volunteers, owing to bureaurcratic red tape. As soon as war was declared he travelled from New York to Paris, offering his services to the French republic beside one thousand Italians living in America, who were already organized and ready to follow him, asking only their transportation to Europe.

This was declared to be impossible, and Garibaldi then formed a body of Italians living in France, besides some who went there from Italy. All desired to fight as a separate corps, wearing the traditional Garibaldi red shirt, but this also was declared to be impossible and they had to become part of the Foreign legion, wearing the French uniform. This is regarded as a pity, as the Red Shirt has become a kind of talisman which transforms brave men into heroes.

Despite these and other disappointments, Garibaldi is doing his best. His grade of general has not been recognized and he had to be content with the rank of colonel. News has reached him from America that five hundred of his Italian friends there are collecting their money to pay their passage in order to join him.

Mourning Women Wear White Badge

Those Who Lose Loved Ones on the Battlefield to Show no Sorrow

The following letter appeared recently in the London Daily Mail, being signed by the Duchess of Devonshire, Lady Lansdowne, Lady Pembroke, Lady Castlereagh and Lady Kerry:

Sir—The subject of what kind of mourning should be used to symbolize grief for those who perish in the war has already received some attention in the press.

The above mentioned have all got near relations serving with the colors, most of them have got relations who have borne and are bearing their part in the gallant and sanguinary battles which the British army is fighting against heavy odds on the northeast frontier of France. We know not what their fate has been, or yet may be. But if it is their fortune to die for their country we shall not show our sorrow as for those who come to a less glorious end.

A white band around the arm will mark both our loss and our grief. But it will do more. It will express the pride we feel in knowing that those who are nearest to us and dearest have given their lives in their country's cause.

We trouble you with this letter, which has necessarily been written without consultation, not because we for a moment wish to advocate any particular course on a question which each mourner must decide for herself. But as we are confident that there are many who would share our views we ask your good offices.

GERMAN FLAG INDELIBLY STAMPED ON HIS CHEST

But it Wasn't Because Joe Connolly, Lake Navigator, Did Not Take Strenuous Measures to Have it Removed--His Wrath Caused Signor Bolôsi to Hurriedly Leave Town

MONTREAL, Oct. 13.—Militarism in all its phases has lost all its charm for one Senor Juan Bolosi, who has acquired a considerable reputation among the sailors who visit Montreal port for his skill in making tattoos of unique designs on their breasts and arms. Senor Bolosi is now on his way to New York, swearing vengeance on all Britishers, and sailors in particular. The cause of his sudden departure and hatred of those from whom he obtained the where withal for his daily bread is a certain Joe Connolly, a deck hand on one of the lake steamers. Joe, though short and "stubby" in build, has a considerable record for coming out first in fist-fights along the wharfs.

The trouble can be traced back to last spring, when a German vessel was in port. Connelly was in the city at the time also and, being a hospitable chap, invited one of the German sailors to have a few drinks with him. By midnight they had sworn eternal friendship, and to cement their oath had a German and British ensigns tattooed on their chests. The next day the German vessel left the port, and Connolly sailed away on a lake steamer.

Connolly arrived in Montreal a couple of days ago, and his first move was to hurry to Senor Bolosi's boarding house on St. Paul street. There, he commanded the Senor to remove the German flag so conspicuously pictured on his swarthy breast. Joe explained that it had been a continual annoyance for himself and a source of ridicule for his mates, particularly since August 4th, when he tried in vain to scrape it off with a knife. The navigator explained that he had decided to join the second contingent, and it was therefore absolutely necessary to rid himself of the enemy's emblem. The Senor explained that the tattoo was indelible; that it could not be erased.

It was some time before Joe understood, but when he did there was trouble. Arguments futile, he began to "talk with his mitts."

There were lively doings in the Spaniard's room for a few minutes and when the landlord came up later, a disorderly scene met his eyes. There was not an unbroken piece of furniture in the room. Over in one corner was Senor Bolosi, among the debris of two chairs, nursing wo black eyes, a bloody nose and a few other such injuries. The spandiard, who is of pronounced embonpoint was cursing England, Canada and Montreal in a weak voice.

The landlord explained that, as he was a poor man, he must ask the Senor to pay for the damages; anyway, as he was a noisy boarder, he had better find some other place to hang his hat. The Spaniard, who has amassed somewhat of a small fortune while in Montreal, paid and packing up what was left of his belonging, then took the first train for New York.

Meanwhile, Joe was at a drug store buying a preparation, which, though it will leave a large black scar will effectively erase the hated emblem.

Did Not Recognize His Haberdasher

HERE IS ANOTHER AMUSING YARN ATTRIBUTED TO THE GREAT LINCOLN FUND.

Many and various are the amusing stories attributed to Abraham Lincoln, and like all good story-tellers he became the butt of many funny yarns himself. It is told him that at one of his early public receptions a man came up and shook his hand. The man proved to be his shirtmaker, but Lincoln did not recognize him and told him so.

"Oh," said the man, "I made your shirts."

In the noise and confusion, Lincoln did not exactly understand him, but with his usual desire to make everybody feel welcome he turned to his secretary, who stood near, and said:

"Here, Mr. Hay, I want you to meet Major Shurtz."

It was some time before Mr. Lincoln could be made to understand that the man did not claim to be Major Shurtz, but that he had said, "I made your shirts," which sounds very much the same.

It was Lincoln who said that the most important book in the library is the Bible. Lincoln was a great student, and much of his learning came from what we term "every day" books. The Bible is one of them, and now that The Intelligencer offers such an opportunity, everybody in Belleville should get the New Illustrated Bible. See the display announcements from day to day and you will at once recognize the necessity for coming into possession of one of these beautiful volumes. Then turn to the certificate on another page of this issue and you will find out just how you can get this magnificent work on practically your own terms.

Don't lose another minute—they are going fast. Clip the certificate and present it with five others.

Successful Concert At Armouries

The patriotic concert given by the Fifteenth Regimental Band in the Armouries last evening, drew a much larger number than the previous one, and those taking part gave the best of satisfaction to the large crowd present. The programme was practically a reproduction of the first. A slight accident to the platform delayed the opening of the performance, but this remedied, all went smoothly for about two hours. The popularity of the Fifteenth Band was fully demonstrated, and the patriotic effort of the performers highly appreciated.

AWAITING THE ONSET

Russian Forces in Long Line to Meet Austro-German Advance.

Russian Advices Say the Siege of Przemysl Is Progressing and Forts Are Being Demolished by Russian Guns—East Prussian Advance Is Slower — Germany Is Collecting Equipment of the Dead.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—It is officially announced at Petrograd that the siege of Przemysl is progressing, according to a despatch to a local news agency from the Russian capital. The Czar's artillery is rapidly destroying the forts, which, however, continue an energetic resistance. The Przemysl garrison, it is announced, does not exceed 30,000 men.

Of fighting in Galicia the official reports from Petrograd and Vienna are so directly at variance that there is no reconciling them. Vienna says that the relief of Przemysl is complete, while Petrograd declares that the Russian artillery is achieving great success.

The general opinion gathered from the various reports is that the Russians have withdrawn to a line starting from Sambor, in Galicia, and passing through Przemysl, Sandomir and Ivangorod, and thence to the west of Warsaw, roughly, along the San and Vistula rivers, where they are waiting to meet the advancing Austro-German armies on ground of the Russians own choosing.

The biggest forces are between Sandomir and Ivangorod, which is the centre of the German advance. The fighting thus far is only of advance guard character, or probably, where the Russians are withdrawing, in the nature of rear guard actions.

The Germans seemingly are completely cut of the Suwalki and Lomza districts, but the Russian advance into East Prussia is making little if any progress. Probably both are willing to wait where they are until the bigger battle to the south has been decided. The Germans, it is said, have been surprised by the early setting in of winter, and not being provided with heavy clothing, such as the Russians have, are suffering severely.

In the sinking of the cruiser Pallada by a German submarine the Russian navy has suffered quite a heavy loss. Russia has too few ships as it is, and the loss of a cruiser of the Pallada class is of serious consequence.

A statement given out by the Russian Government says:

"The German losses have forced the German Government to revoke all exemptions to the military service.

"The German army, being short of equipment, an order has been issued to bury the dead soldiers without uniforms and shoes."

Prince Oleg, a son of Grand Duke Constantine, has died of wounds received in action. An official despatch from Petrograd, on Oct. 11, said that Prince Oleg had been wounded during a cavalry engagement.

Warsaw In Peril?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. — News from the war in the east is contained in a despatch from the American consul in Warsaw, which says that the capital of Russian Poland is threatened by the Germans, and its fall is expected at any moment. The motive for conveying this information is the consul's expressed request for instructions as to the care of foreign interests during the expected period of German occupation.

Mme. Van der Velde at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—Madame Lalla Van der Velde, wife of the Belgian Minister of State, was the guest at luncheon yesterday at Government House. ## HEARING IS RESTORED TO DEAF

Without Mechanical or Artificial Hearing Devices. Deaf hear With Their Own Ears. A Wonderful English Discovery.

Thousands of people suffer from catarrhal deafness or poor hearing, who having tried specialists, advertised treatments, artificial ear drums, ear phones, electric-vibrators and various mechanical appliances without success have at last resigned themselves to a "world of silence thinking that nothing can ever restore to them their normal hearing. Yet their case is not hopeless. A remarkable scientific treatment discovered a little more than a year ago in England is making people hear after years of deafness and is also unequalled for quickly stopping the distressing head noises that are so often the companions of defective hearing. This discovery is called Parmint and has attracted widewhere reports of the remarkable results it has given to deaf people have come in by the hundred.

The effect of Parmint it seems is by tonic action to reduce all inflammation, swelling, enlargement or thickening of the organs of hearing and to stimulate the entire auditory tract.

Parmint is now being sold by many leading druggists in Belleville and vicinity and a speedy trial is urged upon all who suffer from catarrhal deafness or headnoises in any degree. Ask the druggist for 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength) and take it home and mix with ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day and you should soon find a remarkable improvement in your hearing.

BOER TAKES UP ARMS

Col. Maritz Has Set Up a Revolt in South Africa.

Reply of Premier Botha Is to Declare Martial Law and Order for Arrest of Traitor Has Been Issued—Manifesto of Government Says Maritz and Followers Have Been Victims of Germany's Agents.

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Oct. 14—It is officially announced here that a commando, under Col. Maritz, has rebelled in the northwest of the Cape provinces.

Martial law has been proclaimed throughout the union.

The proclamation imposing martial law says that "the Government of the Protectorate of German Southwest Africa, has through a widespread, secret propaganda persistently endeavored to seduce citizens of the Union and officers and members of the defence forces of the union from their allegiance and to cause rebellion and civil war within the union."

The rebellion among the forces of the Northwest Cape Province has been brewing since the resignation of Gen. Beyers as commander-in-chief of the Union forces.

As soon as the Government realized this situation it sent Col. Brits to relieve Maritz of his command. Col. Brits then discovered that Maritz was commanding German troops as well as his own, and that he had German guns in his possession. Maritz, who had been given the German rank of general, had arrested those of his officers and men who were unwilling to join the Germans and had sent them as prisoners of war to German Southwest Africa.

According to an official statement an agreement was drawn up between Maritz and the governor of German Southwest Africa, guaranteeing the independence of the Union as a republic, ceding Walfish Bay and other parts of the Union to the Germans, and undertaking that the Germans should invade the Union only if Maritz asked them to do so.

In itself the rebellion of Col. Maritz and his commando in Cape Colony is not regarded as of serious importance. His following is small, and it is situated in that part of the colony where it can be of least value to the Germans in Southwest Africa. Col. Maritz always has been known as irreconcilable and certain to seize any opportunity of making trouble. It is assumed that Gen. Botha will lose no time in having him arrested.

While it is known that Col. Maritz, the leader of the rebels in South Africa, has only a small following, the affair is considered unforunate at this moment. Maritz is a Transvaaler, who fought in the Boer War, but at its conclusion was one of the irreconcilables who crossed over into German territory, where he fought with the Germans against the natives. Later he returned to British South Africa, got an appointment in the police and worked his way to the command of which he has just been relieved.

LOYAL RESPONSE GIVEN.

More Than One Thousand Seek Places In French-Canadian Corps.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—More than one thousand men have already offered their services to the new French-Canadian regiment, which will be commanded by Lieut.-Col. Gaudet, and hundreds of offers are being received by the organizers by mail from all parts of the Dominion.

A mass meeting will be held on Thursday evening at Sohmer Park. The following have been invited to speak: Sir Robert Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Hon. R. Dandurand, Hon. T. Chase Casgrain, Hon. L. P. Pelletier, Hon. Louis Coderre, Sir Lomer Gouin, Mr. L. T. Marechal and the Hon. Bruno Nantel.

Italy Lodges Protest.

MALTA, Oct. 14.—(Via London.)—The Austro-German efforts to cause trouble for Italy in Tripoli have met with failure. In Eritrea, where an active anti-Italian propaganda has been fomented among the natives by notorious Austrian agent Schwimmer, Abyssinia has been induced to buy arms and ammunition in considerable quantities. It is understood that Abyssinia encouraged an attack on an Italian colony.

The Italian Government has sent troops to Massowah and lodged a formal protest with Vienna.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION IN35TH ANNUAL SESSION

Work Accomplished During the Year Just Closed—Reports Discussed, and Other Business Transacted—Election of the Officers

The annual meeting of the Woman's Christian Association of this city was held yesterday afternoon and was attended by many ladies who are interested in the work of the association. In the absence of the President, Mrs. H. Pringle, Mrs. J. C. Moynes, a Vice-President, filled the position in a most acceptable manner. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises, after which various reports were read and adopted. They were of an encouraging nature and showed that a noble band of ladies were certainly doing a grand work in the city. The reports presented were as follows:—

RECORDING SECRETARY'S REPORT.

One feels that the records of endeavor contained in the past year's reports will carry two thoughts to the minds of those who hear them outlined. First of all, there must be many present who desire to carry home with them new ideas for work. The second thought is concerned with the health of the Association. When one reads the past records of the struggles of the officers and workers to get this organization and the different branches of its work established, it is realized that the immensity of the accomplishment is wonderful. To start just a band of a few noble women, who had at heart the welfare of the sick, aged and poor of our city, to fight great odds against prejudiced minds and lack of funds, to gain little by little, step by step, until we now stand the foremost and largest society of women in our city, having under its control a hospital, the management and equipment of which is second to none; a home for our friendless aged and a system among the indigent that cannot be improved—that is the history of the Woman's Christian Association of Belleville. All honor to the noble women of its early history! for they laid the foundation so well, so deep, so securely that at the present day it is practically only a matter of routine work, yet which is attended to with much thought and prayer.

The reports show much progress and evidence of a better knowledge of our organization. In consequence it has been a very bright and happy year, but alas! we have had our sad hours also. The absence from the meetings of our President, Mrs. Pringle, through the long illness and death of her husband caused us keen regret. Mr. Pringle was one of our valued members of the Advisory Board and the Association realizes that it has last in him a warm and sincere friend. He watched the development of the Hospital and Home with a keen and intelligent interest and was ever ready to aid and encourage by his practical help and enthusiasm. The death of our former President, Miss MacKay, came as a shock to us even though she had not been able to be with us for some months. Those who were intimately associated with her during the many years in which she labored so earnestly and lovingly for the Association realize her wonderful vitality and endurance and we ask you to cherish with us the sweet and helpful memory of a fellowship so fragrant with blessing.

The Treasurer's report of our finances is most satisfactory. We have also received notification of two legacies left the Association—one for $1,000 from the estate of the late Mr. Pattulo and another of $250 from the late Mr. G. F. B. Payne's estate.

In our report of last year it was mentioned the necessity of several repairs and improvements at the Hospital which would involve considerable expense. These have been accomplished. The approach to the Hospital has been vastly improved by a new entrance of solidity and splendor of appearance. This has been the particular object of much time and thought on the part of the Chairman of the Hospital Board. Other improvements have included the placing of battleship lineleum on all the corridors, deadening the sound of footfall. All the corridors in the basements have been cemented. The diet kitchens have been re-decorated and otherwise put in good shape. Several other repairs have been made of a minor nature.

The operating room, of which we are justly proud, is now completed and fully equipped and now in use. This we were able to do through the generosity of our citizens and Mr. Bausch of Rochester. The wonderful system of lighting with all appliances for the operating room was the gift of the Trenton Electric and Water Co.

The obstetrical room has been decorated and made complete by the gift of two steel-enamelled tables and cabinet from Mrs. E. G. Sills of Toronto.

The gift of the dainty decoration and fine furnishings of a semi-private ward by the Argyle Chapter Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire is very much appreciated and adds much to the beauty of the interior of the Hospital.

The private wards, J. C. Moynes and Edward Corby, have been decorated through the kindness of Mrs. Moynes and Mrs. Henry Corby.

In fact practically the whole Hospital has been gone over and improvements and repairs made, and gifts donated to it that has placed it in a condition that has not been attained before.

Nothing new can be added to what has been repeatedly said of our staff of physicians, Lady Superintendent, Miss Morrison and nurses. They have been ever faithful and assiduous in the discharge of their duties and the standard that our Hospital has attained is due to their efforts.

The condition at the Home for the Friendless has been bettered by some needed repairs, otherwise it is practically the same as last year. The old people are well looked after and cared for by the Matron whose proficiency and kindness is recognized by all.

The Indigent Committee regret that their chairman, Mrs. Vermilyea, has been compelled to be absent from the last two meetings of the year on account of illness and it is the earnest hope of all that she will soon recover her old vigor and health. This branch of the work was heavier last year than for a few preceding ones, but was carried on with its usual practical and proficient manner.

To all the other committees, particularly the Hospital Board Auxiliary, the Dorcas, Linen and Devotional committees, much credit is due for the quiet yet effectual manner in which they accomplish their means and which helps greatly to accentuate the thoroughly skilled system that the organization has attained in governing its affairs.

There is one particular in connection with our monthly meetings that can be improved upon, and that is the very small attendance. This may be a proof of your confidence in the minority, yet the workers feel very keenly the need of the help and votes of all the trustees, let alone the influence and personality of more of our Belleville women who could be of such inestimable value to our work. Let us be true to our Association; take the necessary interest in its work, induce others to become enthused so that next year will be the most successful yet in this particular.

With this feeling in your hearts there seems little need to remind you that our part in the Association so dear to us is to do with all our might whatsoever our hand finds to do for the good of our community, remembering that "Genuine work alone, what thou workest faithfully, that is eternal, as the Almighty Founder and Work-Builder Himself."

Treasurer Hospital Board.

REPORT OF HOME DEPT.

We have at present 10 inmates in the Home, 5 women and 5 men. There were 8 admitted during the year and 4 discharged. One death occured during the year.

In August an official visit of inspection was made by Miss MacMurchy, assistant inspector, who reported the building clean, comfortable and in good order, and especially noted the careful, prudent and excellent management of the Matron.

The gifts donated by many kind friends during the year amounted in value to $101.30.

HANNAH L. WARREN,
Chairman, Home Department.

DORCAS.

The Dorcas Committee met weekly at Mrs. Ritchie's residence. Two uniforms were made for the Hospital. The Dorcas expended $11.59 and have a balance of $7.20.

The corresponding secretary's report showed activity on the part of that official.

To Keep Our Workers Busy
For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.
Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning
We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build
GERHARD HEINTZMAN PIANOS
represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in non-employment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.
You Reap the Advantage
Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

GOVERNMENT FINANCING IN THE WAR TIMES

The first Canadian provincial government to take practical steps to float a loan during war time is Ontario. The province is selling $1,000,000 five-year 5 per cent. bonds in Canada and the loan is expected to have a good reception. Ontario made inquiries with a view to marketing this loan in the United States, but were informed by bankers there that President Wilson's bans on loans being raised in the United States for governments at war would seem to include Canadian provincial governments. The London market also being closed, Ontario will sell its bonds here.

In Saskatchewan, for public works capital account $1,799,950, part of the proceeds of an issue of treasury bills sold in April, was at the disposal of the government. Money to be paid on vouchers which had been sent in for work done before the outbreak of the war and the sums required for advancing certain public works in order that the money already spent might not be wasted, would make a total of $1,822,000. An additional sum was therefore needed. For relief work and for patriotic purposes it is necessary to raise a further sum of about $1,500,000 by way of a temporary loan, the sum required for patriotic purposes alone being $750,000. Arrangements for a temporary loan have been made by the provincial government and it is not anticipated that the rate of interest will be in excess of 5½ per cent. The government expect to make the loan a permanent one in the near future.

A bill to provide for the hypothecation of the securities of the province of Saskatchewan, passed at the recent session, gives the government powers which will enable it to raise loans in this manner during the continuance of the war.

Manitoba also has a $2,000,000 loan to market.

Several applications have probably been made for advances from the Dominion Government by the provinces, under the provisions of the emergency measures announced at Ottawa in August. The August return of the banks to the government shows that $750,000 in Dominion notes had been issued on approved securities. It will likely be found that a much larger amount has been issued during September.

As to the Dominion government's next loan, the flotation of which is probably not far distant, there is, says the Monetary Times, the possibility of Canada arranging a loan from the Imperial government, and in view of all that Canada has done since the commencement of the war, we anticipate there will be little difficulty. For such purposes as fresh loans, there is practically only one source from which money would be forthcoming in Great Britain at present, and practically any country, and that is the Imperial government through the medium of the Bank of England.

HUSBAND BOUGHT VINOL FOR WIFE

Mrs. Kerns Suffering from Nervous Breakdown Thought She Would Never Be Well Again, But Recovered.

So. Cumberland, Md.—"For a long time I suffered from a general nervous breakdown of the system, and thought I would never be strong again.

"My stomach troubled me so I could not eat, and sometimes I was so weak I was not able to do my housework. Finally my husband heard about Vinol and asked me to try it. After the first bottle I was greatly improved. I have now taken five bottles and it has done me a wonderful amount of good. I sleep soundly, am well and strong, and feel like a new woman and you may publish this for the benefit of every nervous, run-down man or woman who wants good health."—Mrs. D. W. KERNS, So. Cumberland, Md.

It is the combined action of the curative elements of the cods' livers, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol which makes it so efficient in restoring health and strength to weak, nervous, over-worked, run-down men and women.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding your money will be returned if it does not help you.

CURRENT COMMENT

The British people have no greater cause for Thanksgiving than that which comes with the realization that Britain's cause in this war is just.

Monetary Times: "The placing of an Australian order for rails in the United States while Canadian rail mills are slack, indicates that the "trade within the Empire" scheme is not working quite smoothly yet."

A campaign to sell more Canadian apples in Canada is good, but we fail to understand yet why Canadian apples cannot be sold in Great Britain almost as usual. Wheat is being shipped; why not apples?

The Monetary Times emphasizes the underlying truth of the present economic situation in Canada when it says that "the man who has been living upon his wits, nerve and paper must give way to the man who will help in the work of production."

Edmonton Journal: "Those invitations which the Dominion Department of Trade and Commerce is extending to us to eat the Canadian apple make us realize what Adam was up against. But, fortunately, we can fall and in doing so help ourselves and help the country."

Hamilton Herald: "An English writer comes forth with the cheering assurance that the ultimate results of the great war will be beneficial to mankind for it will stimulate the latent literary and artistic genius of the peoples taking part in it, and will be followed by a rich harvest of great art productions. Possibly, but what cold comfort for the stricken widows and orphans, the mothers and sisters of the slain!

Ottaaw Free Press (Lib.): "The Ontario Government has taken a very wise and commendable step in determining to place in the hands of the school teachers of the province copies of the British "white papers" relating to the international conversations prior to the war. The intention is that the children and youth of the country shall learn the actual causes of the war and the reason why Great Britain entered it."

War Notes

Montreal Gazette: "The use of the French language at Saarburg, Lorraine, has been forbidden by the German military commander there. The news is not surprising and the order will probably be enforced by bayonet and bullet if necessary. It is a way official Germany has and it makes the compulsorily ruled hate their rulers. It is a policy of might before justice and reason and everything else."

Lieut.-Col. Lowther, former secretary to the Duke of Cennaught, who was wounded in the recent fighting, writes to a friend in Ottawa that the British soldiers have, man for man, shown themselves infinitely superior, and that if there were 500,000 more of them available the war would soon be over. That should not be a very large order to fill.

London Times: The innumerable crimes committed by the German armies cry aloud for retribution. In our uncultured way, we and our Allies will in our own good time take heavy toll for them. There is no act of pillage, of vandalism, of outrage, and of murder committed by the Germans in this war which will not in the end recoil upon its ruthless perpetrators. Already the good name of Germany is blackened for ever, and her soldiers and statesmen, their hands stained with the deeds that can never be fully purged, look in vain through the world for a single sign of human sympathy. Their whimpering appeals are treated with scorn. The black and ineffaceable facts are their only answer.

THE MIND OF GERMANY

Two remarkable books on the mind of Germany are now being very widely read. They are "Germany and the Next War," by F. Bernhardi, "Germany and England," by J. Cramb (John Murray). These volumes have proved to be a correct forecast. Before the way they would have been read with incredulity, but now a veil is raised and the foresight of the authors is vindicated. Mr. Cramb's book is made up of notes from lectures delivered by him at Queen's College, Harley street, London, in the beginning of last year. Unfortunately, the lecturer's health had already begun to fail when he commenced his task, and in October, 1913, he died. What we have here was taken from scattered notes and from reports. Even under such disadvantages the book has distinct value and vitality. The work of General Von Bernhardi is more limited in scope, but it gives in a clear though diffuse style the views of a distinguished German soldier, who represents the fervent faith of tens of thousands of Germans. Behind Bernhardi there is a philosophy derived from Nietzche and Treitschke. Of Nietzche and his views we say nothing. Treitschke is regarded as the Macaulay of Germany. He has written the history of his country, and has had a profound influence on the German mind. Treitschke became almost stone deaf when he was a mere child, and there is something lonely, defiant, and remote about his work. That idea is "the greatness of Prussia, the glory of an army which is a nation, and of a nation which is an army." Such in his view is the glory of Germany that there must be no rest for the German people till Germany in her shining armour assumes the dominion of the world.

The chief obstacle to this consummation is the present world predominance of Britain. That predominance, in the opinion of these German writers, is out of all proportion to the real strength and value and worth of Britain. Britain is a sham which has endured for a time, but cannot endure for ever. Mean, sordid, hypocritical, corrupt, and rotten, Britain is the curse of the earth, and must at all costs be abased in the dust.

In order to accomplish this world-Empire of Germany, the accepted morality must be decisively set aside. Bernhardi begins his book by an attack on peace. To him, peace is the fruitful field for magnanimity, is the fruitful field for magnanimtiy, heroism, and mercy. The brutal incidents inseparable from every war are negligible in view of the grand result. The State is not bound by the laws of morality. The end-all and be-all of a State is power, and he who is not man enough to look this truth in the face should not meddle in politics. It is the duty of the State, and almost its only duty, to increase its power. Chief among political sins is the sin of feebleness. The State must not merely defend itself when attacked. It must also attack when there is the smallest prospect of success. The culture and the religion of Germany entitle her to a place in the sun. Needless to say, the religion of the Germany that is to be is not Christianity. Just as the Christian morality is rejected so the Christian faith is denied and abhorred. Strauss was a weakling because he clung to the ethics of Christianity while he rejected its doctrines.

In a word, the battle of the future is between Christ and Napoleon, and we are told that "Corsica has conquered Galilee." Christ is dethroned. In Germany Napoleon, especially in Berlin, has acquired something of the cleanness and self-consistency of a formulated creed. The Germans have not forgotten—how could they forget?—that Napoleon was the tyrant of Germany and the oppressor of Europe. But Mr. Cramb tells us that in spite of this Germans "have gradually acquired a profound and ever profounder reverence for the creed and the religion towards which that great and solitary spirit, perhaps the loneliest amongst the children of men, still struggled amidst the tumults and desolations, the triumphs and the glories the victory, and the disaster of his tragic and brief career—a world-tragedy his, at once the Man of Destiny and the Antagonist of Destiny." When Germany subdues the world she will, we are told, not confront the twentieth century and its thronging vicissitudes as the worshipper of an alien God and the thrall of an alien morality. It is to be noted that this school is only at war with democracy—with the power of self-government inhering the people. Bernhardi admits the difficulties in the path of Germany to world power. Austria's weakness is the strong admixture of the Slavonic elements. Italy's antagonism to Austria has run through Italian history, and his hopes of Italy are not bright. But he thinks that England has failed to link her vast Empire together either for the purposes of commerce or defence. Her Colonies and Dominions all tend to separation, and he foresees a great colonial war. He thinks also that we shall be opposed in war not only by the Colonies but also by India. He admits the power of the British fleet, and fears an alliance between it and the French Fleet. As for Russia she must be isolated by bribes. The next thing is to crush France to the very dust. This accomplished, England must be dealt with when the day and hour arrive. Perpetually we are told that Germany has the genius for Empire, and that England stands in the way. She has won one-fifth of the globe by craft and violence, and is the great robber state. To sum up, there is before Germany either world dominion or ruin, and ruin must be risked in the effort after world dominion.

Thus sharply and unmistakably are the issues put. Germany as represented by its dominant thinkers is at open war with Christ. So Corsica has not yet quite conquered Galilee! The newer imperative is quoted by Mr. Cramb: "Ye have heard how in old times it was said, Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth; but I say unto you, Blessed are the valiant, for they shall make the earth their throne. And ye have heard men say, Blessed are the poor in spirit; but I say unto you, Blessed are the great in soul and the free in spirit, for they shall enter into Valhalla. And ye have heard men say; Blessed the peacemakers; but I say unto you, Blessed are the war-makers, for they shall be called, if not the children of Jahve, the children of Odin, who is greater than Jahve."

As for public morality, it is at an end. The policy advocated is one of virulent attack on all those who have held out their hands in friendship. Plain dealing, generosity, and regard for human right are antiquated superstitions. It may be wise sometimes to affect regard for them in order to serve a purpose, but such conduct is merely tactical. It will also be seen that freedom under the new regime would be wholly at an end. This war is one of life or death for free institutions. The German Government is a standing conspiracy against the rights of the people.

It will be seen that we have good reason for fighting and for fighting even to the death. It is a shallow optimism which pretends that there are no great calamities in history. We are now fighting to avert one of them.

Thin Folks Who Would be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE

I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way, declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat the nutritive processes must be artifically supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by J. S. McKeown, Drug Store and other good druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution:—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous digestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.

A PAIR OF BOOTS

Just after the war broke out a Canadian bootmaking firm got an order from the Canadian government to make 40,000 pairs of boots for the army. The manager of the company, making a speech to the employees, gave some good advice to show what every worker might do to make sure that every boot that went on Canadian soldier's foot in Europe was as good as any other part of his equipment. He showed that a poorly filled sole, a rotten counter in the heel, a badly-sewn seam or a defective arch might spoil a soldier's efficiency in the field In view of the fact that the war is teaching us all to be true soldiers one way or another, suppose we apply a little of this bootmaking philosophy to the boots we wear in every day life. A man is known by the boots he wears. Looking over the honor roll of your boots past and present—probably made in Canada—how do they compare for efficiency with the things you have bought from other countries?

The writer of this article has been looking over his. He has reviewed a few rotten boots, some middling, and some absolutely unimpeachable. At this moment he has a pair on which he bought eleven months ago and has worn every day since—except a few Sundays and the days he took them to the cobbler to get new lifts on the dubbed-off heels. In those boots of honor there is not a break in the sole, nor a ripped seam nor a crack in the leather, nor a counter gone down in the heel. That pair of boots couldn't have been better value for the money if they had been made under oath in a time of war for a Canadian soldier to wear maintaining the honor of his country abroad. The man who made them had the honor of his firm on his conscience. When he puts them on the market he charged a good price because he knew they were worth it.

Those boots were made in Canada—from Canadian leather, by Canadian workmen, paid in Canadian money by a firm financied on Canadian capital. What is true of boots is equally true of the thousand and one other articles that Canadians buy. In the small proportion of cases where it is not true, it can be made true. And those few manufacturers may well take a leaf from the book of the manager who made the speech on good bootmaking to his employees. Now that Canadian manufectures are going out to increase the consumption of goods made in Canada, they will see to it that no man has a shred of argument to shew why he should not spend his money for Canadian-made goods.

FALL IN

(By Harold Begbie in the London Daily Chronicle)

What will you lack, sonny, what will you lack
When the girls line up the street,
Shouting their love to the lads come back
From the foe they rushed to beat?
Will you send a strangled cheer to the sky
And grin till your cheeks are red?
But what will you lack when your mate goes back
With a girl that cuts you dead?

Where will you look, sonny, where will you look
When your children yet to be
Clamor to learn of the part you took
In the war that kept men free?
Will you say it was naught to you if France
Stood up to her foe or bunked?
But where will you look when they give the glance
That tells you they know you funked?

How will you fare, sonny, how will you fare
In the far-off winter night
When you sit by the fire in an old chair
And your neighbors talk of the fight?
Will you slink away, as it were from a blow,
Your old head shamed and bent?
Or say—I was not with the first to go,
But I went, thank God, I went.

Why do they call, sonny, why do they call
For men who are brave and strong?
Is it naught to you if your country fall,
And right is smashed by wrong?
Is it football still and the picture show,
The pub and the betting odds,
When your brothers stand to the tyrant's blow,

Men of strong character make enemies, but it doesn't follow that all men who make enemies are of strong character.

Better a burning kiss than an unburned love letter.

CRUISER IS SUNK.

Russian Warship Is Victim of German Submarine.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 13.—An official communication issued yesterday announces that on Oct. 11 the Russian armored cruiser Pallada was torpedoed in the Baltic Sea by a German submarine and sank with her crew.

The text of the communication, which was made public by the Marine Department, follows:

"On Oct. 10 German submarines were sighted in the Baltic Sea. The same day, early in the morning the submarines attacked the cruiser Admiral Makarov, which had stopped to search a suspected bark flying the commercial flag of the Netherlands.

"A submarine of the enemy launched several torpedoes, which luckily missed the mark and caused no damage whatsoever to the cruiser.

"On Oct. 11 at two o'clock in the afternoon the submarines of the enemy again attacked our cruisers Bayan and Pallada, which were patrolling the Baltic.

"Although the cruisers opened in time a very strong fire, one of the submarines succeeded in launching torpedoes against the Pallada, whereupon an explosion resulted and the cruiser with all her crew sank."

The armored cruiser Pallada carried a complement of 568 men. She measured 443 feet and had a displacement of 775 tons. Her speed was 22 knots. With the Admiral Marakov and the Bayan she constituted a group of cruisers known as the "Bayan class."

The Pallada carried two 8-inch guns, eight 6-inch guns, twenty-two 12-pounders and four 3-pounders, in addition to torpedo tubes. She was laid down in 1905.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

Arrangements have been made by the City of Regina with the Bank of Montreal for a loan of $320,000, to be used for construction of improvements.

Mrs. Florrie Nellie Jones, aged 21, wife of a rancher near Merritt, B.C., was accidentally shot on Sunday by her husband while both were out shooting.

W. R. Arnold, general manager of the Dominion Trust Co. of Vancouver, was killed yesterday while putting away a gun with which he had been on a shooting expedition.

Sixteen hundred Belgian soldiers, non-commissioned officers and men, arrived at The Hague yesterday, according to a despatch from that city to Reuter's Telegram Co.

A wordy war among the foreigners in St. Patrick's Ward, Guelph, led to blows, and finally to the drawing of knives, which resulted in the stabbing of a Hungarian by an Austrian.

Berlin newspapers express the opinion that the death of King Charles of Roumania will have no influence on the general war situation, according to a despatch from Amsterdam to the Reuter's Telegram Co.

Russian Campaign Veiled.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 13.—The battle which began Saturday on the western border of Poland equals the battle in France on the Aisne in extent and may equal it in length of time. The numbers of the opposing armies are as great as in the western theatre of war.

Semi-official intimations that secrecy is needed for the success of the Russian operations have been published and no information as to the tremendous conflict now taking place has been given out.

Sanitary Reasons the Cause.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Telegraphing from Paris, the correspondent of The Daily Mail says:

"Sanitary reasons have been largely the cause for the withdrawal of both the German and allied forces from their entrenchments along the Aisne, and the consequent change in the battlefront which it had been supposed was due entirely to strategic reasons.

"The positions were becoming rapidly untenable because of the impossibility of burying the dead. So fierce and persistent had been the fire that the men dared not leave the trenches. It was impossible to risk the lives of men in burying the bodies of those that had fallen."

NEW LINE IS FORMING

Great Battle of Belgium Will Extend Over 300-Mile Line.

After Taking Antwerp German Forces Are Making a Desperate Effort to Get to Ostend and Are Reported to Have Occupied Ghent—Activity Is Reported Near Verdun and Soissons on Line In France.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Both sides are bending every energy for the campaign that will decide the fate of Ostend. The possession of this port would be of immense advantage to Germany, of much greater significance than the capture of Antwerp. To drive the assault home the Germans are undoubtedly bringing up every available man, both from Antwerp and such points as their centre and left can spare. Opposing these will be an equally allied army, made up largely, it is rumored, of fresh British, Indian and Canadian troops. The battle may open at any moment and will probably be long and bloody.

A Central News despatch from Amsterdam says a troop of German cavalry entered Ghent yesterday morning and the German colors were hoisted over the Town Hall.

Uhlans have also arrived at Selzaete, a short distance from Ghent, and the commander announced that 4,000 soldiers must be quartered in the village.

The whole German front is preparing to take the offensive again along a battle line no less than 300 miles long.

German cavalry has advanced within thirty miles of Ostend; Ghent is threatened by the invaders; Uhlans, screening a heavy Prussian force, have been encountered all through the territory west of Lille.

The first activity of any importance on the centre of the opposing armies that has occurred in some days took place yesterday north of Soissons and east and southwest of Verdun. The French field guns opened on the German trenches in that region and kept up a steady play on their opponents for several hours. Then the French infantry advanced with a rush, and there was a hurculean combat for possession of the trenches. The Germans fought with their usual determination, but were compelled to cede ground at certain points. North of Soissons the French won positions of value. The enemy was also thrown back from elevated posts before Verdun, where preparations were under way by the Germans to essay a new artillery attack on the fortress.

Between Lassigny and Roye, where the allies won considerable ground Sunday, the Germans fought with great valor yesterday in an effort to retrieve the positions lost. [illegible] allied reinforcements had come up in the night, and the advantage of Sunday was pushed home, making an appreciable inroad into territory held by the Kaiser's men.

The capture of Apremont by the French is regarded as a great tactical victory. This point covers the German line of communications into Lorraine and would be an effective obstacle to a retreat of the German forces now at St. Mihiel.

In Northern France and Southern Belgium great events are transpiring. Cavalry engagements continue to be the outstanding feature of the fighting, large forces of mounted troops participating on both sides.

French Statement.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Continuation of the activity in the north of France, and repulses of the Germans between Lassigny and Roye are reported in the official statement given out yesterday afternoon by the War Office. The statement follows:

"On our left wing the cavalry engagements continue in the region of La Bassee, Estieros and Bazbrouck. Between Arras and the Oise the enemy has attempted numerous attacks which have been repulsed, notably between Lassigny and Roye.

"In the centre we have made some progress on the plateaus on the right bank of the River Aisne, before Soissons and to the east and southeast of Verdun.

"On our right wing, in the Vosges, the enemy has made a night attack in the region of Bam de Sapt, to the north od St. Die, but repulsed."

"The flag captured yesterday belonged to the 6th Regiment of Pomeranian Infantry, No. 49, of the 2nd Prussian Army Corps.

"The fusileer brigade was engaged on the 9th and until the morning of the 10th against German forces, which it repulsed, inflicting serious losses. Two hundred Germans were killed and 50 made prisoners. The French losses were 9 killed, 9 wounded and one man missing.

"In Belgium, according to the latest information received from Antwerp, the Germans occupy only the outskirts of the city, the 24 forts on both banks of the Escaut river resisting energetically.

"In Russia the battle on the East Prussian frontier continues with desperate fighting. To the northwest of Lyck the Germans are in retreat, having destroyed the bridges in Southern Poland between Ivangorod and Sandomir. Artillery duels are in progress with the enemy's columns that have reached the Vistula."

The following official statement was given out last night:

"There is nothing in particular to report.

"Violent attacks have occurred along the front. We have gained ground at some points and we have not lost any at any place."

Letters For the Front.

OTTAWA, Oct. 13.—It is announced in militia general orders that letters to members of the Canadian expeditionary force should be addressed as follows:

Rank, name in full, regiment or corps, Canadian Expeditionary Force, England.

How a busy man does enjoy setting two chornic bores to boring each other.

Men are misters to women, and women are mysteries to most men.

AVIATORS IN DEATH PACT.

British Airmen Pledged to Ram Any Zeppelin Over Britain.

LONDON, Oct. 13. — It was announced by Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, at a patriotic meeting in Kingsway Hall here Saturday night that "if Zeppelins raid London all the members of the British flying corps have pledged themselves to dash their machines right through the airships even if both are brought to earth."

"Anyone passing through London," continued the speaker, "can see that we expect a visit by German aircraft."

"The British aeroplanes have proved to be more than equal to those of the German Government," says the Paris correspondent of The Times. "Especial success has been scored with the new type of British aeroplane called the 'Chaser,' which is capable of developing a speed of 150 miles an hour, and which can rise from the ground at a very sharp angle."

NEW KING SWORN IN.

King Ferdinand Succeeds Late King Charles of Roumania.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—King Ferdinand of Roumania, in the presence of the members of the royal family, the diplomatic corps and other notables, took the oath of office Sunday in succession to his late uncle, King Charles, according to a despatch from Bucharest by way of Amsterdam to the Central News Agency. King Charles died at his country seat in Sinaia on Saturday.

Prussian Losses 211,000.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The forty-four lists of losses in the Prussian army which have been published, contain a total of 211,000 killed, wounded and missing, according to a Reuter despatch from Amsterdam.

The list do not include losses among the Bavarians, Saxons and Wurtemburgers.

Western Farmers Do Well.

REGINA, Oct. 13. — The business scare, which seized Canadian cities and towns at the outbreak of the war, seems to have been overcome in many cities, including Regina. The farmers are selling their wheat without difficulty and are realizing prices far in advance of those of last year.

Belfort Fears Bombardment.

LONDON, Oct. 12. — The Daily Mail's Amsterdam correspondent says Berlin newspapers are distributing posters announcing that the civil population is leaving Belfort (a French fortified town in the so-called territory of Belfort, in fear of a bombardment.

BASUTOS TO HELP.

King of African Nation Will Levy a Shilling a Man For Funds.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The King of Basutoland has sent King George a deep expression of his loyalty and adds:

"I ask whether, as my King is engaged in fighting his enemies, I, his servant, will be doing well to keep aloof watching his being attacked? As I am unable to be with the King in person, I beg to know whether I may show my loyalty of the Basutos by giving monetary assistance, to be raised by calling on each Basuto to pay the sum of one shilling as a contribution to the funds now being raised for the relief of sufferers.

"The Basutos and myself are grieved at seeing our King attacked by his enemies and that we, his servants, cannot assist him."

This offer has been gratefully accepted.

An expression of loyalty has also been received from Lewanika, chief of the Barotose tribe of Northern Rhodesia.

Germany Calling Everybody.

LONDON, Oct. 13. — It is semi-officially announced at Petrograd, according to a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. from the Russian capital that owing to the great losses sustained by the German armies all officers and non-commissioned officers who ever have been in the army are ordered to rejoin the colors without regard to age.

VON KLUK IN RETREAT?

Allies Making Desperate Efforts to Cut Him Off

Five Battles Along the Entire Line of Contest In France and Belgium Yesterday Resulted In Victories For the Allies, But Germans Have Taken Lille — Whole Northward Movement Probably to Save Von Kluk's Army.

LONDON, Oct. 14. — German Uhlans have occupied the town of Ghent which is undefended, without resistance. This is confirmed by despatches from both Rotterdam and Amsterdam. All communication between Ghent and Holland has been severed.

German aeroplanes yesterday appeared over Ostend and one of the machines dropped two bombs, which fell in the sand dunes near the city and failed to explode. British aeroplanes drove the invaders off without inflicting any damage on the German craft.

Along the entire allied line in France and southern Belgium, there was severe fighting yesterday. From Paris it is reported that the Germans were signally defeated in five battles, in all of which the allies assumed the offensive, save in the region of Apremont where a counter German attack was repulsed with loss of men and ground to the enemy. The severest fighting took place between Arras and Albert, where the Franco-British forces made a tremendous effort to cut off the retreat of Von Kluk, now stated to be under way. Lille, however, has fallen into the hands of the Kaiser, French territorial troops being compelled to retreat before a full army corps.

News from the front is fragmentary. Nearly all of the reports tell in glowing terms of victories by the allies, excepting at Lille. But some of them are sufficiently circumstantial to warrant full credence. Early yesterday, in the neighborhood of Hazebrouck and Bethune, British and French cavalry made a sudden raid on a German cavalry detachment which had seized an advanced position and who were trying to hold their advantage until infantry arrived. They were completely routed.

The most important victory of the day took place at Verdun. This fortress, which has stood out for eight weeks against a severe bombardment, is the apex of the French centre and the special object of German operations. As a result of yesterday's fighting, the French command all of the roads leading eastward to Metz, the base of supplies for the German left and centre.

French bayonet assaults at Souain and Berry-au-Bac drove the Germans from their advanced trenches. This was only accomplished after desperate fighting. The French came up again and again under a withering fire and ultimately the defenders fled before the line of glittering steel.

Having failed to penetrate the French lines on the Aisne it is said on good authority that Germany will try a flanking movement in the east. For this purpose guns and men are believed to be en route from Antwerp for the stronghold on the south of the present lines. Belfort has been more or less of a storm centre of the fighting in the Vosges and Alsace. Its fall would tend to throw the French right into distress. The French general staff, it is reported, will profit by the lesson of Antwerp and depend more on field forces to stem the German advance in that direction, rather than on the fortress itself.

The position of the allied armies in southern Belgium are a trifle uncertain. But with the Germans at Ghent the French and British cannot be far away, certainly between them and Ostend. However, German cavalry in force is reported at Hazebrouck, 32 miles northwest of Lille, and at Orchies, 16 miles south of Lille. At Ypres cavalry and infantry is reported. Judging from this movement it would appear that the Kaiser means to drive forward directly to Ostend, Dunkirk and Calais, the two latter towns just over the French border from Belgium and both important ports, within easy striking distance of England. That such an advance will be bitterly contested without saying. On the other hand, the weakness of the German defence at other points yesterday gives rise to the belief that the movement toward the coast is intended to cover the retreat of Von Kluk to new lines in Belgium. In fact, it is actually stated by some correspondents that his retreat is progressing at this moment.

The official communication issued by the French War Department last night says:

"With the exception of an advance of some importance in the vicinity of Berry-au-Bac (on the centre) there is nothing to report."

The communique issued at three o'clock says:

"On our left wing our forces have resumed the offensive in the regions of Hazebrouck and of Bethune against detachments of the enemy composed in large part of cavalry coming from the front along Bailleul, Estaires and La Bassee.

"The town of Lille, held by a territorial detachment, has been attacked and occupied by a German army corps.

"Between Arras and Albert we have made notable progress.

"On the centre also we have made progress in the region of Berry-au-Bac and we have advanced toward Souain in the west of the Argonne and north of Malancourt.

"Between the Argonne and the Meuse, on the right bank of the Meuse, our troops who hold the heights of the Meuse to the east of Verdun have advanced.

"To the south of the road from Verdun to Metz, in the region of Apremont, we have gained a little territory on our right, and repulsed a German attack on our left.

"On our right wing, Vosges and Alsace, there has been no change.

"To sum up, yesterday was marked by perceptible progress on the part of our forces at various points on the field of battle.

"In Galicia the Austrian corps defeated in Galicia are endeavoring to reform at a point four kilometres west of Przemysl."

FLEEING TO BRITAIN.

Belgians at Ostend Clamor For Passage Across Channel.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—As early as 8 o'clock yesterday morning the harbor station at Ostend was besieged by thousands of people anxious to get aboard the mail boats, according to a despatch from the Ostend correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Co.

Members of the Belgian Government, the diplomatic corps and other officials left for Havre on the first two steamers. The later boats were literally stormed by a crowd of fugitives, many even getting on board by way of the luggage chute.

Among yesterday's arrivals at Folkestone and Dover were several hundred wounded Belgian soldiers. It is likely that their number will be considerably increased in the course of the next few days. They are being looked after by the relief committees for wounded allies, and are being sent in small bodies to different provincial cities and towns, where arrangements have been made to provide them with hospital accommodation.

It is estimated that already nearly 100,000 Belgian refugees have landed on these shores. It is feared that the stream of refugees will increase in volume as the German occupation of Belgium becomes more complete.

The War Refugees Committee is at present unable to find accommodations for them. Herbert Samuel, President of the Local Government Board, yesterday issued an appeal asking that committees be formed in various parts of the country to assist in obtaining food and shelter for the strangers, and to help find homes in which they may be placed.

Montenegrin Attack Ragusa.

ROME, Oct. 13.—The Montenegrin columns are before Ragusa, an Austrian city on the coast of Dalmatia, according to a despatch from Cettinje. The fall of the city is believed imminent.

The despatch declares that in a battle Friday at Sarayevo the Austrians were defeated. They again attacked at Kalimoski and lost their baggage train and a number of quick-firers.

Germans Claim Victory.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 13.—An official announcement from military headquarters in Berlin says that the German cavalry defeated a French cavalry division near Hazebrouck.

The fighting along the front is still without definite result. In the western theatre of war, all attacks on the First and Tenth Corps have been repulsed.

Farmers Are Generous.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 14. — Mayor Graham's scheme for the distribution among the poor of the city of farm produce being donated by farmers of the district is working out well. The cellar of the City Hall is being used as a receiving station and distributing centre. Farmers and vegetable growers are generous in their contributions. A Lobo Township farmer yesterday offered 1,100 barrels of apples absolutely free of charge.

Paris Now Guarded.

PARIS, Oct. 14. — Two French aerial vedettes patrolled the sky above Paris yesterday watching for German raiders. Other French aircraft were in readiness at the aviation posts to take the air if an enemy was sighted. Crowds gathered in the squares and open spaces of the city to watch the manoeuvring of the French aeroplanes.

Admiral Storey Goes To Coast.

GUELPH, Oct. 14.—Rear Admiral Storey of this city has received word from the Dominion Government accepting his proffer of service and has been appointed superintendent of naval service at Vancouver Island under the Dominion Government, and is ordered to take charge of his position at once. The possibility of German cruisers appearing off the Pacific coast has created some alarm in that section of the Dominion, and it is probable that the services of Admiral Storey have been accepted with a view to the adequate defence of that part of the country.

To Recruit New Battery.

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 14. — Recruiting will commence to-day for a new battery of field and horse artillery, authorized by the military authorities. There will be 150 of all ranks. International work for home and active service will be the object of the new battery.

GERMANIZING ANTWERP NOW CAPTURED CITY

LONDON, Oct. 14.—"The municipal employes of Antwerp have had to swear allegiance to the German Empire," says The Evening News correspondent at Bergen-op-Zoom, Holland, in a despatch dated Monday. The message continues:

"The policemen were allowed to retain their arms. The police have been ordered to remove the Belgian flag from all houses. The usual regulations enforced at Liege, Verviers and other Belgian towns are being introduced in Antwerp. These rules include the obligation to light the houses at night and to leave the doors open. The imperial standard must be saluted when the army is passing through the streets and soldiers have been seen to strike off with their sabres the hats of persons who did not give such a salute.

Already thousands of fugitives are returning to Antwerp, and shops are very slowly reopening. Many more thousands, however, are hesitating, apprehensive that the Germans' present friendly conduct might change later on.

"Up to this time no war contribution has been exacted, but the town is to supply all requisitioned wares free. For instance, two tons of potatoes were to be provided yesterday. All bakers, butchers, grocery and provision dealers not reopening their shops within five days are threatened with stringent measures.

"The Germans say that there are 125,000 of their men in Antwerp, but this figure seems to be exaggerated. Several thousand of the Landwehr troops and marines will probably remain as a garrison.

"Negotiations for the surrender of the city last Friday threatened to collapse because the Germans insisted upon having the signature of the Belgian commander. They eventually accepted that of another officer, M. Weerbrouck.."

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

RED RAG FOR ITALY.

Austria's Italian Residents Are Subject of Strict Police Order.

ROME, Oct. 14. — (Via Paris.)— The Messagero yesterday published what it claims is a private circular sent by Prince Von Hohenlohe-Schillingfurst, Governor of Trieste, to all the heads of the police in the Italian provinces under Austria. The circular says that in case of war with Italy all male Italian subjects between the ages of eighteen and forty years shall be arrested and sent under close escort to fortresses; that those above forty, and also women and children, shall be ordered to leave the country within 12 hours, and that those suspected of espionage or of carrying on anti-Austrian propaganda shall be summarily tried and, if found guilty, shot. Italians subjects of Austria are also included in the list of proscribed persons. They will be arrested immediately and sent to fortresses. Those from eighteen to forty years of age will be enlisted and sent to the regiments serving in Bohemia.

Scheme To Swindle Veterans.

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—It has come to the attention of the Department of Militia and Defence that in certain parts of the country persons are endeavoring to collect sums of money from those entitled to the Fenian Raid bounty. The claim is put forward on the pretence of assistance in filling up the claim papers. The Department will not recognize any such attempt to extract money from the veterans, and hopes that no veteran will pay a claim of this kind.

Here's What a New York Paper Says About Velvets

One of New York's leading Fashion Papers, in its October issue, has this to say regarding the Velvet Season:—

"Velvet is the leading fabric of the present Fall Season, giving second place grudgingly to Broadcloths of a high sheen and to dull Velour, or finished suede-like fabrics. As Velvet leads, so its twin sister, Velveteen, is well to the fore, being almost preferred as a fabric for a street costume or smart walking and street suit. Velvet and Velveteens are worn noon, afternoon and evening — Velvet Coats, Velvet Wraps and Velvet Dresses have first place for the present Fall and Winter season."

In this connection we would add that, in Plain and Fancy Velvets and Velveteens, we have a stock of more than Two Hundred pieces to select from. Prices 50c. to $5.00 yard.

FORTS STILL RESIST

Although Antwerp Has Been Taken Redoubts Hold Out.

Germans Have Demanded a War Tax of $100,000,000 From Citizens—City Has Not Been Badly Damaged, Except In Southeast Quarter and In Suburbs — Allied Troops Withdraw to Ostend.

LONDON, Oct. 13. — The Times' correspondent in Belgium under date of Sunday says:

Twenty-four of the Antwerp forts were still holding out to-day in the face of a continuous bombardment. Last night over twenty blazing fires could be distinguished from afar in different parts of the city.

The city itself and the remaining defences are in the hands of the Germans who have signalized their arrival by a demand for a war levy of $100,000,000.

"Antwerp was not seriously damaged by the German bombardment," says The Chronicle's Amsterdam correspondent. "Only the suburb of Berchem and the southeast quarter of the town suffered badly.

"Long after they had been evacuated by the Belgians the Germans continued firing on and around the ruins of the blown-up forts. They feared mines and hoped thus to destroy them. Near the southern suburbs the ground had been extensively mined by the Belgians, but the Germans were warned by traitors from within the city and took care to avoid the danger zone.

"On Thursday morning the retreating troops from Antwerp passed on their flight to Ostend no fewer than 600 motor cars filled with soldiers who had already passed through the town. The intention was to reach Ostend by forced marches, and the soldiers were relieved of their knapsacks, which were carried in the vans. Motor 'buses from London carried footsore troops who had fallen out of line. Then came columns of machine guns drawn by dogs."

Altogether 22,000 British and Belgian soldiers are interned at different points in Holland. About 1,500 of these men are British marines, who were driven over the boundary. This statement has been made by the Dutch War Office, according to a despatch from the Rotterdam correspondent of The Times.

SPIES STILL ACTIVE.

Lord Charles Beresford Urges Drastic Measures In Britain.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Notwithstanding the reassuring statement issued by the Home Office last Thursday to the effect that the spy system established by Germany in this country has been completely broken up, Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, retired, is convinced that it still exists and constitutes a grave menace to the safety of the country.

In a letter published yesterday, Lord Charles calls upon his countrymen "to take strong action with regard to the crowd of alien enemies in our midst." He urges that "meetings be held in every town, and that resolutions be adopted protesting against the present state of affairs and sent to the Prime Minister."

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

Awful Scenes With Belgians As Actors

Thousands are Pouring Into Little Town in Holland--Mothers with Babes Sleep in Churches

(By Edgar Rowan)

Rosendaal, Holland, Dispatch to the London Daily Chronicle.—I am writing this seated on an upturned truck on Rosendaal station platform after two days and two nights (or was it years?) of watching the miseries and sorrows along the frontier. My companions are refugees from Antwerp, who have been driven from home and all that home means by the onward pressure of the German guns.

Just now, as I stand with a little group of refugees on the south side of the station, the grey silence of the dawn was broken by dull thuds like blows on a slack drum. It was the noise of the guns bombarding Antwerp, the last citadel of the gallant Belgians. The thuds seemed to beat out like the grim Morse code of fate at the end of so many hopes. Then in the silence a woman sobbed and someone whose heart was still in a little port beyond the city muttered: "Perhaps that shot wrecked our little home!"

Train after train arrives filled with refugees until at last the rolling stock at Essechen, the frontier station has been exhausted and no more can escape until busy Rosendaal can return some empty carriages. As each train steamed in it poured out crowds of refugees, each hugging those pitiful little bundles that represented all they brought from the happy past and all they could take into the unknown future.

As the trains drew in Dutch troops lined the platform like the porters at Euston Station, London, and every refugee had at least one soldier to carry his bundle and act as a guide. I trundled into town with a party of new arrivals and the soldiers would not let them carry a single thing. No millionaire, prodigal with tips, was ever so well served. One infantry man was carrying a bundle under his arm and leading a little child, while a weeping woman faltered wearily at his side. He chatted gaily in the hope of cheering them. Another soldier was wheeling a baby carriage piled high with pitifully scanty salvage from a water-wrecked home, and yet another, his arms filled with loaves of bread, brought up the rear. Shelter was soon found. Lists had been prepared of the townspeople who were willing to house and feed refugee families, and I saw soldiers knocking at doors and handing over sad little parties to the warm hospitality of strangers who were their friends.

A sentry stood at the door of a picture palace and when I peeped inside I saw a party of folk asleep on the benches, or staring with wide eyes of hopeless sorrow as if they were reading the future.

Wierd Scene in Church

A large Catholic church also had thrown open its doors wide to the homeless. In one pew a mother had made a bed of shawls and coats for her two children, who were dreaming happily, while she, in sleepless anguish, knelt by their side and prayed, with her eyes upturned toward the image of Christ over the altar. Many slept unconsciously in awkward attitudes of unbearable fatigue. Others were drinking coffee that the church workers handed around among them. The kindly-faced priest tiptoed about with words of cheer and hope.

At the station every available corner is occupied. In some of the offices straw was thrown down for those who wanted to rest. The waiting rooms were filled with sad little family parties and on the platforms were many who dropped wearily asleep. Nuns arrived with six to ten patients each under their guard. Children lost their parents and moved on with endless stream, crying bitterly. Mothers, half mad from fear and anxiety, asked for their lost ones and were driven almost to desperation by a negative answer.

But I felt that the whole crowd of thousands and thousands had only one thought, and that was to get away from the Germans. How terribly the Germans must have behaved in poor Belgium that the people fear them so.

Yesterday a Taube aeroplane threw bombs on the railway station at Antwerp without doing much damage, but still it was a wonder to me how so many refugees could have escaped so fortunately to Rosendaal.

Swollen, Aching Veins

A COMMON CAUSE OF DISCOMFORT.

The army of people troubled with swollen veins is a large one and was steadily on the increase until the discovery a few years ago that a germicide-liniment of marked value for other ailments gave prompt relief from this aggravating trouble.

Since this accidental discovery hundreds of sufferers have proven its efficiency—it has made good even in cases of long standing.

Mr. R. C. Kellogg, Becket, Mass., before using this remedy, suffered intensely with painful and inflamed veins; they were swollen, knotted, and hard. He writes: "After using one and one-half bottles of Absorbine, Jr., the veins were reduced, inflammation and pain gone, and I have had no recurrence of the trouble during the past six years."

This germicide-liniment—Absorbine, Jr. is made of herbs and safe and harmless to use, which in itself makes it distinctive. Most druggists have it or send $1.00 to the manufacturer, W. F. Young, P.D.F., 457 Lymans Bldg., Montreal, Can.

FRENCH AND BELGIANS HAVE JOINED HANDS

Lively Street Fighting in Hazebrouch, on Which Place Germans Made a Daring Raid

PARIS, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—The exact positions of the bulk of the allied armies are being kept secret, but it is believed that the forces in France and Belgium have joined hands since the fall of Antwerp.

The German cavalry around Hazebrouck, France, which masked a movement of the infanty, has already suffered a rude check from the allies before the battle at Ypres, because the Germans were unable to operate freely in masses owing to the nature of the ground, where they were virtually at the mercy of the allied infantry and artillery.

Some lively street fighting in Hazebrouck, on which place the Germans had made a daring raid; while at Arras the town hall was burned to the ground during a bombardment.

The portion of the line where the encounters have been the severest has suddenly changed from Roye to Lassigny, where the Germans had tried to make a breach through the allies. The battle, however, is still progressing there, and Roye has been taken and retaken at least twelve times.

Aeroplane Equals Cavalry Division

French Officer Discusses Value of Airmen in War to Their Credit --Halt "Surprise" Attack

PARIS, Oct. 14.—The activity of German aeroplanes over Paris has brought up a general discussion of the value of these machines in warfare, and a recital of thrilling aerial duels between French and German machines. One French corps commander is quoted as having said that, in his opinion, a single aeroplane was as valuable as a division of cavalry. Aeroplanes are of the greatest service in preventing surprises and few important movements of troops have been made which have not been promptly reported by aerial scouts before their completion.

A daring encounter took place recently between a German monoplane and a French biplane during a critical moment in the execution of an important manoeuvre north of the River Oise. The German machine was seen sailing over the French lines just before a strong detachment of troops was to start on a movement to the north. For the success of this manoeuvre, it was vital that this sentry of the air be removed, and a French biplane undertook the responsibility.

The French machine rose from the ground abruptly and in rapid circles gained an altitude greater than that of the German, but even this advantage was not sufficient to drive the scout away. In a daring dive in which he braved a heavy fire from the French lines, the German descended to a height of 1,000 yards and skilfully avoided the French machine. He then started to drive for the German lines. The Frenchman seemed to have the advantage in speed, which has not often been the case in aeroplane encounters in this war.

For a while the German was successful in keeping out of reach of the Frenchman, but the biplane, continuing its flight at a considerable height, finally attained an advantageous position.

Then there could be heard the quick and sharp reports of a machine gun on the French flier. The monoplane floated for a few moments, as if the pilot had lost control, and then fluttering like a wounded bird on the wing, the machine started an oblique flight downward which ended in its crashing to the earth.

MAY BRING BELGIAN FARMERS TO N.B.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 15.—Special—The question of bringing Belgian families turned adrift by the German invasion, to the province of New Brunswick, is now engaging the attention of the local immigration authorities. Their idea is that they may be able to bring out a colony of Belgian people whose homes have been laid waste by fire and sword, and place them on land in New Brunswick. The Belgians are a very industrious and thrifty people, and would make good settlers. Their recent experiences will be an inducement to them to seek a home in a land not disturbed by war where they can amend their fortunes. Representatixe Bowder of New Brunswick in Great Britain, is acting in the matter for the provincial immigration authorities, but the department has not yet arrived at any definite conclusion and will not until the attitude of the Belgians on the proposition has been ascertained. In the meantime the efforts of the immigration authorities will be directed to the problem of assisting Belgian farmers.

Tried to Kill French President

Spy Communicated Fact of Poincare's Visit to Battle Front

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—The Paris correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company in a despatch dated Wednesday says:—

"Now that the headquarters of the French staff has been changed it has become possible to announce that when President Poincare visited Gen. Joffre last week at Romilly-sur-Seine, a German aviator dropped a bomb into the town, doing no damage.

"The news of the approaching visit of President Poincare had been communicated to the enemy by a spy. One of their best pilots was sent out with a bomb which he was ordered to drop on the quarters occupied by the President and Gen. Joffre. A French aviator named Framnz immediately pursued and brought down the raider. Frannmz was rewarded by M. Poincare, who pinned the cross of the Legion of Honor on the aviator's tunic."

A LIST OF WAR "DON'TS"

Curzon Tells People Not to Worry as to What Will Happen to Kaiser

LONDON, Oct 14.—Lord Curzon of Kedleston delivered a rousing speech at Harrow to an audience which included the masters and boys of Harrow School.

He said he knew of the anticipation of European statesmen of the highest rank who had prophesied for years that it would be in 1914 that Germany would strike the blow at Europe. Some people, he remarked were of the opinion that it would be over by Christmas. He went on, speaking with great gravity:

"In my judgment more than one Christmas will pass before the soldiers return home."

Lord Curzon concluded with the following "Donts."

"Don't think the war does not affect you individually. It touches every man, woman, and child in this country.

"Don't be overjoyed at a victory. Don't be downhearted as a defeat.

"Don't be unnerved by personal or family bereavments.

"Don't be frightened at casualty lists, so long and sometimes so distressing.

"Don't think that you know how to wage the campaign and that the War Office does not.

"Don't write to the newspapers telling Generals and Admirals what they ought to do, but if you have an opinion that you could do it much better tell it to as few people as possible.

Don't get nervous because the progress of the war is slow. It can only be slow in these stages.

"Don't underrate the enemy.

"Don't waste breath in attempting to ascertain what is to hapen to the German Emperor in this world or the next.

"Don't begin to divide up the German Empire before you have got hold of it.

"Don't listen to any one who cries 'halt' before we have carried out the full purpose for which we are fighting.

"And when the war is over, don't throw away the lessons of the war."

Captain Thinks Stefansson Safe

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 14.—After one of the most thrilling of Arctic voyages, Captain Ernie Miller, of the boat, Port MacPherson, belonging to the Hudson Bay Comapny, reached this city yesterday. He will prepare for another voyage to the far north in the spring.

Captain Miller expresses the opinion that Explorer Stefansson is not lost in the north, and that in time he will return.

GASOLINE LAUNCH CAPTURED BY CANADIANS

NANAIMO, B.C., Oct. 15.—The 90-ton gasoline launch, Empress IX was captured by the Canadian authorities yesterday at Comoxspit in Union Bay. The crew, two men and a woman, all giving the name of Kohfe, were taken into custody. The launch had about nine months' provisions and supplies aboard, carried three auxiliary engines and was equipped with a wireless apparatus. It is supposed that the crew were intercepting messages from the wireless station at Cape Lazo. Two other men, also named Kohfe, were arrested at Campbell River. They are charged with being German spies. Both parties were sent to Nanaimo to await further instructions.

The launch left Victoria a few days ago without clearance papers.

DEVELOPING RAPIDLY IN THE CENTRE

BORDEAUX, Oct. 15.—A high official in the French Government declared this morning that the latest despatches from the front showed the military situation was about to develop more rapidly on the centre in the region of Berry-au-Bac, and on the left in La Bassee, Estaires and Bailleul districts.

The Allies continue to make progress, this official continued. Several hotly contested positions which have changed hands repeatedly during the past few weeks, were now held strongly by the French, and the Anglo-French situation was more encouraging.

ENEMY EVACUATES BANK OF RIVER LYS

PARIS, Oct. 15.—An afternoon official communication says the Germans have evacuated the left bank of the River Lys. There has been marked progress between Arras and Albert. Several German trenches have been taken in the direction of Berry-au-Bac. The French advanced yesterday toward the highway between Verdun and Metz. The German offensive movement to the north of St. Die has been definitely checked.

THE LONDON TIMES ASKS FOR INSTRUCTIONS

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Times calls on the Government to instruct the people and authorities how to act in the event of Germany invading England, which the lack of great success on the Continent may lead them to attempt.

300,000 GERMANS STRANDED IN U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Three hundred thousand German and a quarter of a million Austrian reservists are stranded in the United States, unable to join the colors so long as England commands the sea. These figures are supplied by the consuls of the two nations.

GERMANS THROWN BACK FOR THIRTY MILES

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Times correspondent at Petrograd wires that the Germans approached to within ten miles of Warsaw, but were thrown back to a distance of thirty miles. The fall of Przemysl is imminent, the garrison being decimated by cholera, and the main forts already taken. There is no change in East Prussia.

TRANSFERRING TROOPS FROM EAST TO WEST

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Times Copenhagen correspondent says that, having found the Russians unable to make any progress against them, the Germans are transferring large masses of troops from the eastern to the western theatre for an advance on Paris. The same correspondent reports a large amount of sickness among German troops.

DREADNOUGHT DESTROYED

LONDON, Oct. 15.—A Central News despatch from Rome says a fire in the arsenal at Trieste has practically destroyed an Austrian Dreadnought nearly completed, besides damaging six new torpedo boats. It is believed to be the work of spies. A number of workmen have been arrested. The arsenal itself is greatly damaged.

RUSSIANS WIN IMPORTANT BATTLE

LONDON, Oct. 15.—A despatch from Petrograd to the Messagero of Rome says an Austrian-German army was yesterday completely defeated in the neighborhood of Warsaw, Russian Poland. The Austrians and Germans suffered enormous losses. The Russians are stated to have taken Bosnians prisoners.

LOST 12,000 MEN

PARIS, Oct. 15.—The newspaper, France du Nord, declares today that when the Germans were defeated at Arras they lost from 12,000 to 15,000 men, who were surrounded by the French in some marshes.

AVIATOR DICTATES IMPORTANT MESSAGE WHEN DYING

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—A letter received here from Lieut. W. Peyton, an officer of the South Staffordshire regiment, who was wounded in the battle of the Aisne, near Soissons, gives a graphic account of the fighting there and of the heroic death of a British aviator.

Lieutenant Peyton and other members of the British force were in the trenches facing the Germans, when an aeroplane dropped down on the Britons.

The machine had been struck and damaged by shrapnel. It fluttered to the earth like a wounded bird, Lieut. Peyton says, and fell within the British lines.

The aviator, a Lieutenant, was caught in the wreckage and was removed from it in a dying condition. He was still conscious, and as soon as he had been released he murmured:—"Quick, man, take down this message. Get it to the General with all speed."

Amid paroxxsms of pain he slowly dictated it to Captain Falconer, and almost with his last gasp the dying aerial scout repeated the message to make sure that what he had said was clearly understood.

According to Lieut. Peyton, the information dictated by the Lieutenant was transmitted to the commanding officer. An hour later the British regiments were under orders to attack the enemy's trenches, which were carried by assault. The dead aviator's work was responsible for the victory.

BRITISH CRUISER SINKS GERMAN LINER

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Admiralty announces that the British cruiser, Yarmouth, has sunk the German Hamburg-American line steamer Markomannia in the vicinity of Sumatra and has captured and is taking into harbor the Greek steamer Ponthorts. Both the Markomannia and the Ponthorts have been reported previously as accompanying the German cruiser Emden. The Yarmouth has sixty German prisoners of war on board.

CABINET CHANGES

It is quite evident that the Press despatch of yesterday in announcing the resignation of the Postmaster-General, and the appointment of the Hon. T. Chase Casgrain, K.C., to fill the vacancy was premature. No official announcement of any change in the personnel of the Cabinet has yet been made. The latest news is contained in an Ottawa despatch to the Mail and Empire of the 14th inst., which is as follows:—

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—Rumors of Ministerial changes have been rife today. There is nothing official in support of them, but there are indications that one or more changes are not unlikely. As already stated, Hon. L. P. Pelletier is too ill to continue the administration of his department for the present and probably for some time to come. Whether or not the portfolio of Postmaster-General is to go to a new man, is one of the questions in regard to which much guessing is being done. There does not seem to be much doubt, however, that Hon. T. Chase Casgrain, K.C., of Montreal will enter the Government in the near future in some capacity, and rumor is also prophesying the elevation of Arthur Sevigny, of Dorchester, or E. L. Patenaude, of Montreal.

Hon. Bruno Nantel, Minister of Inland Revenue, is one of those regarding whose future there is much speculation. There is a vacancy on the Railway Commission to be filled before long, and the name of Mr. Nantel is being associated with this vacancy. If this change is made, Mr. Nantel will succeed Hon. M. E. Bernier, whose term expired some time ago.

HUNTING AS USUAL IN NEW BRUNSWICK

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 15—Special—Sportsmen from America and elsewhere are passing through this city en route to the forests of New Brunswick to get a shot at caribou, moose and other big game. The open season for hunters has commenced, and trains from New York and other eastern points are bringing many hunters daily, while many more are moving into the big game country by way of Montreal. Hotel men, guides, railroad officials and others who are financially interested in rounding up the hunters each year feared for a time that the war would be a serious handicap. Many Americans wrote asking if they would be permitted to carry their guns across the border. Reports from all over the province show that big game is now unusually plentiful. Moose and deer apparently keep close track of the limits of the open and closed seasons, for in the late summer they venture boldly near inhabited places. But when the first gun is fired they disappear into the woods. A hunting license costs $50, and each non-resident sportsman must be accompanied by a registered guide when he goes into the woods. The legal allowance which may be shot is one bull moose, one bull caribou, two deer, and there is no limit on bears. Moose and deer can be had almost anywhere, but to get caribou and bear, the innermost country must be reached.

For Alienating Wife's Affections

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Oct. 14.—Charles E. McDonald, a Windsor optician, formerly of this city, was assessed $500 damages by Justice Latchford in the High Court here yesterday, in a suit brought by Charles E. Miller, a local mechanic, who charged that McDonald had alienated the affections of his wife.

CANADIAN GRAIN SWEEPS THE BOARDS AT GREAT EXHIBITION

Saskatchewan Farmer Captures Prize for Wheat for Third Time--Oats Championship to Island Province

OTTAWA, Oct. 14—Canadians have again swept the boards for the best grain on the continent. Word was received at Ottawa to-day that Seager Wheeler, of Rosthern, Sask., who twice before had the world's championship for the best wheat, has again won the prize for the best bushel of wheat at the International Soil Products Exhibition, held at Wichita, Kansas. The prize for the best bushel of oats was won by Richard Creed, of Albion, Kings county, Prince Edward Island. The information was contained in a telegram to Hon. Robert Rogers, acting Minister of Interior, from Mr. E. F. Drake, Superintendent of Irrigation, who is attending tht exposition. The news was received with a great deal of pleasure at Ottawa.

ARE CERTAIN OF VICTORY

Both Kaiser and His Chancellor Talk of Changing Map

ROME, Oct. 13.—(Dispatch to the London Daily News)—The famous Berlin painter, Vollbehr, who has just seen the Kaiser, says that His Imperial Majesty is in the highest spirits. His pride in his valorous army is so great that it shines through his eyes which are phosphorescent with happiness. The Mayor of Weimar says that the Kaiser addressing his troops, said: "My boys the leaves are falling, but we shall all return to our beloved home."

Both the Kaiser and the German Chancellor, who is accompanying him at the front, are certain of victory. They spoke about changing the map of Europe after the war.

MANUFACTURERS TO STIMULATE TRADE

AMHERST, N.S., Oct. 15.—Special—Half a hundred Maritime Province manufacturers have banded themselves into an association to replace the Provincial branch of the Canadian Federation. The first object of the association will be to take steps to stimulate trade in the east. One of the methods will be to send general commercial travellers abroad, men whose scope is more specialized than the trade commissioners and consuls. These representatives will inquire into the possibilities for close relations with importers in foreign lands, and dig up business for the Maritime Provinces. It is urged that this advance guard be sent out immediately with South America as the goal, and to remain until the war is over. The trade formely held by the belligerents can be obtained if the opportunity is taken at once, it is believed.

EXPENDITURE ON METHODIST MISSIONS

TORONTO, Oct. 14.—The Mission Board of the Methodist Church opened its annual session yesterday.

The treasurer's report stated that for the year the current income was $656,507.18, and that the current expenditure was $680,765.61. Of this $369,223.40 was spent in domestic missions in Canada, Newfoundland and Bermuda. The remainder was spent in foreign missions in China and Japan.

The church has seventy-four missionaries in China and twenty-one in Japan. In the home field there are four hundred and twenty-five missionaries. Added to the income are amounts raised by other societies including the $51,497.78 raised by the city mission boards of Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, and $178,621.23 raised by the Women's Missionary Society, making a total subscription to missions of $989,911.41.

WINNIPEG WOMAN SLAIN BY HUSBAND

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 14.—Mrs. A. Ward, cashier in the retail butcher shop of Gibson Gage Company, 524 Notre Dame avenue, was slain early this afternoon by a man believed to be her husband, who afterwards attempted suicide. The murderer is said to be in a precarious condition.

FOR THE BELGIANS.

Word has been received that the ship taking relief to the Belgians leaves early next week. Consequently, donations for Belgians must be in by Saturday noon at Mrs. P. J. M. Anderson's, 64 Queen Street.

WARNS FENIAN RAID VETERANS

Department of Militia Exposes Heartless Fraud on Old Soldiers

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—It has come to the attention of the Department of Militia and Defence that in certain parts of the country persons are endeavoring to collect sums of money from those entitled to the Fenian Raid bounty. The claim is put forward on the pretence of assistance in filling up the claim papers. The Department will not recognize any such attempt to extract money from the veterans, and hopes that no veteran will be misled into paying a claim of this kind.

Ask Prohibition For Alberta Towns

EDMONTON, Alta., Oct. 14.—A delegation of fifteen persons waited on the Government of Alberta in the Legislative Assembly room yesterday, presenting a petition signed by 23,000 qualified electors asking for a vote upon the total prohibition of the liquor traffic in the province.

H. N. Stevens, of Vermilion introduced the delegation. He stated that seven per cent. more than the required number of electors' signatures were on this monster petition. If the measure was defeated in the Legislature it would have to be submitted to the electorate in the form of a referendum and the temperance forces asked that the first Tuesday in June of 1915 be chosen as the day for voting.

COMMITS SUICIDE IN POLICE CELL

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 14.—A stranger who made himself troublesome through following children going to school at Niagara-on-the-Lake on Tuesday afternoon, and was ordered out of town, was this morning found dead in a cell at the town lockup, hvaing taken poison during the night. Although told to leave the town, he returned late at night, tired, cold and hungry, and his plea for shelter was granted by the chief of police. In his pocket was found a canning factory card bearing the name of "R. Knight."

Held For Murder Man Found Insane

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—Held criminally responsible for the death of John Maclean at Valleyfield on August 17, Zenophile Patenaud has been found insane and is detained at the St. Jean de Dieu Asylum.

Maclean was killed with a bottle by a man unknown at that time, but good work on the part of the provincial detectives led to Patenaud's arrest in New York. He was brought to Valleyfield on a murder charge, but his sanity was immediately questioned.

SHELL STRUCK WIFE'S BED

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Capt. Kolhange of the Belgian steamer Samland which arrived today from London said that his home in Antwerp had been destroyed by a German shell and that he had lost his saving of a life time. "When the attack on the fort began," said Captain Kolhange, "my wife sent two of our children to me, in London, while she stayed in Antwerp to look after our home, our property and the other children. When one of the big shells struck our home, my wife was hurled out of bed. She and the children, scantily clad, escaped from the house before other shells fell there. Later they succeeded in reaching England."

A CANINE MEMBER OF THE FRENCH RED CROSS

The French Red Cross is accompanied on the field of battle by well-trained dogs who search the field for the wounded. The photo shows one of these four-footed Red Cross aides discovering a wounded soldier. Many of the warriors have fallen among such dense foliage that were it not for the acute sense of this almost human compass, so successfully used by French nurses, hundreds of the fighters from the ranks of the Allies as well as from the ranks of the Germans would be left to die, uncared for and unattended, to be mentioned later in the lists of "among the missing."

A Pleasant At-Home

The At Home given by the Workers for "Our Boys" at 161 Albert Street, Tuesday afternoon was a great success. The ladies wish to thank their friends who so generously responded to their invitation. The proceeds were $31.10, including a donation of $2.00 from Mrs. Chapman. They also wish to thank Mr. Potter for his beautiful chrysanthemums, Miss Stork for her inspiring patriotic song, Mrs. McLaurin for her solo, Miss Phillips and others; Mrs. Campbell and Miss Grant for accompaniments, and Mr. Kenneth Ross for his piano solos, which were very much enjoyed.

Dr. Mather, who was to have given a talk on What he saw in England at the Hospital, was greatly missed, he being called away. Thanks are also due to the young ladies who arranged the fishpond, Miss McCarthy and Miss Wanda Crook and all others.

The ladies have bought a piece of flannelette and if there are any of the soldiers' wives or mothers who have machines and would care to take some of this work home a limited number will be paid for, which will be helping the wives as well. If they will call on Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 at 161 Albert Street and give their names they will be given full particulars.

Rifle Shooting

The members of the Belleville Rifle Association met yesterday at the butts for a practice shoot with the following result: 21 rounds at 500 yards; highest possible score 105. The committee have decided, owing to shortage of ammunition, to hold the last shoot of the season on Wednesday next at the butts, which will be a spoon competition. Handicap conditions, entrance fee 25c. Indoor shooting will take place as usual every Monday and Wednesday through winter months, at the Armouries. Yesterday's scores:—

LARGE CONTRIBUTION FROM HASTINGS COUNTY TO BELGIUM

Four Carloads of Grain and Produce Sent to Destitute Inhabitants of the Beleaguered Country

Four car loads of grain, produce, clothing and other supplies are being forwarded to the Belgiums from the County of Hastings from different points in the County via special steamship leaving Halifax on October 29th. The first car load is being forwarded from Stirling today. It is expected that by the end of this week two car loads will be forwarded from the Central Ontario junction, one car load from Ivanhoe and the one from Stirling, making a total of four cars.

The above shipments are under the supervision of Mr. A. D. McIntosh, B.S.A., agricultural representative for the County of Hastings, with headquarters at Stirling, who is taking a great interest in this work. Hastings County is to be congratulated on its munificent contribution to the Belgium refugees.

Throughout Hastings County the different municipalities have also collected considerable funds for the Patriotic Fund and it is contemplated to form a county organization in the near future to work in connection with the local organizations in the different municipalities.

AN ENJOYABLE ENTERTAINMENT

Under the auspices of the T.A.S. in connection with St. Michael's Church, an entertainment was held last evening in St. Michael's Academy, which proved to be a most enjoyable affair. The programme presented consisted of instrumental and vocal selections, which were much appreciated. Card playing was indulged in after the programme, and toothsome refreshments were served. The proceeds were in aid of the Cadet Corps in connection with St. Michaels.

DEATH ROLL

MRS. MARY A. BACKUS

In the death of Mrs. Mary Ann Backus, which occurred this morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Edwin T. Austin, 81 Cedar street, a well known and much respected lady joined the great majority. Deceased had been ill for some time and her demise was not unexpected. In the year 1843 Mrs. Backus was born in Kingston, being a daughter of the late Mr. James Stewart. At an early age, with her parents, deceased moved from Kingston to Seymour Township, where she resided until she married the late Mr. Backus, who was at one time a member of the City Council. For forty years Mrs. Backus had lived in Belleville, where she was widely known. She had been a life long member of the Anglican church, being identified with Christ Church. One son, B. S., of Vancouver, and four daughers, Mrs. R. L. Welsh, of Detroit, Mrs. W. J. Slack of Brockville, Mrs. E. T. Austin and Miss Pauline Backus of this city, survive. A brother, Mr. Wm. Stewart, of Seymour, and two sisters, Mrs. W. C. Todd, and Miss Agnes Stewart of Campbellford are living.

First Meeting of the Sesona

The first meeting for the season of the A.Y.P.A. of Christ Church, was held in the Parish Hall last evening, taking the form of a social as well as a business intercourse. After the singing of the National Anthem and prayer Miss Grace Panter delighted the large number present with two very interesting readings. Miss G. Muir, accompanied by Mrs. Col. Campbell, rendered a violin solo in a very efficient manner, and was compelled to respond to an encore. After a little time was spent in a business manner Miss D. Twinning gave a number of piano selections which were much appreciated. A peanut contest added much to the evening's enjoyment. Dainty refreshments were then served.

Belleville Orators Well Received in Suburban Town--Residents Demonstrated Their Interest

It would be difficult to find anywhere in Canada a finer and more enthusiastic audience than that which gathered at "The Burgh" last night to listen to and to sing patriotic songs with Mr. Chapman of Belleville, Mr. Tuttle of Tweed, and local talent of a high order—and to hear and appreciate stirring addresses with the object of swelling the Red Cross and the Duke of Connaught's National Patriotic Funds, and to encourage co-operation in the good handicraft of the women of the district for the comfort of our soldiers at the front. Mr. John Elliott of Belleville introduced by Deputy Reeve Brown, acting as chairman, most diplomatically and efficiently, giving his experiences in the Old Country during the summer at the critical time of the inception of the war, pointing out the wonderful change in Ireland, now presenting a united front to a world in arms, and urging a full recognition of Canada's obligation to the British navy in keeping open the "King's highway" of commerce across the broad Atlantic for Canada's products and Canada's men. Rev. Mr. Cruickshank who has two nephews in the firing line, made an impressive speech from the point of view of the church militant, pointing out how international honor was involved in our present war. Mr. H. F. Ketcheson made a specially effective appeal on behalf of the Belgians and of suffering humanity, recounting his own experiences and observations in Antwerp, Paris, Brussels and London, and depicting the desecration of the sacred churches and works of art, in which the whole world had a proprietary interest, by the destructive vandals of whom history does not record the equal. The children of the present day would tell to their children, and grandchildren the deep feeling inspired by the tragic war now being waged against us—the greatest and most sanguinary in history. Col. W. N. Ponton spoke of the Bismarck doctrine with regard to the conquered nations, "Leave them nothing but their eyes to weep"—now being fully lived up to by the ruthless German who fought with foam-flecked lips of malignant hate against the gallant soldiers of Britain who "played the game." Surely expiation must be made for the brutal atrocities which forever disgraced the so-called "culture" of Germans, ground under the despotic heel of the Kaiser and his Court. If by chance—if through lack of men—if by the work of submarines against the British fleet, Great Britain should come short of victory, then our own Canada must pay the price—Canada would be the prize of the conquest. The speaker urged all men to rally to the colors—to become efficient as part of our working fighting force—to form a company of the 49th ready for home or foreign service. He urged all women to continue to realize the joy of working together for the saving of the lives of husbands, sons, and brothers and their British comrades about to endure the hardships of a winter campaign against a relentless foe. He urged all boys and girls—the great vital asset of the future—to work simply and lovingly and earnestly in the common cause. This is a year of the sacrifice of service and of practical philanthropy. Our Canadian lists of dead and wounded will be coming soon, and this present crisis demands that we 8,000,000 Canadians should have at least 100,000 in trench and garrison, as part of the guarantors preserving the existence and permanence of this Dominion under the free and happy flag of Britain.

"We keep the warmest corner of our hearts,
For you my lads wherever you may be;
By the Union Jack above you,
But we're proud of you and love
you;
God bless you, soldiers still, o'er land and sea."

Hearty votes of thanks were passed to Miss Blakely and Miss Porter representing the Women's Institute, and to the singers and speakers of the evening. About $50 was collected and a large sum promised in donations and work.

TO SAVE BELGIAN ARMY

Allies Are Racing to Effect Junction With Remnant.

Ostend's Occupation Has Not Been Reported But a Short Time Will Probably See the Germans There —United Force of Allies Will Crush Von Kluk — Three Days' Battle Ends In Capture of Ypres.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The occupation of Ostend has not been officially reported here yet, but there is no doubt in London official circles that it will be accomplished within a very short time, despite yesterday afternoon's statement of the Admiralty that it has not yet been occupied. The news of the occupation of Ypres by the troops of the allies is believed to have an important bearing on the situation with regard to Ostend.

With practically all of Belgium in German hands, and with at least 50,000 fresh German troops reported en route to Bruges and Ostend from Ghent, it is generally accepted here that the next move in the Belgian theatre of war will be a race between the allies and the Germans for the remnants of the Belgian army, which is now believed to have arranged to evacuate Ostend at the most favorable moment for a dash to join the extreme left wing of the allies.

Ghent is about thirty miles from Ostend, while Ypres is only about twenty miles away. The former city is east and a little south of the Belgian seaport, while Ypres is almost directly south. If the junction can be made between the Belgians and the extreme left of the allies, which apparently has pushed even north of Ypres, not only will the continuity of the line opposed to the German advance into France be maintained, but greater force will be given to the final attempt to crumple up the right flank of the armies of Generals Von Kluk and Von Boehm, without leaving the coast from Ostend to Calais at the mercy of the invaders.

If, on the other hand, the fresh German troops succeed in cutting off the Belgian forces they will have gained a tremendous advantage in their campaign to occupy the entire coast from the Scheldt to Dunkirk, and possibly even to Calais.

The aim of the Germans on their right wing in France is declared by the French generals to be to dash for Amiens and its railroads, if they can succeed in splitting the allied left. From Amiens they would be in a position to work up to the coast, and if these tactics were successful and the Germans from Ghent should cut off the Belgians in their southward march at the same time, the French military experts admit that the situation would appear very serious.

Gen. Gallieni, military governor of Paris, is reported to have issued a formal statement in which he points out that the only flaw in the German plan is its impossibility of accomplishment, and to this the British naval experts last night added that even if the Germans should get to the Channel ports, which no one will admit is a possibility, their tenancy of the hard-won positions could be made very brief and disastrous by the great guns of the British fleet, which would undoubtedly be sent against them immediately.

Von Kluk Suffers Heavily.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—The exact positions of the bulk of the allied armies are being kept strictly secret, but it is believed that the forces in France and Belgium have joined hands since the fall of Antwerp.

The German cavalry around Hazebrouck, France, which masked a movement of the infantry, had already suffered a rude check from the allies before the battle at Ypres, because the Germans were unable to operate freely in mass, owing to the nature of the ground where they were virtually at the mercy of the allied infantry and artillery.

Some lively street fighting occurred in Hazebrouck, on which place the Germans had made a daring raid, while at Arras the town hall was burned to the ground during a bombardment.

A portion of the line where the encounters have been the severest has suddenly changed from Roye to Lassigny, where the Germans had tried to make a breach through the allies.

The battle, however, is still progressing there, and Roye has been taken and retaken at least twelve times.

A good part of Gen. Von Kluk's army is reported to be falling back in the vicinity of Lille. The German right wing suffered heavily yesterday, and was forced to give up strong positions along the River Oise. The same is true of the situation around Berry-au-Bac, where a battle was in progress for the better part of the day. Great manoeuvres are under way on both sides, and it seems that a decisive battle must be fought in the extreme north of France and southern Belgium.

It's better to be ignored than bored.

The woman who is thoughtful is never a successful gossip.

To Keep Our Workers Busy

For nearly half a century the standard price and the higher character of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos have been rigidly maintained. Nothing would induce us to lower the quality or the reputation that these pianos have earned. But these are strenuous times, and necessitate stern measures.

Profit Sacrificed to Keep Wheels Turning

We are reducing the price of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos to the point where profit vanishes, solely in order that the enormous business that will result will enable us to keep the hundreds of employees in our factories at work. The skilled workmen who build represent an almost unique organization. If work stopped this organization would drift apart; and, aside from the misery and suffering entailed in non-employment, we would be confronted with the enormous task of rebuilding an organization capable of upholding our standards. Rather would we sacrifice all profit now.

GERHARD HEINTZMAN PIANOS

You Reap the Advantage

Never was a better time to purchase a really high-class instrument. Those who found the price of the Gerhard Heintzman Piano the only obstacle to its possession now have that obstacle removed. Buy your Piano now-save money—help hundreds of families.

Where I Spent My Vacation

(By Rev. A. M. Hubly)

Second Fall: a village situated about sixty miles from St. John, the commercial metropolis of New Brunswick.

The place is reached by a branch of the Canadian Pacific Railroad from St. John West, to Bonny River, and a drive of two miles.

The chief industry of Second Falls is farming and lumbering.

The people are well-to-do, with comfortable homes scattered along either side of the picturesque winding river still bearing the name given to it in the long ago by the red man of the primeaval forest, "Magaguadavic."

Many stories of Indian life in the long ago might be woven from the texture of a vivid imagination as we stand near the roaring cataract pouring over the nature-built rock dam into the waters of the broadening river below,: when the rushing waterfall made music for the war dance, and mingled its bass with the clearer voice of the triumphant warrior as he sang of conquest, when Maliceet and Mohawk contended for the right to fish the stream or hunt the forest.

Here, perhaps, the young brave told out his tale of love to the coy maiden of a neighboring wigwam, as they in little birch bark canoe floated on the moonlit laughing water.

It may be that where the noisy mill now stands overlooking the rock dam, the wigwam families at one time gathered to worship Manitou the Great Spirit and to listen for his voice speaking from the rushing cataract beneath their feet, or from the piled-up thunder cloud above their heads. Though the red men have passed from the banks of the Magaguadavic to their happy hunting ground, the river teems with fish, and the forest with game.

Moose and deer are very plentiful, and often leave the woods to raid the fields, orchards and gardens, to the annoyance of those who plow and sow, and reap and mow.

When the harvesting is over there is a month of open season for shooting, when the farmer has his revenge, and many a gallant denizen of the forest is made to bite the dust, pierced by the leaden messenger of death.

There are bears, lynx, wildcats and other ferocious animals often met with in the woods. There are wild ducks in the water, there are woodcock in the grass, there are partridges in the trees; you will find them all in a day's tramp through morass, mossy glen and o'er wooded hill, making your way along the base of Red Rock Ridge and Mount Pleasant from Second Falls to Peakehagen. During my vacation, I made no such toilsome journey, but sought more restful shade strolling in pastures green, beside the passing brooks, sometimes sitting on soft banks or moss covered knolls, with some silent companion eloquent with stories of the long ago. Here the feet may wander along foot paths that drop and rise over green banks and mounds, sweeping down in scented pine and cedar undulations to the rippling waters of the Magaguadavic.

On the other side of the river stretch broad meadows, studded with new mown heaps, filling all the air with fainter sgweetness.

A word about the village of Second Falls. It consists of farms closely joined, with goodly buildings for housing man and beast, and for storing the abundant products of the fertile soil. There are two stores of general merchandise, but no alcoholic liquors are sold. One of these stores may be described by verse in "Farm Festivals," by Will Carleton.

"The body's needs not only here you find,
But food, too, for the sympathies and mind;
For in one corner, fed by many lands,
The small post office dignifiedly stands,
With square, red-numbered boxes in its arms,
Well stocked with white and brown enveloped charms.
Here the little girl, irresolutely gay,
Asks if there's 'anything for us today?'
Here the farm lad, who wider fields would seek,
Comes for the county paper once a week.
Through this delivery porthole is hurled
Printed bombardment from the outside world;
The great, far world, whose heart-throbs, up and down,
Strike pulses e'en within this quiet town."

The public school holds a prominent position, as it should; the building had just been newly shingled, but I was told that it was to be painted the traditional "red."

There is a neat church building of the Baptist denomination. The pastor is a man of superior preaching ability, and honored with scholastic degrees of B. A. of Acadia and B. D. of Colgate. The comfortable and pretty parsonage stands directly opposite the Church, and was my haven of rest and comfort during my vacation, where I enjoyed its refined and generous hospitality, and the genial companionship of the Minister and his wife, with their two well-behaved, bright boys of seven and ten years.

How delightful to spend the Lord's Day in such a spot of country, where whole families attend the place of worship, and where the stay-at-homes and the pleasure seekers are the marked exceptions.

Here, it seems, many might sing, without a suggestion of mockery:

"Dear is to me the Sabbath morn,
The village bells, the pastor's voice:
These oft have found my heart forlorn,
And these have bid that heart rejoice."

My first Sunday at Second Falls was a spiritual uplift. The morning scene was delightful, as we drove five miles to hold service at ten o'clock, in a school house in a small settlement. Cultivated fields, skirted with woodland, met our view, with Mount Pleasant in the distance, lifting his broad head and shoulders against the etherial blue, while fleecy clouds and bright sunlight painted the canvas of nature with beautiful effects of light and shade.

On arriving at the school house, we found it fast filling up with men, women and children. A few moments before the time for beginning service, I said to the kindly, active deacon at the door: "The people must be all here." His answer was: "There are just two more to come." Those two came in time, and with them another who was a visitor from a distance. What a glorious and inspiring privilege was mine—to speak the message of my Master in a community with every one present, and in the morning hour, this giving God the best of the day.

In the afternoon I had the privilege of worshipping in the main church. The people gathered—some walking, some driving, some by motor boat on the river, and some by automobile. The pastor of the church was present, but gave the honor of service to the visiting ministers. A young Presbyterian minister, whom I much love to hear, preached the sermon.

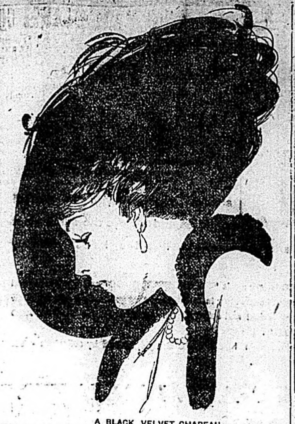
On a hill quite near the parsonage and church lies the city of silent sleepers.

"How still these sleepers are
Beneath the grass green sod!
All calm and sweet their slumbers are,
Their souls at rest with God."

The memorial marble slabs and polished granite shafts stand strong above them, and the weak grasses tremble by their side, and love's telltale flowers bloom and wither as the seasons roll, but the sun by day and the moon and stars by night, look down upon these earth-mounds with a peace as of heaven.

But I must leave the quiet scene of peace and rest to toil amid the noisy whirl of city life and city sin. How soon my vacation passed! Shall my time for labor pass as quickly? I know not!

"What will it mean to me,
This learning that my day is nearing night?
Shall I ready, or unready be?
Will the summons come at morning or at night?
What will it mean to me?
What will it mean when I
Alive among the living, learn to die?"



A BLACK VELVET CHAPEAU

Hats are either large or very small this season. The small hats fits the head snugly and are trimmed with uncurled ostrich feathers; while the large hats are built on lines of the sailor or a modification of the poke shapes. One of the smartest of the large variety was of black velvet with paradise feathers laid around the brim.

S4 Saved Two Fingers

While at work in the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, J. V. Besnard, of 539 Craig Street E., Montreal, had his hand badly crushed by the falling of an iron beam. Two fingers, particularly were so badly crushed that the doctors, who were called to attend him, said that they must be amputated.

Mr. Besnard, however, had heard of the wonderful healing properties of Zam-Buk, and he refused to have the fingers taken off. Instead he had the fingers and the crushed hand dressed with Zam-Buk. This, he says, stopped the bleeding, eased the pain, and put the wounded members on the way to recovery. Every day he had the Zam-Buk dressing replaced, and by the time he had used eight boxes of Zam-Buk the fingers were completely healed, he could them use them as before the injury, and his hand, too, was quite restored.

Just think what this really meant Think what it means to go through the world with a maimed hand, and minus two fingers! Practically a cripple! Ordinary treatment would have meant just that to Mr. Besnard. The Zam-Buk way saved him from it! By a trivial expenditure of $4 in Zam-Buk, the world's greatest balm, he saved himself from disablement for life!

Take the lesson to heart! If you have any injury, blood-poison, or any diseased tissue, old wound or suppurating sore, apply Zam-Buk. Don't waste time! Zam-Buk builds up new tissue, heals wounds, cuts, burns and bruises, ends eczema and eruptions, heals cold cracks, cures piles, and is the most useful and most effective balm known to present-day science. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Refuse harmful imitations and substitutes. Get the real thing and see the name on the box before purchasing. Imitations and substitutes of ZamBuk would not have saved Mr. Besnard's fingers, and will not save yours.

WAR PRICES IN CANADA

The effects of two months of the world's war on Canadian prices are summed up in a rise of the Labour Department's index number from 135.5 as calculated at the end of July to 140.7 as worked out at the end of September. These numbers are percentages of the general level of prices in the decade 1890-1899 and are based on quotations from 272 articles scattered over the whole field of production and consumption.

Most of the rise took place during the three weeks following the declaration of war. In fact the last half of September saw general steadiness and even a tendency to decline in important articles like grains and cattle.

Though a rise of 5 points in the Departmental index number is very marked it is not without precedent. Canadian prices during the trade boom of 1912 went up at intervals with almost equal rapidity, and the readjustment of prices at the close of 1911 sent the index number up 4 points in a single month.

It is also to be remembered that several articles which have contributed very materially to sending the index number up during the last month are not of first importance in consumption. For example, cream of tartar, antimony, and quicksilver have all more than doubled, while a number of other secondary commodities (alcohol, solder, sulphur, etc.) went up by 20, 30, and 40 per cent. Tin and rubber went up very rapidly in August, but declined practically just as fast in September. Flour is perhaps the most important food stuff that has shown a tendency to decline. A full analysis of the prices movement by groups of commodities is appearing in the current issue of the Labour Gazette.

Retail prices, of which the Department is receiving quotations for over 30 articles in every town of 10,000 and upwards in Canada, have been on the whole steady in September after the first upward movement following the war. In flour and sugar further advances occurred in most of the cities, but in other commodities prices were quiet. Rents were downward in some fifteen localities throughout the Dominion.

It is interesting to note that in England the Economists' index number went up 6 per cent. during August, the rise being greatest in foodstuffs and least in minerals, while the Statist's index number went up from 82 at the end of July to 87 at the end of August. Bradstreet's index number for the United States went up 12 per cent. in Augsut, but has eased off slightly since. The crest of the high prices wave seems to have come about two or three weeks after the declaration of war.

WHY WE WANT PEACE

(New York Times)

The American people want to see the end of the war in Europe. They hope the end will come soon. They make no concealment of their desire. Why should they conceal it? Quite aside from their horror of the dreadful carnage, they are hurt by the war. The cost of it to them is very great, far greater than that which other people outside the circle of belligerents have to bear. Their continuing loss is well-night immeasurable. Yet their behavior has been entirely correct. They have given in warrant for the English criticism, reflected in London dispatches, that there has been unseemingly meddling from this side. The statement made by Acting Secretary of State Lansing as to attitude of the Government will, we think reassure our English friends. There is no thought of any new offer of mediation. Mr. Lansing says that all such stories "should be regarded as the invention of people who appear to have some other motives than peace."

We have no need to be told that untimely offers of this nature are most unwelcome. Our own experience has taught us that. When Mr. Gladstone in his Newcastle speech said that Jefferson Davis had founded a nation and when he showed his readiness to commit the Government of Great Britain to Louis Napoleon's plan of interference—a sinister design that was promptly squelched by the friendly action of Russia—we felt and showed resentment. There is nothing of that nature now in the wind. And the story that appears to have gained some credence in London, that some kind of a peace plot is hatching here in the interests of Germany, is too puerile to call for serious notice. The very large number of Germans of great prominence who have taken part in the determined effort to enlist our sympathy in behalf of the Imperial Government would doubtless give their sadly sincere testimony against the probabilty of any conspiracy here to help Germany out of the troubles which Americans believe she has brought upon herself and upon Europe.

But we want the war ended. Not only that, we want its end to bring the assurance that it will not be renewed in five years or in ten or in twenty. We hate war. From lands where war is not so hated, where war is held to be the true path to greatness and culture, sometimes comes the reproach that we are a nation of dollar-chasers, so deeply absorbed in the business of making and selling goods that we have lost our appreciation of the glories of war. We admit that we like making and selling better than killing and being killed, but we admit it without a spark of humility. These believers in blood and iron will be disappointed if they think to make us blush for our devotion to the arts of peace. It is because was are so perfectly shameless in the belief that a people at peace is more blessed than a people whose best and bravest stand in trenches shooting down their fellowmen and being blown to pieces themselves, that we want the peace treaties made at end of this war to be firm covenants against new wars. Prussian militarism must be destroyed, say our English friends. We hope it will be destroyed. It is a menace to Europe. But we have not sympathy with the foolish talk about "crushing" Germany. In the first place, that difficult achievement would much prolong the war; in the second place, the German peoplesare not of a spirit and temper to stay crushed, so there would soon be more war. Alsace and Lorraine stand as dreadful warnings against the attempt to crush a great nation. That was Germany's fatal mistake of which she is now reaping the inevitable consequences. The Allies must not repeat such blunders. The two provinces may become French again, but their own people should have something to say about the retransfer. Anything like wanton dismemberment of Germany or any other country in revengeful fury will, we hope, find no considerations in the peace council.

Americans have no apologies to make for holding and expressing opinions on these grave matters. Our foreign commerce is pretty much destroyed, our internal trade is depressed, our finances are deranged, our Exchanges are closed, and hard times have come upon us in a year when renewed and great prosperity was at hand. We seriously object to having such sore burdens imposed upon us because dynasties want to defend their crowns, because Ministers have planned seizures of territory, or because Emperors want to find a use for great armies and with the false splendor of military glory cheat the people whose substance they have taken to pay for siege guns and the keep of grenadiers. We have in mind no new proposals of mediation, but we want to see the end of battles.

BRIGHT CHEWING

always reaches you in perfect condition and always the same — not hard one day and soft another, like the kinds you buy in bulk.

The reason is, PACIFIC is first made "DELICIOUSLY GOOD" and wholesome and then each plug is wrapped separately in foil to keep that goodness in and not allow it to come in contact with dust and soiled hands. BUY A PLUG TO-DAY AND NOTE THE DIFFERENCE.

Inside each wrapper is a satin insert which is highly valued by collectors - See window displays around town.

THE CRY OF MACEDONIA

Here is a fine sample of industrial logic: When England went to war, Canada went to war. When Canada went to war American manufacturers began to plan for the capture of both British and Canadian markets.

Therefore — CANADA SHOULD BUY AMERICAN-MADE GOODS.

To the naked eye this looks about as sensible as to say that if a horse-thief steals one of the horses when you are away from home, you should make him a gift of the driving team when you get back — to avoid any hard feelings.

The Canadian who concocts articles for the American press to say that now, when Canada is at war, is the time for the American manufacturer to put on an extra campaign to sell his goods in Canada, ought to draw his salary where the articles are published. He might have saved his ink. This war wasn't three weeks old before American writers were proving that American manufacturers should now go out and grab all the European markets in the world.

For instance, in Brazil alone they would annex as follows: From Germany $40,000,000 a year; France, $22,000,000 a year; England, $74,090,000 a year.

After you, my dear Alphonse: There are eight million consumers in Canada. The only reason they don't ask the American manufacturer to come right in and book the orders is, that we already have something like $1,500,000,000, mostly of good Canadian money, invested in Canadian factories, employing Canadian labor making goods for Canadian consumers to buy. When England went to war those millions of invested capital and $1,400,000,000 of annual output and $300,000,000 yearly wages went to war also. Anybody who figures that 31,000 men in khaki represent all the war this country is putting up for the Empire is leaving out his "dot and carry 1."

When England is at war, Canada is at war. When Canada is at war SHE FIGHTS WITH HER CITIZEN ARMY, HER FARMS AND HER FACTORIES.

Nobody doubts, even without the testimony of Col. Hughes, that our men in khaki will put up as handsome a scrap for the old flag as any other fighting outfit in Europe.

Nobody imagines that the Canadian farmer will be so blind to his own interest that he won't work every acre he can turn into crop to help along the food supply of the nation, the army and the navy.

Does anybody dream that the manufacturers of Canada expect to bring up the rear when it comes to preserving this part of the Empire in a state of efficiency in a time of war?

If so, it must be the man who in war time runs up a manufacturing distress signal and calls out to Uncle Sam—"Come and help us."

CURRENT COMMENT

Mr. Winston Churchill's arrival at Antwerp follows some 200 years after that of his celebrated ancestor, John Churchill, First Duke of Marlborough, whose errand was also war.

Following the barring from the mails by Canada of the publication Fatherland, issued by pro-German sources in New York, the Canadian ban has also been put on the New Yorker Staats Zeitung, according to an announcement in the evening edition of that newspaper recently.

The Globe is wailing because Canada did not manufacture more rifles instead of building drill sheds. But the Liberal organ would have asked the same question in any case: "Why prepare for an emergency which does not emerge?" If no emergency existed why should money be spent for rifles? The Globe has forgotten, unintentionally, perhaps, that it and its party in 1896 vehemently condemned the Conservative Government for having placed in the estimates a sum for the purchase of fire arms. This is but a further evidence of dishonest politics.

WAR NOTES

Washington reports that the American consuls in Belgium have exposed themselves to great personal dangers at times to look after American citizens and those of countries of the allies. The greater the risk the greater the credit for doing good work.
